The Damon Pride Court No. 15, O.O.C. and The Rose of the West Court cordially invite the public to a musical tea, Sunday, July 6, 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at 1710 S. Central avenue, the Musicians Union headquarters.

PARTY-PARTICIPATORS—Camille Cannady pulled social conscious persons from nooks and corners all over the city to attend her fabulous party given last Friday night. Just about everybody there celebrated the anticipated Europe venture of several prominent localites. On the scene for cocktails and dancing were Mrs. Eddie Atkinson, Norman Houston, Attorney Morris Johnson, Ethelle Moore and Mrs. Cannady.

Cub Scouts Host to Fathers at Gabfest

Cub Scout Pack 395-C, sponsored by Hobart Blvd. P.T.A., entertained their fathers at an "Eat and Gabfest" Saturday evening, June 21, at 7:00 p.m., at the home of Mrs. David Williams, 1112 S. Serrano.

Refreshments were planned and served by mothers of the Cubs. Entertainment was planned by Cubmaster Henry Murayama.

Hobart Blvd. P.T.A. board members wound up a successful year with a barbeque luncheon in the patio of Mrs. Joe Shimada on June 17.

Sir Debuteers Present Glittery Annual Dance

The eighth annual semi-formal dance of the Sir Debuteers Social club was a real glittery affair that attracted a packed house to Elks ballroom last Saturday evening. Music was furnished by the Jeep Smith band. Emerson Smith introduced the 19 members, who were attired in special semi-formal dress imported from the East Coast.

In planning for its attire for the dance, the club sent one of its members, James Austin, to New York to check on the latest fashions in semi-formals for men. He came back with an idea that scored tremendously for the club at its dance.

The club members were smartly attired in gray jackets, midnight blue trousers, ¾-inch ties, maroon cumberbands, handkerkerchiefs, white Kent-collared shirts, black shoes and black socks. The outfits were designed by club member Earl Holmes. They were copies of models advertised by Sak's Fifth Avenue and John Davidson, exclusive men's tailors in New York City.

Introduction of the members was novel. When the members were introduced in four groups, each member tipped his glass to the audience.

The dance was preceded by a before-party in the home of Minor Robinson, 326 W. 49th street. Following the dance, the club gave a breakfast at the Keno club.

Most of the members of the club are natives of Los Angeles.

Bon Gon Member Return from Trip

Lorena Morgan, popular member of the Bon Gon club, returned from an enjoyable trip in Tennessee where she visited friends and relatives in Memphis, Knoxville, London, Kingston, Harriman and Chatanooga.

She returned to the city last week to rejoin her family at 708 E. 51st street.

Mrs. Earline Scott Carson became the bride of Luther M. Hudson last Saturday in formal wedding ceremony held in Pasadena.

NEWLYWEDS—Mr. and Mrs. Ronald V. Givens were feted with gay reception in home of bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Brown.

Lavish Reception Fetes Newly-weds

Honoring their daughter with a lavish reception were Mr. and Mrs. S. Brown, 717 E. 32nd street, who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Ronald V. Givens, formerly Marcella Brown, to receive many friends who extended congratulations to the newlyweds.

The Browns' home was beautifully decorated with white gladiolus, baby irchids, and other flowers and shrubs of the season. The handsome couple exchanged wedding vows May 17 with only the family present. The Rev. T. M. Chambers of Zion Hill Baptist church officiated.

The bride was beautifully gowned in traditional white creation of nylon over satin, fashioned with full length sleeves and a sweetherat neckline studded with rhinestones. The bride's mother choose gray lace over blue taffeta.

During the course of the entire afternoon strains of delicate music filled the air and five familiar ballads were herad at intervals: "At Dawning" by Mrs. Edna Dobine; "Thank Gord for a Garden," Mrs. Ann Lawrie; "Because," Mr. Bobbie Broks; "Always," Brs. Ruth Daulphine; and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" by Mrs. Minnie Rideout. Miss Josephine Bunn, accompanist, was at the piano.

The bride is a graduate of Los Angeles High School and former student at the UCLA Extension Division. She is the youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Brown, the former Gertrude Gotier, is a member of one of Los Angeles' oldest pioneer families, while her father, a cement contractor of this city, hails from a well known family in Missouri.

Ronald Givens is the son of William Givens and the late Mrs. Anita Givens, also pioneer families of this city. eH has recently finished his apprenticeship in the cement trade and is nonw in business with his father-in-law.

UNDERCOVER hounds

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Hear Ye, Hear Ye . . .

It was carnival time at ye olde Kappa House Sat. Night and all found enjoyment plus prizes in the interesting booths made for those purposes. Looking at the gambling wheel we found that Betty and Frank Braxton together didn't have the luck to beat smiling Leon Bridges, the houseman. Reggie Boyd, Gloria Hunnicutt, Fernandez Goode, Morris Taft, Deloras Roberts, Billy Williams, Juanita Dorsey and Donald Cruikshanks, all extravagant customers, tried time and time again in the Nail Drive but couldn't seem to hit the head. There were some lucky contestants, though, who racked up the prizes, among them being Bud Conner, Elaine Bias, Eddie Roberts, Beverly Kirkwood, Billy Harmon, Fannie Moore and George Price.

The festivities drew to a close with a dance, to the music of Frank Morgan and crew. The packed house contained an assortment of High-Lifers, dark corner specialists, drunks (oh yes), and belly dancers. Within this group we would attach the names of Doris Tyas, Walter Givins, Elenor Duncan, Brandon Bolen, Chris Lawson, Morris Finn, Barbara Freeman, Elaine De Lavallade, Bryon Marango Yvonne La Chapelle, and Herman Clayborne. It may be to your advantage to know that the same thing is planned for the night of the fourth. Come on over it should be fun.

Over on Fifty-Fifth

Joyce Overr, attractive SC coed played hostess to, and supplied party for Gloria Keith, a dreamgal from Frisco. Some of the selected invites plus (crashes) included Dave Reed, Harriette Flowers, Lois Banks and Rodney Richards, Fred Johnson, Ann Hill and Westly Johnson, Ann Thurman, Tom Jones, Becky Morton, Leon Tompson and Gloria Person, and Osie Matson (Ollie's petite twin sister). This roundup quickly disintegrated when they heard tell of the wild happenings going on at Eleanor Simpsons.

Action Alley or Athletes Workout . . .

Unsuspecting residents in the vicinity of Adams and Third avenvue were kept tossing on their sleeping bags 'til the wee hours of the daybreak by their partygiving neighbor, Ish Evans, who threw one in honor of the Olympic games entrants.

We learned in the schools hereabouts that men and women congregating in the same place tend to strike it off quite nicely, but when gals and more gals do the same, brudder look out. Now don't get us wrong we're not saying it was that tough but we know there were some things happening that host didn't dig.

We figured the fling ding was really under way but suddenly noticed the place thinning out . . . started to leave but got wind of the fact that the party upstairs was really getting heavy. We were shocked when we reached the top stairs and found a red eyed male pounding on a door, and screaming, "come on out of there you two, I know you're in there." . . . This surprised D.C. who thought that everything was on the QT concerning her and G.B. Hee, hee.

Before we could go from whence we came we were informed that down the hall two non-athletes were working out for the next Olympic team. This we couldn't take so we stumbled down the stairs and out into the back yard for a breath of fresh air. YE GADS. . . . They were even investigating the back of the truck that brought the food . . . we later detected them as being that half fagged football player and his gal looking for crumbs . . . on the ceiling?

Now That Tey're Gone . . .

It can be told that Mal Whitfield, the great Olympic Ace is being accompanied by his wife, in good standing, to the games in Helsinki . . .

We'd like to say that Bill Miller is one of the straightest guys these scribes have met in some time. You don't usually find those traits in such a lady killer.

Ebony model can drop her act about the flurry she's raising out in Hollywood (Movie contacts and contracts). Her bragging and fantastic tales netted her the open door or should we say asked to leave an affair.

Gloria Keith, that cute little gal pal of Ollie Matsome, will have nothing but time on her hands. Umm, look out the Hounds are around.

Social Tidbits . . .

A certain West Adams fillie seems to think she lost her track man love to a so called plain Jane. The fact of the matter is, Jane or maybe Joan has large overbulging eyes for P. J.

Parting of the ways has taken place between the once lovestruck couple of Pat Anderson and Ernest Lindo. The true reason for the breakup has not as yet been confirmed but some say it was due to the overbearing influence of Ernies widemouthed love reaching friend, Archie Durham. If it's true we recommend an acid bath for both of them.

Norma Williams pre-wedding trip to Chicago is causing a lot of lip movement.

The lady who calls herself Mrs. Randy Gooseby filed for a divorce, last week. If it's true old Rands name will be re-enstated on the elegible bachelors scroll.

We're sending a get well note to Murial (Arnaud) Thompson who's convalescing in the Queen of Angels Hospital.

Jimmy Craig dreams still enclude Elaine Broady. Too bad nothings happening on her end.

Here's Something . . .

To look forward to. The Pyramids of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority are planning their summer formal for July 25th. It should top tops in social functions. Let's all hope for one of those precious bids.

The Scrollers step fourth again with another carnival and dance this weekend. July 4th is the exact date. Try to make it.

LEONARD McCLAIN — Popular whiskey and wine salesman, unveiled the latest summer drink titled "Jubilee" made with Christopher Columbus Rum. Its receipe is said to be one of the oldest that contained rum. Garnett's, popular Westside cocktail lounge, is serving it daily as expertly prepared by Mac Newman, tops among the mixmasters. McClain says: "JUBILEE is making folks happy — and they're drinking with glee."

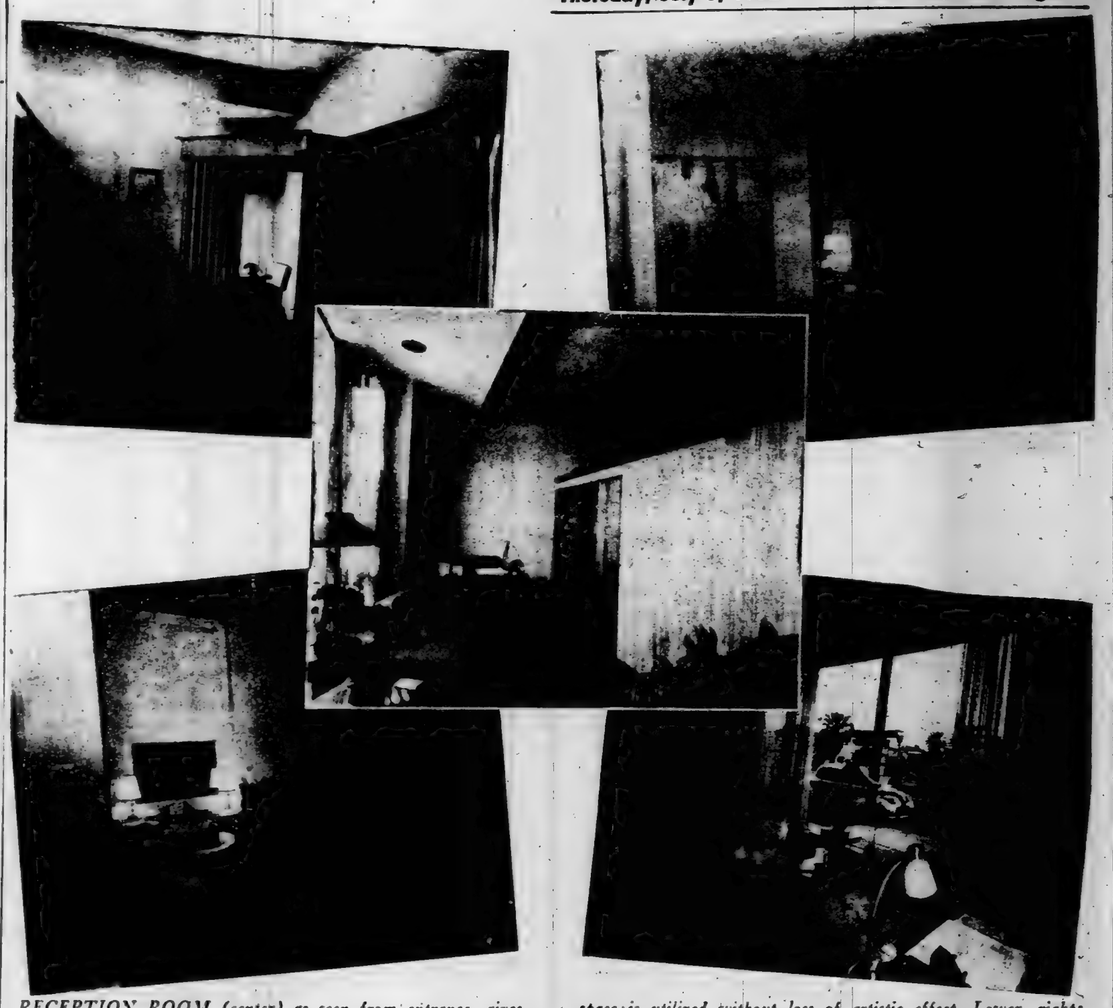
GERALD LA BROI—Arnold Hoffman of Liquor Stores, good looking lightweight boxing master who faces Carlos Chavez in the Olympic Aud. main-event Tuesday night. La Broi is a dangerous threat in the lightweight ranks.

La Broi, Chavez May Be Olympic Thriller



By Edw. "Abie" Robinson

Arnold Hoffman's classy looking lightweight boxer in the person of 22-year-old Gerald La Broi may be the real thing. The young, serious fistic craftsman is going through his paces daily at the Moose Gym, under the watchful eyes of Cal Woods and Duke Holloway, veteran trainers.

La Broi made a hit with the town peasants by pounding out an easy ten-round decision, over Richie Mangreis last May. Since that time he underwent a minor operation. Now completely recovered, he faces tough Carlos Chavez who once rated as the nation's outstanding featherweight and is still rated as a hard fighter to beat.

Young La Broi hails from Gary, Ind., the home of such ring greats as Willie Joyce and Tony Zale. His boxing is compared to that of John Thomas and his cool, serious style to that of Ray Robinson. In 32 boxing bouts he won 29 and drew three times. He holds decisions over Ray Carter, good Chicago lightweight, Luther Rawlings and Baby Face Jones.

Among his most impressive bouts are the three draws with Ray Robinson's great welterweight prospect Danny Womber. Both Cal Woods, co-manager, and trainer Duke Holloway are expecting great things from this smooth punching lightweight. It was Duke Holloway who guided unknown Harold Dade to the world's bantamweight title. La Broi and Chavez should be a thriller come July 8 at the old Olympic homestead, 18th and Grand.

The Hazel Simpson "report to the people" turned my stomach. She was sooo disgusted and tired of it all! May we suggest the flamboyant Mrs. Simpson pay a visit to Olive View, where some tubeculosis patients have been bed-ridden for years (with ½-a lung yet!) and be reminded of the adage: "I cried because I had no shoes—until I met a man who had no feet." THEATRE

'Christopher Brown' Is New Musical Hit

By BOB ELLIS

A fresh, pure-in-heart new play, a musical comedy, opened in Los Angeles Monday night—"Christopher Columbus Brown." It had none of the fanfare or the million-dollar backing of the last musical written by Angelinos, "My L.A.," but for slightly under two hours the stage of the Las Palmas Theatre gave forth with talent, color, songs and dances, as to make our city puff out its chest that the wholesome show people responsible were Southern Californians.

"Chris Columbus Brown," is a musical fantasy, (book, music and lyrics) by Horace (Nicodemus) Stewart, boasting a cast of 47 Negro actors, singers, and dancers led by the winsome author himself and the redoubtable Rex Ingram, and introducing the fresh, exciting Sonny Woods and Mauri Lynn.

Produced by Edna and Horace Stewart. "Brown," is costumed, designed, acted and staged with complete imagination. Tony Borr does an enormously successful direction achievement of this family show everyone will like, especially honest people who will see the freshness and the talent on the stage and enjoy it.

A Political Myth

"Brown," tells the story of mythical Morpak city, with its "bad" forces (led by the charming rogue Rex Ingram) and its "good" forces, headed by a reform preacher running for Mayor (Sonny Woods.)

A little boy, Chris Columbus Brown (McHenry Norman) overheard shennanigans that will frame the preacher with one "Shady Sue," (Juanita Moore). Afraid of what the bad forces threaten to do to him if he talks, the boy dreams of taking the good people of Morpok to Utopia on his space ship. After suitable adventures and plot, Chris Brown awakens in time to tell the truth and save the city.

Local Talent Shines

Local talent literally shines and blazes in quantity and quality. Mr. Stewart has singable, whistle-able songs in "Right Where You Are," "You Wanna," "Great Day, "What an Awful Night." And there are hit possibilities with "Right Where You Are," sung with hard-working care by Sonny Woods tenor voice. And Mauri Lynn as the heart interest, sings the finest song, "I've Got A Guy," stopping the show with warmth of her performance and the excellence of the song.

Ballet Stops Show

....The ballet dancing so creatively staged by choreographer Tom Mahoney had the opening night audience in delight. The dancers were simply wonderful. Graham Johnson as the "Stag" in the first act and in a Blues ballet in Act 11 is one of the most virile, exciting dancers this newsman has every seen. And the tall, sexy, funny Bobbie Ehinehart could and should have a show built just for her—she is that exciting. But then, so are many others.

Performers Stand Out

The four hoodlums contribute wonderfully well, as handsome and dashing as could be asked for Bill Bedney, Don Bedney, Tabs and Jim Booker.

The gang around Rex Ingram turns in warm performances. Jay Brooks is earnest and convincing as "Lucky." As the Sheriff, Emmett Smith does too much mugging, playing much too broadly. Miss Juanita Moore's "Shady Sue" could benefit by a touch of flash needed to set off a strong performance.

Mr. Stewart, or Nick O Demus, as he is billed, plays the key role, the be-puzzled candidate of the crooks, one Will I. Cheatum. The comic part based on a concept of the "little lost citizen," is successful although to this corner's opinion not enough is made of the character through the entire show.

Weak Book

Indeed the faults of "Brown," to this reviewer, stem from the weak book, the lack of sharp gag-dialogue and well-knit talk scenes. As it now stands, it appears that each scene does not build and develop sufficiently. In Act II the vague development falls apart at the "Beating the Bushes," scene from ten on, the plot proceeding are just repetitive.

Opening night audiences wanted to see more of the "Out to Find the Tree," sequence which could be developed into a show-stopper. And the coronation of the king went too quickly. If only each of the characters could be allowed to do a specialty—their costumes and mannerisms are so hilarious.

Grose Singers

The Charles Grose singers and other chorus members and dancers were so refreshing to see and hear, representing joy and good-humor whereas the stilted chorus lines of most Broadway shows and Hollywood movies represent just sex. (Not that "Brown," is sex-less.) Dancer Jeanne Thompson heads a long list of exciting, joyous youths.

Negro-White Contributions

"Chris Brown," is the finest example of Negroes and whites working together that can be remembered in present-day theater history. The contributions of the non-Negro artists, while off-stage, fused with the intentions of the author and the producers. George Wyle arranged the music, sets were by Ken MacClelland, costumes by Richard, vocal direction by Marsha Norman, while the large cast and crew were stage managed by Rayme Ellis.

Final Notes

Personal Footnoes: John Dix and Jayne Craddock are two "discoveries," as theatre personalities. Edith Whiteman, folksinger, should do more than act a bit part—she should be given a song. The two piano players are wonderful—Charles Lawrence and Eddie Beale. And altho Jack Williams was given feature billing, he did not appear. How his dancing feet were missed!

But all credit to the entire company and production crew for their joyous presentation!

HOLLYWOOD NEGRO BALLET—Bernice Harrison and Graham Johnson in Tales From Vienna Woods. They are featured performers on the new program of the Hollywood Negro Ballet which will play at the Assistance League Playhouse Friday and Saturday nights, July 11 and 12.

IN CONCERT—Roena Savage, graduate of USC School of Music, was presented in concert Tuesday night at the Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial State University. A native of San Bernardino, Miss Savage has been active on the New York concert stage.

Negro Ballet To Perform on July 11 and 12

Joseph Rickard's Hollywood Negro Ballet (formerly First Negro Classic Ballet) will present their new program at the Assistance League Playhouse, 1367 North Saint Andrews Place, near Sunset and Western, in Hollywood, Friday and Saturday nights, July 11 and 12, at 8:30.

Principal dancers in the Hollywood Negro Ballet are Graham Johnson, from "Finian's Rainbow" and M-G-M's "American in Paris," Bernice Harrison, glamorous "Show Boat" ballerina, and Theodore Duncan, who scored in "Carmen Jones."

In the supporting troupe are Ardie Allison, Roberta Crawford, Shirley Vargas, Diane Gordon, Jean Thompson, Gloria Jones and Kathleen Valdez.

New ballets to be premiered July 11 and 12 are "Tales from Vienna Woods," by Johann Strauss, "Nutcracker Variations," By Tchaikowsky, and "Southern Episode," by Gretchaninoff.

By popular request, the program will also include "Harlot's House" and "Cinderella," by Claudius Wilson, "Little China Figure," by Saint-Saens, and "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn, favorite ballets from previous seasons.

Jordan Running For President

The "Louis Jordan for president" drive is expected to gain added momentum on the coast as the Tympany King and his revue shoved off Thursday for a series of one nighters in Northern California, Oregon and Washington.

Handy and Razaf in Music Hall of Fame

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The works of W. C. Handy and Andy Razaf, two of America's foremost composers of popular music, have been presented to Howard University's Moorland Foundation of Negro Life and History, University officials announced this week.

These gifts will be a part of the University's collection of Negro music which is currently being compiled. When completed, the collections will include photographs, souvenir programs, circulars, articles, clippings, biographical notes, and ephemeral material relating to Negro music and musicians of historical significance.

Johnny Otis Sets Recording Dates

Preston Love, former Johnny Otis sideman and bandleader in his own right, arrived in the city for a series of recording dates in Hollywood. Love hails from Omaha and also worked with Count Basie and Lucky Millinder.

People and Places

Wonder if it is true about that Western Avenoo Baptist minister, who drives a sleek looking 1952 light Cadillac? It is being rumored that he and a big time used car dealer are in pretty tight. The dealer is supposed to have advanced him a sizeable check to help launch his new W. Adams church. In turn he is to get all the car business and burial trade from its members. Understand a powerful group of citizens soon will be calling for a housecleaning among our most respected clergyman. This is long overdue as some of the brothers and sisters are making the pulpits look like a three-ring circus.

Hazel Beefing

We got via Wini Orr that Hazel Simpson didn't like the way we treated her in print. All I can say is she had a chance to escape what she claims malicious gossip and lies. Her friends advised her to stay in hiding and above all "Don't see the Negro press." She heeded and now the only rest she will get is when she packs baggage for another city and lives a sheltered life under an assumed name. We print the news, not make it. Hazel, dear, your number is up!

J. B. BROWN, once regarded as the top sports figure around town appeared to be moving up in class again. Which indicates he is not tearing up those 100 dollar tickets at the Hollywood Race track. ASIDE to J. T. GIPSON, Bessie Mae Goodman nudes are still draped in the same place, she claimes a mother's gotta make a living. I wonder if her kids would be proud of her if they happened in Sonny's pool hall?

A certain well-known lush salesman is getting tired of waiting for his ex to make up her mind about the divorce. He says there isn't a chance of kiss and make up. He is absolutely through, lady the man said that. Despite my hour's effort to show him a Mister Anthony's point. You know the fellow on the radio.

RUTH FORD, the cute Army Force Radio show script gal, is awful happy being Miss Ford again and we must come out to the A.B.C. station and catch the fun. WHO is the ofay gal that's getting all the attention from the oxford grey mail clerks down the annex way? She drives a high-powered car—on HER salary!

LUSH SALESMAN—James Scott, who worked his way up the whiskey ladder may easily be rated as one of the tops in his field. His Bourbon DeLuxe is a fast mover because it is easy to take and light on the pocket book.

WHAT'S Bill Watkin's gonna do about our local beer Jack (102) Fortune and John (Lucky Lager) Brady?

LYDIA BAILEY—the flick shows off Negro talent at its best is out to break all box-office records. We doubt if southerners will take to it. However it is rated the best to come out of Hollywood. Our gals, which include Lena Torrance, Juliette Ball, and a host of others really came up with great performances.

JAM CONCERT—Sunday, July 13th at the Club Alabam is featuring Poison Gardener's Group. Don't miss this chance of being poisoned in music.

SCRIBE LIBBY CLARK—was treated to a birthday party at the Penthouse the other eve, sister Jerry Jackson, who invited some of her close friends. Natch the joint jumped. Libby and Jerry just returned from the east and the New York weatherman claims that their presence was the cause of the worst heat wave in the history of the big town.

CECIL COUNT CARTER—a musician of great note writes from his hospital bed, that Hazel Simpson isn't as bad a gal as we would have you peasants think. She once gave him blood for a transfusion and she didn't even know him. She gave Branham a blood test because she knew him.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

Valley Development Under Construction

San-Fern Manor, a new San Fernando Valley community of 111 three-bedroom homes, is now well under construction at Herrick avenue and Fillmore street, close to San Fernando road and Van Nuys boulevard.

This was the announcement today from officials of Gold Medal Homes, developers, who said that the dwellings, featuring one and two baths, will be priced from $9999.

Veterans may purchase with down payments as low as $475, plus impounds, and on monthly terms from $50.85 a month for principal and interest. Non-veterans may also buy on liberal terms, according to James Carter, sales agent.

Available in 28 varied and beautiful elevations, all designed by Architect Charles Du Bois, A.I.A., the San-Fern Manor homes include such luxury features as attached or detached two-car garages, living rooms at both front and rear, French doors leading to covered concrete terraces (expandable), and General Electric garbage disposals (the latter included in all plans but number 205).

Other advantages are No. 1 oak floors, custom-made kitchens, full service porches, dual floor furnaces, electric bathroom heaters, wardrobe type closets and lawns with shrubs.

In and paid for are such property improvements as paved streets, sidewalks, curbs, gutters, parkway trees, etc.

San-Fern Manor is close to schools of all grades, shopping centers, public transportation, churches, recreational facilities and many major employment areas.

The new community may be reached by taking Laurel Canyon Blvd. (in the Valley) or San Fernando road to Van Nuys boulevard, right to Herrick avenue, left to Fillmore street. Carter said that sales offices will be open throughout the entire holiday weekend, as well as on weekdays.

was the victim of an "odd" holdup. Two bandits with women's stockings covering their faces accosted her as she was leaving her home in her sky blue Cadillac. They called her by name, whacked her escort over the head with a gun, and took her purse containing $177.

Mrs. Jones told police that she thought a rejected suitor put the bandits on her for spite, rather than loot.

Atty. Walter L. Gordon defended Mrs. Jones. Pipkins was represented by a public defender.

Mrs. Jones faces a sentence of not less than two years or more than five years on each of the four counts. Pipkins, with a record of one prior conviction, will receive a mandatory five-year sentence on each count.

Alfred 'Chink' King Top D pe Peddler Jailed

— Doesn't Like Camera —

TRIED TO HIDE—Alfred "Chink" King, believed to be the top dope peddler in the Southland, was tripped up by Federal officers Saturday, reportedly caught in the act of hiding a cache of heroin in a vacant lot. When snapped by Eagle photographer Irving Smith, King was trying to hide behind his coat lapel. He is shown with Federal officers.

BRANHAM FACES HAZEL TUESDAY

Continuous Publication for 73 Years — 44

VOL. LXXIII—No. 15 Los Angeles, California, Thursday, July 10, 1952 10c AD. 4-0161

Jury to Complete Its Probe

Hazel Simpson and Rev. John H. Branham will meet for the first time since she shot him twice last June 14, next week. The dramatic meeting will take place Tuesday morning at nine o'clock in the Hall of Justice when both are scheduled to appear before the Grand Jury to tell what happened the night of the fateful shooting.

Careful Questioning

Taking a great deal of care to try to find out just what happened that night when the blond Hazel Simpson, member of Branham's congregation, and reputedly a big-time bookie, pumped two bullets into the handsome minister, the Grand Jury questioned almost a dozen witnesses.

Herbert Simpson, husband of Hazel; her daughter, Eleanor; the maid, Eloise Jackson; her stepfather, Walter Dennis; Celestial Cotton, Air Force Sgt.; Herbert Davis, nephew of Branham; police officers Walter Goodlow, Frank Shell, J. L. Dykes and A. R. Jensen were closely questioned by members of the Grand Jury.

Due to the lack of time, the questioning of Mrs. Simpson and officer Ray Pinkert of the police crime laboratory was put over until the morning of July 15, the same date Branham was subpoenaed to appear before the body.

The subpoena was issued to Branham Wednesday noon while he was being questioned by investigator Bert Dreebin from the

Kingpin Al King Nabbed

Troubles multiplied this week for Alfred (Chink) King, alleged kingpin of local narcotic dealers.

He was arrested Saturday night for possession of three ounces of heroin by federal officers who said they saw him cache the dope in a vacant lot next door to his swank home at 2031 Rimpau boulevard.

King, who was dead broke when he arrived in Los Angeles from New Orleans in 1949, was prosperous enough to post a $10,000 bond when arraigned before Commissioner Howard Calverly Monday. He was already free on a $10,000 bond on a state narcotic charge and another $10,000 bond on Federal income tax evasion charges.

Photo Shy

The smooth, fast talking and flashily dressed King was also ready to offer to buy pictures taken by Eagle photographer Irving Smith. "I'll pay you more for the picture than the paper will," he said.

Arrested with King Saturday were his brother-in-law, Clare Hubbard, and Herbert Grimes, who posted the $2500 bail set for them by Commissioner Calverly at the Monday hearing.

King led a charmed life as far as local arrests were concerned until last March 27. He landed in jail on that date when police officers said they saw him deposit several ounces of heroin on the curb near his home.

Other Trouble

The government stepped in on April 9 to indict him on income tax evasions and he was arrested on April 10. Although the State confiscated his sleek black

Police Sued For $30,000 For Brutality

Charges of a police beating so brutal that it smashed his jaw and caused other injuries, necessitating lengthy hospitalization, were made before a jury here Wednesday by veteran Artney Todd.

Todd brought suit for $29,900 damages for the mauling which took place Jan. 20, 1951. Named in the suit were Officers R. C. Ferguson and L. L. Simeon.

"Black Sambo"

Todd claims that he was accosted by the two officers at about 11 o'clock in the evening while he was standing in front of 1424 E. First street and told to "move along, Black Sambo."

When he objected to the name, he claims, the two policemen let go with a barrage of insults, knocked off his hat, and as he stooped to pick it up went at him with their nightsticks.

Representing Todd at the trial are Attys. Edward Maddox and George Cannady. Deputy City Atty. Robert L. Burns is defending the officers.

According to Todd, who lives at 1560 Nieto Lane, in Aliso Village, after the beating he was taken to jail and booked on a charge of intoxication and resisting arrest, to which he pleaded guilty. Because of his illness he was given a suspended sentence.

Jaw Broken

Suffering from the pain in his jaw, he went to the Veterans Hospital at Sawtelle, where it was found that his jaw was broken in two places. Doctors wired the jaw together, pulled several teeth and hospitalized him for eight days.

After his recovery, he filed a suit against the city, but his claim was denied. The brutality charge was investigated by the Grand Jury, which left the case open due to difficulty in locating witnesses and getting corroboration of Todd's charges.

The damages sought are for medical attention, loss of earnings and suffering caused by the injuries.

Appeal Seeks Freedom for Bucky Walker

Lawrence J. (Bucky) Walker's plea for freedom was presented to the District Court of Appeals in San Diego Tuesday.

Walker, former Air Force sergeant now serving a life term at San Quentin for the double murder of white Doris and Richard Cook on a lonely road near Riverside March 26, 1951, was represented in the appeal by Attys. Crispus Wright and John Preston.

No decision was immediately forthcoming. A written opinion on the merits of the appeal will be rendered following consideration by the court.

Three Counts

Appeal of the conviction, which climaxed one of the most controversial, dramatic and lengthy trials ever heard in Riverside, was based on three counts.

Walker's attorneys charged:

1. That the joining of the charge of rape and kidnapping of Mrs. Betty Maund—a crime on which the jury failed to agree—to the murder counts was prejudicial to the possibility of Walker obtaining a fair trial.

2. That the court wrongfully brought pressure on one of the jurors. After many hours of deliberation, the jury returned to the court for new instructions. Walker's attorneys claim that in repeating his instructions the judge stated that there was "apparently one juror who was perhaps unwilling to discuss the evidence fairly and squarely with the other jurors."

3. That the evidence was insufficient to warrant a conviction.

Four-Year-Old Girl Killed By Hit-Run Driver

Sheila Lynette Johnson, 4, 1312-1 Kearney street was the victim of a hit run driver July 4.

She was walking across Kearney street and was struck by a vehicle which failed to stop after the accident. She died enroute to the General Hospital.

The car was described as a dirty black 1936 Ford Sedan, which made no attempt to stop. The driver looked back while leaving the scene according to witness.

Coroner's inquest is set for Friday, at 9:30 a.m.

G.O.P. Adopts Weak Civil Rights Plank

CHICAGO—A Republican convention which cheered to the rafters when Herbert Hoover reminded it that the Whig party "disappeared . . . and deserved to disappear" because it "temporized and compromised on the issue of freedom for the Negro" temporized and compromised on the issue of civil rights this week.

The fight over civil rights was the most bitter of the convention.

Apparently bent on appealing to the Solid South with an all-out endorsement of states' rights, the G.O.P. back-pedaled from its 1944 and 1948 position on FEPC and offered a hodge-podge plank designed to placate all factions. In taking that action it disregarded a stirring plea by one of its stalwarts, Councilman Archibald Carey of Chicago, who urged his party to take an unequivocal stand for civil rights.

False Promises

"The string of promises dangled before my people like a glittering necklace has been fashioned into a tight-fitting noose, strangling their freedom and their freedom of choice and sometimes their hopes," Carey told the cheering delegates. Their cheers were in direct contrast to their votes.

It was apparent from the beginning that the Republicans had no intention of taking anything resembling a strong stand on FEPC. The debate, that reached angry and bitter heights, was over the issue of whether FEPC should be left entirely to the states or whether the federal government should establish a commission with power of subpoena or investigation but lacking all enforcement powers.

As finally written the GOP plank calls for an anti-lynch law, abolition of poll tax and abolition of segregation in Washington. It expresses pious hopes for elimination of all racial and religious prejudices.

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP and 20 other Negro organizations that recently listed platform demands in a leaflet entitled "What the Negro Wants in 1952," proposed that the Republican civil rights plank begin with a guarantee that Americans of every race, creed and color, enjoy the equality called for by the Constitution.

Demands Listed

White also asked that these points be included in the national platform: (1) change in the Senate rules to prevent filibusters; (2) Federal fair employment practices legislation with full enforcement powers; (3) anti-segregation and anti-lynching laws; (4) abolition of the poll

4,000 Chicagoans Riot Over Housing

CHICAGO — An angry, rioting mob that swelled to 4,000, smashed, stoned and set fire to a modest two-story Southside apartment building here last Wednesday night, in the continuing, nation-wide battle to confine Negroes to ghettoes.

For over four hours, the jeering hoodlums, hurling bottles and rocks and armed with containers of inflammable liquid, fought off over 200 policemen who were rushed to the home at 4544 S. Union avenue, located in a lily-white neighborhood.

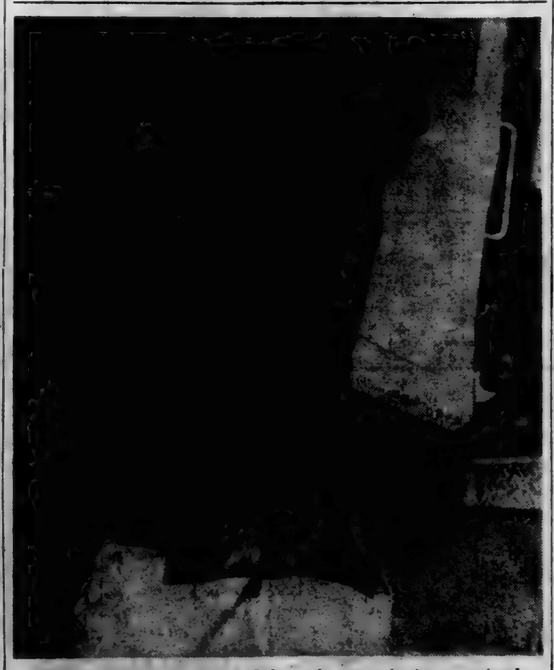
Fires Started

The rioting started at 7:30 in the evening when a fire was set in a shed at the rear of the house.

Roaring fire engines added to the tumult of the menacing crowd. Hardly had the fire fighters pulled away when someone tossed fiery liquid into the kitchen of the house, starting a fresh flare-up of flames.

By midnight, police, who refrained from using force, had finally thinned the crowd to a few hundred.

No Negroes There



No Negroes were in the area at the time, and the only casualty was a 15-year-old white boy who was hit by a bottle aimed at a police squad car.

A white woman, Mrs. Bertha Verran, was in an upstairs apartment when the mob began milling around. As the mobsters, mostly youths, began throwing rocks through the windows of the building, she fled to a neighbor's house.

The riot occurred after several Negroes were seen looking at two vacant first-floor apartments.

Every window in the building was smashed. The front porch was ripped from the house by SHOT OVER $10—Max Colston (on stretcher) was seriously wounded Saturday night in an argument over a $10 bill. He is shown with a Georgia Street ambulance attendant. Humphrey Ledell, 5554 Duarte, was arraigned for the shooting Wednesday, when Colston was reported holding his own at General hospital.

Masses Arrested In Jim Crow Defy

CAPE TOWN, South Africa—In deliberate defiance of hated Jim Crow laws last week in Port Elizabeth, 30 dedicated Negroes, representing the country's disinherited, dared to set foot upon a bridge reserved for "whites" only.

In Johannesburg, another 50 Negro demonstrators broke curfew regulations. Also in Johannesburg, still another 50, "forgetting" required permits, attempted to enter a Negro reservation.

Mass Arrests

Anticipated repressive action of the government followed immediately. Swarms of heavily armed police made mass arrests of the "disobedient" Negroes in an attempt to crush the nonviolent disobedience movement of non-whites launched June 26.

All face trial July 11 under one of the Malan government's ruthless laws. Charged with conspiring to commit "public violence," they are liable, if convicted, to heavy penalties.

The mass arrests followed the jailing of two of the movement's leaders, Walter Sisulu, Negro leader of the African National Congress, and Nana Sita, of the South African Indian Congress.

Death Preferred

Their arrests occurred after public meetings June 26. Under the slogan, "Death is better than serfdom," volunteers marched GOODLOW IS AMUSED—A study in contrasting emotions is mirrored above on the faces of witnesses waiting to testify before the Grand Jury in the Branham shooting case. Officer Walter Goodlow and Chief Investigator Bert Dreebin seem to be enjoying a good joke, but the joke seems lost on the glum countenances of Air Force Sgt. Herbert Davis and Sgt. W. F. George.

Branham, Simpson Face First Meeting

District Attorney's office, and Sgt. W. F .George and officer A. R. Jensen of the LAPD.

While the exact nature of the statement Branham gave the investigators in his home in the presence of his lawyer, Philip Davis is not known, it was reliably learned that Branham gave substantially the same statement he issued to the press four days after he was shot and critically wounded.

Doesn't Remember

Branham stated that he didn't recall telling the police officers that Mrs. Simpson told him she was "very passionate" and cried, "I'm going to shoot you." The popular pastor said that he didn't recall hardly anything after he started on the way to the hospital.

He recounted the attempted suicide by Mrs. Simpson resulting in his receiving two bullet wounds while trying to take the gun from her. He was shot in the lower abdomen, the bullet piercing his bladder and lodging near his spine, and in the left forearm, the bullet passing completely through the arm.

No Holes in Shorts

Branham could not explain why he didn't have any bullet holes in his shorts, but admitted that he didn't change them when he went home to change clothes.

Another mystery is what happened to the bullet that passed through Branham's arm, when he was shot in the luxurious home of Mrs. Simpson at 2075 E. 29th place.

An Eagle reporter was admitted to the house by Branham's attorney shortly after the investigators finished their hour-long questioning of him. Branham stated that he was in conference with his lawyer and couldn't make a statement. He promised to call the Eagle office when he was not so busy.

Nattily Attired

Rev. Branham received the investigators in the beautifully appointed living room of his swank residence at 2222 W. Adams. He wore black hornrim glasses, and was nattily attired in a lounging robe. The only visible effects of his recent ordeal was a large bandage around his arm.

His apparent recovery gave rise to speculation that he might appear in his beautiful million-dollar church at 40th and Main for Sunday services.

The on-again off-again Simpson family decided to play coy with photographers Tuesday, and wouldn't pose for pictures. Attorney Earl C. Broady accompanied them to the hearing, but didn't go before the Grand Jury.

Testimony Crucial

The testimony of Ray Pinkert from the crime laboratory is supposed to be very vital in either substantiating or refuting the Branham-Simpson version of the shooting.

After the hearing Tuesday, the Grand Jury will discuss the evidence unearthed by the investigation, and decide if an indictment should be issued or the matter closed.

Sources close to the Grand Jury are laying heavy odds that unless something more startling than has been revealed up to date occurs, the Grand Jury will wash its hands of the matter.

Local NAACP To Get Report Of Convention

Campaign workers and members of the Los Angeles branch NAACP will hear a first-hand report of the events of the 43rd annual NAACP convention held in Oklahoma City June 24 to 29 at the final report meeting of the 1952 membership campaign Monday, July 14, 8 p.m. at Zion Hill Baptist church, 51st and McKinley.

Mrs. Lillie Montgomery, chairman of the special activities committee, will tell of the happenings and plans made for future NAACP programs.

Others who attended the convention are: Dr. E. I. Robinson, president, Atty. Thomas G. Nuesom, Dr. H. Claude Hudson, Atty. Loren Miller, John H. Dial, area president, and L. P. Bailey, field secretary. Three youth council members also attended from the newly reorganized local group.

More than 50 campaign workers will receive awards and certificates at the meeting for their outstanding efforts in the drive which netted 3,500 new NAACP members for 1952.

Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, program committee chairman, will present musical selections.

Navy Secretary Defends Jim Crow at Land Bases

NEW YORK — Jim crow is dying a very slow death in the Navy.

Navy Secretary Dan Kimball last week spoke out in defense of segregation at land bases in the South, specifically in the shipyards at Norfolk, Va., and Charleston, S. C.

Secretary Kimball, in an answer to NAACP leader Walter White, defended jim-crow policy and asserted his belief that "the Navy must conform with these usages and customs, some of which, incidentally, are backed up by law."

White has asked President Truman to repudiate Secretary Kimball's defense of segregation.

Elks Name Strather Bass Lodge Ruler

Robert (Bob) Strather was elected Exalted Ruler of the Joe B. Bass Lodge No. 1004 of the Elks (I.B.P.O.E. of the World) at the June election of officers.

James M. Strewart, Grand District Deputy of Southern California, was in charge of the elections.

Following his selection, Strather, speaking at the opening of the newly decorated hall and clubrooms of the organization, promised officers and 300 invited guests that there will be a new deal for the Joe B. Bass lodge and the community through the program of charity, justice, brotherly and sisterly love with fidelity.

Other officers elected were:

Newton Division Captain Attends Chicago Meet

Captain Noel McQuown of the Newton Street Divison has been selected by Chief of Police W. H. Parker to represent the Los Angeles Police Department in a seminar at the University of Chicago. Captain McQuown will appear with representatives of major police departments throughout the nation to discuss the subject of police and racial tensions. His scholarship was given by the Conference of Christians and Jews.

In authorizing Captain McQuown's attendance at the school, Chief Parker stated that he hopes the Captain's attendance will broaden "our knowledge by availing ourselves of the best thinking on the subject, and allow the Los Angeles Police Department to do even a better job in this department field."

tax and legislation outlawing interference with the right of Negro citizens to register and vote in primary or general elections. The NAACP leader also asked the party to pledge to establish a permanent federal commission on civil rights.

Warning that Negro voters would not be satisfied with platform generalities, White reminded the Republicans that the Negro vote in the 1948 elections had played an important role in the election of President Truman, who ran on an uncomprising civil rights latform.

These acts are in conformity with the plans of the groups united in protest which have determined to violate every jim-crow law on the books—and there are more such laws and they are more sweeping than those that exist even in the most backward section of the South in the United States.

When the jails of the country are filled, violations will still continue. The expectation is that the expanding movement will make the segregation (Apertheid) laws unenforceable.

Provocation

The unprecedented acts of defiance occurred against a background of seething anger shared by all non-whites. Resentment has been fanned to fever pitch by the fanatical provocations of the Nationalist government, including the recent law taking away the few paltry rights heretofore enjoyed by the "Coloreds," or persons of mixed parentage.

For the first time in the history of the country, Negroes, Indians and Coloreds have banded together for a common purpose. The disobedience movement, commenced two weeks ago, is sponsored by the African National Congress, the South African Indian Congress and the Colored People's Franchise Action Council.

Dr. J. S. Moroka, president-general of the National Congress, has called for 10,000 volunteers to carry on the defiance movement. When 10,000 have been arrested, 10,000 more will fill their places. Only volunteers who are aware of the issues at stake are being accepted. Among the original number who responded, many are Europeans.

Roach-Hahn Vote Battle Set For November

Only major political upset in the June 3 primary in Los Angeles was the terrific lead chalked up by Councilman Kenneth Hahn in his bid for the Board of Supervisors, according to official results released last week by Registrar of Voters Benjamin S. Hite.

Hahn led the field in the second district by over 11,000 votes, but did not receive a majority. He faces a run-off in November with incumbent Leonard J. Roach.

Final figures show Hahn, 54,745 votes; Roach, 43,720; Kenny Washington, 18,349; Francis Edmonds, 6,087.

In Assembly races, Gus Hawkins won both nominations in the 62nd district. Also winning both nominations were Vernon Kilpatrick in the 55th; G. Delbert Morris in the 63rd; John Evans in the 65th; and Gordon Hahn in the 66th.

In the 67th district, there will be a run-off between Clayton A. Dills, Democrat; and E. Charles Forde, Republican.

For Congress, Sam Yorty was elected on both tickets in the 26th Congressional district; as were also Gordon L. McDonough in the 15th, and Clyde Doyle in the 23rd. Incumbent Cecil R. King faces a run-off in the 17th with Robert H. Finch.

Fanning Upgrades 5; P.O. Fully Integrated

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning announced this week the upgrading of five veteran Negro postal employees, and in the same matter-of-fact announcement indicated by the assignment of the men that all color lines have been erased in the Los Angeles post office.

Fanning promoted T. C. Smith to general foreman of carriers. Aaron Douglas has been promoted to superintendent of Santa Monica-Western station. Eugene C. Ware has been promoted and transferred to clerk-in-charge of the South station at 111th and Main. Robert W. Garrot, supervisor of the Watts station, has been transferred to the same position in West Los Angeles.

Shatters Precedent

The above promotions shatter the pattern of Negro supervisory personnel working in predominantly Negro communities with a largely Negro staff.

In addition, Howard K. Payne has been promoted to clerk-in-charge in Watts.

The promotions and transfers completely integrate the Los Angeles Post Office, and bring to a successful conclusion a program that Fanning initiated when he assumed the duties of postmaster in 1945.

The newly promoted postal employees were introduced to the local press Monday afternoon in Fanning's office in the Federal Building. After the introductions and pictures were taken, at the request of the California Eagle reporter, Postmaster Fanning elaborated on his views on integration.

Major Problem

He said that in his opinion the integration of the Negro completely into the economic life of the country is the major problem facing the country today.

"It is even greater than the problem of communism. We must absorb men, by their ability, into our economic system and make them feel absorbed. That is what I have been trying to do in the Los Angeles Post Office."

Fanning pointed out that he started his program of complete integration over six years ago.

Took Beating

"I took an awful beating when I began to upgrade men on ability, regardless of race or creed. Every time I promoted a Negro to a responsible supervisory job, I'd receive nasty letters and phone calls, and many times representatives of organizations would call on me in person to protest.

"I know that the program of integration has been a success. Greater efficiency has been achieved in the work program. The men know that they will advance if they merit it. The greatest proof that the program is a success is indicated by the job that Bob Garrott holds. Garrott is supervisor of West Los Angeles station, which is located near UCLA in an all-white neighborhood.

"When the announcement was made that he was taking charge of the station, it didn't create one ripple of protest. He has taken charge of the station and is receiving wonderful cooperation from his employees and the community. The same goes for the other men promoted."

Fanning pointed out that when he took over the administration of the Post Office, out of 370 supervisory employees there were only three Negroes. Two were at Station K in the heart of the Negro community, and the other was working at the Veteran's station.

40 Supervisors

Forty Negroes now hold supervisory posts in all phases of postal work. This is the greatest number of Negro supervisors in the country and by far outstrips such cities as New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Fanning has followed the spirit as well as the letter of President Truman's directive on full integration. There are no lily-white sections in the Los Angeles Post Office. Jobs are bid for on the basis of seniority, and the top man gets the job, regardless of race, creed or color.

In making the Post Office the most completely integrated government agency in the country, Michael Fanning has cleared a blazing path for other administrators to follow.

PRECEDENT SHATTERING MOVE — Postmaster Michael D. Fanning signs a precedent shattering order as he upgrades the five veteran postal employees shown above. Fanning shattered all color lines in the local postal service by assigning men to jobs where they were open, and not where the employees under them and the territory they service are predominately Negro. Fourth of July Row Ends in Fatal Knifing

By EDDIE LEE KING

A Fourth of July row over a woman brought death to Stanley Russell Johnson, 26, 1567 E. 22nd street, who was quietly stabbed at 1472½ S. Central avenue, Friday afternoon by Stanford Sutton, 36, 1242½ E. 25th street.

Mrs. Sara Turner of 1567 E. 27th street, said that Johnson and Sutton came into the restaurant about 2 p.m. Friday and that five minutes later Joyce Pompey of 1366 E. 20th street entered while the two men were talking.

Mrs. Turner went into the back to make some hamburgers while Johnson and Sutton walked into another room.

About ten minutes later Johnson came from around the partition, bleeding from the shoulder and staggered out of the place where he collapsed on the sidewalk.

When Sutton came out, K. C. Turner, owner of the place, said he asked him what had happened to Johnson but that Sutton did not answer and walked out of the place, leaving the scene.

Johnson was pronounced dead on arrival at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital. The 11-inch butcher knife which Sutton used was found near the scene in the restaurant.

When Sutton walked into Newton Street Police Station about five hours later the only reason he gave was that he and Johnson had an argument over Mrs. Pompey, Sutton's common-law wife, and some other woman.

Johnson was six feet and three inches tall and tipped the scales at 190, with Sutton at five feet four, tipping 140. A coroner's inquest is set for today (Thursday) at 9:30 a.m.

Neighbors See Angry Man Beat Former Lover

Hundreds of people watched a man assault a woman in the street on the night of July 4, as LeRoy Fifer and Mrs. Betty Nils Green staged a wild battle on East 62nd street.

Mrs. Green, 28, 1321 East 62nd street, called the sheriff's Firestone station Friday night to complain that Fifer, 29, 810 East 90th street, was breaking the glass out of the front door in an attempt to assault her, but when they arrived they were told that Fifer had driven off in his 1947 convertible Cadillac.

When the deputies left Mrs. Green said she heard a noise in the closet of her house and that Fifer jumped out. She then ran screaming from the house out of the side door.

Fifer grabbed her in the front yard and beat her with his fists and when she fell to the ground he began kicking and stamping her.

Fifer left Mrs. Green and went to the side door of the house and procured two empty quart beer bottles from the trash can. Witnesses said meanwhile she managed to get to her feet and ran across the street to 1324 East 62nd street where Fifer again knocked her to the ground, this time with a beer bottle.

When this bottle broke he used the second one until it too was broken. When he released her to search for another weapon, she managed to get on to the porch at the 1324 address.

There Fifer picked up a rubber garden hose and beat her very severely with it and the brass nozzle end. Mrs. Green was finally able to find sanctuary in the home of Jerry B. Hannon, 54, 1322 East 62nd street, who called the deputies a second time.

New York Pair Win Housing Fight

NEW YORK (CNS)—A Negro couple, Mr. and Mrs. James Swanston, succeeded in getting a lease from their landlord on an apartment in mid-town New York in an all-white residential section. The apartment, located at 107 West 84th Street, was formerly rented by friends of the Swanstons who sublet it to them.

The Swanstons stayed on for several months before the landlord, David Belsky tried to evict them. When the tenants helped out the Swanstons, landlord gave them a lease and withdrew action.

Pontiac sedan in connection with the March arrest, he bounced right back a few days later with another car of the identical make and color.

King faces double-barrelled action on July 22 when he must appear on the income tax charges and for arraignment on the federal narcotic charge. Informed sources said he will enter a nolo contendere—no contest—plea on the income tax and a not guilty plea on the dope charge.

King's trial in the state courts on narcotic possession has been continued several times and is now set for trial August 11 in Department 40 of the Superior Court.

Manslaughter Charge

In addition to his troubles in California, King is wanted on an open charge of manslaughter in New Orleans. He was involved in a knife fight, and the victim died. In an unusual move, King was allowed to leave the jurisdiction of Louisiana to come to California. He is supposed to report back to New Orleans every 30 days.

Local authorities said that King had a long record of arrests in New Orleans, and the open charge of manslaughter was a novel way of floating him out of Louisiana, and insuring that he will not return.

Although King arrived in California in 1949 dead broke, he is reputed to have made a fortune in the short span of three years by wholesaling narcotics to dealers.

Statewide Ring

Underworld sources say that King is high up in a statewide narcotic ring. Those who are supposed to know the narcotic traffic say that he is the source of supply for San Diego, Bakersfield, Fresno, Oakland and Richmond. He reputedly is the largest dealer in Los Angeles.

According to narcotic officers, King is not a "pusher." He directs the traffic to dealers in various areas. He has been hard to catch as he seldom handles the stuff himself.

King lives in a sumptuously appointed home on Rimpau near 21st street. His wife, Meagan King, recently served a six-month sentence for possession of heroin.

Shortsighted Grand Jury

Our shortsighted grand jury last week refused to do anything about the Dunsmuir bombings. There is nothing we can do, the jury said, in effect.

We don't believe that the grand jury is as lacking in power as it says that it is. And we don't believe that it has done its duty or that it will do its duty until it opens and conducts a full scale investigation in the Dunsmuir outrage and into the more than a score of other acts of violence that have flared up when Negroes have exercised their constitutional right of living where they please.

What the grand jury is doing by its refusal to take action in this kind case is setting the stage for far more serious outbreaks than we have had in the past.

The grand jury has told Negroes in effect that it can't do anything when their homes are bombed and that they will just have to shift for themselves and do the best they can.

Newspapers, as we pointed out a couple of weeks ago, carried pictures of one householder sitting on his steps with two guns. He had those two guns because a cross had been burned in his backyard and the police had confessed helplessness. He had the two guns because police have been unable to track down the writers of hate notes that have been directed against him.

We don't want to see Negroes forced into having to arm themselves to protect their wives or their homes or their families. We don't think that the job belongs to them but that rather it belongs to the forces of law and order. We're afraid that if home buyers do begin to arm themselves, resentments will blossom into violence and that in the resulting outbreaks innocent men and women will suffer.

In short, we want law enforcement authorities in this city and county to perform their sworn duties. We want them to protect citizens of this city and county as they're sworn to do. The long lag between the bombing of the Dunsmuir homes and the present time convinces us that the police have fumbled away whatever opportunity they had to do anything in that case.

The failure of the police warranted action by the grand jury. The grand jury's failure to act was a distinct disservice to all Americans in this city who believe in law and order and in the impartial protection of all citizens.

Neither Manly Nor Christian

We can't think of any worse advertisement for democracy than the recent arrest of an African student in Topeka, Kansas.

The twenty-two-year-old Nigerian drew a thirty-day jail term in the capital of Kansas for the "crime" of insisting that the Young Men's Christian Association give him lodgings for the night.

The YM leaders tired of his insistence and called the police who threw him in jail for the night. The next day a Topeka police judge gave him a thirty-day jail sentence and suspended it on condition that he leave the city. That leaving the city isn't an unmixed evil. We can't think of any reason why the student should want to stay there after the treatment he got.

We also think that the action of the YMCA was neither manly nor Christian and we can just see Vishinsky and his stooges licking their chops at this latest ammunition for their anti-democratic crusade.

All Out War on Jim Crow

Action taken at the NAACP convention in Oklahoma City last week reflects the determination of the Association to continue its all-out fight on segregation. As it did at Atlanta last year, the NAACP served notice that it won't be satisfied with "equal facilities" under the outworn separate but equal doctrine. Delegates are convinced that segregation is discriminatory in and of itself and they're out to kill Jim Crow.

The increasing hostility of the NAACP to any compromise with segregation reflects the thinking of Negroes themselves and especially of those who live in the South. Those who live in Dixie know that they have never got a fair shake under the separate but equal rule. Nobody needs to prove to them with a slide rule or a fancy set of statistics that their schools aren't equal to those of their white neighbors. They've seen too many Jim Crow cars to be fooled by soft talk about the equality of railway facilities. They've been shoved into the backs of too many buses and street cars to need more proof that segregation on street cars or buses accords them the same kind of treatment that white riders get.

While southerners are ready to wage an all-out war on segregation, Negroes who live in the North are somewhat laggard in offering the NAACP the help it ought to have to wage an effective fight against the Jim Crow system. All too many northern Negroes are ready to give lip service to the fight but they aren't ready to do much more than that.

The difficulty is that many of us can't see that destruction of the Jim Crow system in the South is a prerequisite for the securing of first class citizenship in the nation at large. As long as there is any one section of the country in which Negroes can be denied their constitutional rights Negroes in other sections of the country will have a hard time getting the full measure of their own rights and privileges.

Protect Your Rights

A Texas federal court made short shrift of the attempt of women of that state to avoid payments of social security for domestic workers. Their claim that the tax is unconstitutional reflects the age old belief that domestics aren't entitled to decent wages, working conditions and to the advantages of old age and unemployment insurance.

We don't know what the figures would show if they were available but we're sure that all too many employers in this state aren't paying the taxes due for domestic workers.

In many instances the employes connive at this evasion of the law because they know that the employer must deduct one and a half per cent of their wages and pay it into the social security fund. They don't want that amount deducted from their pay checks.

In reality the domestic workers who connive at evasion of these tax payments are short-sighted. The money that is paid to the government will ultimately return to them or their dependents, in the shape of old age insurance or benefits to dependents at death.

Every domestic worker should get a social security card at once and upon employment should show that card to the employer and urge that proper deductions be made.

The funds that the employer pays in, together with the deductions from the employe's wages, will do two things:

First, they'll provide protection for the worker and her family in old age.

Second, they will offer protection to the family in the case of death.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

Recently there was a tragic fire in the Bedford section of Brooklyn. Seven women and children were burned to death. They happened to have been of Puerto Rican extraction, but this in itself is of no prime significance. They could have been of American Negro connection from the State of Georgia; they could have been Jews or Italians, or any other people of poor economic circumstances.

The significant feature is that these five victims were poor people, for otherwise they would never have been living in that tenement that went up in flames like a kerosene-soaked matchstick.

It turns out that kerosene could have been used in the conflagration, for a self-confessed arsonist has been tied up with the atrocity. But horrible as arson is to consider, and especially when it results in loss of human life, even more horrible was the fact that such a building as that tenement was there to be burned.

An arsonist is usually a pyromaniac—a mentally unbalanced person who feeds avidly on the excitement of fire that he is responsible for. Medical care and confinement is the method of handling pyromaniacs, but what of those who are deliberately or carelessly accessories to the arson committed by maniacs?

City Guilty

An accessory to a crime is that person who gives assistance or protection before, during or after the criminal's act. In the case of the Brooklyn fire there were approximately eight million persons who gave assistance—the entire City of New York. That tenement violated practically every regulation in the housing codes of New York. Those violations were known to the Department of Housing and Buildings. Nothing was done about those violations because the Department and its operations have for many years been a disgrace to the City of New York.

The people of New York—those who bother to keep up with important news—knew that housing conditions were criminally dangerous for families who were forced to live in fire-trap, disease and rat-infested dwellings.

Politican Paradise

They knew that their Department of Housing and Buildings was a politican's parade—that many of their inspectors were getting rich off fat bribes for winking at violations. They knew that when honest inspectors turned in violators, dishonest, indifferent or ignorant judges let the offenders off with petty fines or reprimands.

Even when these conditons were forcibly brought to public attention in a report some time ago by the Citizens Housing Council, Harlemites, who were the group hardest hit by these disgraceful conditions, became highly indignant because a member of their race was among the politicians cited as unqualified to hold their jobs. Very few people expressed any worry about the families, Negro or white, who live in tenements and who lose their lives and goods because a rotten housing department and a rotten court system fail to protect them.

That is why New Yorkers and those who live in other cities can draw a moral from the Brooklyn fire. We can ignore the excitement currently manifested in the press, by the Mayor's office and by the politicians on both sides woh are seeking to pin the blame on each other. The moral is that it is the people who suffer when they tolerate corruption and inefficiency in their government. Some of us die by fire, some met injury at the hands of thugs—all of us pay a racketeer's tax and all are affected by the degeneration of community standards.

Phoney Exhibtion

If, after the excitement dies down in New York—as it most certainly will very quickly—nothing is done to clean out the Department of Housing and Buildings, or to expose and discipline grafting or shiftless little judges who refuse to take housing laws seriously, thoughtful citizens here and elsewhere can take it for granted that the current public emotion is a phoney exhibition.

And can expect, too, that people in Brooklyn's Bedford district, in Harlem or South Jamaica and South Bronx will continue to die by fire or disease—not only because others do not care, but also because they themselves do not care enough.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

This is being written just before the opening of the Republican National Convention in Chicago and it will appear in print just after the Republican platform has been adopted. Nevertheless, it is possible here to estimate with a fair degree of accuracy what the GOP will say on civil rights.

In brief, the Republicans will not come out in support of a Federal FEPC with enforcement powers. Instead they will recommend a "persuasive and educational" FEPC which will not be worth the paper upon which it is written. The Republicans, also, will make a bow in the direction of Anti-Poll tax and Anti-Lynching laws, but will be vague in their language. They will not touch the core of the civil rights fight which is Rule 22, the filibuster rule in the Senate, which now blocks all civil rights legislation.

Tip-Off

The tip-off on the indifference of the Republicans to the demands from the people on civil rights came last week when hearings were held by a subcommittee in the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago. The committee members named by the party to hear arguments on this most important issue came from Maine, Montana, Wyoming, California and the District of Columbia.

A young and charming Californian, a Mrs. Younger, acted as chairman. The District of Columbia man asked all the questions that were asked and revealed himself as a typical Old Guard Republican, completely hostile to FEPC or any civil rights action by the Federal government.

The members from Maine, Montana, and Wyoming clearly did not know what the talk was all about. One or two admitted later that they had "learned a lot" about civil rights from the witnesses who appeared. By her comments Mrs. Younger displayed the intelligence one would expect from a representative of her state and from one in her age group, but she was at all times a spokesman for the Republican idea that these matters belonged in the states.

Rude Shock

This states' rights attitude got a rude shock when the District of Columbia member asked an Illinois witness why Illinois had not passed an FEPC law since it had a Democratic Governor (Stevenson). The room was full of people who "knew the score" on FEPC and there was a dead silence for the crushing reply of the Illinois witness. He said that the state had a Democratic governor and a Democratic lower house, but that the State Senate was Republican. He said the bill had been recommended by the governor and passed by the Democratic House in two Legislatures, but had been defeated by the Republicans in the Senate. Thereafter the District of Columbia man asked no more questions.

Candidate Harold Stassen testified before the committee and surprisingly came out for a strong Federal FEPC with enforcement powers. He said the Republican party would have to adopt a liberal platform to win.

But the Republicans are not listening to anyone talking liberalism. Apparently, they want Taftism, or Eisenhowerism, which is only slightly better. There were some whispers around Chicago that Eisenhower could be depended upon to do the "right thing" if he is elected, but that is old stuff.

Looking Backwards

It seems very clear that the Republicans who are in the saddle, that is, the Taftites, are determined to turn back the clock on all issues including labor, foreign policy, and civil rights. They are doing this because they have adopted the stubborn position that anything and everything connected with the Truman and Roosevelt policies is bad and must be tossed out.

At this moment they are talking about MacArthur as Vice President, on the Taft ticket, or even as president if a deadlock should develop between Eisenhower and Taft. That means they are looking steadily backward instead of forward. It seems safe to predict that the Negro American voter wil not cast many ballots for a party or a candidate speaking in terms of twenty years ago.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Miller:

Words can never express the real appreciation I feel for the fight you waged to get a Senator FROM California.

Even though we lost, I'm happy that we fought for the principles we believe in. Moreover, I'm grateful for having a friend like you.

Let's continue to fight to carry the State for the Democrats this Fall, and to abolish cross filing.

With warm personal regards.

Sincerely,

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

Partisan politics have been meat and bread to the Negro. His only weapon has been political pressure, and even today, any economic gains made by Negroes, can be traced directly to political pressure.

A political deal was made to get the first Negro jobs on the police force. Pop Sanders made a deal with the LARY on a political issue to get Negro women jobs WASHING STREET CARS.

Jobs For Votes

The first firemen at 14th and Central was a result of a political deal with Cryer and the station at 34th and Central was the result of a political deal with Shaw. The legal Jim Crow setup of the fire department is a direct result of its birth in a political debt. The same goes for the teachers, social workers, clerks, etc.

Local, state and national governments respond to the need of votes. This has been the salvation of the Negro, and through luck, external pressure, occasional liberal leadership, and organized political pressure, progress has been made. The least of these is organization and Los Angeles is a prime example of complete lack of political organization.

This is truly an astounding state of affairs, when one considers that everything the Negro owns, makes and enjoys, is a result of his ability to exercise his franchise at the polls.

California, with its cross filing and large senior population, is traditionally unorganized. It is impossible to maintain tight party lines, even in presidential elections. Because that is true of California generally, gives the organized vote of the Negro a greater opportunity, and the penalty of disorganization is that more tragic.

However, in spite of the lack of organization, on the whole the Negro has acquitted himself admirably at the polls. Nationally this was due to the inspirational leadership given minorities by Roosevelt and Truman. On a statewide level such liberal candidates as Bob Kenny, Will Rogers Jr., James Roosevelt, Edmund G. "Pat" Brown and Helen Gahagan Douglas captured the imagination and votes of Negroes by their stands and actions on issues close to the hearts and pocketbooks of Negroes. This in spite of the so-called Negro leadership.

Locally, the losses due to lack of organization have been more apparent. For a long time the Negro vote was a captive of the corrupt Shaw machine. Bowron, who by cleaning up the civil service system, opened up many jobs for Negroes, has only enjoyed half-hearted support from the community. This, of course, has been Bowron's fault. Reformers just seem to forget that politics is something that is worked at.

There have been many explanations for the complete lack of political organization in Los Angeles and California. Civil service, lack of patronage, living too good, lack of inspirational and competent leadership are some of the excuses given, and each one has some merit.

During the depression, the fight for existence made organization necessary. The L.A. Forum, the Young Men's Progressive League, the Young Men's Advancement League, the Young Democrats, the Young Republicans, the Women's Political Study Club, the Wise Men of the East and West and a score of others were going organizations. Out of such groups spawned community leaders such as Leon H. Washington, Jr., Loren Miller, Amos Black, Hugh Gordon, Tommy Miles, Louis Cole, Leon Giles, Gilbert Lindsey, Rev. Clayton Russell, Baron Lawon, Mrs. Jessie Terry, Phil D. Russell, Rev. Jonathan Caston, Adolphus Clay, Gus and Ed Hawkins, Sammy Bauman and others. Some were out and out charlatans and were soon found out.

A few were sincere dedicated men and didn't fall flat on their principles the first time a dollar bill was waved under their nose. They were very few and today can be counted on the fingers of one hand with spares left over.

As disillusionment set in and the leaders had no followers, the great game of "get a man" set in. Gus Hawkins grabbed Jimmy Roosevelt and later Sam Yorty. Gilbert Lindsey latched on the Kenny Hahn. Dr. Somerville had Bowron locked up. Clayton Russell hugged Helen Douglas. Leon Washington grabbed Dewey and fell flat on his face in a bed of folding green. Frank Clark snatched Pat Brown out of the Loren Miller and yours truly.

However, the jig is just about up. Nothing succeeds like organization and organization is the only answer.

Next week we will discuss the role of Gus Hawkins, the only elected representative from Southern California. His responsibilities, errors and shortcomings and the organizational vacuum that grips the community will be given a hard critical look.

Great Hazards Posed by Highly Unqualified Minister And Distinterested Parents

EVERYBODY'S RESPONSIBILITY

Seemingly we are greatly concerned with the wave of crime on the part of our youth and will be more concerned at the rapid rate it is increasing; what with war becoming the vogue, internationally.

"Exactly what are WE going to do to find a remedy?" Naturally we seek to find the cause, however we need not look very far, for behind every delinquent child is a delinquent parent; behind every broken youth is a broken home; behind every broken home is a neglect of God in that home.

Parental delinquency is of a very serious nature and consequently if we cannot bring the home to the church—then let us bring the church to the home. Let the churches send out their priests, ministers and rabbis into the highways, lanes and the hedges of life and bring all of them in.

"Good Book Bandits"

Pathetic indeed is a situation which exists in our supposed civilized community where an alarmingly large number of pastors' so called "missionary work" is limited to "chauffeur driven visits" to one another's "plush parishes" whereupon they, coincidentally, return from the "journey" in their expensive "rubber wheels" (fine transportation), "solid set of stitches" (high priced clothes), and a substantial portion of the "flock's love offering" (financial proceeds).

Ironically, these "terrific takes" represent the hard earned collections from congregations comprised of two types of members, poor and poorer; who in all sincerity, religiously and dutifully, week after week, pledge and contribute as much as twenty percent (20%) of their extremely limited incomes (yes, even relief checks) in order that their "pastors," who always receive but seldom gives (even an intelligent, inspiring sermon) . . . might "carry on the GOOD Book work.

(Before crying intimidation, libel, slander, retraction, etc., remember this: "If the shoe doesn't fit don't force it . . . however, if it is somewhat "tight" or "pinches just a little bit" . . . pray tell . . . wouldn't it be a heck of a lot more comfortable if it were at least "stretched" just a tiny bit??).

In keeping with our policy to bring you the highest in reporting on sports, the old corner will enlighten its million readers on a great indoor sport that is played by millions all over the world. Should be in the Olympic Games.

We sorta fancy ourselves an indoor sport, boudoir athlete par excellence (snoring, not scoring), so pull up a chair and we'll let you in on something great.

For research on this fascinating subject, we hied ourselves down to the Dunbar Barber Shop, and cornered Charles Moreland, who is the best checker player in town, and spends all day crowning kings, while giving out with the white chips.

City Champ

Moreland recently won the championships of Santa Monica and Los Angeles in tournaments sponsored by the Recreation Department.

The loquacious Mr. Moreland states that he became a serious student of the game about ten years ago. He dropped back "down home" in Arkansas in 1936 to pick up the state checker championship j.c. (jim crow). That so inspired Moreland that he returned to the land of the free and has been whipping heads, checkerwise, ever since.

Checker champ Moreland considers checks more a philosophy based on mathematics, rather than just a game of light recreation for old men, and he has a very serious approach to the game. He has read all the available material on the subject.

African Game

He revealed that the game was invented around the Fourth Egyptian Dynasty which was some 1700 years before the birth of Moses. This African game has survived nations and cultures. It was the game of the common man during the building of the Pyramids, and checkerboards and symbols of moves are inscribed on King Tut's tomb, the Pyramids and the buildings of Olympus.

Moreland states that the knowledge of mathematics handed down from generation to generation by the game has helped build the world.

Beat the Best

He considers Charles Langford and Henry Sterling the strongest players he has met. He beat them both. Sterling won the 1952 Negro championship. Moreland did not compete, or he would have that rather dubious title hung on him. He beat Sterling three weeks ago, hands down.

Willie Ryan of Boston is the national checker champion. Moreland respects him, and says that he would have to do a lot of studying and play a lot of the sharp Eastern competition before he would feel ready to take on the champ.

He states that Ryan earns $100,000 a year from checkers. Quite a living for just pushing wooden discs around a square board.

Moreland has written three books on checkers, and is finally going to get one of them published. He reveals many tricks of the trade, and traps and moves that are invaluable for a serious student of checkers.

400 Plays

He got started on a serious study of the game when friends urged him to write down some of the startling plays he used to beat them with. Using a numbered board for reference, he has worked out over 400 plays.

Moreland finds his competition in the playgrounds, parks and YMCA. Sometimes the boys meet in smoke-filled rooms and play for the heavy moola.

Famous Family

Does the name Moreland strike a familiar mental chord. It should: Charles is the eldest son of Prof. Nate Moreland. The family has resided in Pasadena for over 20 years. Nate Moreland, the pitcher who along with Jackie Robinson and Kenny Washington attempted to try out with the Angels around 1942, is his kid brother. Nate pitched in the Sunset League, and recently was named an umpire in the league.

A very studious family, all of his brothers and sisters have finished college. Nate is presently working on his master's degree at Redlands University. His sister Agnes recently graduated with highest honors from the same institution.

Nate and his sister Agnes are currently engaged in editing his material for publication in about a month.

If you think you're great shucks as a checker player, drop by the Dunbar Barber Shop, see Brother Moreland and you can get it on.

Yes sir, we really love those indoor sports. "Say, man, I've got you faded, pardon me, I mean crown my King."

HOLLYWOOD PARK — With less than ten days more remaining of the summer season, beautiful Hollywood Park will ring down the curtains on Saturday, July 19. The famous Calumet Farms stable carried away nearly everything but the grandstand and clubhouse. A Gleam, scoring her fifth Starlight Stake triumph at Hollywood Park, has a lifetime money winning total of $176,045, earned in winning nine races in 18 starts. She finished second five times and third once.

RAMSEY

Flo Chadwick, who just missed swimming the Catalina Channel, drew a bigger cheer than the winner when she stepped into the winner's circle to put the flowered wreath around Moreno's shoulders.

Rounding the great day here for Mrs. Warren Wright, the mistress of the famous Calumet Farms, her Two Lea captured the co-feature and in the east early in the day, her great sensational filly, Real Delight, added the Arlington Matron Stakes to her brilliant string of major victories winning by three elngths and added to Mrs. Wright's bank roll $37,800.

In capturing three stakes on the Fourth of July A Gleam, Two Lea and Real Delight earned a grand total of $87,650.47. 900 lovers of the sport of kings were on hand for the gala program of thoroughbred racing.

This Saturday will feature the main event of the season, the $100,000 added Hollywood Gold Cup for the 3-year-olds and up. The distance, one mile and one-quarter. Intent, who finished third in the $50.000 added American Handicap, will try and redeem his lost prestige but again will have the much improved Admiral Drake to catch. Others that are expected to face Intent are Sturdy One, Clyclotron, Conversion, Stormy Cloud and the Calumet Farms' Wistful.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Magic Lead, the game 3-year-old and son of one of the most papular horses ever to run at the border course, shouldered 121 pounds and scored in the feature event over seven sprint stars. Magic Lead's sire was Leadman and his dam was Magic Coat. The chestnut son of Leadman, with jockey Willie Steed, was reserved off the early pace cut by Strip-Away, moved along the outside to take command in the stretch and drew away to win by two lengths.

ST. LOUIS—Satchel Paige didn't show up the day after he pitched 11 innings in relief against the Indians. Commented Manager Marty Marion, "He may not be around for three or four days."

Larry Doby Steals First Base of Ball Season

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (CNS)—Larry Doby came up with his first successful steal of the season in the eighth inning against the St. Louis Browns. This was Larry's first attempt to steal this year.

Gerald LaBroi Scores Stunning Victory Over Carlos Chavez

By Edw. "Abie" Robinson

Classy Gerald LaBroi 22-year-old lightweight boxer from Gary, Ind., proved that he is ready for the big time. The sleek punching LaBroi scored a 10-round unanimous decision over veteran Carlos Chavez last Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium before some two thousand fans.

Spirit Willing But Flesh Weak

Chavez, a ring scarred warrior suffered a cut over his right eye which was opened in the fifth round. LaBroi jumped out in front in the early rounds, whipping left hooks and assortments of head and body blows going into the fifth round. A point was taken away from him for low blows commited in the third and sixth rounds.

No Substitute For Youth

LaBroi was unmarked after the dazzling 10 round pace he set and at the final bell he was strong enough to go another five rounds. There were no knockdowns in the bout, however the fast punching LaBroi had Chavez rocking from punishing blows. He boxed and danced in and out of range of most of Chavez's telling blows and at no time was in danger.

People's United Women Begin Celebration With Fashion Tea

MADE PLANS AT BRUNCH—For coming mid-summer Rhomania project were soror Claudia Whitmore, basileus Olivia Hardin and sorors Ollie Green, Olga K. Lucas, Tima Nettles and Mildred Warren of Sigma chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority. Holman Methodist church's new grounds at 3320 W. Adams Blvd. will be used at the site with date set for Sunday, August 3 at 4 p.m. A parade of exceptional talent will be part of gigantic production. Soror reporting highest number of patrons will be given trip to Catalina.

The women of the People's United Church, 10425 Wilmington avenue, will sponsor a fashion show and tea, Sunday, July 13 from 4 to 7 p.m. in the spacious garden of Mrs. Margaret Hale, 711 E. 115th place.

The latest styles and creations for youth and adults will be featured through the cooperation of local style houses and designers.

This display of fashions is one of the major efforts of the women of Peoples United to meet their "Women's Day Pledge."

Other activities planned for the month are:

The young rising singing personality, Judy Spain, who has won acclaim on NTG, Hollywood Opportunity, and Road to Fame radio and TV shows will be presented on Sunday, July 20, at the church.

The young women plan to serve a Spanish dinner on Saturday evening, July 26, at the social hall of the church.

On Sunday, July 26, the women will climax their efforts with the Women's Day Celebration, featuring a special women's chorus and Rev. Annie Thompson, as the speaker for the morning service.

The evening service will feature a living newspaper depicting famous Negro Women, whose lives exemplify devotion, which is the theme selected this year by the committee that includes Mrs. Myrtle Adams, Margaret Hale, Thelma Hale, Alice Day, Alice Jones, Odessa Brown and Blanche Hall.

Members Show Old Time Garb On New Ground

A showing of yesteryear's fashions will be presented by several members of St. Martin Episcopal church's guild on Sunday, July 13 from 3 until 7 p.m. at the new church site, 13205 Wilmington avenue. The models consist of private collections dating back from 1849 to this year's latest designs. A bridal gown which will be worn for ceremonial rites at St. Martin within two weeks will be previewed.

The event was originated to boost the sum of talent dollars given to Nadine Harris, Norma Murphy, Lorraine Allen and June Williams by their pastor, Rev. Llewellelyn Willlams. Violet Moten Brown, California Eagle columnist, will serve as commentator.

Feliouses Entertain Oakland's Finleys

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fellous were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. James Finley of Oakland, Friday through Sunday, at their residence, 1244 N. Virgil avenue in Hollywood. The Finleys were elaborately entertained by the Feliouses and upon their departure they expressed a desire for an early return to the Angel City.

BILL SMALLWOOD

OAKLAND—After an ideal week-end of roughin' it some 8,000 feet up in the picturesque High Sierras at the two-storied cabin of the Waldo Bethels (he's the contractor; their modern new town house perches atop a high-flung hill at El Cerrito just above Berkeley) we came down out of those pine-packed slopes in time for a drink and buffet supper in the patio here of the Earl Adamses.

There: Lyla and Lewis Brown just back from two years of Alaska. Handsome pair of youngies that they are they accentuated the Adams garden quite creditably indeed. Their baby daughter was born in Fairbanks eleven months ago. Lewis has just sent for their two collies which will be flown air freight from Alaska.

Later up to that absolutely incomparable modern house high, high above Oakland of Yvonne and Aramis Fouche (he's the town's most prominent mortician, you know). I've been in and around many an interesting hillside house but the Fouche version is beyond reproach in all ways.

And their view is something to gasp over. He'd not long been back from L.A. where he attended the Luther Hudson-Arline Carson Scott nuptials, incidentally. The Fouches also own a sleek, powerful boat which can sleep eight comfortably; they take frequent cruises up the Sacramento River to Sacramento.

Abovementioned Lyla Brown is their daughter, beautiful girl that she is. And her mother presides over their home with charm and ease wondrous to see.

Cuff-notes: Henry Starr has an appliance store here. Note from N. Y. says Sheldon Hoskins sails via Queen Mary for three months of Europe on the fourth of next month.

Friends here of Kay Sealey genuinely startled to learn at this belated date of the death of her well known Dad in Omaha recently. His widow is blonde Flo Rucker Wilson; her sister is LA's Nan Lee. Too, I believe Flo Wilson's stepson, Cunnigan Wilson, Jr., lives in L.A.

News of the passing in LA of Gwen Valentine Boyd's likeable husband reached us here over the weekend. They moved not long ago to South Orange Drive if my memory for streets serves me well.

The new bachelor vacationing in L. A. is Cincy's Herman Bryant in case you wondered. He's a close chum of Joanne Sampler and her multi-talented husband; the latter will be ready soon to join LA's growing list of active teachers of art.

He's completing work at SC for his teacher's certificate. Both he and his attractive wife are art conscious; their apartment is good evidence.

No sign of Yvonne and Cliff Bennet in these parts nor Bill Chase so again up go our hopes we can say hullo in L.A. next week if they're yet out here from N. Y.

Somebody between S.F.'s Bocchi Ball Court bistro and the Top of Mark Sunday midnight asked where the on-their-way Aaron Dougleses and the Dr. Walter Goenses will be staying here. I believe the Fairmont has their reservations.

Did Flo Wysinger Allen get back up here from down LA yet? Asked after in Sacramento: Ruth Towles who recently left her sparkle and over-all personality deeply imbedded on everybody for miles and miles this side of the Ridge! As one admirer

Eadward Party Is Outing of Gaiety

Fireworks that lighted the blue skies this last Fourth of July were tarnished and dull in comparison to Eadward's ranch roundup held at his secluded country home near San Bernardino. The popular local hair designer, with assistance of his business manager, Frank Jackson, hosted coming and going guests from Friday's sun-up to Sunday's sun-down.

A select list of social and theatrical figures enjoyed swimming, badminton, horseback riding, hiking and lounging on spread-out grounds surrounding the rambling-house. Inside, soft music, comfortable couches and a unique bar attracted many.

Barbequed chicken and pork with baked beans, tossed green salad and potato salad made up the main menu that was served. Steaming french-fried potatoes were served along with drinks throughout the fun-filled day.

The Eadward Fourth of July party is an annual affair that has become one of the most popular local social events. This year's turnout of guests was the largest ever to attend the occasion.

Eadward's beauty salon is located at 2924½ S. Western Ave.

UNDERCOVER hounds

MAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Over this mad, mad Fourth of July weekend (which went off like a firecracker), people and other things presented friends and foes with goo gobs of happenings. Beau coups of these got wind of the fact that Daphne Williams, one of the towns renowned party givers, had lifted wig and doors to them.

Barbara Maxwell, James Craig, Uly Griggs and Charlene Derrick (who're appearing together frequently lately, wha hoppened?), were there to keep the Hounds supplied with newsworthy material. Caught Clayton Moore and his gal Friday and every other day, Cory Eubanks sipping brews and enjoying the music. Other guzzlers noticed were Andrew Wallace and Ann Allen Nolan Penn and Walter Tucker with Miss Bronze LA Lynette Cobbs.

Those Who Were Biased.

And those who were not, made that long, hard ride to Pasadena where the cry of let's party was then ringing in the air. Elaine Byass played hostess to the set with a way out little shindig which proved to be the nicest party in the vicinity of this Hamlin.

Everybody was there (at least in body) including Edith Lyons, Guy Blackburn and Theresa Prelecu, Jon Rousan and Gevan Hill, Bobby and David Moody, Shiela Montgomery and Nancy Goode, Ernie and Elaine Lindo, and Alma Johnson.

See, Saw and Heard

Mary Gaines and Bobby Smith talking holes in others heads. Fannie Moore keeping close watch over Calvin Lawrence.

Brandon Bolin and gang, trading hot tips on other unmentionable affairs.

Donald McDaniels pawing his way through the lovely young ladies.

Chesting Anderson looking as tough as a two week old elehant liver.

Elaine De Lavallade . . . likewise Camille Billopps . . . this could go on forever.

It Will Be Much Better

For Mildred Blackburn when she gives us some news that's at present, stirring in her pretty little head.

When Florelle Pierson gets back from eastern trip. That frantic man of hers is in a condition of complete mental snafu.

We find a way to open up our confidential scandal files to the public. (Oh, happy day).

For the teeth gnashing males when they find out more about Orleans cutie, Billie Jean Wallace.

When you'll find out that the apex of them all is to be thrown by the Phaterics July 19th.

For a certain bunch of so called playgirls when they realize that males are not to be played with in any shape, form or fashion.

Mike Mundy is enjoying his summer vacation on a romantic trip through India. Representing UCLA in this summer project, he writes back that it is a most fascinating experience.

Lee Stewart says that things (gals mostly, and he really has a point here) are much brighter in Denver, Colorado. Although confined to one, a certain Bev, he reported of the great possabilities there.

Seems that Charlene Derrick is seeing a lot of Uly Griggs lately. Or is it vice virsa, nevertheless, these folks must have mutual feelings.

Another pair, La Verne (nee Mundy) and Herman Govan, have just bitten the dust, or formally speaking, gotten married. Here's hoping the best to these two.

Alfred Elliot would not yield to temptation ot at least that's what he led us to believe. Although surrounded by a score of beautiful gals he gave them no air. (Musta been thinking about his heartthrob who's away at the time.)

We get the impression that Lucinda Coins has of the big round eyes for suave, playboy Sylvester Ringgold.

The Delta Pyramids are putting fourth their wholehearted efforts to make their annual formal a great success. The beautiful Zenda Ballroom is the place and the twenty-fifth is the date. Let's all hope to be on the receiving end when they start throwing out the invites.

Looking for some place to take in some of this California sunshine? Why not all of us take in some together at Val Verde this Sunday. Nobody's sponsoring it but everyone's making it. You too?

pointed out: "That gal should live up here! Why, all of us love her!"

A long moment's rest against Slim Jenkins' bar, a particular place which by now has become nationally known a spot for coast to coast travelers on this side of these incredible bridges up here.

Tried to wait to fondly hug loaded - with - lovely - loot Lydia Burwell-Johnson who is in these parts for the Back Festival at Carmel and the Links get-together (later she goes to LA). But alas, Lydia was delayed somewhere, somehow.

I never forget Lydia, nope, not quite. One blustery January, Saturday in '46 two of us hosted her at a matinee of La Traviata at the Met. Lydia, complete score on her expensive black crepe lap (courtesy of Saks Fifth Ave.), wept noisily if happily through it all alternately peering in the semi-dark at the pages, drying tears and suffering along with wronged Violetta.

She was staying at the Edison; we deposited he and went straight to the nearest bar. Shattered as we were we needed it.

C. G. Price's sister Mabel in LA recently from Texas will return to live permantently. At an impromptu hassle in Berkeley we fell to discussing tennis, and sensational Panamanian ace George Stewart, who was the topic of all tennis players and fans a few seasons ago.

George copped 17 trophies as winner or finalist in singles and doubles at major tournaments. I saw LA's Oscar Johnson beat him twice at the ATA finals at Wilberforce, come to think.

Well, golly, look here, mentioning Wilberforce and the ATA finals won't tennis folk be beating their way back there again next month?

And now a bee-line to Yosemite for a week-end's doin's en route to L. A. with the vacationing-for-two-weeks Hugh Beatys (Connie).

They'll be parked with the Bob Allens (Dottie). Their presence in L.A. is always gay signal for close chums to put collective heads together and come up with plans for endless hi-jinks.

Usually everybody has one helluva good time and with their collective last breath feebly but determinedly wave goodbye to them as they blithely skip on back up the coast to Berkeley. Their chums love 'em genuinely, what's more.

YMCA Planning Camping Program

The 28th Street Y.M.C.A. is making extensive plans to take 50 local youngsters to camp Big Pines this summer, Executive Secretary Kenneth A. Morris announced this week.

He said the branch has received information folders from the Camp office of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. and already 25 boys have paid their registration fee for the 8-day camp session which begins on July 31, and extends through Aug. 7.

Francis S. Banks, the new Boys Work Secretary at the branch will direct the camp activities. He will be assisted by police officer Jarvis Reeves, who has served many years with the YMCA camp program.

The broad purpose of YMCA camping is to give boys a constructive, entertaining vacation and at the same time give them the benefit of more than 100 years of "Y" experience in working with youth and helping them grow into Christian Adults who will acept their reponsibilities as citizens. Morris also stated that one of the major functions of camping is to help youngsters learn to live with their fellow man as well as, helping them to find a true religious motivation in life and teaching them how to take care of themselves away from the environment of home.

Morris added that campers would range in age from 8 to 17 years old and will be housed in cabins according to age groups. Leaders in the boys camp this summer will be carefully selected and trained before they go to camp in methods of working with youngsters.

All boys interested in attending camp this summer with the 28th Street Branch are requested to apply immediately. The camp fee is $19.50 for the 8-day period. A registration fee of $5.00 will guarantee your sons place in the camping program.

Further information on camping is available at the Y.M.C.A., at 1006 East 28th Street. Call AD 7193 and ask for Mr. Banks or Mr. Morris.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

My hair is falling out by the handfuls. I have cut my hair and given it hot oil treatments but with no apparent results.D.K.

A combination of scalp massages to stimulate blood circulation; ointments; tonics and ultra-violet treatments applied by your hairdresser should produce results within three months.

Three years ago I suffered from yellow jaundice and had my head shaved. The hair which has grown out is dry, broken and lifeless. I wish to restore the beauty and health of my hair.

Lubrication, brushing and steaming for six months or a year will recondition the hair. Daily brushing with a good stiff brush to distribute the natural oil will be additional help . . . plus the added help of your physician.

Is there any such thing as a hair grower?—V.H.

No. But there are available stimulants which methodically used will bring results.

People and Places

ORA McCLAIN, awfully nice person, who is having more than her share of tough luck in life's two most important departments: Love and Loot! Last week, out at Hollywood Park, she waited patiently and excitedly for the sixth race. She coolly placed enough loot on a nag called "Sharp Talk," that when he won, paid the $2-buck bettors $26.00, she collected nearly 4 grand. As she stood talking with the track cashier and stuffing the green fellows in her purse, a cool acting "grey" strolled up behind her, reached over her pretty shoulder and snatched said purse.

Ora became so excited that she couldn't let out a yell for fully two seconds and when she did the "grey" and purse were long gone. However, she soon found herself in the middle of a mob of track detectives. The cashier was able to give nabs a picture description but much too late.

Then on Thursday morning while having her coffee and reading her favorite newspaper, The Eagle, which is a habit of 10,000 real booted citizens, she learned that she was being accused of "blocking" her ex-from becoming a free agent. The lady politely invited this writer to her sid. She says the papers are in Atty. Miller's downtown office waiting for a signature and have been for sometime. Natch that put us in a spot for this pillar deals in facts whether you like it or not. I am certain the papers will be signed or someone is telling a big white "lie."

Small Fry

Les Armstrong, Wayne Smith, Little Robert Lee and Louis Pollard, four big wheels and money spenders out of San Francisco, made Bill Watkins' Ruby-Yatch room jump merrily for two nights. They had bills spread all over his beautiful bar. Bob Keith, ace mixmaster, certainly never saw the likes before. The cash box sang a cheery tune. You would think that Bill Watkins would have sported a little. He didn't and the locals are taking it hard.

The fous bay area businessmen are no show offs. Armstrong and Wife Peggy own the nationally known "Plantation Club, Lee owns and operates a swank Guest House, while Smith's W.W. Liquor store is a 50 grand a year business and Pollard owns a string of apartment houses.

They make it a point to spend money with Negroes or places where it will help. I know if Watkins visits the four up north he will get a good lesson in Public Relations. He hates to spend money!

BROWNSKIN Sybil Thomas is the cute Pyramid Pledger setting plans for the club's forthcoming formal. Claims it a social must.

Check This!

BILL SMALLWOOD, who is getting spoiled in San Francisco, kindly check with Myrtle Rector of the Rector's Liquor Store, see if it is true she is losing weight because she was "robbed" of her $2,500 diamond ring a few nights ago.

Same Doctor?????

QUOTES from the L. A. Tribune: "Goodlow puts us in mind of the country doctor. He knows everybody on his beat, and he deals with individual offenses as individual offenses . . . doesn't lump them all under heading of the "damn public," as the writer very often has heard coppers referred to by all who ain't coppers." Unquote: Her cheers have turned to jeers since the 2075 W. 29th Street affair.

Census Reports

They are speaking of that "way out" westside "debutramp," who pretends to be so respectable and cultured when she is in the circle of the "snob mob," whose parents have given her everything, except their attention. Suddenly she left for some far away land . . . because of a man, a coming "embarrassing event" that did not fit into her plan . . . and still . . . no band on her hand!!!

Questions of the Week

What well known sister is becoming the mother of an "exemption" whose "father" is her brother????? Often we have heard of family "ties" . . . but exactly how far is "brotherly" love supposed to go????

Hot Air Square

That self-styled (the greatest person he knows) newspaper expert, formerly "all-everything of the Pacific Coast Courier and Golden West Chicago Defender, a member of the Town and Clown Club. He drives a $4000 automobile, owner of countless real estate (so he claims) and formerly associated with a number of the biggest deals (all of which were failures) is seen regularly each set of seven at the bread station collecting his righteous $25, or less, per week unemployment insurance. Could it be that the only thing big about this maroon-eyed, bad bunioned one, is his chops????

We All Work

What very well known westside mother, who wooed a sugar-daddy away from her own sister, tossed her lovely daughter out of the house at midnight (following a championship fight) into the street in her bare feet with scarcely more than a sheet . . . simply because "daddy-O" was merely answering daughter's that I haven't? question: What has Mother got

A Switch

What handsome musical composer whose wonderful wife has given him such a seemingly happy life now has another inspiration for hi ssongs? Operator S. P. (Stool Pigeon) has it that were it not for his darling daughter and the fact that his faith does not consider divorces he would quickly share his surname with another spouse . . . if he could and yet not be a louse!!!

Next Tune

CHARLES TRAMMEL, one of our favorite record men, was telling us that Mary Jo is turning out to be a nice gal. Since the very first day he played the record over his popular Dolphine's of Hollywood show it has been a hit. It may hit the million mark yet.

Louis Jordan At Clayton Club

SACRAMENTO—Louis Jordan and his Tympany Five opened Wednesday for a week's engagement at the Clayton Club. While in the capital city, Loule plans to continue his "Jordan for President" movement. The maestro will mount the steps of the Capitol Building and pose just to get the "feeling"—when he actually does go to the White House.

Following his stint at the Clayton nitery, Jordan moves into San Francisco on July 18 for 10 days at the Say When Club.

THEATRE

Art Theatre Asks for New Plays; Elects

The Negro Art Theatre has set up a playwright's committee and is asking writers in the community who have material for the group to get in touch with the chairman, Irving Mosley, 1582 W. Jefferson, RE. 8719. NAT urgently asks for cooperation from all. Anyone knowin gof a good original play—call immediately.

New officers have been elected by the theatre group. They include: Irvin Mosely, chairman; Ted Landge, vice-chairman; Shirley Higgenbottom, executive secretary; Vera Greenwood, recording secretary; and, as business manager, Camille Cannady.

Popular Teacher, Columnist at USC

Roy Leeland Hopkins, teacher in the Booker T. Washington High school of Houston, Texas, is in the city enrolled at University of Southern California for the summer. Hopkins is doing some special work in the field of English and music beyond the graduate level. He arrived in town early last week and is guest at the Dunbar hotel.

In Houston, aside from his teaching duties, Hopkins instructs organ and piano in his private studio; writes a weekly column in the Informer chain of papers under the caption "Toppin the Town" and is vice-president of the graduate chapter of Phi Beta Sigma fraternity and retiring regional director of the Lone Star State.

He has been on the coast many times and enjoys a wide reign of friends here. It will be remembered that Hopkins was in the 'Angel City' during the yuletide season and was widely feted by friends and fraters at that time. He will be happy to meet the same friends while in the city.

Show Business

"Christopher Columbus Brown," for those who didn't read last week's paper, is a lively new musical comedy that just opened at the Las Palmas Theatre in Hollywood. It's full of life and warm talent and is easily much better than the diet of crime and politics swarming through the TV and other entertainment channels.

It is the kind of show to take the family to see. There is also a great sense of pride in the vitality and talent radiating from the big cast of 47 singers, actors, and dancers.

The all-Negro company of "Brown" is having a rough time establishing their show, building through word-of-mouth rather than expensive advertising and publicity. The budget of a large show in a commercial house is a large budget.

If you are looking for an entertaining evening or matinee, see "Chris Brown." It has been too long since the power and charm of Rex Ingram has been away from audiences. This actor is a solid part of the history of commercial theatre during the past twenty-five years. He has appeared in 103 plays on and off Broadway! It's something just to say—you've seen him perform.

And those wonderful ballet dancers! See the show!

Sharps and Flats

RECORD REVIEW: FROM BACH TO BOP
By J. T. Gipson

"WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME"
Nat "King" Cole
(Capitol)

Doesn't this guy ever make a bad disc? To date, the answer is no! Backed by the Billy May orchestra, the king comes through with banners flying. Should be an easy nickel-grabber, and make Capitol and Cole richer.

"I'M GONNA TELL A PLEECEMAN"
Jerry Lewis

I've forgotten what label this ones' on, thank God! With his partner, Dean Martin, Lewis is a very funny fella. On records? You know what heaven is? You know what high heaven is?? That's what this stinks to.

"BIRTH OF THE BLUES"
Nellie Lutcher
(Capitol)

I just can't figger why Miss Lutcher isn't twice as famous as she is. She's twice as good as she was! No clap-clap rhythm here. Just some nifty straight soulful singing, with the Billy May band in the background.

"COLD, COLD FEELING"
(Imperial)

This is T-Bone Walker's best disc to date. We revived it recently under the "Aladdin" label, which caused the "Imperial" execs to let out a roar which could easily have been recorded in the eastern papers as another California earthquake. "Bone's" the best blues balladier in the B'sness. This disc proves it!

Johnny Otis In Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore.—The famed Barrel House Revue featuring Johnny Otis and his orchestra, with Little Esther, Mel Walker, Willia Mae Thornton and George Washington, arrived in town and are set for a limited engagement at Club Delisa. One of the hottest attractions on the road today, the Otismen have been attracting banner throngs on their coast-wide tour.

Playing a battle of bands with Roy Brown at Richmond Auditorium on the Fourth of July, they drew better than 4,000 fans with an additional 2,000 being turned away. Fire inspectors closed the doors at 11 p.m. Johnny will also do one-nighters in Seattle and Tacoma while in the Northwest.

Hucksters Break Racial Barriers

"The Hucksters" is the name of an organization formed several years ago by a few enterprising young men with the idea in mind of integrating a new force in the local world of business. These men, as were then, are salesmen.

Some of the largest business firms seeking to enter the field of Negro consumption are now using Negro salesmen as a regular part of their sales force. Fred Harris, president of the Hucksters organization, expressed his thanks to the Negro public for the aid they have given members of the body by patronizing those firms using Negro salesmen.

Harris stated continuance of teamwork on the part of the Negro consumer and the Negro salesmen will help to create more sales jobs for Negro young men and women and add materially to the group economy. He maintained that teamwork had eloquently pointed out the tremendous force of the Negro buying public.

Harris is employed by the Alfred Hart Distillery Corporation. Ted Albritton, vice-president, is the Negro western representative of the Calvert Distilleries. Kenny Washington, secretary, is employed by Young's Market, and Connie Harper, treasurer, is employed by Meyers 102 Brew.

GIPSONNET

Of course I've learned a lot of things,
And a lot of things I've missed.
But why does a gal lift her foot,
When she is being kissed?

Gertrude Lomax Gipson and her beau (Elledge Penland) hand-holding in front of her manse at two in the ayem. Too much in love to say Goodnight.

Jim Bell, the trumpeteer, spoke to his estranged frau the 0ther evng and she didden return the nod. I heard a tear-drop fall in his heart.

Norma Storms, the society looker, sued Sportsman Jack Lauderdale (Swingtime records pres.) for ½-a-thousand a month support of a baby boy born to her, which she says he fathered. He's richer'n most millionaires!

Grand guy Tony De Hart, one of the most popular fellas in the burg, has more friends than Carter has pills. Everybuddy's pal!

"His column's got rhythm," praised an admirer. "That ain't all it's got," panned an enemy, "it's got education!" We ain't tryin' to educate, we're tryin' to entertain. Next case, please!

The new Les Paul-Mary Ford disc, "In the Good Ol' Summertime," is zippidy—doo-dah!

Lovely Ann Orr, of the Eastside social set, has a personality as sincere as a baby's hug. When she smiles, she dimples prettily!

SCANNIN' THE NEWS TICKER TAPE: The Gendarmes are checking Cadillacs to see where the money came from.

Sugar Ray will be honored with a dinner at the Astor July 10th.

Society beauty Gladys Edwards (she's Bob's adorable bride) groomed in an all-black outfit. A vision of loveliness.

The difficulty of the Joan Lee-Bob Jones romance is the memory of her usta-was hanging over it. He eloped with another doll and Joan can't get rid of the heartache.

Thug-Hunters are trying to get a line on a tall, good-looking, well-dressed lad. He's spending money in the nite-spots like a guy who's married to Virginia Hill.

Most exciting of all the Bronzeville lovelies is Virginia McMorries, who has the kind-a shape that drives men to dream! A Commonwealth Loan Co. Sec'y, you stop what you came in for to marvel at her loveliness.

Grand guy to know, and one of the burg's top young Actors is JayLoft-Lynn. He's long past due for a beeg H'llywd break. Rates it, too!

New male Summer Fad: Linen suit with colored vest and cap to match.

Easy listening is the KFOX program (2nd and 4th Suns) at 8 p.m. And the way that Jay Loft-Lynn chirps them vocals.

Is everything okay over'it the Hazel Scott home? She's Mrs. Cong. Adam Clayton Powell. It's being widely cocktail-roomered in the sin spots of Bronzeville that they're weighing a problem.

Look for a war between a coupla underworld Big Shots. Over the affection of a teen-age lass.

My Pet Charity: The Outdoor Life and Health Sanatorium in Duarte. They do so much for so many for so little in return!

Sudden Thawt: For every man who makes a fool out of a woman, there is a woman who makes a man out of a fool!

Almena Lomax, of the Los Angeles Spit-tune, really amuses me. She's the only person I know who lives in a glass house and still has guts enough to throw stones.

Aside to Gene Norman: I promised to deliver you to the patients at Olive View as our "Guest" disc-jockey next week. I guaranteed your appearance.

A 2nd Sudden Thawt: Hazel Simpson didden make her mistake when she "saw" the Negro press. She made her mistake when she shot Rev. Branham.

Gladys Twine, popular Kansas City schoolmarm, and grand guy John, her handsome hubby, are summer-vacationin' here.

1948 Republican ... [illegible]nders ...p GOP Planks

Lynching or any other form of mob violence is a disgrace to any civilized state, and we favor the prompt enactment of legislation to end this infamy.

One of the basic principles of this Republic is the equality of all individuals in their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. This principle is enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and embodied in the Constitution of the United States; it was vindicated on the field of battle and became the cornerstone of this Republic. This right of equal opportunity to work and to advance in life should never be limited in any individual because of race, religion, color, or country of origin.

We favor the enactment and just enforcement of such federal legislation as may be necessary to maintain this right at all times in every part of this Republic.

We favor the abolition of the poll tax as a requisite to voting.

We are opposed to the idea of racial segregation in the armed services of the United States.

CHICAGO—Bedazzled by hopes of breaking the Solid South, the Republican party tossed tradition overboard and took a long step toward becoming the champion of states rights when it adopted a civil rights plank asserting that it is the primary responsibility of "each state to order and control its own domestic institutions."

Its nominees for president and vice president — General Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon— are both on record as opposing a federal FEPC with enforcement

Eagle's Civil Rights Plank

Our Constitution guarantees the enjoyment of full equality to Americans of every race, color, religion and national origin. In order that that guarantee may be realized in our country and secured for our people, we pledge our party to the following 9-point program on civil rights:

Rule 22 and the Filibuster

Rule by the majority must control in the democratic legislative process. Rule 22 of the United States Senate, by permitting filibusters, enables a minority of the Senate's membership to dictate to the majority what laws shall and shall not be enacted. We pledge our party to take action on the opening day of the 83rd Congress in January 1953 to obtain adoption of rules in the Senate that will permit a majority of Senators present and voting to limit and close debate so that the Senate may proceed to a vote on any pending matter after there has been reasonable opportunity for full debate.

Fair Employment

We pledge ourselves to the enactment of Federal legislation prohibiting discrimination in employment

Demos in Row Over Platform

CHICAGO — Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, this week appealed to the Democratic platform makers to write a strong civil rights plank in the party's 1952 platform.

He pointed to President Truman's 1948 victory as proof that such a plank will win votes in the large and crucial northern states and emphasized that the Negro vote supplied the margin of Truman's victory in Ohio, which he carried by 8,000 votes and in California which he carried by 15,000 votes. Negro voters

1952 Republican Plank

We condemn bigots who inject class, racial and religious prejudices into public and political matters. Bigotry is un-American and a danger to the republic.

We deplore the duplicity and insincerity of the party in power in racial and religious matters. Although they have been in office as a majority party for many years they have not kept nor do they intend to keep their promises.

The Republican Party will not mislead, exploit or attempt to confuse minority groups for political purposes. All American citizens are entitled to full, impartial enforcement of Federal laws relating to their civil rights.

We believe that it is the primary responsibility of each state to order and control its own domestic institutions, and this power, reserved to the States, is essential to the maintenance of our Federal republic. However, we believe the Federal government should take supplemental action within its constitutional

J. T. Gipson Dead

Funeral Services Thursday

J. T. Gipson is dead.

Fun-loving, hard-living, fast-quipping, reckless J.T., the man with genius in his writing fingers, genius in his musical soul, and the genius for living life to its utmost, died like he lived—suddenly and unexpectedly.

Suffering from an active case of tuberculosis, 36-year-old John Thomas Gipson came in from Olive View Sanitarium for one last fling. He got permission to come in to see his dentist Monday, July 7. Like a dedicated man he began living life to its utmost, wringing all he could out of every moment. Friday morning, shortly after 1 o'clock, the candle suddenly snuffed out and J.T. was free from the sword of Damocles that has hung over his head since he was a teenager.

Eagle Columnist

Thursday evening around 7 o'clock Gipson was in the Eagle office. He left and went by Betty Alston's home and told her that he would meet her at the Morris Hotel where he was staying. About 10 o'clock Gipson and Dick Williams went in the Morris Hotel and had a few drinks. At 10:30 Gipson borrowed Wil-

READY TO TESTIFY—Rev. John H. Branham accompanied by Walter Goodlow, steps into the Grand Jury waiting room to testify in the sensational shooting that has rocked Los Angeles.

Mother Who Killed Babies Held Insane

Insane at the time of slitting the throats of her three small babies and insane now was the verdict rendered Tuesday morning in the murder trial of Mrs. Ruth Edwards.

The stoic, attractive young mother made no outcry when the verdict was announced. She was led away from the court to be taken to Mendocino State hospital until such time as she is cured.

Mrs. Edwards, who before she neatly and quietly committed the triple crime, had voluntarily asked for a psychiatric examination, chose to place her fate in the hands of Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose.

Waived Jury

She waived a jury trial, and her counsel, Deputy Public Defender Richard Erskine, submitted to Judge Ambrose the transcript of the preliminary hearing, reports of the medical examiners, and the gruesome exhibits of the horrifying killings — the long-bladed, blood-stained butcher knife, pictures of the three small bodies, still, in their blood-drenched beds, other evidence of that mad May morning.

Judge Ambrose, after weighing the reports, found that Mrs. Edwards had committed first degree murder in each of the three

Mrs. Simpson Ducks Facing Rev. Branham

Hazel Simpson, blonde bookie, hid in the Hall of Justice Tuesday to avoid meeting her pastor, Rev. John Branham, who said he almost gave up his life in an attempt to have her soul when she tried to commit suicide.

Mrs. Simpson, who pumped two bullets in the handsome pastor's body while he was visiting her June 14, hid out on the sixth floor of the Hall of Justice while Rev. Branham was on the fifth floor telling the Grand Jury the details of the almost-fatal shooting.

No Indictment

The Grand Jury voted no bill and refused to indict Mrs. Simpson for the shooting.

The dapper pastor arrived in the Grand Jury witness room at 9:30 Tuesday morning accompanied by his great and good friend Walter Goodlow, and posed graciously for the press photographers. Atty. Earl C. Broady, representing Mrs. Simpson, arrived a few moments later and stayed around to make sure that Branham would not be on hand when his client came down to testify before the jury.

Sartorial Splendor

Branham and Goodlow were pictures of sartorial splendor. The pastor was dressed conservatively in a blue suit, while Goodlow sported a brown sports ensemble with a matching bow tie.

Branham immediately entered the jury chambers and testified extensively. It was reliably learned that he expounded at great length on theology and philosophy as well as details of the shooting to the spellbound jurors.

He announced to the press that he would attend services at St. Paul church this Sunday and participate in the Sunday worship.

The pastor testified until noon, and then invited the waiting members of the press to be his luncheon guests in the Redwood Room on First and Broadway.

Treats Press

While the press and Branham were having lunch, Mrs. Simpson entered the jury chamber to complete her testimony. When Branham returned for his 2 o'clock appearance, he was informed that he could go home.

Mrs. Simpson left the jury room shortly after Branham was dis-

'Equality' Fighters Split Over Tactics

NEW YORK—Refusal of the Souths' outspoken and outstanding judge, South Carolina's J. Waties Waring, to attend the recent NAACP convention has thrown a glaring floodlight on a widening rift among the nation's top fighters for civil rights.

Judge Waring is on the war-path, demanding a complete dropping of any attempt to gain concessions within the "separate but equal" concept.

He proclaims vehemently that segregation by its very nature is inequality and there must be no compromise on the issue.

"Too Evasive"

In a letter to the association, the venerable fighter implies that the NAACP is too timid in its approach, too "evasive," ready to settle for small change, too willing to support the Democratic party without firm and unequivocal guarantees on the main

Theft, Drunk Charges Lead To Jail for Five

Five youths were arrested Monday and Tuesday on charges of grand theft-auto, burglary, drunk and drunk driving by Sheriff's Deputies J. Chambers, D. D. Fern, E. J. Lippincott and G. F. Stewards.

Phillip Benjamin Ruckner, 20, 2124 East 122nd street, and Novall Mack Faulkner, 20, 2507 East 109th street, were taken in for grand theft-auto and drunk, at 11607 South Wilmington.

Lester Gibson, 32, 1752 East 104th street, called deputies to report to a disturbance at his cafe stating that Faulkner had cut an unknown person. The knife, covered with blood, was found in his pocket.

Ruckner, sitting in the front seat, passenger side, of the 1939 Mercury four door sedan, passed out and Faulkner was attempting to drive when deputies arrived on the scene. Ruckner claimed he owned the car but a check of the license plates showed it to be registered to Jim L. Nunn, 2935 Collidege street, Long Beach.

Tuesday around 2:45 a.m. Deputies Lippincott and Steward noticed a 1941 Ford Sedan traveling in a very erratic manner, South on Compton avenue, cross-

Negro Registration On Rise in South

NEW YORK — Quietly and without benefit of a huge advertising campaign, Negroes in the South are registering and voting in ever increasing numbers.

In North Carolina there are now 97,000 registered Negro voters, an increase of 30 per cent since the last elections. There are 50,000 in Alabama, and reigstration is continuing steadily.

Large numbers of Negroes are also registered in Georgia.

Carter Hayes, Turf 'Dopester,' Dies Suddenly

Carter H. Hayes, one of the city's best known racing "dopesters," died Monday night of a heart attack.

His sudden death was a blow to all who knew him. He had appeared in the best of health when he left the race track at Hollywood Park Saturday.

In the evening at his home, 3814 Huntington Drive, San Gabriel, Hayes became ill, and was taken to Midway hospital Sunday. He died the following evening.

Formerly a prominent figure in Chicago politics, Hayes' name has been linked with the turf for more than 10 years. In his middle 60's when he died, Hayes is survived by his widow, Hazel, and his mother.

State Bar OKs Vaino Spencer

Only Negro woman to pass the State's tough bar examination, results of which have just been announced, was Mrs. Vaino Hassen Spencer, graduate of Southwestern Law School, and well-known real estate broker.

Mrs. Spencer, together with her broker husband, Lorenzo Spencer, were on the high seas aboard the French luxury liner Liberte when news of her latest success was released.

They planned a whirl in Europe during the summer, taking in, among other things, the Olympic games at Helsinki.

The Spencers, who live at 3521 Victoria avenue, jointly operate the Main Realty Co., 4333 S. Main street.

Mrs. Spencer told the Eagle shortly before her departure that upon her return she plans to build a new, modern law building on the West Side. A suite in the structure will be reserved for the shiny shingle of the new barrister.

Negro Democrats To Demand Strong Civil Rights Plank

Six Negroes will be members of the California delegation to the Democratic National Convention meeting in Chicago Monday. S. Wendell Green, Eagle editor; Almena Lomax and Lucious Lomax, Jr., publishers of the Tribune, Atty. Hugh McBeth and Gilbert Lindsay are members of the delegation from Los Angeles. Attorney Charles E. Wilson from San Francisco is a member of the northern delegation.

Headed by John Anson Ford and Senator George Miller Jr., the delegates will board a special train Friday morning and will arrive in Chicago Sunday.

The California delegation, which is committed to Senator Estes Kefauver, has passed a resolution urging a strong civil rights plank with compulsory FEPC in the party platform. Members of the platform committee from California, Helen Shrank from Los Angeles and Attorney Lyle Cook of Berkeley, are committed to a fight to the finish for a strong civil rights plank.

The civil rights resolution was passed in the first meeting of the delegation in Fresno June 15 with only two dissenting votes and a majority of the delegation vowed to fight to the finish for a strong civil rights plank from the floor of the convention if necessary.

Demos Gear for Full Scale Fight on Civil Rights Plank

In those and other states gave the president overwhelming majorities, he said.

The Democrats' 1948 plank called upon Congress to support the President's civil rights platform by enacting legislation guaranteeing "the right to live, the right to work, the right to vote, the full and equal protection of the laws, on a basis of equality with all citizens as guaranteed by the Constitution.

Nine-Point Program

White, who presented a program backed by 51 organizations, urged a nine-point program on the Democrats including opposition to filibuster through change in senate rules, a strong FEPC, opposition to segregation, endorsement of anti-lynching and anti-poll tax laws, establishment of a permanent civil rights commission and immediate end of Jim Crow in the District of Columbia.

Meanwhile, a strong sentiment for compromise on the civil rights program was evident, ranging from open opposition to any strong stand on the issues on the part of Senator Richard Russell, to pious hopes that the party should straddle the entire matter. At the opposite end of the pole, Averill Harriman, said to be the administration favorite, urged an uncompromising stand on civil rights and even going beyond the 1948 plank.

Scheduled to speak before the convention is Congressman William Dawson of Chicago, who is also a vice president of the Democratic National Committee. Dawson is said to be working on the inside in an effort to persuade the party to take a strong stand. Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, delegate at large from New York, is heading a contingent urging Harriman's nomination and wants the party to go all-out for civil rights.

Fight on Floor

Estes Kefauver, Tennessee presidential aspirant, is on record as being opposed to a compulsory FEPC but has said that he will go along with the platform, whatever it is. The California delegation, 69 strong, which is pledged to Kefauver, is on record as favoring a strong civil rights plank.

The 1948 plank was adopted after a floor fight and there are indications that another such fight will develop if the resolutions committee attempts to backtrack from its 1948 stand.

END OF TOUR — Mashood Adisa Olabisi Ajala, Nigerian student, ended his bicycle tour from Chicago at the Eagle office Thursday. He is on the trip to spread goodwill about his native land. Ajala will enter the University of San Francisco where he will join a couple of his countrymen on the soccer team.

Solid South Shows Cracks Of Democracy

NEW YORK—The solid South is no longer quite as solid as is generally believed.

A group of transplanted southern whites and Negroes, repelled by racist views and actions, have banded together around South Carolina's noted jurist, Judge J. Waties Waring, to fight for a compulsory FEPC and against jim crow.

Calling themselves "Southerners for Civil Rights," the group aimed at persuading Republican and Democratic delegates from making a deal with the Dixiecrats.

They are committed to work for full suffrage for Negroes, a compulsory fair employment law, security of person and property, complete and immediate integration in the armed forces, and enforcement of FEPC regulations in all government contracts.

S/Sgt. Elbert Viey Arrives in Korea

S/Sgt. Elbert E. Viel recently arrived in Korea as a supply technician with the hard-hitting 49th Fighter-Bomber Wing.

Before reporting to the Far East, he was stationed at Clark Air Force Base, P. I., as a supply technician.

Sgt. Viel's wife, Eva, lives at 1720 W. 37th street.

Chicago Leaders Blush at Delegates' View of Slums

CHICAGO—In the lull between conventions, Chicago police and civic leaders are bemoaning the unsavory sights that last week crowded in upon the Republicans and next week will be all too visible to the Democrats.

The convention hall, unfortunately for the city boosters, is not located on the Gold Coast, the lakefront show-window.

Instead it is cheek by jowl with the ugly, smelly, sprawling stockyards.

And equally unpleasant is the fact that one of the well-traveled routes from the lakefront to the convention is through the teeming Negro tenement area of the south side.

The "leaders" haven't gotten around to eliminating the tenements and providing decent homes for Negroes. But they don't like advertising to the nation their dirty housekeeping and shabby treatment of minorities.

Next time, they'll probably decide to move the convention hall.

We will prove our good faith by:

Appointing qualified persons, without distinction of race, religion or national origin, to responsible positions in the government.

Anti-lynching Stand

Federal action toward the elimination of lynching.

Federal action toward the elimination of poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting.

Appropriate action to end segregation in the District of Columbia.

Enacting Federal legislation to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices. Federal action should not duplicate State efforts to end such practices; should not set up another huge bureaucracy.

powers. Nixon's opposition is a matter of record in his senatorial votes while Eisenhower has said that "I really believe we can do more by leadership and getting the states to do it than to make it (FEPC) a federal compulsory thing."

Bitter Battle

The GOP plan excited a bitter controversy in the resolutions committee and a floor fight was expected but did not materialize after a Negro delegate told the convention that the Negro delegates had talked to lawyers and were persuaded that the plank did not preclude an FEPC law.

The party's hopes of securing the Dixiecrat vote were voiced by General Eisenhower in public statements made after his nomination. He said he would make a vigorous campaign in the South and that he expected to win some southern states. Nixon was more cautious and said that he "supposed" that he would make some speeches in the South.

Snub NAACP

The Republican platform makers snubbed pleas by the NAACP and 51 cooperating organizations that it include pledges against racial segregation and in favor of a powerful FEPC in its platform. Strong dissatisfaction was voiced by the NAACP and labor organizations with the platform.

Political observers voiced the belief that the Republicans have given up all hopes of winning the Negro vote in the large northern industrial centers. It has gone to the Democrats consistently since 1934 and it was pointed out that the Republicans hope to compensate for its loss with an appeal to the southerners.

Senator Taft had said in his campaign that he would name at least two conservative southern Democrats to his cabinet in event of his nomination and election and it is believed that Eisenhower managers have made pledges to the same effect.

Elect Dr. Gore To Leadership Of Educators

DETROIT—Dr. George W. Gore, Jr., president of Florida A and M college, Ph.D. from Columbia university, last week became the first Negro to be elected one of the top officers of the National Education association.

Dr. Gore was chosen one of 11 vice presidents. His election, which was unopposed, marked the first time that a Negro has made a bid for a national post in the 95 years of the professional association's existence.

The NEA is the nation's largest professional teachers' organization, with a membership of approximately 500,000.

Dr. Gore is one of the outstanding educational leaders of the country, is a member of numerous professional societies, and has contributed numerous articles to educational journals. He is listed in "Who's Who" in America, "Who's Who in Colored America," and "Who's Who" in American Education."

Jail Shine 'Boy' On Bookie Rap

A 62-year-old shoe shine boy was arrested Saturday afternoon at his stand, 8035 South Seville, for bookmaking when Sheriff's Deputies W. F. Hunt and F. O. Burton entered a barber shop and saw Lloyd Lee Brooks of 1380½ E. 55th street, sitting at his shoe shine stand.

The officers showed their credentials and searched Brooks. A betting marker was taken from his shirt pocket and one from his shoe. A search of the stand revealed several betting markers and Daily Racing Forms. An envelope containing previous betting markers was also found.

"I do not know how the betting markers came into my possession," 62-year-old Brooks told the officers.

Segregation

Segregation of Americans solely because of race or color is offensive to our democratic institutions. It places a wholly unwarranted stamp of inferiority on the segregated race, breeds prejudice, perpetuates discrimination and foments unrest. We pledge our efforts to the prohibition by law of segregation in interstate transportation and the elimination of segregation by legislative or executive action in all activities of the Federal Government and in all areas to which Federal authority extends, including among others: the armed forces, all Federal agencies, the District of Columbia and the Panama Canal Zone and all other territories and possessions.

Lynching

We pledge enactment of Federal legislation making lynching and other mob assaults on persons or property because of race, color, religion or national origin a Federal crime, forbidden alike to public officials and private citizens.

Elections

We pledge the enactment of Federal legislation abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to the right to vote in elections of Federal officials and providing punishment for interference with the right to register and vote in primary or general Federal elections. We favor also the outlawing of interference because of race or color with the right to register for or vote in primary or general state and local elections.

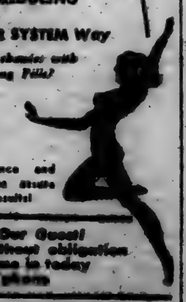
What it takes to find oil for you

Not too long ago, within the memory of living men, exploration for new petroleum deposits here in the West was a matter of discovering oil seeps or drilling on "hunch." But even hunches had a reasonable chance of success. Although methods were primitive, the early Western fields were brought into production at a cost which nowadays would seem extremely low.

It's not so easy today. Most of the easily discoverable deposits have been found. But Standard geologists, using seismograph and the latest electronic methods, are combing every promising part of America, from Louisiana swamps to the Arctic Circle . . . and many foreign countries as well. ¶ As oil has become more difficult and expensive to produce, your demand has become greater. More and more of the good things in your life depend on petroleum for fuel, or lubrication, or their actual ingredients.



¶ To do its share in the great new search for oil, Standard alone has spent more than $230,000,000 in the last 5 years. Result: U.S. companies altogether have found enough untapped petroleum to give this country its highest oil reserve in history—four times greater than that of 30 years ago. ¶ Geologists estimate that there are still 1500 billion barrels of undiscovered oil in the earth. Standard Oil Company of California does everything possible in large scale exploration to increase available reserves.

EAGLE RECEIVES AWARD—Edward Atkinson Sr., presents a citation of merit to Eagle Editor S. Wendell Green, for the outstanding service rendered the local branch by the California, Eagle during the recent membership drive. Atkinson was chairman of the highly successful membership drive committee.

NAACP Supports Steelworkers' Fight

Implementing the national policy of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Los Angeles branch this week pledged its full support to the embattled steel workers in their seven-week strike, and called upon all members to respect the workers' picket lines.

Announcement of the action was made by John H. Dial, Jr., chairman of the association's Labor and Industry committee.

The resolution passed by the committee stated in part:

"The Los Angeles branch NAACP, through its Labor and Industry committee, does hereby reiterate our national policy in support of organized labor, and resolves that this organization extend unequivocally, its moral, physical and material support to the strike of the United Steel Workers of America CIO.

"Be it further resolved, that all members of the NAACP recognize the picket lines now being maintained at the various plants, and that we will not cross union picket lines to work, buy, sell, or otherwise transact business until such time as the conditions resulting in the strike have been satisfactorily settled."

The association called upon the community to support its stand, and appealed to more than 175 ministers, urging them to establish collection centers in their churches for canned goods for the strikers, and take up a special collection for the workers' welfare fund.

Jury Denies Damages in Beating Case

Apparently unable to fit fragments of evidence presented against two police officers for the brutal beating of veteran Artney Todd, a housewives' jury voted in favor of the officers' testimony.

Todd thereby lost his suit of $29,900 for damages for the mauling which took place Jan. 20, 1951. Officers named in his suit were R. C. Ferguson and L. L. Simeon.

The jury seemed unattentive as the plaintiff's case was presented by Attys. Edward Maddox and George Cannady. Defending the officers was Deputy City Atty. Robert L. Burns. Judge Arthur S. Geurin presided.

Todd testified that he was accosted by the two officers while he was standing in front of 1424 E. First street and told to "move along, Black Sambo."

When he objected to the name, he stated, the policemen charged him with a barrage of insults and blows, knocking off his hat. He remembered that as he stooped to pick up his hat they went at him with nightsticks.

After the beating, said Todd, who lives at 1560 Nieto Lane, he was taken to jail and booked on a charge of intoxication and resisting arrest. He pleaded guilty to the charges and was given a suspended sentence because of his illness.

Crippled with a smashed jaw, he went to the Veterans Hospital at Sawtelle. There doctors wired the jaw together, pulled several teeth, and hospitalized him for eight days.

He sought payments in his suit against the officers for medical attention, loss of earnings and suffering caused by the injuries.

'Eagle' Cited For Support By NAACP

The California Eagle was one of four local newspapers cited for giving excellent coverage and editorial support to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at its regular membership meeting Monday night.

The branch announced a total of 3,615 members gained and $9182.50 in dues collected by the workers in its 1952 membership drive.

Prizes, awards and citations were presented to 27 campaign workers during the meeting at Zion Hill Baptist Church where Mrs. Lillie Montgomery and Attorney Thomas G. Nuesom gave reports on the 43rd Annual NAACP convention held recently at Oklahoma City.

Individual prizes went to five campaigners who brought in more than 100 memberships each. They are: Mrs. Ethel Atkinson, 166 memberships and $396 cash; Mrs. Lobelia Dingee, 156 memberships and $334 cash; William F. Anderson, 133 memberships and $303.50 cash; Mrs. Dorothea Foster, 109 memberships and $234.50 cash; and Attorney Thomas G. Nuesom, 106 membershius and $237.50 cash.

In addition to the California Eagle, the Los Angeles Herald, the Los Angeles Tribune, and the west coast edition of the Pittsburgh Courier were cited for excellence.

Neat Slashes

On the morning of May 7, the attractive, 31-year-old woman, who lived at 205 Paseo Valdez, Aliso Village, fed her three small children, then told them to climb back into bed.

When they were quiet, she went into the kitchen, picked up a butcher knife, and deliberately cut the throat of each of them, one neat slash to each child.

Later, she told an Eagle representative that "I did it so they wouldn't feel pain while I was cutting their throats. One screamed," she continued calmly, "but only for a moment. They all died right away." After a silence she added, "It had to be done."

After the killings, Mrs. Edwards called the family priest, Father Bernard J. Gannon, and told him she wanted to talk to him.

Three weeks before the tragedy, Mrs. Edwards had gone to the General Hospital and asked for a psychiatric test. She said they examined her for hours, found her normal and sent her home.

Five days before the triple slayings, the deranged woman told police she had killed one of her children. They investigated, found the children alive, and dropped the matter.

While in jail without bail, Mrs. Edwards told the Eagle it was better to be in jail than on the "outside." She explained: "It's better in jail. I don't have any responsibilities, nothing to worry about. I only do what I'm told." She said she knew she didn't have a chance of being set free and added that she "didn't particularly care."

Heman Sweatt Flunks Out of Law School

AUSTIN, Texas. — Heman Marion Sweatt, 30-year-old postman, whose four-year court struggle to crack jim crow at the University of Texas law school paved the way for Negro higher education in the South, has flunked out.

Sweatt carried his historic fight to the United States Supreme Court. The high court's ruling set the precedent for admission of Negroes to state supported graduate school, thereby ending an entire era of discrimination in an important phase of education.

It was by virtue of the now famous Sweatt decision that numerous cases have been brought in various State courts testing the separate but equal practice in lower schools.

Sweatt, admitting that he had failed, remarked quietly that he "really had wanted to be a lawyer."

He gave as the reason for his failure the fact that he has been in poor health. He has returned to Houston, where he formerly was a mail carrier.

Sweatt said he did not believe he had been graded unfairly by the school's faculty because of his race.

The GOP Doesn't Want Us

Apparently the Republicans have decided that they don't want or can't get the Negro vote. That is the only plausible explanation of the course the party is pursuing in the selection of its nominees, the adoption of its platform on civil rights and the statements and records of its candidates for President and Vice President.

General Eisenhower had hardly got back to the country before he began making statements to the effect that FEPC is a matter of state concern. He has never modified that statement in any important particulars and indications are that he has no intention of doing so.

Richard Nixon, the vice presidential nominee, has consistently cast his vote against FEPC in the Senate and the most advanced statement ever credited to him on this issue was a milk-and-water approval of a voluntary fair employment commission. He is, and has always been, spokesman for California reactionaries who oppose FEPC.

The platform is a brazen appeal to Dixiecrats. It puts the party squarely on record as favoring states' rights in every sphere of civil rights and says in so many words that the GOP won't do anything "unless" the states fail to act. When they are supposed to act isn't made plain and the dishonesty of the plan is apparent when it is remembered that the states have failed to act for the past seventy-five years. Maybe the GOP thinks they should have another three-quarters of a century.

Candidate Eisenhower lost no time in proclaiming his hopes of breaking the Solid South. The general may be something of a political innocent but we can't bring ourselves to believe that he is so ill-informed that he doesn't know that the way for the Republicans to get the Dixiecrat vote is to promise that section a free hand in the area of racial affairs. We'll be surprised if he doesn't promise to place some conservative southerners in the cabinet before the campaign is much further along.

The failure of the Republicans to take anything resembling a satisfactory stand on civil rights may encourage the Democrats to soft pedal the issue also. They may calculate that the Negro voter with no place else to go may have to stick with them. Negroes will have to wait and seen.

Frederick Douglass once said that the Republican party was the ship and all else was the sea. The Chicago convention performed the miracle of turning that ship into the sea.

Let's Plan Ahead

It isn't too early for Los Angeles leaders to begin thinking about next spring's municipal elections. That may sound a little strained in light of the fact that all of us are neck deep in national politics at the moment. But we've seen procrastination prevent all action much too often.

Everybody agrees that it is time that a Negro was elected to City Council. The reason that it hasn't been done is that councilmanic district lines were gerrymandered to prevent any such happening.

At long last it looks as if gerrymandering can't hold back if we use a little foresight and do a little planning. We aren't aiming this editorial at any particular councilman but the facts are that there are three districts in the city in which Negro voters can send a Negro to City Council if they do some intelligent bargaining with liberal and labor forces. And that's just what they should do.

We won't reach our goal if we wait until a week or a month before election time and get bogged down in a wild scramble for position, as has happened so often in the past.

Municipal government affects all of us in our everyday affairs. It's time we asserted our right to participate in such affairs.

Making Democracy Work

Postmaster Michael Fanning is one federal official who takes the President's fair employment orders for government agencies seriously.

His first official act after assuming office some years ago was to break the log jam that had confined Negroes to inferior positions in the Los Angeles postoffice. He announced, and what is better, pursued, a policy of placing promotions on the basis of merit without regard to color or race.

Now he has taken the step that was inherent in the original logic of his position. He has begun an active policy of integration of Negroes in all Los Angeles stations. Negro postal workers are now heading offices where there are few carriers or other Negro employes.

That, of course, is the way the post office should be run. That is the way in which all government or business institutions should be conducted. It is something of a commentary on American life that fair play and fair dealing are out of the ordinary.

We hope that the example Mr. Fanning's policy and the manner in which it has worked, and is working, will inspire other departments in municipal, state and federal government to follow his example. Actions such as his are worth reams of fine words to prove that our democratic system works to the ultimate good of all citizens.

Build the Houses

The City Housing Authority is to be congratulated for its apparent decision to go ahead with the city's ten thousand unit low rent housing program. We've had enough of stalling and double dealing.

Nobody, not even the opponents of the program, pretends that we don't need the houses. And the need is greater among minority groups than among others for the simple reason that Negroes, Orientals and Mexican-Americans are actively discriminated against by private builders and developers.

A good example is that of Lakewood Park, now California's ninth city. Lakewood Park is lily-white because its developers won't sell and won't rent to Negroes.

We're not saying that public housing will solve the Negro's housing problems. We don't believe that it will, but we do believe that as long as there is active discrimination on the part of builders, Negroes have an added reason for supporting a program that will increase the housing supply by ten thousand units to which they will have access on the basis of need and eligibility.

Use Your Ballot

Deputy registrars are out with their books inviting eligible residents of this community to get on the voters list. Those who aren't on that list won't get to cast their votes in the November election.

There is no poll tax in this state. Every man and woman who has reached the age of twenty-one is eligible to vote—if, and this is the big if, he is registered.

If you have never voted—

If you have moved since you last voted—

If you have married and changed your name—

If you failed to vote in the last regular election—

You must register in order to be able to make a choice between presidential nominees this fall.

Do your duty. See that your name is on the voting register. And do what you can to encourage your neighbor to register and vote.

Editorial

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

As this column is written, the Republican Convention moves along making noises like a lion but making progress like a snail. The slow motion is as deceptive as the noises, however. After the initial jockeying is concluded and due obeisance is paid to the gods of Nominating Oratory, the real business will go forward swiftly toward the objective of a Taft, an Eisenhower or some miraculously-produced dark horse.

Meantime, Democratic party chiefs, while pretending to laugh at Republican ineptitude in the task of choosing a strong candidate, are working frantically behind the scenes to get their own steam-roller in smooth working order so as to present "a people's choicee" with a minimum of conflict and a maximum of public enthusiasm. Party leaders confess privately that they are in something of a quandary.

If they have too much sound and fury over selecting a candidate, they may lose the advantage they now have over the G.O.P. of a tight, efficient, fairly harmonious machine. If, on the other hand, they have too little contest and debate, they may lose the advantage of producing a well-advertised banner-carrier.

Dishonest Leaders

But on one point Democrats and Republicans are agreed. They want as little discussion and as much agreement as possible on the issue of civil rights. Leaders on both sides are equally dishonest in trying to flatter the political ego of so-called minority groups while offending reactionary opinion within the party as slightly as possible.

It's an impossible job, of course, and consequently nothing that appears in the platform of either party will have more than a coincidental relationship to what happens in the next Congress.

There is a good chance that some gains will be made toward a sound civil rights program during the next two years but that chance depends less upon what is promised by a Presidential candidate during this campaign than upon the care which low-income groups show in selecting their representatives in the Senate and House.

If there ever had been any doubt about this fact, that doubt was erased four years ago, when a surprisingly-victorious Democratic Administration which had promised practically everything in the way of civil rights reform actually produced practically nothing in the way of legislative change.

Big City Vote

So far as the Presidency is concerned, it is a foregone conclusion that the majority of Negro and other "minority" votes will be cast for the Democratic candidate. This will not be because of the comparative values of platform statements, but because the Negro voter is most apt to be influenced by Democratic machines in the big cities and by CIO leadership in industrial centers.

CIO strength will almost invariably incline toward keeping a Democrat in the White House, on the basis of the working arrangement effected during twenty years of Roosevelt-Truman ascendancy. Both parties recognize this predilection; Republican organizations in the "balance-of-power states" will be satisfied if they get a reasonably large minority of Negro voters to support their man for the White House.

Real Tragedy

It will be a real tragedy, however, if a slick platform statement on civil rights influences "minority-conscious" voters to send a lot of shoddy Congressmen and Senators to Washington, hanging on the coattails of their Presidential candidate.

One sinister aspect of the present controversy over civil rights legislation has been the ease with which third-class politicians have been able to attract the votes of Negroes, Jews, Puerto Ricans and similar groups by pledging allegiance to a civil rights program which they do not believe will pass, while selling out the interests of low-income people on practically every other issue.

We may as well get it into our heads that the selection of party candidates for the Presidency does not settle anything, so far as legislation is concerned. It only indicates the choice of goals by the opposing teams. What happens after that depends upon the kind of players we put on the field, and many a Senator or Congressman has fumbled the ball after the President has called signals.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

The Republicans have had their rumpus in Chicago, adopted a platform, nominated General Eisenhower and Senator Nixon, and gone home. However, as far as the man in the street is concerned, especially the Negro man in the street, things are no better than they were before the Republicans held their convention.

Except for personal glamour and the worship that many Americans have for military men, Eisenhower differs little from the other candidates of his party. His speeches and pronouncements revealed him as woefully ignorant on domestic issues. On civil rights he was as bad as Taft, if not worse. In an open bid for Dixie support he came out flatly for states' rights.

Platform Weak

The Republican party plan on civil rights is a weak and flabby statement that pledges a belief in state action. In other words, under the Republicans the Federal government will turn its back when appealed to by Negroes after the latter have been denied their rights by the individual states.

To make it plain, under this plank if the Republicans are in power, Negroes will not find any U. S. district attorneys prosecuting white people in various areas for denying civil rights to Negroes as has been the case under recent Democratic administrations. Negroes will not find the Solicitor General of the United States arguing against restrictive covenants in the U. S. Supreme Court as was done in the Truman administration. Under this GOP plank, Negroes are going to have to take what they get from various state governments and make out as best they can, rights or no rights.

For Californians, there is some small comfort in the fact that Mrs. Mildred Younger, delegate from Los Angeles, fought hard for a better plank on FEPC, not a plank, to be sure, demanded by the NAACP and other civil rights organizations, not a plank as good as the 1948 Democratic plank, but one better than that finally adopted by her party.

In effect, Mrs. Younger wanted a Federal FEPC with power to subpoena witnesses and make them appear and testify as to employment practices, but without power to make them correct conditions. Her draft was one tiny step ahead of President Roosevelt's first wartime FEPC of 1941, which did not have subpoena powers. That was 11 years ago. Mrs. Younger is only 11 years behind the times, but the 1952 Republican convention is far behind her. How can the GOP expect to "win back" Negro votes with this kind of thinking?

Finally, the entire Republican show in Chicago seemed clearly to be completely out of touch with the issues that matter to everyday Americans. The civil rights fiasco has been noted above. Labor leaders claim they got a brush-off. Rent control was in the background. Low-rent housing did not enter into the discussion. Senator Joe McCarthy was invited to address the convention. McCarthyism has been responsible for scores of Negroes losing their jobs on a "Communist" smear just because they fought against racial discrimination.

Tough Battle

However, the Republicans, despite their bad platform, have not made it easy for the Democrats. Eisenhower has tremendous popular appeal among the masses of people. He may snare a good many independent voters who do not care to be closely allied with the party that includes the Dixiecrats. He may draw out of hiding a good many Republicans who never bothered to vote in 1948.

It is this appeal (even allowing for the bitter fight at Chicago) which should force the Democrats to adopt the strongest possible platform and name the best candidate. No less an authority than James A. Farley has said that the Democrats will have no "pink tea party" winning this election. The first Democratic move should be a strong civil rights plank in plain language. This is the great moral issue of 1952.

Speaking of the chances of civil rights legislation, Californians should take a long look at Senator Richard Nixon and ask themselves whether as vice-president and president of the U. S. Senate he would make fair rulings in the complicated debates on civil rights bills.

Augustus F. Hawkins hitched his wagon to Upton Sinclair's star and the End Poverty in California Movement in 1934 and rode to victory in the great political revolt that gripped California in the bottom of the depression.

Hawkins, who was a clerk in Meyer's drug store at 25th and Central avenue, was a political unknown when he filed on the Democratic ticket for the Assembly seat that had been held by Republican Fred Roberts for 14 years.

Very few Negro voters were registered Democrats. Hawkins' campaign was put on by a bunch of youthful simon pure amateurs whose imaginations were fired by the promise of the Epic movement and he beat out Dr. John H. Sommerville for the Democratic nomination with a handful of votes. Roberts, to his everlasting regret, didn't cross-file.

The only serious challenge Hawkins has had in his 18 years in the legislature came in 1936 when Sam Bauman was put up by the reactionary elements in the Democratic Party to run against him. Hawkins won out in a bitterly fought campaign, and since then has had only token opposition.

All of my voting life I have voted for Hawkins, yet with each passing year I have become more and more dissatisfied with him as the Assemblyman from the 62nd District and titular political leader of Negroes in Los Angeles and California.

Sad Sack Politician

Hawkins is a political freak. He is a political freak because he is an excellent legislator and a sad sack politician. He is virtually unknown by sight in his district, but his name is magic at the polls.

He has an excellent voting record and has been one of the outstanding progressives in the legislature, but he has failed miserably in his responsibility to his district, Los Angeles, and the state, as the only Negro elected official in government.

Much of this is a direct result of Gus Hawkin's personality. He is a lone wolf who doesn't mix well or make friends easily. He is not an organizer, but works well in organizations. While he has an excellent voting record in the legislature, you cannot point to one bill or piece of legislation that can be called Hawkins' bill or legislation in the 18 years he has been in the legislature.

Labor Representative

Actually Gus has played the role of a progressive representative of labor rather than a legislator concerned primarily with the special problems, aims and ambitions of Negroes. This is due to the fact that Hawkins doesn't consider himself a Negro legislator representing primarily the interests of his Negro constituents, but rather a liberal Assemblyman.

The fallaciousness of this reasoning is apparent when one realizes that Gus couldn't be elected dog-catcher if he had to depend strictly upon white liberals and the labor vote. The Negro vote and only the Negro vote is responsible for Hawkins' job in the State Assembly.

It is not enough for Hawkins to hide away in Sacramento and "vote right." He has a much larger responsibility. He has the responsibility to exercise his influence to get as much patronage as possible for his district and Negroes in California.

Family Affair

On this score he registers almost a complete zero. The only political appointment of any consequence Hawkins has managed to wangle occurred when he persuaded Gov. Culbert Olson to appoint his brother-in-law, Edwin L. Jefferson, to the municipal court bench. This was strictly a family affair as Jefferson's political contribution to the Olson campaign was just slightly more than negligible.

Shaw Machine

Hawkins, like almost every other politician, was tied in with the Shaw machine. As a result he was able to pass out some jobs on the power line project from Boulder Dam. Always a family man, Hawkins got his brother Dick the job as a camp physician while the rest of the boys had to be content with the "ignorant stick."

The Negro vote has held the balance of power in the last two presidential elections. In 1948, it was absolutely the difference. Hawkins' role in these national elections and what happened to the patronage will be discussed next week with a more detailed discussion on his responsibility to the community and what he has done or failed to do about it.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir: Thank you very much for the splendid write-up and picture carried by your newspaper concerning our recent promotions.

This is the kind of support that is encouraging to a person that has to make the decisions that I do.

Sincerely yours,
MICHAEL D. FANNING,
Postmaster.

ELEGANCE—The sedately beautiful edifice pictured above houses newly-founded International Baptist Temple at 635 W. 7th street. Inset shows the church's pastor, the Rev. C. F. Kyle, who asserts that voluntary donations for establishment of the institution began pouring in when he opposed clergical "whitewashing" of the recent events involving the Rev. John L. Branham of St. Paul Baptist church.

Rev. Hemphill Celebrates Ninth Year at Harmony

Harmony Missionary Baptist church, 4132 South San Pedro street, will celebrate the Ninth Anniversary of its pastor, Rev. C. Allen Hemphill, starting Sunday, July 20, at 3 p.m.

Citizens Greet New Addition

The first services of the beautiful International Baptist Temple, located at 635 West 17th street, one-half block west of Figueroa, were conducted by the pastor and founder, Reverend C. F. Kyle, on Sunday, July 13, at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. This new Interracial Missionary Baptist church, together with the new International Baptist Convention, were organized on July 3, 1952, at the Sojourner Truth Home on South Harvard boulevard.

Leadership for this new independent Baptist church movement is being furnished by Rev. Kyle, former national traveling evangelist.

The officers of the new convention are Rev. Kyle, president; Rev. Edgar G. Nash, vice-president; Rev. Verley L. Hightower, secretary; Rev. Roma S. Lewis, treasurer. The church has selected Lillian Avery, minister of music; Mrs. Sallie Edwards, organist; Mrs. Emelie Boone, church secretary; Emmett C. Jones, chairman of the deacon board; John H. Bunkley, superintendent of Sunday School; Mrs. Camella Boone, chairman of deaconess board; Mrs. Mattie D. Jones, chairman of usher board; Rev. A. J. Johnson, district missionary; Miss Wanda Jones, secretary of Sunday school.

Other prominent churchmen present and participating in organizational work were Rev. W. G. Wilkins and Mrs. Lu Voilie Williams, widow of the late pastor, S. A. Williams, of St. Paul's Baptist church. Miss Florence Thuemmeler is the chairman of the pastor's aid society.

This elaborate church edifice and fine furnishings are being purchased from the former owners. The size of the building is 100x175. It has more than 20 furnished meeting rooms, a large kitchen, dining room and gymnasium.

Sunday, July 20, will be open house at the church. The general public is invited to attend the morning and evening services. The building is open for inspection daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sunday, July 27, will mark the official opening ceremonies of the church, with three services scheduled during the day . . . 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 8 p.m.

Many prominent persons including state, city and county officials, representatives of civic, labor, business, fraternal, professional and religious bodies are expected to be present for this inspiring occasion. The pastor expresses his gratitude to God for this new work, which he says is, in effect, a new reformation.

Oscar Clisby, Thelma Cowans Winners in Cosmo Tournney

There is one game that is worse than dope. For some unexplainable reason when a person gets a set of golf clubs, smacks a little white ball around a large expanse of ground, he is hooked for life. Like a dope addict, he eats, works, sleeps and lives with just one aim in life, to get on the greens and try to tap a ball into a hole in fewer strokes than another person.

Frankly, we're poor and really afraid to even hold a club in our hands as we can't afford green fees, clubs, and golf balls, not to mention the time involved.

We'll stick to pool. The bets aren't as high, and the game is not as expensive, nor as strenuous.

In addition to the costs of the game, it also involves expensive, outlandish clothes in all sorts of brilliant hues. A quick glance at a group of divot diggers tearing up a course reminds one of a spectrum.

The duffers were out en masse for the Cosmopolitan Golf Club tournament at Fox-Baldwin. The threat of a steak dinner lured us out to the beautiful course on Slauson, but after an hour of looking at the brilliantly hued golfers and ducking from slices and hooks, we were too blind to see a steak and too tired to chew one.

An architect never put more time and thought into drawing an arch than most golfers put into lining up a putt. Such concentration is really amazing and what is more amazing is the complete disdain the ball has for such antics. It will roll right up to the cup, back up or take a cool 90 degree turn to the left or right. Such frustration.

Saw Kenny Washington, Theron Kirk, T-Bone Walker, Louis Campbell of Oakland, Orvis Knowles and Emory Haller of San Francisco, Lee Young, Judson Grant, Johnny Riddel, Doug Shaw, Cal Bailey, Edgar Johnson, Fritz Banks, Attorneys James Reese, Ulma Abels and Len Richardson. A real cross-section of the community.

Some talent also was noticable with Suzette Harbin, Maggie Hathaway and Helen Crozier competing with the loud clothes.

One thing I just couldn't understand. How come so much money was exchanged at the 18th hole. I though that only happened in pool.

Milton Campbell, the New Jersey high school youth who is representing Uncle Sam in the Olympic Games, just might develop into the greatest all-around athlete in the world in a year or two. The 18-year-old youngster proved his stuff in the decathlon competition in Tulare. Competing against mature, well-coached athletes, he took second behind the world champion, Bob Mathias, and he beat Mathias' record for the last Olympic games.

Tis rumored that the lad has eyes for Southern California. The portion of the state, not the school. He is too old to compete in the city school system, but can compete in the CIF. With proper coaching and the correct inspiration, he can eclipse Mathias just like Mathias eclipsed Jim Thorpe.

The kid is young and growing. Wonder if SC will drop its color line in track and add him to their team when he is old enough to enter college.

Speaking of the Olympic games, another cinch gold medal should come from the strong muscles of John Davis. The 31-year-old weightlifting star holds three world marks. He holds the world record at 1061½ pounds, set in February, 1951, and the snatch record of 330½ pounds and 402 for the clean and jerk.

Davis has three ambitions, to lift 1,100 pounds, win gold medals in three different Olympic games over a span of 12 years and to become a concert singer!

He won the heavyweight title at the 1940 London games, figures to win at Helsinki and is looking forward to the 1956 Melbourne games.

Davis weighs 230 pounds and is five feet, 10 inches tall, has been a world champion for 14 years.

He works at a New York advertising agency. On singing Davis said, "My teacher tells me I can sing opera as far as voice is concerned, but I don't speak four languages a good opera singer must know. I'll be content to be a concert singer. I've never sung before people. I'm still shy about singing before people."

Can you imagine someone booing him during a concert? Brother, not me.

8th Annual Tournament Huge Success

Veterans Oscar Clisby and Thelma Cowans won the low gross trophies in the Cosmopolitan Golf Club sponsored tournament held last Saturday and Sunday on the beautiful Fox-Baldwin golf course. Clisby shot 74-77 for a 151 to take top honors in the eighth annual invitational tournament sponsored by the club.

Low net honors went to A. Saunders, who shot a 76-78 with a handicap of seven for a 140. Leroy Jennings was the winner in "B" flight and J. Johnson won the "C" flight. Class D competition was called on account of darkness and will be played off this week-end.

Thirteen women participated in the distaff division. Madree Jackson and Maudelle Richardson tied for the Class A trophy and Mrs. Jackson won the playoff. Pep Jordan, Maggie Hathaway and Dorcus Riley also won trophies.

One hundred ten golfers participated in the tournament. Veteran golfers were high in their praise of the conduct of the tournament and the very fair handicapping done by the committee headed by Theophilus Smith.

A lavish steak dinner followed the tournament in the banquet room of the clubhouse and trophies were presented to the winners by Theophilus Smith.

Trophies were donated by the Sunset Fields Driving Range, Blooms Liquors, Viagg Company, The Lark, Milamo, Acquick Maintenance Co., Travis Lott Real Estate, Fox-Baldwin Golf Course, Maddox Realty, Ivan Johnson III and Leo Marshall.

ON THE TURF

HOLLYWOOD PARK — This Saturday rings down the curtain of Hollywood summer season with the running of two stakes. The feature will be the Sunset Handicap for 3-year-olds and upwards at one mile and five-eighths. It carries an added value of $50,000. Co-feature will be the El Dorado Handicap for 3-year-olds with an added value of $20,000. The distance, one mile and one-sixteenth.

RAMSEY

Calumet Farm's A Gleam who has won five stakes this summer and third in another, may have the opportunity to display her mastery over the best Western 3-year-olds in the ElDorado Handicap.

In The Sunset Handicap, the Calumet Farm holds a powerful hand if trainer Jimmy Jones elects to send the great mare, Two Lea, after it. Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Phelps' Sturdy One, who finished third in the hundred grander, will be a strong contender for The Sunset. Also likely to be in The Sunset are King and Luellwitz' Moonrush and Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Phillips' Stormy Cloud Cyclotron, who finished second to Two Lea in the Gold Cup, may not start.

This has been one of the best season in its history for the popular Inglewood course and many new stakes will be added for next season, it is reported.

This writer wants to thank Mr. Al Weston, popular director of publicity, for Hollypark, also Mrs. Francis Elwood and Mrs. Cora Hubner, for all the courtesies extended during the season and wish them health and happiness until we meet again.

CALIENTE, in Old Mexico—Button Up, a cast-off from the thoroughbred empire of Louis B. Mayer, scored his second straight victory in the featured Mandolin Handicap last Sunday. It was a stretch duel that had the fans wild with excitement as Button Up and Cool Breeze came charging down the home stretch head and head, under the urging and hustling ride of jockey Oscar Andrade, Button Up won by a head. It was an open race and as an extremely mild favorite Button Up paid in the mutuels $8.80.

TOP GOLFERS COMPETE—Some of the top golfers on the Pacific Coast are pictured above just before teeing off in the Cosmopolitan Golf club tournament held last weekend at the Fox-Baldwin golf course in Los Angeles. The tournament attracted a record number of players and the competition was exceptionally keen. Kneeling are Bill Foster, James Wilson, Theopholis Smith, tournament chairman; Don Walker, Cosmo president; and Milton Tayson. Standing are Irvin Torian, San Diego; Bob Clark, Autrey Saunders, San Francisco; Frank Huff, Oakland; Sam Cummings, Oscar Clusby and Autrey Jones.

VICTORY SMILES—Thelma Cowans and Oscar Clisby smile happily at each other when it was announced that they had shot the lowest gross score to win the Cosmopolitan Golf tournament at the Fox-Baldwin golf course.

Prep Star Wins New York Trip

By Brad Pye Jr.

SAN FRANCISCO—Big willing Will Moton, heralded the greatest hurler in the history of Stockton high school, pitched his way to New York for the National Boy's game by flipping his Northern Cal Prep All Stars to a 9-6 victory over the Frisco Prep Stars.

Moton, who is labeled by his admirers as "Satchel Paige Jr." is the first Negro to win all Star honors here. He turned in a thrilling four-hitter for the seven frames he was on the mound. The 18-year old star that pro scouts are hounding constantly, walked eight, but also fanned 5. Two of the three runs scored on him were unearned.

Moton, a right-handed hurler, but bats left-handed, in a practice session prior to the game blasted a 350-footer drive off the right field wall. The versatile hitter also accounted for one run.

The giant mounds and Joe Defino of San Francisco will go east to compete in the annual Hearst Sandlot Classic in New York's famed Polo Grounds.

Majestic Corsairs Annual Summer Semi-formal Dance a Huge Success

More than 500 smartly dressed couples were the guests of the Majestic Corsairs' 17th annual semi-formal dance at the beautiful Elks ballroom last Saturday night.

Joy reigned unconfined as old school chums and old sweethearts greeted each other and talked over old times and the swift passing of the years.

The ballroom was decorated with the shield of the club, and across the ceiling a net held hundreds of balloons. The club members were dressed in sky-blue dinner jackets, maroon ties and boutonierres.

Before the dance a before party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hamilton for the club members and their wives.

On the stroke of midnight, the club members were introduced from the stage of the ballroom in keeping with a long standing tradition. Master of Ceremonies was S. Wendell Green, Eagle editor.

After the dance, the members of the club and a few friends had breakfast in the Yact Room of the Clark Hotel.

The Majestic Corsairs was organized in 1934 while the members were in high school. Every year except for one during the war, their semi-formal has been one of the top events of the summer social season.

GAY BEFORE PARTY—Members of the Majestic Corsairs and their wives enjoy refreshments at a gay before party given by the club prior to their attendance of their 17th annual semi-formal dance. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tate, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bradshaw form a festive group picture of joy unconfined.

The Charles Coopers of Balto (he's the mortician, she's a schoolmarm) are at the Watkins for a stay. En route home they will take in the Bay area.

Cincy schoolteacher Herman Bryant (he's godfather to Deborah Charles, daughter of the Ezzard Charleses) will drive up nawth for a look-see before swinging on back east.

Laura Bowman's memoirs are shaping up nicely on paper. Thelma Price Birman and her dentist mate, George, kissed and made up back in Detroit.

Tennis Club in Colorful Meet

For years Los Angeles has been sorely in need of a tennis club that would be truly representative of the best in our group. Gramercy Cosmopolitan fills the need.

All these are champions.

Gramercy Cosmopolitan's first big tennis event is in the nature of a tennis extravaganza to be given Sunday, July 27, at the home of Mrs. Ball at 2180 W. 21st St., from 3 to 8 p.m.

Officers of the club are as follows: president, Alfred P. Clinton Bland; vice-president, Clarence Armstrong; secretary, Mildred Robinson and treasurer, Irvin Smith. A. C. B.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

My hair is white naturally and has turned yellow. Blue-gray rinses are the only treatments I have received. How can this discoloration be removed? V. B.

There may be several causes for the yellow tinge to the hair. The body acid may travel through the hair in form of perspiration which cannot be successfully removed. This may be improved by using no color rinses for a few months and then followed with plain bluing rinse.

Is there any particular time for hair to shed? M. L.

Yes. We are no different than any other form of animal life. Shedding occurs twice a year generally; once in spring and also in fall of the year. The growing period is the first of winter and beginning of summer.

What is alopecia? T.T.

Alopecia is a medical term for baldness.

Rift Splits Fighters For Equal Rights

problems facing the Negro people.

The NAACP stoutly rejects the implied charges and points to its record as refutation of the accusations.

In his letter to Dr. Louis T. Wright, chairman of the association's Board of Directors, explaining the cancellation of his previously agreed upon appearance at Oklahoma City, Judge Waring demanded "unequivocal action" and a "complete abandonment of the separate but equal approach."

Electrified Nation

It was Judge Waring in Charleston, S. C., who several years ago electrified the nation through his decision opening the state's Democratic primaries to Negro voters.

Later, in a minority opinion in the famous Clarendon County school case, the fighting judge gave a ringing denunciation of segregation in all of its phases, declaring that the very existence of any segregated set-up works a tremendous handicap upon the Negro.

As a result of his forthright stand for civil rights, Judge Waring earned the hatred of the Dixiecrats, was shunned by the socially "elite" in his own city and treated by former friends as an untouchable. But he stuck to his guns, never retreating from the stand he had taken. Last year, however, he retired from the bench and moved to New York.

"Crying Need"

In his letter, Dr. Waring declared:

"There is a crying need that unequivocal action be taken. And my views there do not accord with the actions of your staff . . .

"If I were to appear (at the convention) I would have to be frank in stating my views relative to alliances and commitments of the staff to one political party; and also I would criticize the lack of activities of the legal staff in attacking (without continuous delay and evasion) what I consider the basic evil, namely segregation.

"I would advocate the complete abandonment of the separate but equal approach . . ."

Unity Urged

He ended his letter by urging preservation of the "united front" of all those who seek attainment of "the great goal of equality of opportunity and full citizenship by the Negro people."

Judge Waring had been scheduled to address the NAACP convention June 27. He at first accepted the invitation, then changed his mind, stating his reasons in his letter to Dr. Wright.

Convention corridors buzzed with rumors and reports, but no official information was released.

Accusations Rejected

This week, taking note of a "distorted interpretation" of Judge Waring's letter and subsequent developments which have been published, the NAACP issued excerpts from the letter and a statement setting forth in position.

Regarding the accusation of political commitments, the NAACP states that it is a "non-partisan organization, committed to no party and to no candidate."

"Staff members," it states, "have adhered consistently to this policy, freely exposing the foes of civil rights in both parties."

It claims further that the legal department, even before the 1951 convention in Atlanta, "embarked upon a course of action calling for a frontal attack upon segregation per se."

Another Winston Roustabout . . .

Of all the Gigs in partyland, Saturday Nights Winston affair was the nicest this family of party pushers has presented in much months.

Sister Bev (alias Beverly Winston) took over the limelight by throwing this'n for Bro. Jay. Incidently, the old boy was married in the afternoon. . . . He showed up without her—being a man of cool calculations he, no doubt, left her to meditate on his inevitable return. The lucky gal being Katherine Stanislau.

Individually Speaking . . .

Billie Jean Weaver, Inez's and Barbara's tough enough sister, helped raise a lotta Cain, Dorothy . . . looking like someones queen, not King, Anna . . . and her beau de lux, Larry Williams, who wasn't looking for someone new for Jackie Doughtery, guess she's over that Hill, Kenneth . . . was eying many of the things we soow to, TOO much Barbara Stovall, who dug her love, Mel Mansfield slipping into the small room with lovelies Percy McIntyre (the Hipster) and Peggy Sue Terry. . . . And the Pirates couldn't have solved the case of the missing passion juice . . . was flowing freely among lushlivers Walter Norwood, Sam McCullum, Thad Winston, Pete O'Garro and Al Givvins who were getting the good times on before everyone left . . . to see the fistcuffs engaged in by one of the aforementioned cads . . . were pulling away from it all with passengers consisting of Doty Roberts, Fannie Moore, Barbara Grant, Joyce Grayson, Chris Lawson, Zoe Wise, and Mary Cantrell . . . who Stan (The Square) Robertson was panting over between those Luv-a-nuf sisters from the fog city, Frisco. . . . In the summer was the hull reason Walter Smith didn't show for this deal, but the gals were still looking over the high shoulders of Billy Benefield . . . and beanfields couldn't have stopped the rest of the crowd which included Preston Johnson, Bill English, Al Tabour, Bill Beck, Marris Finn, Connie Hatten, Reginald Boyd, Sadie Green, and Ernest Lindo from griping when the lights came on.

Don't Believe What You Hear About:

Pat Roberts not blessing this berg with her presence . . . now or soon? . . .

Lorenzo Hoarde not being home from his vaaction with the elite . . .

That socially prominent Party-a-teer's MOM who's embrassing actions are causing him to become grey about the temples . . .

Herb Wood cruising around every day in his new convertable . . .

Old soldiers never dying . . . Gloria Casey has been seen with a Stanley, of Santa Monica . . .

The postponement of the coming marriage between Bob Fullove and Sandra Monroe . . .

A certain Soror not being leery about her unlawful rendezvous at an oft-raided overnight spot . . .

The Edward Flowers not really making it together. Those two are tighter than a wino on Saturday night . . .

The gal who swore in a pack of mariboro's that she'd give up her chainsmoking habit. They say her mom, in fact, found out she's got a new much stronger brand.

The Phrateries Dance this Sat. night at the K. House is not striving for greatness. Or the coming Jabberwock which is slated for next month will not be a success.

It Must Be True That . . .

Camille Billops is gonna throw another of her mad parties this weeknd. Everybody's envited.

Along with a great portion of LA's sociolites, we took off for Val Verde Park Sunday to take in some of that California sunshine. Upon entering the place we were greeted by Joan Southern and date who were digesting a hardy lunch, just eaten prior to our arrival. Realizing that the weather was conducive to swimming it was only fitting that we shell out fare and make for the refreshing water. Upon entering the (little boys) dressing room we fought our way through many goons in birthday and bathing suits, to the dressing boothes.

Once on the outside things had a brighter twist, namely the bathing beauties, Elaine DeLavallade, Pat Anderson, Nira Hardon, Janice Williams, Joan Arnold and Gloria Lewis who were sunning in almost the same manner as do alligators (no comments here). Upon entering the cool (Ah!) pool we engaged ourselves in that rough game of water polo in which casual drowning was present on a large scale. Walker Bruce held the days record of successful dunkings having submerged the heads of Lumas Ramos, Leon McCarty, Herbert Bell, Wardell Moss, Clifford Smith and Walter Smith.

The days Acquatic activities came to a close about the time that yours truly nearly became the victim of the grim reaper due to some perilous comedy diving.

On the outside much eating and merryment was going on as well as cards, tennis, ping pong and Dominoes (of the galloping type). On the whole, good times were had by all. Oh yeh! Ran into our gotime buddys, Leander Tennette and Wendell Williams. Both fellers were discussing long due draft notices, Ha! Ha!

People and Places

There were many words of genius to his work!
It was the gospel truth of which he wrote:
Though he loved this life; he toyed with it—as one big Joke!

Hard Way

I just entered my swank suite in San Francisco's most popular Booker T. Washington Hotel, managed by the capable C. R. Lane, and there upon my neatly made "work bench" was California's fastest growing newspaper, The California Eagle. The very first thing that hit me between the eyes was our cracker-jack city editor's (Grace Simon's) breezy headlines and photog Irving Smith's great lens job. He's got Al (Chink) King being ashamed of breaking the law in three departments. Al may soon be ON the County instead of merely IN the County!!!! The city wants him, so does the state but the Feds had him. "Smitty" had heavy looking Eleanor Simpson looking like a tough matron escorting her mother into the court (could easily be confused as the prisoner and the light hat hidden Atty. Earl Broady, who could be easily be taken for the arresting detective instead of the counsel. We know Hazel wished she hadn't played it the hard way for that one. When she could have played it smart and said, "Boys from the press, take your best shots." Oh well, we live and learn. Like that old saying: "You can lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink. . . . And you can likewise send a fool to school but you cannot make him think!!!"

Welcome Back

That circus building on Main street at 49th should get quite a workout this Sunday afternoon. They say "ringmaster" John L. Branham will face his "flock," which could mean he feels certain that the Grand Jury will rule his sensational absence from the "church" an accident. Or it could be taken that "leader" is seeking out his staunch faithfuls. At any rate, if he shows you will have to come early for a seat and the day's collection may reach a new high for the handsome "performer" Branham.

No So Welcome

We have it that a Kenwood street apartment husband rented a place to a pretty black haired "grey" gal. When wife found out, she asked the gal to move. Looks like wifie was taking no chances, if not, she certainly is practicing a bit of discrimination?????

Pistol Packing Mama

One of the city's 10 best dressed females leveled her six-shooter at her very socially prominent husband the other eve. Seems like his willowy and exotic spouse caught up with him and that "grey" gal. Speaking of the "greys," a handsome brother may end up being a victim of his own business if he is not careful about those trips up north. That "Wayout" "Stay-out" Westside poker - playing realtor just loves to fight. This time he went into the hair twisting act with his Mexican gal friend and added a few knots in her lovely black hair and it certainly wasn't an attractive hairdo.

The Bang Bang Gang

Genial Bill (nothing personal) Watkins' Rubaiyat Room might be well called the "Poppy" Room judging from some of its clientele. Omar "Khayyam" went for some sweet Lucy once in a while, but the airy Harrys and Contrary Marys are strictly interested in the derivative of opium. Reminds one of those bars in San Francisco where the joint is crowded, the cash register rings once every half hour—maybe, but everyone is high as a kite and the place is buzzing. Caught attorney whose name reminds us of Gordon Gin conferring with about five of his "dealing" clients there and one bailbondsman swears he is thinking about opening up offices at one end of the bar so he will be readily available.

Too bad, as the West Adams room could be a rather classy spot but the "hypes" are about to make it a very unpopular one.

Stop This!

You peasants who beef loudly about what a rotten, low-down shame a first class newspaper, who calls itself terrific would allow such a thing as "People 'n' Places. Well, you can voice your protest Thursday night as a gal named Libby Clark and a guy named Abie Robinson are tossing a going-to-Chicago (and other far-off places—they hope) party and you are invited! It is free.

Our managing Editor, S. Wendell Green, is a delegate to the Natl. Demo. convention and leaves Friday. There you might get your point over.

Going? Going? Gone????

That London visitor who rocked the family circles of a highly plush international gang with her way-out "action" is headed for home. Now the family can climb back to that snug, lofty social position and say to each other, "Are they the right type?" Ouch! Move over Al (Chink) King and Hazel Simpson . . . you have company.

Watch It!

That very attractive lady with that most arresting personality, who is causing quick heart-beats about the Hotel Watkins is La Tanya. She is a local gal who made good her claim as one of the nation's top designers. She is married to popular Earl Griffin, promoter, photographer par-excellence. They have traveled all over the world promoting style shows and good will and always received top billing every place they appeared. Be sure and catch La Tanya's Florentine Gardens International show Aug. 2. It's the end. I saw it in New York, Paris, Rome, England and Spain.

Clear Me Please—

What big wheel San Francisco "doctor" gave wholely 'ell to a hotel clerk for calling him to the phone? He certainley didn't want to speak to the party on the other end. IS it true that pretty Peggie Beasley, the UCLA coed, is about to trap Lou Robinsen in two weeks?

That C. W. Hill is still one of the city's top party givers and not retired into oblivion as reported? Is Sandy Jackson treading on dangerous grounds? Could this column's statement of a few months ago be true about the break in a top insurance executive's home? That a certain model from out-of-town is fixing to put her business in the street. . . . If she insists on running down newspaper people? Is it true that not so right socialite, whose initials are "3—3" left her house suddenly after a fight? That "Nab Jones" is boiling mad because a slick little jitterbug sold him nine sticks of Lipton tea at a buck apiece?

Top Huckster

Dapper James Scott peddled so much Bourbon De Luxe during the past several weeks that his company is awarding him a trip to Canada. Fred Harris, another Huckster and Lloyd La Beach are likewise rated right up there.

A New Twist

The Consolidated Realty Board is seeking a young lady to crown Miss Consolidated. If you think you have a lovely wife, or a pretty gal friend, better call this number and register her with Mamie Lewis at RE. 8506. The grand prize is a diamond studded wrist watch.

Adagio Dancer

What popular and versatile newspaper person whose natural gray streak makes the fair sex shriek . . . is having trouble keeping his "crib" in order . . . with the "Latin" from across the border? Walter Davis, 1952 Olympic Games High Jump Champion, would look like an amateur compared to this "character" as he ducked and dodged his senorita's bolo knife . . . when she discovered him with another's wife. Perhaps he wants to be tailored for a fine pine suit . . . lead a long parade at the end of the week . . . with ten toes upward and much too proud to speak!!!!

Negro Hymn Record Wins Wide Acclaim

PHILADELPHIA—The new RCA Victor recording of "Lift Every Voice and Sing," which was recently premiered at the 43rd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at Oklahoma City, is steadily gaining wide acceptance throughout the country.

TASTETEMPTING TRIO . . . Leonard A. McClain, handsome huckster and Liquor Division representative of Simon Levi Co., Ltd.; "Smiling" Mack Newman, marvelous mixologist at Garnett's, 36th and Western "liquidators," and Jerry "Solid Jack" Novak, "spirit specialist" of Browne-Vintners Co. Inc., who supervised another Southern California Christopher Columbus Rum innovation. Another history making "liquid" was introduced at the westside's most completely stocked "filling station" from a special old world receipe called "GIMLET COCKTAIL," featuring a rum base. Every Sunday Garnett's serves New Orleans Rum Fizzes while Simon Levi's famous "Jubilee" is a regular "thirst quencher."

Negro Ballet Held Over Top Attraction

The Hollywood Negro Ballet (formerly First Negro Classic Ballet) scored a solid hit with the public and critics. It has been held over for additional performances Friday and Saturday nights, July 18 and 19, at 8:30, at the Assistance League Playhouse, 1367 North Saint Andrews Place, Hollywood.

Graham ("Finian's Rainbow") Johnson and Ted ("Carmen Jones") Duncan have been acclaimed as the most exciting dancers since Archie Savage and Talley Beatty in the original Katherine Dunham troupe. Johnson and Duncan prove brilliant show-stoppers in each number they perform in the Hollywood Negro Ballet.

Schumann's "Symphonic Etudes," most popular favorite with local balletomanes and theatre-goers, will be added to the program Friday and Saturday nights, using magnificent costumes designed by Nancy Capolla.

Other new works scheduled are Johann Strauss' "Tales From Vienna Woods," Gretchaninoff's "Southern Landscape" and Tchaikowsky's "Nutcracker Variations," all choreography by Joseph Rickard.

Repeats include "Cinderella" and "Harlot's House," to music by Claudius Wilson, noted New Orleans composer and pianist, "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn, and "Little China Figure," by Saint-Saens.

Following the local engagement, the company opens the annual California Ballet Festival at the Marines' Memorial Theatre, San Francisco.

★ J. T. Gipson ★

liams' car and told him he would return in "a coupla hours." When Gipson returned with the car, he drove around the alley behind the hotel to park the auto. As he was getting out of the car he suffered a hemmorhage and died before he could summon help.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) at 1 o'clock at Angelus Funeral Home.

J.T., as he was known to all his friends, was born in Stamp, Ark., Nov. 2, 1916. He came to Los Angeles at the age of four and attended school in the city school system.

Child Prodigy

He first gained fame as a child prodigy musician. He was an exceptionally brilliant trumpet player, and when he was 12 years old he often went out to Sebastian's Cotton Club and played in Les Hite's band.

While in junior high school he organized his own band and when attending Poly and Riis high school he first became interested in journalism. He wrote articles for the Neighborhood News and played in the Erwin Brothers band.

In 1928 he left Los Angeles on the Orpheum circuit playing trumpet as a featured performer. He was playing in Seattle when Alphonso Trent heard him and took him to Deadwood, S. Dak., and billed him as "the Little Louis Armstrong."

Contracted TB

While in Deadwood he contracted tuberculosis and went to Kansas City to recuperate. After several years in Kansas City he apparently recovered and went to Chicago in 1939 and began playing trumpet in several name bands. His health began to fail again and doctors ordered him to stop playing trumpet, but he just couldn't give up his love for music.

In 1943 he returned to Los Angeles and worked for a while on the Eagle and the Sentinel as theatrical editor. He developed the staccato style of writing with the well-turned phrase that made him famous as a writer from coast to coast.

His health failed again and he went to Olive View Sanatorium in October, 1943, and remained until March, 1944.

July 2, 1944, he married Gertrude Lomax in a wedding that was the talk of show business. His marriage flopped and he left Los Angeles and went to Columbus, Ohio, where he returned to his first love, music. He organized his own band and began playing trumpet, singing in a night club at night, and working on the Ohio State News in the daytime. Sensing that life was short for him, he began living up every moment of it.

Ribs Removed

He became seriously ill in Columbus and had seven ribs removed after which he returned to Los Angeles in 1945 to build up his health. He soon began writing again working on the Eagle and the Sentinel between short stays in the hospital and Olive View.

In April of this year he returned to the Eagle. His last column appeared in the Eagle last Thursday.

Members of the Social Knights club will serve as pallbearers. Members of the Eagle staff are honorary pallbearers.

He is survived by a seven-year-old daughter, Rene Gipson, a three-year-old son, Garry, four sisters, Essie Gipson, Lila Mae George, Velma Rice and Ida Bell Alegler, and a brother, Jessie Gipson.

Dance Schools Offer Free Scholarships

Dancers, professional and student, are invited to audition for 15 one-year scholarships being offered by Carmalita Maracci, Jeni LeGon, Fanya Sage, Dance Associates, Dance Center, and other leading ballet and modern dance schools in Los Angeles.

Show Business

"FINAL CURTAIN"

J. T. Gipson was 35 years old—a short time to live on this green earth. Still did he live longer than his time, say the doctors and nurses at Outdoor Life and Health, Olive View, and the other T. B. sanitoriums where they tried to rest him, slow him down, treat him and cure him.

Lay J. T.'s body alongside Canada's at the altar of Un-American life. The white people at the top of Show Business—individually and collectively—they wouldn't let J. T. in. The white people at the top of the newspaper world—individually and collectively—they wouldn't let J. T. have an equal chance.

You know what it is to be a Negro newsman, especially with Theatricals? It is to walk with hat in hand, to scrounge, to make deals, to beg, wheedle—why? Because there's not enough money to keep you going, either from the particular paper you work for or from harassed Negro show people.

J. T. Gipson had the energy and the talent to move upwards in the entertainment and newspaper worlds—but he couldn't break through the white world. And after bouncing hard up against the wall a few dozen times, he got dizzy, sick, uninspired, bitter, cynical, heartbroken.

Understand—J. T. didn't want to get "into" the white world. He just needed the room to move in, the space that a Walter Winchell had, for instance. And believe it, J. T. wouldn't have turned out like Winchell. J. T. liked the people, all of us.

Life is cheap today and yet Life is dearer, sweeter than ever before. That is, I guess, because it is so easy to die. Auto accidents, shootings, cancer, war. But somehow, the men who perpetuate the stinking mess of Jimcrow hang on and live into their eighties.

And so J. T. dies and with him, his laughter disappears from the green earth.

These men talk at conventions, run for high office, direct wars, preach from the pulpit. They are the big wheels—but without love of humanity—without Brotherhood.—B.E.

will carry Jo Webster Cooper off next month.

In Europe: Alberta Hunter, and happily. Bill Lawrie who used to live here sails for Europe in November. Ed Perry who when in town usually house-guests at Elsie Foster's, lost his devoted sister, LaGracia, recently. Ed is known just about everywhere.

Gerri Ellis about 100% well again after being ill abed. Edythe K. Owens has concert recital plans of her own. Bill Chase lost his air line travel card here just before he left town. Sort've gave him a jolt for a long minute but Bill being Bill shrugged and went merrily on his way.

Leigh Whipper Jr. married back east. To Europe shortly: Joe Crawford. The Aaron Douglases and Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Goens are at Lannie Benjamin's.

Marie Joe Browne: A thousand thanks to you!

To the Olympics: Freda DeKnight now en route to Rome. Mrs. Todd Duncan (Gladys) actively a part of the Harriman for President Committee in Washington, D. C.

SF's Mrs. Alicia Butler and the Prestley Winfields reached Europe via the S.S. Argentina. Sheldon Hoskins moved his Europe sailing to Aug.6 via the Queen Liz.

He will explore France, Italy, Holland, Germany, Scotland, Switzerland and England over a three-month period. He's loaded with invitations.

His close friends, Everett and Sylvia Lee (he's the symphony orchestra conductor) will join him in Sept.; they won a joint Fullbright scholarship.

The Atty. Aurelius Milses (he got his law degree last month at Univ. of Santa Clara, the first colored to do so) were in town recently. They're en route to Chicago. She's a Palo Alto schoolmarm.

Cuff-note: Must ring Ruth Towles and see if Lewis Moore is comin' to town for the summer from Texas. She always stops with Ruth.

Nobody seems to know too much one way or the other if the local Links will or will not gather around a festive board to honor sister Links and their mates who will soon be strung up and down this coast what with their S.F. national assembly.

Seems as if for awhile there no one had acknowledged the suggestion sent out by the local chapter for such a hoedown.

Another "first" for ex-Angeleno Virginia Paris. She was the soloist at the recent biennial convention of the American Nurses' Association in Atlantic City, the first soloist with golden skin to do so.

Andy Razaf recently represented in the permanent Moorland Foundation of Negro Life and History at Howard University. Charter members of the N.Y. Club of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Club Inc. gave a reunion and farewell party (and gift) for Dr. Gertrude Curtis Thompson before she left for L.A.

Ex-N'Yorker Mrs. Mary Strayhorn who became an Angeleno years ag also shared the honors.

Local Lincoln Univ. (Pa.) alumni members pledged to help raise a million dollars by 1954 when their alma mater will be exactly 100 years old.

Edna Deaver McCormick on the ailing list. Diane Dickerson in Europe currently will spend a day or so here before she matriculates at Mills College in the fall.

Chi, still talking in awed tones of her recent debut, the likes of which that town hasn't seen since the fabulous A'Lelia Walker era.

Elks to Bar Communists

Golden West Lodge of Elks would bar all Communists and Communist sympathizers from membership in the lodge and refuse to rent its facilities to such persons under a resolution adopted last week. The resolution was introduced by Attorney Vince M. Townsend and Adolphus Clay. It also provides for expulsion of Communists and Communist sympathizers and the local lodge has asked the Grand Lodge to adopt it at forthcoming sessions in New Jersey.

The issue was brought to a head by charges that a member of the Pasadena lodge and active in its Civil Liberties division is a member of the Communist party. Townsend is regional director of the Civil Liberties for the Pacific Coast.

Sales Mount In New Valley Development

The 60 per cent mark in sales was reached this week by San-Fern Manor, new San Fernando Valley community of 111 three bedroom, one and two-bath homes at Herrick avenue and Filmore street, close to San Fernando road and Van Nuys boulevard.

As announced by Gold Medal Homes, developers of the property, the rapid sales pace was credited to low down payment, reasonable price and convenient location. A key factor also has been the wide choice among 28 attractive designs by architect Charles DuBois, A. I. A.

Priced from $9999, the homes may be purchased by veterans with down payments as low as $425, plus impounds, while monthly payments are from $51.80 for principal and interest, it was noted by sales agent James Carter. Non-veterans are also offered liberal terms.

Feature-wise, San-Fern Manor has won favorable comment from early buyers. Among the standout features of these homes are living rooms at front or rear, French doors leading to covered concrete terraces (expandable into another room), General Electric garbage disposals (except in plan 105) and attached or detached two-car garage.

Additional features of note include No. 1 oak floors, custom-made kitchen cabinets, full service porches, dual floor furnaces, electric bathroom heaters, wardrobe type closets and lawns with shrubs.

FIRST WITH THE FINEST—Oreck's Triangle Service at 35th and Main at Broadway Place, is the most completely equipped soft water car wash in the city. GAMBLING RAIDS LAND THIRTEEN IN THE CLINK

By EDDIE LEE KING

Raids on two places Sunday by Sheriff's deputies netted 13 arrests on charges of gambling and conducting gambling at 1118 East 67th street and 1634 East Palm Lane.

The arrests came after Deputies G. K. James and L. N. Lanier investigated the premises by listening at a rear window at both places and heard sounds typical of poker games in progress.

After listening about 15 minutes, Deputy James knocked at the front door and was admitted; he observed seven men and women seated around a large table, playing poker. The game was being conducted by McKiney Lickhart, 52, 1834 East 121st Street.

Booked were Lockhart, Leonart Brown, 1634 East Palm Lane; R. L. London, 8907 Holmes avenue; Peter Toston, 9226 Zamora; B. G. Bolden, 1742 East Palm Lane; Bernice Ceasar, 9903 South San Pedro street; Nelson Leon Daniels, 1943 East 121st street; Cosbin Joseph Brown, 1844 East 121st street; Maple Germany, 10514 Juniper, and Minnie Lee Vickers, 836 Crocker street.

Hamp Jones, Jr., of 1118 E. 67th street, said that he was the owner of the property and was running the game there. Sam Bolden, 785 East 53rd street, along with Paul Wright, 1118½ East 67th street, admitted they were gambling.

Irate Husband Slashes Mate

With the accuracy of a professional knife thrower, Melvin Frederick Pierson, 44, 1434 East Aldis Streeet, landed a 12-inch knife into the hip of his wife, Sadie, 43, Sunday afternoon.

Pierson stated that he and his wife had been drinking and that Mrs. Pierson first hit him with her fists.

Mrs. Pierson, wound in her side, ran down to the street to 1410 E. Aldist street. From there she was taken to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital by Vernon Pettway of that address.

missed and was spared the ordeal of facing the man she shot.

The only other witness to testify Tuesday was officer Ray Pinckert of the police crime laboratory. He told the jury that he found blood stains in the vestibule of the Simpson home and in the Branham home, but could not clear up the mystery of the lack of bullet holes in Branham's shorts or the whereabouts of the bullet that pierced the pastor's left arm.

Same Stories

Branham in his appearance before the Grand Jury testified that he called upon Mrs. Simpson at her request for spiritual guidance. He explained that he was shot while trying to wrest the gun from her when she attempted to shoot herself. He didn't remember telling the police officers that Mrs. Simpson said she was "very passionate" and shouted "I'm going to shoot you" just before he was wounded.

Mrs. Simpson, reputed to be the biggest bookie operating on the Westside, hid out for a week before she surrendered to the District Attorney for the shooting. Her testimony was similar to Branham's.

Dist. Atty. Ernest S. Roll attended the session of the Grand Jury while Branham was testifying.

Man Killed In Freeway Crash

Nathaniel Elder, 27, 1049 Sunset street, Pasadena, died at 1:15 a.m. Thursday of a head injury and cerebral damage following a traffic accident about 23 hours earlier, on the Pasadena freeway.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Bernida Jordan, 27, 334 West Washington, Pasadena, along with Albert C. Dancey, 27, 106 West Claremont, Pasadena.

When Mrs. Jordan lost control of the 1941 Oldsmobile convertible, registered to Raymond Griffith, 271 North Holliston, Pasadena, the car plunged into the fence, crossing into the lanes of traffic going to Los Angeles and smashing into Charles Kemp Bradway of 775 Holiday road.

Bradway was not hurt, but all passengers in the Oldsmobile were unconscious as they were taken to Huntington Hospital. Elder did not regain consciousness.

Peculiar Behavior

Interested spectators and veteran court observers were at a loss to explain Mrs. Simpson's behavior. They wondered why she was so fearful of facing the man, who according to her statement and his, saved her life. They thought she should have been hugging him and thanking him instead of avoiding him.

Thus ends one of the most sensational cases in the history of Los Angeles.

THREE PIONEERS DIE—Los Angeles is the poorer today following the loss through death of three of its most respected and best loved pioneers. From left, Dr. Alva C. Garrott, Titus Alexander, Fred Roberts.

Three Pioneers Die During Week

Dr. A. C. Garrott

Death took one of the city's pioneer professional men last Thursday when 85-year-old Dr. Alva C. Garrott died at his home, 1129 S. Serrano street, after a lingering illness of four years. Funeral services were held Monday at Seventh Day Adventist church.

The first Negro dentist on the West Coast, Dr. Garrott came to Los Angeles 52 years ago and practiced here until his health began failing seven years ago. He had been blind and bedridden for the past two years. With him at the time of his death was his wife, Dr. Alice W. Garrott, whom he married in 1919 and who is also a dentist.

From the time he came to Los Angeles until about 20 years ago, Dr. Garrott was extremely active in civic and community affairs. He was one of the last surviving founders of the local Urban

Titus Alexander

Funeral services for pioneer citizen Titus Alexander will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from Holy Name Catholic church, Jefferson boulevard at Cimaron street.

The venerated octogenarian died Tuesday at 8 p.m. in his home at 3740 S. LaSalle avenue following a long period of failing health.

Rosary will be said Friday, (tomorrow) night at 8 o'clock.

Surviving Mr. Alexander are his wife of 44 years, Mary Agnes (nee Taylor), a sister, Fannie Sampson of Hamlett, N. C., several nephews and cousins.

Born in Helena, Ark., in 1870, Titus Alexander was the youngest of seven children. His father was a well-known business man who had shrewdly kept his family together during slavery and had taught himself to read and write.

All of the children were entered at Oberlin College and an older brother, John, was the second Negro to graduate from West Point in 1877. Alexander attended Michigan and Western

Fred Roberts

Frederick M. Roberts, who came to Los Angeles 66 years ago and became one of its favorite and best-known sons, died Saturday as a result of injuries received when his car was struck by an automobile driven by Harry Anderson of 734 E. 42nd street, late Friday morning Funeral services will be held at First A.M.E. church today (Thursday) at 1 p.m.

Roberts was backing out the driveway of his home at 350 E. Jefferson boulevard in order to permit his daughter, Gloria, to move her car out when he was struck by the speeding Anderson car. Removed to General Hospital, he died Saturday afternoon. He is survived by his wife, Pearl, and two daughters, Gloria and Patricia.

The Board of Supervisors adjourned Monday in Roberts' memory after passing a resolution memorializing him and paying tribute to his long service in the community. Supervisor Leonard J. Roach was delegated to represent the Board at the funeral. Bishop Frederick M. Jordan will officiate at the services.

Among the many prominent Californians who sent condolences to Mrs. Roberts were Senators Richard Nixon and William D. Knowland and members of the Republican National Committee.

Born in 1880 in Harris Station, an all-Negro town near Chillicothe, Ohio, Roberts was brought to Los Angeles when he was about six years old and was ed-

Kansas City Cleric Killed By Farmhand

KANSAS CITY—A young farm hand, reported enraged at his employer's aggressive approaches, shot and killed Rev. Levicitus Boswell, prominent founder of the Metropolitan Spiritual Church of Christ in Kansas City, Mo., last Thursday afternoon.

Ugly rumors of an unnatural relationship were not yet confirmed as investigation continues in an attempt to uncover the true motive for the slaying. The 20-year-old youth told authorities that Rev. Boswell spent weekends at his suburban ranch. The youth worked there as caretaker.

On the fatal Thursday, the young man stated that Boswell followed him into his room, attacked him with his fists, pounding him brutally. The youth had hidden a shotgun in a closet to protect himself and to ward off beatings by the minister.

He freed himself from Rev. Boswell's powerful grasp, he stated, and grabbed the gun from its hiding place. In the ensuing struggle, the gun went off and Boswell was mortally wounded.

Demos in Straddle On Rights

CHICAGO—Liberal Democrats barged into Chicago over the week-end swearing that they would not retreat a single inch nor compromise on what they proclaimed as deeply held beliefs on civil rights. But they settled for a good deal less than their original demands as the Democratic National Convention adopted a platform and enacted procedural rules.

Chief compromises were:

1. A weakened FEPC plank.

2. The seating of the states' rights delegations from Texas and Mississippi, including some members who bolted the 1948 convention.

3. The watering down of a resolution requiring a pledge of loyalty to the platform and the candidate of the 1952 convention.

4. Dropping of a plank pledging the party to change senate rules to permit breaking of filibusters.

FEPC Plank

As finally adopted the FEPC plank is much stronger than its opposite number adopted by the GOP at its Chicago convention two weeks ago but does not go as far as the NAACP and 51 supporting organizations had demanded.

The FEPC statement promises Negroes and members of other minority groups "equal opportunities" to work and pledges the party to take such steps as will assure them that right. It is a revision of the 1948 plan and was described as "stronger" by some of the delegates.

The Texas and Mississippi delegations' right to seats on the convention floor had been under bitter attack by a group of delegates headed by Maury Maverick, former congressman whose delegation included a number of Negroes. The convention backed up the credentials committee report seating the anti-Fair Deal faction by an overwhelming vote with less than ⅓ third of the delegates supporting the Maverick group.

The original loyalty resolution required an unequivocal pledge by all delegates that they would work to place the Democratic Party on the ballots in their

Kills Brother-in-Law In Cross Town Battle

By EDDIE LEE KING

A one and a half way fight from the West side to the East side between two brothers-in-law ended in murder early Sunday morning.

Herbert James Whitmore, 31, 3732 Ruthelen street, was having a family fight with his wife, Callie, when her brother, Johnny Stewart, Jr., 24, 908 East 52nd place, intervened.

JOHN STEWART JR.

Whitmore threw him out of the house and they traveled to Stewart's house in separate cars fighting and throwing things all the way. Stewart rushed in and got his single-barrelled shot gun. When he came out Whitmore was gone but Stewart went back to Whitmore's house gunning for his brother-in-law.

Gun Broken Down

Stewart returned to his home with the shot-gun broken down and found Whitmore waiting for him. Stewart told an Eagle reporter that Whitmore chased him out of his own home and around the house and that he put the gun together while running.

Stewart said that he was running backward with the gun and after putting it together he walked back up the driveway with the gun cocked. Whitmore was apparently waiting near the front of the house and walked out. Stewart said he began running backward and that Whitmore hit the barrel of the gun and it went off. Whitmore was shot in the lower part of his stomach and again in the leg.

Stewart cried on the shoulder of an Eagle reporter, "I'm innocent of murder! Not denying the fact that the gun was in my hands when it went off, I'm still innocent.

"I have never been arrested before. I work for Art Kazirina County Contractor in Inglewood. I spent three years in the army as an M.P., a truck driver and other positions.... Now do I sound like a killer?"

A coroner's inquest is slated for next Tuesday.

Sailor Runs Down Wife And Boy Friend In Car

A 28-year-old sailor who came home unexpectedly Sunday to find his wife in his car with her boyfriend got revenge by running them down on a deadend street.

Beverly Calloway, 28, 678 MacArthur street, San Pedro, and her boyfriend, Ted Steward of 1420 Seguro Crest, left the Paradise Cafe on Palos Verdes, between Fourth and Fifth, San Pedro, in her husband's car. At Fifth and Palos Verdes they observed they were being followed by another car.

When Mrs. Calloway and her companion went west on 5th street the other car tried to force them to the curb and she saw that it was her husband, Leonard, in a 1947 Pontiac sedan driven by another sailor, Beleon Alston, 27. The car pursued them for miles and several hours around San Pedro, ending at the dead-end of Ogg street.

All of them got out of the cars and an argument started immediately. Calloway struck his wife and struck at Steward. They apparently settled their differences, agreeing that Calloway would take his car and Mrs. Calloway and her boyfriend started to walk along side a heavy wire fence.

Alston drove by them and stopped and Steward looked back and saw Calloway in his 1949 Mercury sedan, bearing down on them with all four wheels spinning in the dirt, striking them and pinning them against the heavy wire fence. He then backed up and both cars drove away, leaving the two victims lying by the fence. They were taken to the San Pedro Receiving Hospital and treated by Dr. Korn.

$27,500 Paid As Settlement In Traffic Death

Mrs. Mamie L. Tardd last week accepted $27,500 from the Key System Transit Lines in the Bay area as a settlement in the death of her husband, Samuel Tardd, 53, who was killed while crossing the street corner at 62nd and San Pablo November 25, 1949.

The family was represented jointly by Attorneys Thomas L. Berkley of the law firm of Berkley and White, and Cecil F. Poole of San Francisco. This is said to be the largest judgment that any minority firm has obtained in the state.

The Tardds, former residents of Greenville, Miss., came to California in 1944. Tardd is survived by his wife and two daughters, Clemmie Tardd and Fannie Tardd Martin, in whose interest the suit was filed.

Fred Roberts Killed

ucated in the public schools of this city and at Los Angeles High School. He went to Colorado College for his higher education, distinguishing himself there as an athlete and a scholar.

Political Career

Almost as soon as he graduated, Roberts embarked on the political career that was to be his major concern the rest of his life. He got a job as a deputy county assessor in El Paso county, Colorado, and served in that capacity for four years. He resigned to return to assist his father in the conduct of the funeral business that had been established here. A few years later he went to Chicago where he learned new embalming techniques and served as embalmer at the funeral home.

After a few years as a school teacher and principal in Mississipi, Roberts returned to Los Angeles to again enter his father's business and has been a member of the family firm operating the Roberts Funeral Home ever since that time.

Published Paper

His love for public life finally led him to purchase the New-Age Dispatch, a newspaper that he published for many years. He plunged into political life again when he ran for membership on the Board of Education and won his first political contest when he was elected to the Assembly from the old 74th District. He continued to represent that District and its successor, the 62nd, until 1934. Always a staunch Republican he was swept out of office in the New Deal landslide.

He made his most serious bid for a return to political office in 1946 when he came within a few thousand votes of defeating Helen Gahagan Douglas in the 14th Congressional District. A perennial attendant at Republican conventions, Roberts had just returned from the GOP convention and had been home less than 24 hours.

Backed Civil Rights

During his term in the Assembly, Roberts was instrumental in strengthening the state's civil rights act, in removing discriminatory material from textbooks, and in defining Assembly and Congressional districts in such a manner that Negroes were guaranteed representation.

A pioneer in civic and community movements, Roberts was one of the earliest supporters of both the Urban League and the NAACP and served on their boards for many years. In addition, he was active in fraternal groups including the Masons, the Elks, and other such organizations. He was a member of the First A.M.E. church and was prominent in lay activities in that church.

Judge Backs Jim Crow in Hero's Burial

SIOUX CITY, Iowa. — Prejudice beyond the grave still cursed this Iowa city last week.

A judge of the district court ruled that there is nothing illegal about cemeteries refusing to bury non-whites.

District Judge Ralph Crary so found in connection with a $180,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Evelyn Rice against the cemetery which last August refused to inter her war hero husband because he was an Indian.

Mrs. Rice in her suit contended that the racial discrimination clause in her contract violated Iowa law, the U. S. Constitution and the United Nations Charter.

Judge Crary rejected Mrs. Rice's plea and ruled that discrimination by a privately owned cemetery is "not a matter of public policy." He ruled also, however, that courts cannot enforce restrictions.

Mrs. Rice's attorneys plan to appeal the decision to the Iowa Supreme Court.

Burial rites for Sgt. John Rice, Winnebago Indian killed in the Korean war, were halted at the grave when the Memorial Park Cemetery association claimed their contract with his widow could not be carried out because its regulations forbade burial of non-Caucasians.

surprise when he appeared in court this week and pleaded "nolo contendere"—which technically means that while he doesn't plead guilty, he chooses not to contest the charge.

King's bail was immediately revoked and he was thrown into jail, there to await sentecing August 11 before Federal Judge James Carter.

King was arrested on the night of July 7 by federal officers who claimed they saw him cache the dope in a vacant lot next to his swank home at 2031 Rimpau boulevard.

King, dead broke when he arrived in Los Angeles from New Orleans in 1949, was already free on a $10,000 bond on a state narcotics charge and another $10,000 bond on Federal income tax evasion charges.

Expect Bitter Battle Hit Southern Pacific

A communication to the traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Railway Company from Franklin Williams, Regional Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charged today that Negro passengers riding the coast and valley Daylight trains were being segregated in the coaches.

His communication stated in part "that the pattern is not rigid but the frequency of its occurrence—a minimum of 80% of the Negro passengers—would seem to indicate the existence of a discriminatory policy which should be immediately terminated."

Following the sending of this communication Williams, who represents the NAACP througout the 7 western states as its director, said that the association was already suing the Southern Pacific company in Los Angeles in an attempt to enjoin the practice of segregation of Negro passengers into separate coaches on the Sunset Limited.

He charged that in leaving Los Angeles on this train a coach designated as Car 20 is set aside for Negro passengers and that all colored persons, even though they may be traveling within the state of California, are required to occupy this "Jim Crow" coach.

He further charged that in traveling to Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific streamliners coming out of the South that Negroe passengers are restricted to occupying Car 10. "This suit," Mr. Williams said, "is presently pending in the municipal court of the City of Los Angeles and has no direct connection with this new complaint against segregation on the Daylight trains."

League and served as president of its board for 18 years. He was instrumental in organizing fellow members of his profession and in 1946 local dentists named their professional group the Alva C. Garrott Dental Society in his honor. A devout Adventist, Dr. Garrott served as superintendent of his church's Sabbath School for 18 years. He was one of the founding members of Sigma Pi Phi Boule.

Defended Rights

Militant in his defense of civil rights, Dr. Garrott braved threats of violence when he moved to Glendale with his then wife, Mrs. Lillie De Jarnette Garrott, his two sons, Alva C., Jr., and Robert W. and his daughter Miriam. In the face of letters giving him 10 days to move and predictions of violence, Dr. Garrott's friends maintained a 24-hour vigil over his home. The difficulty died down and the family remained in Glendale until 1916, to become the first and only Negro family to live in the suburb.

When his wife died in 1917, Dr. Garrott had her interred in Forest Lawn cemetery in a lot he owned at the time. Her body remained there until the death of his daughter in 1928 and after the cemetery refused to permit her burial the wife's body was removed to Rosedale where Dr. Garrott was also interred last Monday.

Between the deaths of his wife and daughter, Dr. Garrott's relatives had waged a year-long legal battle against race restrictions in Forest Lawn only to have the California Supreme Court uphold the cemetery's right to discriminate on the basis of race.

Two Sons Survive

At the time of her death, Miriam Garrott was executive secretary of the Twelfth Street YWCA. Both sons survive. Alva C. Garrott, Jr., is superintendent of Station K of the post office and Robert W. Garrott is superintendent of the West Los Angeles station and former superintendent of the Watts station.

In addition to his two sons, Dr. Garrott is survived by five grandchildren, a number of nieces and nephews and a brother, Homer Garrott, a former police captain.

Dr. Garrott was born near Montgomery, Ala., and was educated at Howard University where he won a degree in pharmacy as well as in dentistry.

Nation-Wide Hunt On for Woman Killer

A nation wide dragnet is out for William Fredrick Harris, 29, six feet tall and weighing around 160 pounds, for the brutal slaying of his sister-in-law last Thursday morning as two tots watched and screamed.

Det. Lieut. R. J. Dailey, Sheriff's Homicide Detail, reported that Lois Ann Williams, 34, 138 East 136th street, was at home with her two year old daughter and one year old neighbor's child when Harris entered.

Mary Ann Tone, Mrs. Williams' sister, estranged wife of Harris, left him sometime back and he has been annoying Mrs. Williams and her husband, Ike Williams, Jr., for the past several months, trying to make Mrs. Williams tell where her sister is. He told them that when he found his wife he would cut her throat.

Harris apparently attempted to make Mrs. Williams tell where her sister was and a scuffle ensued and she received a cut behind her right ear and one in front of it as her reward for not making like a canary.

A handle from a paring knife was found alongside the bloody bed and the six inch blade to match was in front of kitchen sink on the floor. Mrs. Williams was lying on the floor in the living room with other wounds: lacerations on the third finger, right hand, second finger, right hand, and in the immediate area of the shoulder.

Loraine McGhee of 9326 South Holmes avenue, said Harris called her and told her to tell his parents he would call them later, their line was busy, as he was in trouble, having just cut a man in a fight arising out of gambling game. Later he told her that he had a letter with his wife's address on it as she was a WAC in Virginia and he was on his way there to kill her.

ACLU Aids Smith Act Defendants

The American Civil Liberties Union filed in Judge William C. Mathes' Court Tuesday, July 15, a "friend of the court" brief, urging a judgment of acquittal for the 14 defendants charged with violation of the Smith Act.

Summary arguments in this case began on Friday, July 18, and will probably continue through Tuesday, July 29. In light of the status of ACLU in this case, interested persons may wish to observe the trial in its closing phase.

The trial is being held in Judge Wm. Mathes court in Federal Building.

Among the lawyers signing the friend of the court brief was Loren Miller, a member of the Union's board.

Africa's Negroes Gain First Victory

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—The strength of the civil disobedience movement that has swept South Africa was reflected in Port Elizabeth Friday when 19 non-whites who had deliberately flaunted jim-crow laws were acquitted.

The 19 had been accused of obstructing business in the city's post office. They had entered the "white" section, stating they were defying the segregation (apertheid) laws.

Refusal of the judge to convict them caused the government to hesitate for the first time in months in carrying out its ruthless repressive policy.

In the town of Korsten, another 19 defied jim-crow regulations at the post office. Jolted by the Port Elizabeth decision, the prosecution stated it had not yet decided whether or not to press charges against the offenders.

Already approximately 500 non-whites have been arrested since the civil disobedience campaign was launched June 26.

A group of 30 who had been arrested in Port Elizabeth for using a "white only" railroad station entrance were brought to trial July 10. A mass of 4,000 people, solidarizing themselves with the arrested, swarmed around the courthouse.

All 30 were convicted, sentenced to a fine of $17 or 30 days in jail, with half of each sentence suspended. All 30 chose to spend the time in jail.

Morale of the movement, which for the first time in the history of South Africa has united Negroes, Indians and Coloreds, is high. Dr. J. S. Moroka, leader of the African National Congress, called for 10,000 volunteers to defy the laws and fill the jails. When the first 10,000 have been imprisoned, more volunteers will take their places.

United States Apologizes Over Exclusion of Negro

KINGSTON, Jamaica—Arbitrary action by the U. S. Immigration Service came in for a resounding slap last week.

The United States government officially apologized to the government of Barbados, British West Indies, for refusal to permit Grantley Adams, majority party leader of the Barbados House of Assembly, to enter the country.

It was all a sad "misunderstanding," the United States explained.

Immigration authorities in New York apparently mistook Adams for just another Negro labor leader and therefore an undesirable.

When he arrived in New York en route to Germany, he was detained and told he would be herded off to Ellis Island. He asked to be sent to Canada, and from there he boarded a plane to Berlin, where he was scheduled to attend a meeting of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

The Barbados government protested through the British government and received a full apology.

Final Hurdle

Ada Fisher Passes Oklahoma Bar Test

OKLAHOMA CITY—Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher, who by her splendid fight in 1946 uprooted Oklahoma's stubbornly held discrimination against Negroes in higher education, last week was notified that she successfully passed the State's bar examination.

She thereby won her lengthy battle for the right to practice as a full-fledged lawyer in Oklahoma.

Significantly, the courageous young woman has chosen to dedicate her life in the profession to the civil rights field.

All smiles when she learned she had passed the exam which she took two weeks previously, Mrs. Fisher was immediately considering plans for her first plunge into the practice of law.

"I plan to get right into my life's work in a few months," she said, "as soon as my baby is old enough for me to give more time to my profession."

She has had three offers to become a member of law firms.

Mrs. Fisher said, adding that she was anxious to get into a firm where "I can plunge into a practice covering the civil rights field."

Mrs. Fisher's fight for the position she now holds began in 1946 when she tried to enroll as a law student at the University of Oklahoma, in Norman. She was denied admittance because she is a Negro.

In a frantic effort to head her off, the State hastily set up a jim-crow "law school" in the capital building. But Mrs. Fisher would have none of it.

More About T. Alexander

Reserve universities after a short stay at Oberlin.

Came in 1899

He came to California in 1897 and after spending two years in San Francisco moved to Los Angeles in 1899 where he had lived ever since, with the exception of a few years spent in Nevada gold fields from 1906 to 1909.

On his return to Los Angeles after the Nevada stay, Alexander plunged into the civic and political life of the city and was a prominent figure in municipal affairs until his retirement a few years ago. In 1909 he created consternation in the City Council when he led a group of Negroes there and told astonished councilmen that Negroes would dynamite local saloons unless they halted racial discrimination. The discrimination stopped.

Politician

Alexander was that rarest of all things—a Democrat before the New Deal—and he was high in party councils in the city and state. He waged an in season and out battle for his party for a score of years before he saw it win the affections of Negro voters under Roosevelt. He looked on their switch from the GOP as almost a personal victory.

As early as 1920 he urged the Democratic national convention to include planks against segregation in Washington and for federal aid to education.

An early exponent of municipal ownership of public utilities, Alexander went to work for the Department of Water and Power in 1926 and helped fight the long battle that led to defeat for private power interests.

An avid historian, Alexander collected and owned a valuable collection of books and papers on Negro history which he gave to Golden State Mutual Insurance Company a few weeks ago. The company accepted them to establish a Titus Alexander Memorial Library. He was a member of the State Historical Society.

Alexander's last public appearance came a few months ago when he was honored by civic and business leaders at a banquet at which a scroll was presented to him for his valuable civic contributions. Alexander was a devout Catholic and was active in the NAACP, the Urban League and other civic organizations.

Klan Wizard Admits Guilt In Floggings

WHITEVILLE, N. C.—The Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan in North and South Carolina, Thomas L. Hamilton, stood convicted Tuesday of flogging and conspiring to flog a Negro woman.

Hamilton, who claimed he was framed up to the time the trial started on Monday, changed his story when he faced the court and pleaded guilty to the two charges. The more serious charge of kidnapping was dropped.

Conviction and sentencing of Hamilton may put a permanent crimp in the reign of terror which blanketed the Carolinas for the last six months of last year, but which has dwindled in recent months following far-flung investigations and numerous arrests.

MANSLAUGHTER—Louis Dunn, city employe, was charged with drunk driving and two counts of manslaughter when his truck ran over and killed two pedestrians.

City Employe Jailed In 2 Auto Deaths

Louis Dunn, 29, 987 East 52nd place, a Los Angeles garbage collector, is being held in City Jail charged with two counts of manslaughter for the killing of a young couple with his car in a service station at 16th and Main streets Sunday morning.

Dunn was travelling north at a high rate of speed in an asserted drunken condition when his car leaped the curb, tore completely through a utility pole and crashed through the service station out of control. Witnesses stated the car was going so fast the people did not have a chance to get out of its path.

The couple, Delbert Stevens, 22, and his wife, Beatrice, 19, were standing near their trailer, which was attached to the car, with Eldon, 20, Delbert's brother, as Eldon's wife, Juanita, 19, sat in the car holding 11-month-old Tommy, son of Delbert and Beatrice, when Dunn's car came crashing through and crushed Delbert and Beatrice against the trailer, knocking it from its hitch and hurling it several feet, striking Eldon slightly and only being stopped by a steel signpole.

The Stevens had only arrived in Los Angeles from 3900 Colorado boulevard, Denver, Colo., a few minutes before the crash, and received instructions on how to reach West 80th street.

Police officers P. A. Lenz and D. L. Erth said that Dunn was unable to pass any one of several sobriety tests and he was very incoherent. They further stated that a whisky bottle, almost empty, was found in the glove compartment of the car he was driving.

While being interviewed at City jail by an Eagle reporter, Dunn stated that he was a passenger in the car and not the driver. He said a friend of his, "Raymond" (last name and address unknown), whom he picked up in Watts, was driving and he, himself, was sitting in the car nodding at the time of the accident.

Police Said 'Doing Job' in Threat Case

"Police authorities have done a first class job in investigating the threats aimed at forcing Angus Bates to vacate his home in a 'white' neighborhood," Adolphus B. Clay, director of the Elks Civil Liberties No. 86, told the Eagle Wednesday.

Clay had just come from a lengthy examination of the case at University police station, participated in by police and city authorities as well as a committee from the Elks.

Clay said he was convinced that the police have been doing everything possible in the case and will continue to do so. He also stated that, as a result of the extensive probing by the authorities, he felt certain that white "racist" elements in the area would be afraid to make any further efforts to drive Bates from the neighborhood.

Bates received a threatening note June 15. On the same day a cross burned in the back yard of his home at 1749 W. 42nd street. Five days later came a second letter of "warning." Since then neighbors have reportedly been circulating a petition to force the Bates out of their home.

Attending Wednesday morning's meeting were, in addition to Clay and Elk brothers Morgan and Savage, Councilman Don Allen, Lt. E. E. Rombeau of University station, a representative of Capt. MacCauley, and Frank T. Clarke, special agent of hte Department of Justice for the State of California.

Clay described the authorities as extremely cooperative.

Despite the interrogations of individuals in the area, however, no arrests have been made as yet. Also, Clay's committee was informed, the police have no list of lively suspects.

They also reported that they had been unable to locate the petition that assertedly was being circulated. They believed the circulators had become frightened and had withdrawn it.

FIRE HAZARDS

Tons of rubbish are burned daily by Los Angeles residents. Carelessness in this simple act has been responsible for 2179 destructive fires already this year. Good incinerators, located a safe distance from buildings and fences, and used only during the legal burning hours of 6 to 10 a.m., will help to eliminate these unnecessary fires.

The worst thing about a skeleton in the closet is that it is apt to come to life.

states and committing them to individual support of the platform and nominees. After a long series of meetings the convention finally adopted a rule requiring all delegates to use all "honorable" efforts to put the party on the ballot and then watered down that pledge by limiting it to instances where such action would not collide with state laws or party directives.

Loyalty Pledge

Behind the fight for a loyalty pledge lies the fact that Southern states have passed a series of laws giving state Democratic committees the right to designate persons entitled to run under the party's banner. Using that device in 1948, some of the states designated the Dixiecrats as the official Democratic party thus depriving voters of the chance to cast their votes for Truman. The depth of the compromise may be seen from its acceptance by Herman Talmadge of Georgia.

As originally outlined by Sen. Herbert Lehman, who led the civil rights fight in the resolutions committee, party planks would have pledged a compulsory FEPC law, a change of senate rules to curb filibusters, support of anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation, the end of segregation, a civil rights section in the Department of Justice, statehood for Alaska and Hawaii and home rule for the District of Columbia.

Senate Rules

What emerged was a series of planks straddling most of the issues and relegating the anti-filibuster plank to a minor place in the plank on congressional reorganization.

Phrased in general terms the civil rights plank promises Negroes and other minorities equal opportunity to vote and work, security of person and an end to discrimination based on race, color, religion or place of national origin.

Although some disappointment was expressed by civil rights supporters, notably Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, the party's stand was praised by Senator Lehman who said that he believed the anti-segregation and anti-discrimination planks were "strong." White rapped the omission of the filibuster plank as a complete capitulation to the South.

Behind the compromise lies a story of desperate efforts of politicians like Frank McKinney, chairman of the Democratic committee, and similar figures, to keep the party together at all costs and to prevent anything resembling an open break in its ranks.

Leaders of the liberals such as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Chet Holifield of California and Sen. Blair Moody finally gave way before the pleas for party unity and receded on some of their original demands, but clung to statements claiming victory for their point of view.

Surprisingly enough, supporters of Estes Kefauver, Tennessee senator and presidential aspirant, were among the leaders in the fight for a liberal platform. They teamed up with backers of Averill Harriman in the early hours of the convention to make it plain to the Southern contingent that they would not consent to outright scuttling of civil rights demands. As a result, Tennessee found itself arrayed against other Southern states on almost every issue.

Editorial

Frederick M. Roberts

The unfortunate death of Frederick M. Roberts removed one of this community's most widely known and highly respected citizens from a scene on which he had played a prominent part for many years.

During his long service of sixteen years on the California legislatre, Mr. Roberts was instrumental in strengthening the states' civil rights acts and in putting other anti-discriminatory statutes on the books.

The tidal wave of the New Deal swept Mr. Roberts out of office as it did many other Republicans and he was never able to return to public office again but he never lost interest in civie affairs and made his last political race just the past spring.

One of the greatest tributes to Mr. Roberts is the fact that even his political opponents retained a strong personal regard for him and that he was able to work with them in civic affairs despite those differences of opinion.

Mr. Roberts was one of the early supporters of the Urban League and he was one of the founders of the local branch of the NAACP. He served on boards of both organizations for many years and willingly accepted the man ytasks that the organizations gave him.

We liked Fred Roberts—as we called him—at the Eagle. The fact that our editorial support ordinarily goes to the Democratic party and Democratic candidates never deterred him from giving us the benefit of his advice and his observations. We appreciated it, too, and we're rather proud of the fact that the Eagle was the only Negro newspaper to give him its support for his party's nomination in last spring's congressional race.

The community has lost a valuable and useful citizen and we join his friends and family in mourning the loss of Frederick M. Roberts.

An Unfortunate Controversy

The controversy between leaders of the NAACP and Judge Waites Waring is an unfortunate one and seems to flow more from personal clashes than from real differences as to policy.

Judge Waring's implied charge that the NAACP is shirking an all-out attack on segregation is not warranted by the facts. The Association has been centering its attack on segregation for the past several years and last year at the Atlanta convention directed all branches to forego all suits to equalize facilities and to direct their fire at the Jim Crow system itself. That the Association has done in the face of criticism from some of the more timid Negroes who are afraid that the time isn't ripe for such a move.

Nor is there merit in Judge Warings' criticism of the NAACP's political action policy. The Association remains neutral in all partisan contests but that doesn't mean that it can, or should fall down on the job of pointing to the records of the various candidates.

On the record Averill Harriman had the most forthright stand on civil rights and Negroes were done a service when the NAACP pointed out that fact. That, it seems to us, is a long way from endorsement.

None of this detracts from Judge Waring's great service to Negroes in his last few years on the bench. His courage and his forthright recognition of the evils of the separate but equal doctrine give him an important standing among Negroes. We can understand his impatience at the slowness of the changes which we are all seeking. That delay is inherent in the democratic system, especially of the workings of our judicial set-up.

We think too that Judge Waring ought to keep in mind that the work of the NAACP is unnecessarily slowed up by the failure of Negroes to give it their wholehearted support. With more support and more money the Association could move at a faster pace—perhaps fast enough to satisfy the most impatient among us.

See You At the Polls

Registration books for the fall election will close on September 13 and those whose names aren't listed by that time can't participate in the presidential balloting.

Registration in California is a simple procedure. All that is entailed is finding a deputy registrar and giving him your name and address. There is no poll tax to be paid and no constitutional provision to be interpreted.

The fall election will present the voter with many important issues of a state-wide character and of course a president is going to be elected.

Many of the measures on the November ballot are of great importance to Negroes. Certainly the choice between the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees is a matter of grave import. In 1948 Negro voters in California held the balance of power and but for their votes this state would have gone to Dewey and Warren instead of to Truman and Barkley. Indications are that the contest will be just as close this time.

If you want to play your part in making these important decisions you must be registered. You have to register if you've never voted before, or if you've married and changed your name, or if you've moved or if you failed to vote in two previous elections. Check up on yourself and see that you're ready to vote on November 4.

We'd like to see you at the polls.

The Mayor Is Right

The proposal to recall Mayor Fletcher Bowron because of his support of the ten thousand unit low rent housing plan is silly and should be snubbed by the voters.

We haven't always seen eye to eye with the mayor and we suspect that we'll find ourselves on the opposite side of the fence with him on future occasions but in this instance he is simply upholding the law, a duty that devolves on his as chief executive of the city. If he hadn't supported the Housing Authority he would have been derelict in his duty.

The move to recall the mayor is the work of the Real Estate Board and of short-sighted private builders and contractors. The people who are ostensibly heading it are stooges of these selfish and reactionary groups.

We hope, and we're sure, that the voters of this city will have none of this attempt to remove the mayor for doing his duty.

Police Action Unsatisfactory

Just to keep the record straight we'd like to point out that nobody has been arrested in connection with the three-month-old bombing of William Bailey's home on Dunsmuir [illegible].

We've been reading some of the statements made at the time by those who head our city, county and state governments. They make mighty pretty reading with their thundering condemnation of the bombers and their promises of immediate action.

But, we repeat, nobody has been arrested. Whoever planted the bomba is safe and secure and doubtless ready to do another job when the occasion arises.

The record makes our police department look pretty bad.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

Several Southern Democratic Congressmen received a challenge last week that none is likely to accept. The challenge came from IUE-CIO; it was received by Congressmen Cox of Georgia, Rankin of Mississippi and Barden of North Carolina. The International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers dared these representatives of the southern wing of Congress to find out what their constitutents really think about the civil rights issue and then stand by their findings.

Of course the Messrs. Cox, Barden and Rankin will not accept the dare; they can't afford to. As IUE-CIO pointed out in its challenge, these Congressmen were elected to office by so small a proportion of their real constituents as to make a farce of democratic voting. In Cox's district there is a population of 285,624, but only 18,920 votes were cast to put this shabby little politician in office. Rankin was sent to Washington in 1950 with a total vote of 8,994 from a district with a population of 254,230. Barden drew 21,287 votes from a district with a population of 307,925. In Barden's case, there was no opposing vote cast, since no one bothered to run against the man picked by the bosses of a leading poll-tax state.

In a national Congressional or Presidential election, approximately one-third of the population is expected to vote. In Rankin's Mississippi less than five per cent and in Cox's Georgia and Barden's North Carolina less than seven per cent of the people acted to send their "representatives" to Congress. IEU-CIO takes the position that these Congressmen, and those others similarly elected from the South, represent no one but themselves and their anonymous bosses. When they get up on the floor of Congress and prate about what "the people of the South" believe, they are lying in their teeth, for they have not done business with the people of the South in years.

So IUE-CIO makes a straight up-and-down offer to these windy Southern politicians. The union proposes an impartial poll by a reputable agency that will record the opinions of all the adult residents in each Congressman's district, or a cross-section of public opinion that disregards current voting lists. The real Southern public would be asked to state is position on such civil right proposals as anti-lynching legislation, removal of the poll-tax, abolition of segregation in public travel and fair employment legislation. The IUE-CIO would finance the costs of the poll.

All that would be required of the Congressmen is that they would agree to abide by the majority sentiment expressed in these polls, and at the next session of Congress vote according to the clearly-expressed wishes of their real constituents. That may seem like an innocent "all," but the Congressmen will back away from the proposition as a wily wolf backs away from a baited trap. They will recognize at quickly as anyone that the worst thing that could happen to their political prospects would be to have the will of their constituents recorded.

It may be that a majority of Southern opinion, if it could only be heard, would be found in advance of Northern thinking on many social subjects. In some states this would be practically certain—in Mississippi for instance. With Negroes constituting nearly half of the state's population and with an increasing spread of liberal sentiment among white Mississippians, it would be a dangerous experiment for the unspeakable Rankin to submit his voting record for the approval of his total public, Negro and white. Rankin may be a crook, but he's no fool ;he will most certainly ignore the challenge of IUE-CIO.

But ignored or accepted, the action of the union, expressed by its Civil Rights Committee at last week's meeting in Washington, is a good, healthy development in national politics. The union asks questions today; tomorrow it will be the Southern public that asks the same questions—and insists on an answer. And then we'll be starting to go places, politically.

The Watch Tower

CHICAGO—The Democrats are gathered here for their convention which will try to pick a candidate and a platform that can beat General Eisenhower and the Republicans next November.

By the time this is in print the platform, at least, will have been passed by the convention and balloting should be in full swing for the office of President and Vice-President.

The Negro question embodied in the civil rights issue is much more to the fore here than it was with the Republicans because (a) President Truman's stand for civil rights has made it a major issue and caused a wide split already in the party; and (b) the Republicans, by nominating Eisenhower with all his glamor, have forced the Democrats to try to put together a strong platform to match the Eisenhower appeal.

Need Strong Plank

The Democrats have no candidate with the glow and popular appeal of Eisenhower; they must agree on the best available candidate and bolster him with a strong platform.

All this means that civil rights has taken the center of the stage, for unless the Democrats adopt a strong civil rights plank they cannot hope to win next November. They cannot hold the great body of Negro votes in the key states if they do not have a solid plank on civil rights, moreover, they cannot hold hundreds of thousands of independent and labor votes if they weaken on civil rights.

Supporters of a strong plank are demanding something much better than the 1948 plank. As an addition they are asking a platform pronouncement pledging the Democratic party to change the Senate rule on filibusters so that a simple majority of Senators present and voting can shut off a filibuster.

At the present time, under Rule 22, two-thirds of the entire Senate (64) must vote to cut off debate and stop a filibuster. Thus, 33 votes, either "no" or "absent" can keep the Senate from considering any civil rights bill on the calendar.

Caused Uproar

The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights here leading the fight has joined others in pointing out that no matter how fine a platform is adopted on civil rights, it will be just so much language unless the platform also pledges to change the present Rule 22 in the Senate.

The demand for this change has thrown the convention into an uproar. One month ago the Southerners were saying they would not stand for anything except a few words on civil rights, something like the 1944 statement only watered down. The Middle Roaders were saying they might have to take the 1948 platform.

Now that the demand has been made for an improved 1948 platform plus a change in rules, and now that it can be seen how much support there is for it, some spokesmen for the Southerners are offering a feeler that the exact 1948 platform be retained.

This cannot be satisfactory, however, because nothing has been accomplished under the 1948 platform since its adoption. The filibuster rule in the Senate has stood as the roadblock to enactment of any civil rights legislation. Therefore, the contention that it is useless to adopt even the finest platform plank without changing the rule is a sound one.

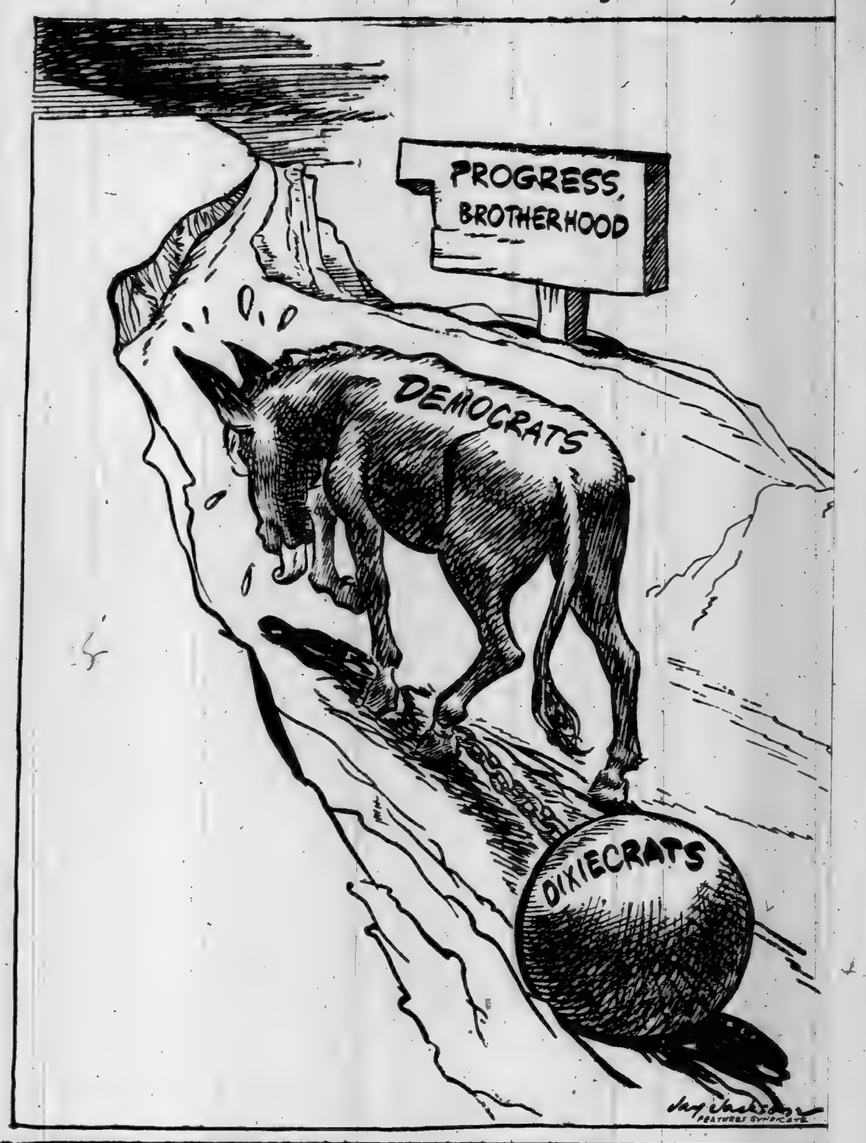
South Weakens

Unexpected strength has been gathered in support of it, so much that the Southerners have offered to compromise. What they offer is not acceptable, but it illustrates how far they have come from their June 15 position.

This much is clear just a few hours before the convention formally opened: if a strong plank including a change in rules is adopted the party has a good chance to win in November because it will hold the big northern and eastern vote, including the Negro vote, even though it loses some southern states.

However, it could have lost these southern states in 1936, 1940, and 1944 and still won. In 1948 it won despite losing four southern states, and despite the Wallace campaign.

A weak civil rights plank may save it the southern states it does not need, but will lose it the powerful northern and eastern states which it must have to win.



Letters to the Editor

Dear sirs:

Any thinking Negro should agree with Judge Waring in his criticism of the N.A.A.C.P. So many of us support it only because there is nothing better. Negro boys are made to die for this country, and Negro money is taken to use in running and building it. And still we are only "half citizens" denied services, privileges and representation equal to our responsibilities. Only by flatly demanding complete equality until it is obtained, can we assume the place in American life which is rightfully ours.

Sincerely,
P. A. JONES.

"The Hard Way"

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

Negroes in California have voted Democratic in large numbers since 1939. In every national election since 1936, the Negro vote in California has been the key to victory. In 1948 it not only was the key, but the whole door.

From a standpoint of practical politics, it would seem that the brother would have reaped quite a reward, partonage-wise, for his loyalty and constant support. Actually, it has been just the opposite. A great deal of the blame for this must be placed on the shoulders of the leading Negro Democrat in the state. This is Gus Hawkins, who has been the Democratic representative in the legislature for the past 18 years and the big wheel in all Democratic campaigns.

Check the Record

A check of the record reveals such a scarcity of political appointments that it is a disgrace. Clarence Johnson went to Washington to work in Public Housing shortly after the '36 elections. His appointment came from Tom Ford, who was then congressman from the 14th district.

After a long drought, Juanita Terry went to Washington in 1948 as a clerk in Helen Gahagan Douglas' office. When Douglas lost the race for Senator, Miss Terry was hired in the same capacity by Senator Humpheys.

In 1949 George Cannady was appointed to the U. S. Attorney's office through the efforts of Helen Gahagan Douglas and served a short period before returning to private practice.

In 1950 Floyd Covington received a position with Federal Housing Administration. His job came from his connections in the Urban League and his thousands of contacts.

Last May Herbert Greenwood was appointed to the U. S. Attorney's office through the office of Sam Yorty. Yorty also apointed Ethel Bryant assistant field secretary when he was elected in 1950.

Only six jobs!

And of those six jobs only the appointments of Johnson and Covington are what one might call real political plums.

No Credit

Of those six jobs, Gus Hawkins cannot take full credit for one of them. He cannot say that he went out and fought for one of those jobs using the influence of his office and his position in the community. He did help to create the climate that made the appointments possible but not more than did a half doz other Democrats.

Disgrace

Six measley jobs is a disgra to the Negro voters and an dictment of the leadership. the credit side. Hawkins can granted an assist for Johnson and Greenwood's appointme and he didn't oppose the pointments of the others. Se of negative leadership.

The facts are that no one giv up anything unless he has This is particularly true of pol ticians, and the negative leade ship exercised by Hawkins h given them an out.

While the responsibility ar some of the fault can be plac on Hawkins' shoulders, he is n completely to blame. Howeve exercising forthright leadersh and playing sagacious politics, 18 years of power, one ma should have organized an locked up the state of Californi Political organization com from politics and the meat an bread of organization is influenc and jobs.

Hawkins doesn't have the pe sonality, drive or desire to be politician, and the entire stat suffers as the Negro vote is 1 per cent more effective organize than unorganized.

Another responsibility of Haw kins by virture of his position the community, is to provide th political leadership that de velops new talent and helps t broaden the field of Negro repre sentation in government. As th oldest politician on a secure pay roll in the state, it is his respon sibility to see that new leade ship is developed.

His Responsibility

It is his responsibility to se to it that the 55th, 61st, 63r and 65th assembly districts de velop the interest and organiza tions that will eventual produc able politicians to seek seats i the legislature.

The responsibility for generat ing the political power that wil elect Negroes to the City Counci is his and it is his absolut duty to work and strive for Negro congressman from Los An geles.

250,000 Negroes in Los An geles and the only elected rep resentation in government is on lone Assemblyman!

kins for his deplorable

While we can keel-haur Haw kins for this deplorable state o affairs, the final blame rests wit the voters who by their derelic tion permit such goings on.

More on this after I return from the Democratic convention where I will be fighting for strong civil rights plank tha can spell victory for the Demo crats come November.

Two Anniversaries

Phillips Temple

Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church, 971 E. 43rd street, at the corner of 43rd street and Wadsworth avenue, will celebrate its 45th anniversary, August 4-10 inclusive.

As a local church, it is proud of its past. But today it stands in anticipation of far reaching accomplishments. With an expanded membership of 2,000 plus members, its present edifice is not adequate to accommodate the congregation and public worship. This church is presently engaged in an expansion effort to meet this housing need.

During the first four nights of this celebration, worship including the sermon and music will be brought by visiting ministers and their choirs, Monday through Thursday nights. The C.M.E. Churches of the Los Angeles area will have charge of the Friday evening services; Saturday night is "Family Night" with family fellowship. The morning sermon on Sunday, Aug. 10 will be delivered by Bishop Felix L. Lewis, presiding bishop of the Sixth Episcopal District of the Colored Methodist church. Guests during Sunday afternoon services will be business and professional people of the city, who will participate in the worship services under the sponsorship of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew. Councilman Kenneth Hahn is the principal speaker.

A souvenir program will be published containing a history of the church; group and organizational pictures; biographical sketches; a patron list, and advertisements.

Rev. Norris S. Curry is minister; Mrs. Clara Gatewood, anniversary day chairman and Herman C. Riley, reporter.

St. Martin's Style Show

Unique entertainment was offered to a fashionable group of guests who attended a parade of bridal fashions of today and yesteryear presented by the Guild of St. Martin's Episcopal church, 101st and Compton avenue.

Wedding attire dating from more than 100 years ago, collected from pioneer residents, and styles progressing through the years up to the current ones were shown.

The committee which organized the event consisted of June Willaims, wife of St. Martin's vicar, Norma Murphy, Lorraine Allen and Nadine Harris.

Commentator for the revue was Violet Moten Brown of the Eagle's editorial staff.

At the 11 o'clock services the Rev. Annie Simpson, nationally famous evangelist, will speak. The special musical program is under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Hale, choir director, and participating in the morning services will be both the senior and junior Choirs.

The evening service, beginning at 7:30 p.m. will feature a special women's choir. A pageant will depict famous Negro women whose contribution to social progress and national life has been outstanding; Included among those will be Phyllis Wheatley, Sojourner Truth, Harriettee Tubman, Dr. Mary Evans, Anne Hedgeman, Mary McCloud Bethune.

The women this year are pledged to the project of establishing a playground upon the church property and club rooms for the youth of Watts in the church structure.

Members of the committee on planning are Anna Dandrege, Blanche Hall, Myrtis Adams, Henrietta Beal, Odessa Brown, Elizabeth Corbin, Fannie Corney, Sina Clark, Lucille Holstein, Jackie Leverette, Thelma Hale, Barbara Watts, Charlottee Beamons, Eula Mae Fairly, and Alice Jonees.

Mrs. Julia Lee represents the Health Unit; Mrs. Lutitia Hines, junior supervisor; J. A. James, captain of group D. Drill Team; Mrs. Mollie Patterson, member of the courtesy committee; Mrs. Alice Fredrick, co-chairman of the Sunshine committee; Mrs. Willie Mae Hunt, assistant junior supervisor; Mrs. Corinne McMillan, corresponding secretary of the district; Mrs. C. K. McCalpin, president emeritus, chairman of fact finding committee; Mrs. Gertie R. Lee, state president, chairman of public relations; Mrs. Hattie Chamberlain, art and craft member, Mrs. Hattie Trunell, a member of the ways and means committee.

Th Queen's Banquet, honoring the past and present State Presidents Mrs. C. K. McCalpin President Emeritus, Mrs. Elmira Smith, and Mrs. Gertie R. Lee, given Tuesday night, June 24, at the 2nd Baptist Church, Griffith Memorial Hall, 24th and Griffith, was a great success. More than 400 guests were present representing all six districts of the Union Usher Board of the state.

Queen Gwen was mistress of ceremonies. Among the distinguished guests who paid tribute to these great leaders were Mrs. Ida Mae Roberson, representing the P.T.A. of Jefferson high school; Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, president of the Federation of Colored Women State of California; appropriate music was rendered throughout the banquet by the Mitchell sisters of the Victory Baptist church.

A heart full of grace is better than a head full of notions.

Editorial

Frederick M. Roberts

The unfortunate death of Frederick M. Roberts removed one of this community's most widely known and highly respected citizens from a scene on which he had played a prominent part for many years.

During his long service of sixteen years on the California legislatre, Mr. Roberts was instrumental in strengthening the states' civil rights acts and in putting other anti-discriminatory statutes on the books.

The tidal wave of the New Deal swept Mr. Roberts out of office as it did many other Republicans and he was never able to return to public office again but he never lost interest in civic affairs and made his last political race just the past spring.

One of the greatest tributes to Mr. Roberts is the fact that even his political opponents retained a strong personal regard for him and that he was able to work with them in civic affairs despite those differences of opinion.

Mr. Roberts was one of the early supporters of the Urban League and he was one of the founders of the local branch of the NAACP. He served on boards of both organizations for many years and willingly accepted the man ytasks that the organizations gave him.

We liked Fred Roberts—as we called him—at the Eagle. The fact that our editorial support ordinarily goes to the Democratic party and Democratic candidates never deterred him from giving us the benefit of his advice and his observations. We appreciated it, too, and we're rather proud of the fact that the Eagle was the only Negro newspaper to give him its support for his party's nomination in last spring's congressional race.

The community has lost a valuable and useful citizen and we join his friends and family in mourning the loss of Frederick M. Roberts.

An Unfortunate Controversy

The controversy between leaders of the NAACP and Judge Waites Waring is an unfortunate one and seems to flow more from personal clashes than from real differences as to policy.

Judge Waring's implied charge that the NAACP is shirking an all-out attack on segregation is not warranted by the facts. The Association has been centering its attack on segregation for the past several years and last year at the Atlanta convention directed all branches to forego all suits to equalize facilities and to direct their fire at the Jim Crow system itself. That the Association has done in the face of criticism from some of the more timid Negroes who are afraid that the time isn't ripe for such a move.

Nor is there merit in Judge Warings' criticism of the NAACP's political action policy. The Association remains neutral in all partisan contests but that doesn't mean that it can, or should fall down on the job of pointing to the records of the various candidates.

On the record Averill Harriman had the most forthright stand on civil rights and Negroes were done a service when the NAACP pointed out that fact. That, it seems to us, is a long way from endorsement.

None of this detracts from Judge Waring's great service to Negroes in his last few years on the bench. His courage and his forthright recognition of the evils of the separate but equal doctrine give him an important standing among Negroes. We can understand his impatience at the slowness of the changes which we are all seeking. That delay is inherent in the democratic system, especially of the workings of our judicial set-up.

We think too that Judge Waring ought to keep in mind that the work of the NAACP is unnecessarily slowed up by the failure of Negroes to give it their wholehearted support. With more support and more money the Association could move at a faster pace—perhaps fast enough to satisfy the most impatient among us.

See You At the Polls

Registration books for the fall election will close on September 13 and those whose names aren't listed by that time can't participate in the presidential balloting.

Registration in California is a simple procedure. All that is entailed is finding a deputy registrar and giving him your name and address. There is no poll tax to be paid and no constitutional provision to be interpreted.

The fall election will present the voter with many important issues of a state-wide character and of course a president is going to be elected.

Many of the measures on the November ballot are of great importance to Negroes. Certainly the choice between the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees is a matter of grave import. In 1948 Negro voters in California held the balance of power and but for their votes this state would have gone to Dewey and Warren instead of to Truman and Barkley. Indications are that the contest will be just as close this time.

If you want to play your part in making these important decisions you must be registered. You have to register if you've never voted before, or if you've married and changed your name, or if you've moved or if you failed to vote in two previous elections. Check up on yourself and see that you're ready to vote on November 4.

We'd like to see you at the polls.

The Mayor Is Right

The proposal to recall Mayor Fletcher Bowron because of his support of the ten thousand unit low rent housing plan is silly and should be snubbed by the voters.

We haven't always seen eye to eye with the mayor and we suspect that we'll find ourselves on the opposite side of the fence with him on future occasions but in this instance he is simply upholding the law, a duty that devolves on his as chief executive of the city. If he hadn't supported the Housing Authority he would have been derelict in his duty.

The move to recall the mayor is the work of the Real Estate Board and of short-sighted private builders and contractors. The people who are ostensibly heading it are stooges of these selfish and reactionary groups.

We hope, and we're sure, that the voters of this city will have none of this attempt to remove the mayor for doing his duty.

Police Action Unsatisfactory

Just to keep the record straight we'd like to point out that nobody has been arrested in connection with the three-month-old bombing of William Bailey's home on Dunsmuir avenue.

We've been reading some of the statements made at the time by those who head our city, county and state governments. They make mighty pretty reading with their thundering condemnation of the bombers and their promises of immediate action.

But, we repeat, nobody has been arrested. Whoever planted the bombs is safe and secure and doubtless ready to do another job when the occasion arises.

The record makes our police department look pretty bad.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

Several Southern Democratic Congressmen received a challenge last week that none is likely to accept. The challenge came from IUE-CIO; it was received by Congressmen Cox of Georgia, Rankin of Mississippi and Barden of North Carolina. The International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers dared these representatives of the southern wing of Congress to find out what their constitutents really think about the civil rights issue and then stand by their findings.

Of course the Messrs. Cox, Barden and Rankin will not accept the dare; they can't afford to. As IUE-CIO pointed out in its challenge, these Congressmen were elected to office by so small a proportion of their real constituents as to make a farce of democratic voting. In Cox's district there is a population of 285,624, but only 18,920 votes were cast to put this shabby little politician in office. Rankin was sent to Washington in 1950 with a total vote of 8,994 from a district with a population of 254,230. Barden drew 21,287 votes from a district with a population of 307,925. In Barden's case, there was no opposing vote cast, since no one bothered to run against the man picked by the bosses of a leading poll-tax state.

In a national Congressional or Presidential election, approximately one-third of the population is expected to vote. In Rankin's Mississippi less than five per cent and in Cox's Georgia and Barden's North Carolina less than seven per cent of the people acted to send their "representatives" to Congress. IEU-CIO takes the position that these Congressmen, and those others similarly elected from the South, represent no one but themselves and their anonymous bosses. When they get up on the floor of Congress and prate about what "the people of the South" believe, they are lying in their teeth, for they have not done business with the people of the South in years.

So IUE-CIO makes a straight up-and-down offer to these windy Southern politicians. The union proposes an impartial poll by a reputable agency that will record the opinions of all the adult residents in each Congressman's district, or a cross-section of public opinion that disregards current voting lists. The real Southern public would be asked to state is position on such civil right proposals as anti-lynching legislation, removal of the poll-tax, abolition of segregation in public travel and fair employment legislation. The IUE-CIO would finance the costs of the poll.

All that would be required of the Congressmen is that they would agree to abide by the majority sentiment expressed in these polls, and at the next session of Congress vote according to the clearly-expressed wishes of their real constituents. That may seem like an innocent "all," but the Congressmen will back away from the proposition as a wily wolf backs away from a baited trap. They will recognize at quickly as anyone that the worst thing that could happen to their political prospects would be to have the will of their constituents recorded.

It may be that a majority of Southern opinion, if it could only be heard, would be found in advance of Northern thinking on many social subjects. In some states this would be practically certain—in Mississippi for instance. With Negroes constituting nearly half of the state's population and with an increasing spread of liberal sentiment among white Mississippians, it would be a dangerous experiment for the unspeakable Rankin to submit his voting record for the approval of his total public, Negro and white. Rankin may be a crook, but he's no fool ;he will most certainly ignore the challenge of IUE-CIO.

But ignored or accepted, the action of the union, expressed by its Civil Rights Committee at last week's meeting in Washington, is a good, healthy development in national politics. The union asks questions today; tomorrow it will be the Southern public that asks the same questions—and insists on an answer. And then we'll be starting to go places, politically.

The Watch Tower

CHICAGO—The Democrats are gathered here for their convention which will try to pick a candidate and a platform that can beat General Eisenhower and the Republicans next November.

By the time this is in print the platform, at least, will have been passed by the convention and balloting should be in full swing for the office of President and Vice-President.

The Negro question embodied in the civil rights issue is much more to the fore here than it was with the Republicans because (a) President Truman's stand for civil rights has made it a major issue and caused a wide split already in the party; and (b) the Republicans, by nominating Eisenhower with all his glamor, have forced the Democrats to try to put together a strong platform to match the Eisenhower appeal.

Need Strong Plank

The Democrats have no candidate with the glow and popular appeal of Eisenhower; they must agree on the best available candidate and bolster him with a strong platform.

All this means that civil rights has taken the center of the stage, for unless the Democrats adopt a strong civil rights plank they cannot hope to win next November. They cannot hold the great body of Negro votes in the key states if they do not have a solid plank on civil rights, moreover, they cannot hold hundreds of thousands of independent and labor votes if they weaken on civil rights.

Supporters of a strong plank are demanding something much better than the 1948 plank. As an addition they are asking a platform pronouncement pledging the Democratic party to change the Senate rule on filibusters so that a simple majority of Senators present and voting can shut off a filibuster.

At the present time, under Rule 22, two-thirds of the entire Senate (64) must vote to cut off debate and stop a filibuster. Thus, 33 votes, either "no" or "absent" can keep the Senate from considering any civil rights bill on the calendar.

Caused Uproar

The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights here leading the fight has joined others in pointing out that no matter how fine a platform is adopted on civil rights, it will be just so much language unless the platform also pledges to change the present Rule 22 in the Senate.

The demand for this change has thrown the convention into an uproar. One month ago the Southerners were saying they would not stand for anything except a few words on civil rights, something like the 1944 statement only watered down. The Middle Roaders were saying they might have to take the 1948 platform.

Now that the demand has been made for an improved 1948 platform plus a change in rules, and now that it can be seen how much support there is for it, some spokesmen for the Southerners are offering a feeler that the exact 1948 platform be retained.

This cannot be satisfactory, however, because nothing has been accomplished under the 1948 platform since its adoption. The filibuster rule in the Senate has stood as the roadblock to enactment of any civil rights legislation. Therefore, the contention that it is useless to adopt even the finest platform plank without changing the rule is a sound one.

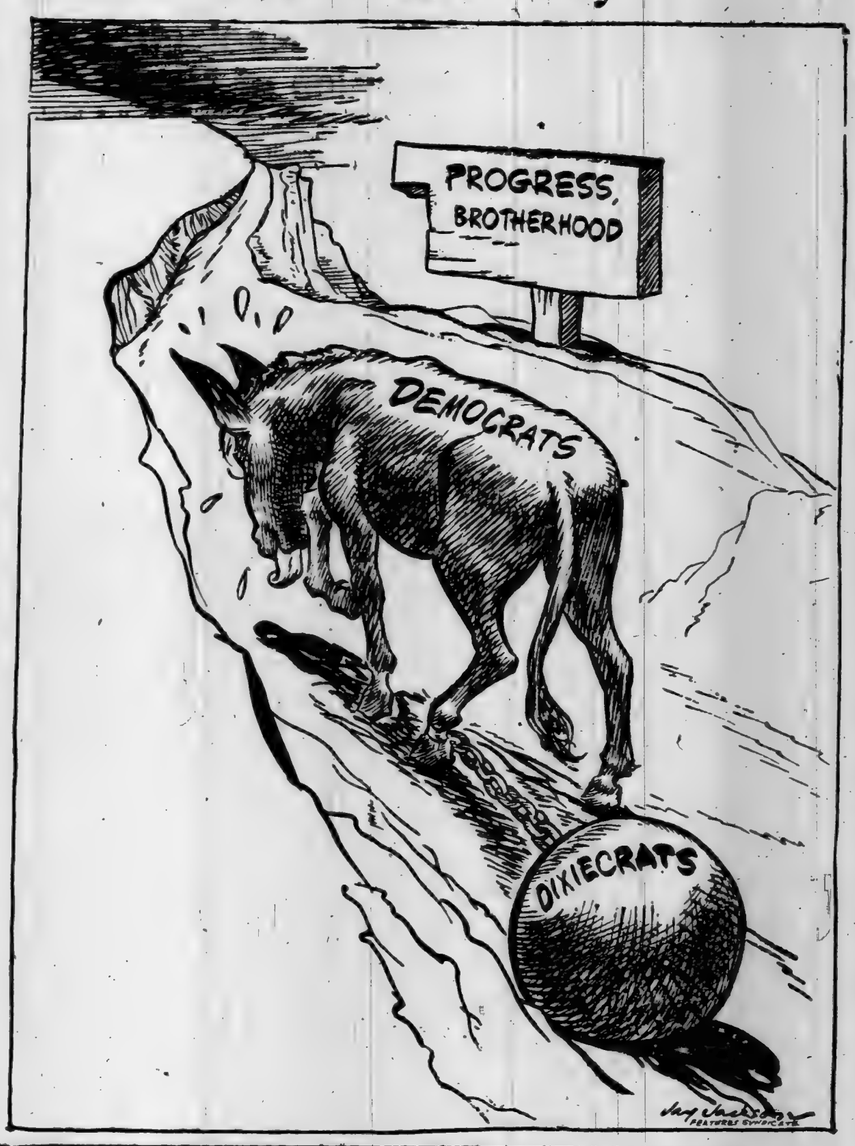
South Weakens

Unexpected strength has been gathered in support of it, so much that the Southerners have offered to compromise. What they offer is not acceptable, but it illustrates how far they have come from their June 15 position.

This much is clear just a few hours before the convention formally opened: if a strong plank including a change in rules is adopted the party has a good chance to win in November because it will hold the big northern and eastern vote, including the Negro vote, even though it loses some southern states.

However, it could have lost these southern states in 1936, 1940, and 1944 and still won. In 1948 it won despite losing four southern states, and despite the Wallace campaign.

A weak civil rights plank may save it the southern states it does not need, but will lose it the powerful northern and eastern states which it must have to win.



Letters to the Editor

Dear sirs:

Any thinking Negro should agree with Judge Waring in his criticism of the N.A.A.C.P. So many of us support it only because there is nothing better. Negro boys are made to die for this country, and Negro money is taken to use in running and building it. And still we are only "half citizens" denied services, privileges and representation equal to our responsibilities. Only by flatly demanding complete equality until it is obtained, can we assume the place in American life which is rightfully ours.

Sincerely,
P. A. JONES.

"The Hard Way"

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

Negroes in California have voted Democratic in large numbers since 1939. In every national election since 1936, the Negro vote in California has been the key to victory. In 1948 it not only was the key, but the whole door.

From a standpoint of practical politics, it would seem that the brother would have reaped quite a reward, partonage-wise, for his loyalty and constant support. Actually, it has been just the opposite. A great deal of the blame for this must be placed on the shoulders of the leading Negro Democrat in the state. This is Gus Hawkins, who has been the Democratic representative in the legislature for the past 18 years and the big wheel in all Democratic campaigns.

Check the Record

A check of the record reveals such a scarcity of political appointments that it is a disgrace. Clarence Johnson went to Washington to work in Public Housing shortly after the '36 elections. His appointment came from Tom Ford, who was then congressman from the 14th district.

After a long drought, Juanita Terry went to Washington in 1948 as a clerk in Helen Gahagan Douglas' office. When Douglas lost the race for Senator, Miss Terry was hired in the same capacity by Senator Humpheys.

In 1949 George Cannady was appointed to the U. S. Attorney's office through the efforts of Helen Gahagan Douglas and served a short period before returning to private practice.

In 1950 Floyd Covington received a position with Federal Housing Administration. His job came from his connections in the Urban League and his thousands of contacts.

Last May Herbert Greenwood was appointed to the U. S. Attorney's office through the office of Sam Yorty. Yorty also apointed Ethel Bryant assistant field secretary when he was elected in 1950.

Only six jobs!

And of those six jobs only the appointments of Johnson and Covington are what one might call real political plums.

No Credit

Of those six jobs, Gus Hawkins cannot take full credit for one of them. He cannot say that he went out and fought for one of those jobs using the influence of his office and his position in the community. He did help to create the climate that made the appointments possible but not more than did a half dozen other Democrats.

Disgrace

Six measley jobs is a disgrace to the Negro voters and an indictment of the leadership. On the credit side, Hawkins can be granted an assist for Johnson's and Greenwood's appointment, and he didn't oppose the appointments of the others. Sort of negative leadership.

The facts are that no one gives up anything unless he has to. This is particularly true of politicians, and the negative leadership exercised by Hawkins has given them an out.

While the responsibility and some of the fault can be placed on Hawkins' shoulders, he is not completely to blame. However, exercising forthright leadership and playing sagacious politics, in 18 years of power, one man should have organized and locked up the state of California. Political organization comes from politics and the meat and bread of organization is influence and jobs.

Hawkins doesn't have the personality, drive or desire to be a politician, and the entire state suffers as the Negro vote is 100 per cent more effective organized than unorganized.

Another responsibility of Hawkins by virtue of his position in the community, is to provide the political leadership that develops new talent and helps to broaden the field of Negro representation in government. As the oldest politician on a secure payroll in the state, it is his responsibility to see that new leadership is developed.

His Responsibility

It is his responsibility to see to it that the 55th, 61st, 63rd and 65th assembly districts develop the interest and organizations that will eventual produce able politicians to seek seats in the legislature.

The responsibility for generating the political power that will elect Negroes to the City Council is his and it is his absolute duty to work and strive for a Negro congressman from Los Angeles.

250,000 Negroes in Los Angeles and the only elected representation in government is one lone Assemblyman!

kins for his deplorable

While we can keel-haur Hawkins for this deplorable state of afairs, the final blame rests with the voters who by their dereliction permit such goings on.

More on this after I return from the Democratic convention where I will be fighting for a strong civil rights plank that can spell victory for the Democrats come November.

Lloyd La Beach, 1951 champion of the 100 and 200 meter runs, will compete in this year's Bendigo Thousands in Australia. The former world's amateur track star has been invited to defend the title he won two years ago.

The Bendigo races are held between athletes who have turned professional and most members were former national amateur title holders at one time.

Any athlete approved by the group sponsoring this meet is invited and a winner has a chance to walk away with the grand prize of $10,000. The races are run off in the same manner as our Horse Racing. Each meet leads up to the big race such as the Hollywood Park's Gold Cup" or Santa Anita's "Hundred Grander."

The handicappers for the National Professionals are plenty smart in giving or taking a yard to a runner. They figure each runner on past performance and never in its history has it witnessed an upset. It takes the average great runner if he competes every year, two or three years to win the grand prize and usually longer or never. La Beach will be making his second attempt.

For the past several months the co-holder of the world's fastest has been working out. He has been clocked repeatedly in 9:7 and never slower than 9:9 for the hundred. Recently, when the sprinters were drilling for the Olympic trials La Beach stood out among such stars as Herb McKenley, Andy Stanfield, Harrison Dillard and MacDonald Bailey.

It was no secret among the track experts who witnessed the workouts that La Beach could easily have won at Helsinki. After the Olympic Games McKenley, Bailey and Dillard are slated to turn professional and enter the Bendigo meets. La Beach seems to think he can turn the trick this year. Last year he was caught in a photo for the third spot which the experts claim is amazing for a first year man.

After the racing season La Beach returned home with some two thousand dollars in prize money. Not bad for a month's work. This year his chances are greater.

Gerald La Broi, Carlos Chavez In Sizzling 10-Round Draw Bout

By EDWARD "ABIE" ROBINSON

Ringwise Carlos Chavez, a veteran of more than 15 years of boxing battled young 22-year-old Gerald La Broi to a thrilling draw last Tuesday night at the Olympic.

The two lightweights staged one of the most interesting 10-rounders we have witnessed in many seasons. Chavez, the pint size bomber had everything Tuesday and made it much tougher for his youthful foe than he did in the first meeting which saw La Broi winning the duke.

La Broi got off to an early lead in the first three rounds jabbing and boxing cooly. However, Chavez who specialized in close quarter action found the range and slowed La Broi down to a walk in the fourth and fifth rounds.

Chavez scored his most damaging blows in the fourth round when he caught La Broi in close quarters and rocked him with vicious left hooks to the head. Here La Broi showed he could take it as well as dish it out.

Badly hurt the kid called upon all the fight he has learned in his young boxing career and was punching away at the bell.

La Broi came bouncing back to cop the seventh and eighth but Chavez closed strong to win the ninth and tenth. In the final round La Broi hit the deck after a flurry of exchange of leathers. Referee Abe Roth said it wasn't a knockdown. Referee Abe Roth tabbed it Chavez by two points. Judge Lee Grossman figured La Broi by one and Judge Frankie Van called it all even. In the six-rounder Al Cruz, 124½ nodded Jimmy Dunn, 127. In the fours Santiago Esteban, 133 won over Richard Minjares, 134, Vicente Cantu, 149 beat Tony Kequon, 151. and Don Smith, 145 outpointed Satchel Porter, 149.

Matthews, Marciano Set for Big Ring Bout

When Harry (Kid) Matthews meets Rocky Marciano at the Yankee Stadium, television fight fans will not be able to glimpse the feature attraction. Marciano is undefeated in 41 fights, and Matthews hasn't been beaten in the past six and a half years. The battle will attempt to prove who is the rightful challenger for Jersey Joe Walcott.

FUENTES-TRIGO IN TITLE BOUT

Ramon Fuentes puts his newly won State Welterweight title on the block this Tuesday night, when he faces veteran Mario Trigo in the 12-round slugfest at the Olympic. Fuentes a good-looking two fist warrior defeated Bobby Jones last May for the title. He will be meeting a rugged fighter in Mario Trigo who is no stranger around these parts. It should be a thriller.

When there are insufficient amounts of certain minerals such as calcium, iron and the necessary vitamins consumed during pregnancy; the hair, nails and teeth are very likely to suffer as a result of the lack. Scalp massages, steam treatments are recommended to recondition the hair. Avoid harsh shampoos. It would be wise to consult your physician in planning a balanced diet.

Through requests for stylings and discussions about beauty with experts I believe the trend will still follow short creations the remainder of '52.

Head perspiration in some cases is caused from a nervous condition. Your first step is to consult your doctor to detect the basic cause. Your second is to permit your beautician to give you a series of light and massage treatments.

BILL SMALLWOOD

The dock strike delayed Hilda Allen's three-month circling of the globe. Meanwhile mate Howard is erecting a new office building, you knew? They entertained last Friday for the visiting (and much feted) Dr. and Mrs. William Goens of Wilmington, Del.

Here with the lattere pair are thee Aaron Douglases of N.Y. and Fisk. The four are at Fannie Benjamin's house-and-pool. Their hostess and her husband had a houseful for them late Saturday night; novel, too, dancing to organ music and munching barbecue alongside the famous Benjamin pool.

The Goens-Douglass pair have really been cause for mass social to-do, gosh! Which of course is as it should be for they have long been cordial hosts back east for visiting Pacific folk.

The Bob Allens (Dot) had one of the more sumptuous affairs for them Sunday. Their eye-filling elegant new place was filled; known for their buffet suppers this last was no slouch!

Sharing the how-dee-do were Berkeley's Connie and Hugh Beaty who have been doing a handsome job of gettin' around too. The Beatys with her brother Bill Allen (N.Y.) leave Sunday in order to entertain the above-mentioned easterners who will be in the Bay area next week.

The Allen C. Woodards had a petit supper party for the Beatys as did the Charles Blacks; Jo Cooper was a brunch hostess for them.

Jenadora Waggoner had them in for a Sunday spread. The George (pharmacist) Hayeses had a little hoedown for them.

Mrs. Mattie Chevalier of Chi and her sister Mrs. Elizabeth Barker of N'Orleans are at the Watkins.

The Charles (Balto.) Coopers leave Sunday for home. The Cliff Bennetts leave Monday for the east. They may return here next year to live. Barbara Weaver put Mexico City off until some other day; she was to have accompanied the Baumans.

Seems as if Barbara's boy friend objected to being left alone! Sinuous Harriet Williams leaves soon for a visit to Kansas City.

N'Yorker John Thomas who is ass't manager of Hotel Theresa shoves off shortly for home. He was Watkins Hotel-parked. SF's Flo Wysinger Allen planning a return trip here briefly; that is if her sister and her mate go through with current plans to drive their new fishtail to Mexico City in a fe wweeeks. Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson is house-guesting with the Carl Mitchells.

Local friends of N.Y. party-giver Mary Sweetwine inquiring if she will include the coast in her current trip. She's visiting her nephew Charles Shaw in Houston.

He's exec v.p. of the Watchtower Life Insurancee Co. San Diego's Joyce Wilson, daughter of Inez Richardson Wilson and Dr. Wiley Wilson, has a full page in 1952 Good Photography annual edition.

The Hazel Shumate-Clarence Moore romance is off? Bette Jean Taylor busier than busy with duties attendant to the Delta Jabberwock slated for the ninth at SC's Bovard Auditorium.

This version promises to top the earlier efforts, I hear. Mesdames Margery Handsor and Helen Wells from Detroit are at the Lewis Russ's.

UNDERCOVER hounds

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

It's lucky the earthquake didn't hit at the same time the Phraterles were giving their Lager Liquidation festival, if so, there would have been almost as many people shaken up as there were torn up. To be quite brief, the girls really showed the people what real partying was like. Through our rose colored glasses (the ones with the platinum rims) which aren't always accurate during the latter part of the evening, we saw doings that defy printing.

During this pertintidious enterlude into the realm of dancing we came out wounded by such bunion smashers as Walter Smith and Vanola McHatten, Harriet Flowers, David Reed and Toni Adams, Jimmy Gilbert and his gal Sal (Sally Jones), Sherril Luke, Barbara Stovall, Jesse Harmon and Margie Smith.

Also saw Lorenzo Wallace with the cutest gal in the place, Barbara Baker. Can't say he doesn't have an eye for beauty. Caught a glimpse of that old married couple of Frank Braxton and Betty who were right in the middle of the fun-rasing process. Noticed that Beverly Winston danced more than a few with Jack Simons. Other guests included Frank Rasebrry, Murial Tompson, Julie Winters and Harold Martin.

Newsy Notes—

Camille Billopps' backyard party was the success it was planned to be.

Everybody's polishing up for the Delta Pyramids formal, come Friday.

Be watching for the Athenians to step forth with something in the very near future.

It's happy birthday to Walker Bruce for adding another year to make a grand total of?? years.

Tickets are now on sale for the Jabberwock and they're going fast.

It's Hard To Believe That—

A certain Howard Daniels is gaining the affection of Gloria Hunnicutt. Where does this put Ronnie Powell?

The "Bird" Charlie Parker had to lay down his horn and listen, at a Hollywood house party the other night, when he heard our local sensation Frank Morgan and his talking horn.

Pasadena lovely, Mary Cantrell is more than just seriously contemplating marriage soon. She may do the thing and the lucky chap must be Bobby Campbell.

Tony Sheen is about to be released from the service. His gal, Jackie Price, visited him in the Army hospital last week.

Donna Ray Brown just arrived back on the scene and with intentions of joining Eddie Allen on a trek down the rice ridden isles of matrimony. The stories told about her flight to the east are very untrue, she says.

Dear Old Summer School Days—

Among the people you might find in strategic places (Georges, Student Union, "The Tree") around City College during summer session are Bobby Lawrence, Charles Jackson, Vivian Jones, Dickerson Hawkins, Sybil Thomas, William Johnson and Ophelia Crawford.

Attended a real nice patio party given by Myra Dickerson to introduce a friend from out of town to LA society. The friend, June Burns, of Lima, Ohio, was greeted warmheartedly by the wolf pack of Los Angeles. The guests also included people like Pete O'Garro, Carol Gentry, Dicky Hall, June Bugg, Gene Ramos and scores of others.

Baumann Family Visits Old Mexico

Albert Baumann with his wife, daughter Mary Ann and niece Celcela Rene will be vacationing for one month in Old Mexico. They left the city recently by motor, plan to travel through all the principal cities in the country including Acapulca.

Traveling along with the Baumann group will be Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nicholus with their twin daughters, Lestreta and Angelita. The Nicholuses will be making the trip in their car.

In Mexico City, Miss Marine Mathews will join the party after flying down from Los Angeles.

Tic Toc Members Set Sun. Picnic

The Tic Toc Social and Charity Club held a program-planning meeting Saturday, July 19, at the home of the secretary.

The members have scheduled a picnic for Sunday, July 27, when the families will be entertained and served delicacies.

Plans for the official date of the mid-summer party will be made at their next meeting.

NEW YORKERS VISIT DAUGHTER—Mrs. Lorraine Dunning, seated on floor, welcomed her youthful parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson of New York, for a two weeks visit recently. After a complete tour of Angel City the pair returned to Manhattan where Donald is a top flight musician.

Associated Clubs in Second Annual Picnic

The newest idea in social clubs to promote sportsmanship and fellowship was exhibited Sunday at Brookside park in Pasadena when the Associated Clubs held their second annual picnic.

Highlighting the day's events was the championship softball game between the Royal Syndicators and the Conquistadors. The Royal Syndicators won the game by a score of 19 to 4.

Another eye catcher was the choosing of the queen in which none of the wives of members of the Associated Clubs were eligible. The queen was chosen from those females present at the picnic. No one knew there would be a queen selected, therefore none of the girls were "primped" for the affair. Lovely Barbara Qualls representing Sir Debuteers was chosen queen for the day and received a lovely gift.

All of the kids and adults had a wonderful time competing in races for all age groups and sexees. Lovely prizes were given to the first three places in each of these events.

Each of the member clubs of the Associated Clubs purchased ice cream for their invited guests.

Member clubs of the Associated Clubs are: Royal Dragons, Social Barons of Southern California, Royal Kingsmen, Sir Debuteers, Conquistadors, Royal Syndicators, Ebony Earls of Pasadena and Young Men's Progressive League, Inc., of Pasadena.

Guest clubs participating in the picnic were the following Los Angeles clubs: Conservative Dukes, Les Charmantes, Co-Operettes, Les Bien Faisonets, Majestic Corsairs, Les Beau Damese, Lamp Lighters, Les Dames Ami, Philanthropic Matrons, Social Knights, Les Petite Femmes, The Keyes, Athenians, Thirteen Charms, Blenderetts, Fidelitians, Altruistic, Regents, The Locks and La Bonmoniers.

Guest clubs participating from Pasadena were: Les Serene Dipity, Club Ideal, Les Matronettes, Club Echo, Mignon Ne Club, Nine O'Clock Club, Origineaux, Zodiak Club, Chicago Club, Young People's Division of the First A.M.E. Church and others.

thee Beatys of Berkeley at the Turnabout Theater after the Benjamin supper.

Also on the entertaining list for them were the Garner Van Graysons. Ditto the Alfred Beatys who had a barbecue spread.

The Henri O'Bryants (Charlene) had a session for Berkeley's Beatys out at their Sun Valley place.

Kate Garcia who lives further out at San Fernando will never know how near she came to be routed from her bed much later by the after-O'Bryant-party crowd.

Cavalrette Inc. Fetes Celebrants

The Cavalrette Inc. met Friday, July 18 at the home of the president, Mrs. Jackie Moore. Plans were made for their affair which took place last Saturday.

Two birthdays were celebrated at this meeting: Zelma Nance and Jean McNeal. The girls received very beautiful presents from the members of the club.

The club has been planning for some time for their affair which took place last Saturday night, trying to make it so that everyone would enjoy themselves.

An enjoyable evening was had by everyone. The members extend the appreciation of the people who were their guest. Near the close of the dance a beautiful set of hand crocheted cups and saucers were raffled off.

Bishop Club Eagerly Plans Artists Avalanche at Ciro's

"Eager as beavers" is a good description of the members of the Los Angeles Bishop College Club, Inc., as they go about selling tickets for their mammoth show, "Artists Avalanche," a parade of fashions and topnotch entertainers as well as dancing.

The show will be presented at Ciro's on Sunset Strip, Sunday afternoon, August 31, as a pre-Labor affair to raise funds for the scholarship fund of Bishop College.

The "double AA," so states club publicity chairman Doris Austin, will bring to Los Angeles an eye opener in a unique array of entertainment and policy of goodwill to fellow clubs. Club table reservations of six couples or more will feature the colors of each club. Every club president will be introduced during the show.

Among the collaborators of the show are Jeni LeGon of the Jeni LeGon Dance Studio, Andre of Andre for Charm Studio and disc jockey Charles Trammell, who will m.c. the show.

Tickets are on sale by "Bishopites" all over the city. Reservations can be made by calling Doris Austin, RE 1-4966; Bennie Wyatt, AD 4-8302; Maude Thomas, LO 9-1188 and in Santa Monica, Cornell Tucker, EX 6-1532. Reservations will be based on first come, first served. There are a limited number of tables.

The "Bishopites" were entertained at a patio barbecue Sunday, July 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Daniels, following the regular meeting of the club.

Incorporated as a charitable orangization by the State of California, the club is composed of graduates and persons who attended the college.

He's Bigger Now

REV. JOHN L. BRANHAM returned to his place of honor and authority last Sunday morning. The St. Paul Baptist Church Congregation and even the building stood out on this beautiful early morning as we pulled into the spacious parking lot. We got our first glimpse of the beaming popular minister at exactly 11:02 a.m. If California history was to be written fairly, Branham's return certainly would be recorded as the second greatest epic in the lives of L.A. Negroes. The first being the 1933 earthquake, which rocked the city no end. Branham was given "3-T" vote of TRIED, TRUE and TRUSTED, by his large membership, which included the chairman of the board and a host of visitors who might easily be seeking church membership this Sunday. We think he'll be bigger than ever. The well groomed ushers and usherettes certainly handled the large mob with ease and could have hung out the SRO sign at 10:30. Ask Bill (Red Hut Broiler) Davis. We are sorry to have missed the remarks of the chairman of the Trustee Board about his surprise in not seeing the press. We don't answer for all the sheets but if it's news you bet the EAGLE is there, to report on the pastor's popularity and the people's choice. We left early and drove around to five of the city's largest churches and although they had a goodly number, there was room for a few more. At St. Paul it was different. Ask the many who showed up at 10:32.

Couple Calls

A certain chick, no doubt a very good friend of Al (Chink) King of you-know-what fame, called and reported more trouble for the kingpin. She claims he is suffering from female trouble. That is, he was forced to explain his presence at a certain grey club with another gal. Another call came to the boss to the effect that as long as PEOPLE 'N PLACES graces the pages, it would never gain respect as a first class newspaper. All we can say is I bet you couldn't find her name among the subscription

RCA Awards Scholarships To Employes

Two young engineers of the RCA-Victor Division, Radio Corp. of America, will begin two-year courses of study in the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in September on special scholarship grants awarded to them by the company.

The recipients, both aged 29, are A. William Bloom, of Riverdale, N. J., an electron tube engineer at the company's Harrison, N. J., plant, and Ray D. Dennis, of Indianapolis, a design engineer at the RCA-Victor plant in that city. While at Harvard, Bloo mand Dennis will continue to receive full employe benefits, including pay at their present salary levels, insurance, and sick benefits. In addition, the company will pay costs of tuition, textbooks, and travel.

The awards are in keeping with RCA-Victor's policy of developing promising young employes for greater management responsibilities in the future. The two young engineers were selected by a committee of management representatives from among more than 30 candidates for the awards.

Bloom was graduated from Rhode Island State College in 1945 with a B.S. degree, and joined RCA-Victor for a short time before leaving to serve in the Navy. After his discharge he returned to the company while studying for an M.S. degree at Newark Colleeg of Engineering, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, and Stevens Institute of Technology.

Dennis joined RCA-Victor in 1947 as a factory laboratory engineer.

CLOSE HARMONY—Hitting a harmonious note here are Kappamen and Silhouettes as they complete preparations for the Kocktail Dansante to be held Sunday, July 27 at the Kastle from 4 p.m. until. Hundreds are expected to gather for the event, sponsored by Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity in celebration of the first anniversary since the center was acquired. Pictured left to right are Leroy Berry, Mesdames Jerene Webb and Edward Tarver, Louise Ateman, Camille Bellops, Atty. David W. Kocktail Dansante to Feature Music "Kerw"

Holding the spotlight Sunday, July 27, as a mecca for the smart amusement adherents will be Kappa Kastle, 2104 S. Harvard, as members of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity climax their first anniversary in the Kastle with the sponsorship of a Kocktail Dansante from 4 p.m. until. Presaging an enthusiastic gathering they have made ample preparations offering assurances of an enjoyable evening.

Music will be provided by Red Callender and His Trio and, appropriate facilities, including the spacious Kastle Kardens, have been set aside for those responsive to the inviting tunes. There are also many pleasant surprises slated to augment the attractiveness of the affair.

The profound interest of Kappa Silhouettes is being manifested and they will be on hand adding their goodwill and cordiality. Mrs. Theo. Smith is president of the group. It was approximately a year ago that they participated with Kappamen in festivities surrounding the Kastle's open house.

Dansante plans are under the direction of the activities committee comprising Junius Covington, Edgar Bishop, Henry Grayson, Leroy Berry, Orlando Flowers, Spencer Bailey and Horace Johnson.

The alumni polemarch, Robert Green, is general coordinator. It will be somewhat of a dual celebration for the fraters and guests, for after purchasing the Kastle, the fraternity in its national meeting awarded the Los Angeles chapters the annual achievement certificate.

NBC-TV Location Nears Completion

The walls for NBC's new Burbank, Calif., television center will be erected this week as construction crews rush to finish the studios in time for next fall's big shows, Western Division Vice-President John K. Blues Greats to Be Heard In Shrine Jubilee Saturday

Jazz history will be made Saturday night, July 26, at the Shrine Auditorium when Gene Norman and Frank Bull present their third annual Blues Jubilee, boasting the greatest blues singers and musicians in the nation.

The Blues Jubilee has been a solid sell-out the past two years, and judging from the lineup of jazz and blues greats already signed for the classic, this year's show should again attract a capacity house.

It'll be a veritable "Battle of the Blues," with those two great blues singers, T-Bone Walker and Jimmy Witherspoon, putting on a duel which should leave the fans limp. When the Spoon and the T-Bone mix, there's bound to be plenty of excitement.

Then there'll be Helen Humes, whose introduction of her famous "Million Dollar Secret" at last year's Blues Jubilee started the song to top record sales throughout the nation. Helen is singing better than ever, and promises to introduce several new numbers at the Jubilee.

Al Hibbler, the famed ex-Duke Ellington song stylist, noted for his brillian rendition of "Trees" and "I'm a Lucky So and So," will be a feature attraction, Co-Sponsors Norman and Bill announced.

Big Jay McNeely and his orchestra and Peppermint Harris will also headline the bill, with a host of other scintillating talent to be added to the roster of stars this week.

Tickets to the third annual Blues Jubilee start at $1.50 and are now on sale at the Southern California Music Company, 737 S. Hill, and at all Mutual ticket agencies.

INIMITABLE—That's Helen Humes, whose highly individual songs will be one of the highlights of the third annual Blue Jubilee to be staged at the Shrine Auditorium, Saturday night, July 26, by Frank Bull and Gene Norman.

"Things to Come"

NAT "King" COLE will head a gigantic stage revue at the new Downtown Paramount Theatre, L.A.'s only "live house," starting the third week in August. Capably managed by M. A. Davenport, the all new stageshow place is the only "spot" not seriously effected by television.

DEAN MARTIN and JERRY LEWIS, a pair of "neetwits" appear on stage of the Downtown Paramount, starting August 28th. Make reservations early . . . or suffer!

LIONEL "Pops" HAMPTON and his "riotous revue" will be on hand in the old southland beginning August 19th at the downtown Paramount.

BILLY "Mr. B." ECKSTINE will present his fine "pair of pipes" to the people of London, England. Opening next spring at the famed Palladium Theatre for a minimum of four weeks in the neighborhood of $7,500 per week. What a Neighborhood!!!

BENNY GOODMAN, first to feature inter-racial musicians, reorganizes his famed "mixed" sextet on August 1st, for a two weeks "session" in Nova Scotia; followed by an August 15th date at Chicago's Bluenote and other concert and road dates.

HARRY "Grable's Guy" JAMES, another B. G. graduate, likewise keeps the "mixed" tradition alive with the wonderful addition of Joe "Southern" Comfort to his grand band. Averaging 3000 cash customers on each of his one night stands throughout the Northern Pacific Coast, Handsome Harry is difinitely proving that people still love to "prance" as well as "glance." (F.P.W. Jr.)

Bill Robinson Film to Show Stars Galore

Virtually a who's who of show business, "The Negro in Entertainment," a short film feature, will be shown at the Bill Robinson theater for seven days beginning Aug. 3, and at the Deluxe, Largo, Lincoln, Linda, and Savoy theaters beginning Aug. 10.

One of a series of widely acclaimed films on Negro America, this film features Bill Nunn, managing editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, and Etta Moten, well remembered for her performances in "Porgy and Bess," in a report to "Editor" Claude A. Barnett of the Associated Negro Press, on the truly remarkable achievements of the race in the field of entertainment.

In this new motion pi[c]ture you see and hear such fam[o]us popular entertainers as W. C[.] Handy, the father of the "Blues," Ethel Waters, Una Mae Carlisle, Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong, the late Bill Robinson and the late "Fats" Waller.

files of Negro Newspapers? ? ? ? However, you might on the Examiner or Times. Bill Watkins put in his beef, claiming that we are attacking his business which hires so-o-o-o many Negroes. We thought we were pointing out something he didn't know was happening. He claims he can't ask a man what he does for a living and we grant him that. Well, it certainly wasn't the intention of this pillar to cast ill wind upon the beautiful W. Adams Room. Incidentally, Watkins makes it a habit of buying his liquor from companies that hire Negro salesmen and that is something others should follow.

Club members Mary Watson, Rose Mary Shonberg, Clara Fentress and Jean Watkins are four very good reasons for you to be out there for the cocktail session. THOSE two shapely Texas schoolteachers who caused chills to run up and down the backs of those brothers at the Thursday night Penthouse party. We understand a coupla looted brothers are willing to match dollar for dollar to keep you from returning after your summer session out at U.S.C.? ? ? That certain sister in a big time gospel singing group has more than singing interest, when she tells hubby she won't be home until late.

On the Farm

We got it from the Honor Farm where Walter Wanger is resting out his 90 days that "Brock" of the ex-Brock Service Center along W. Jefferson is the famed producer's private secretary. We also heard that a certain bookie on the same farm knows how really vicious a well-known westside lady-bookie can be. A not too clever Santa Barbara housewife is awful upset these days. Seems like she met with an accident and the insurance company settled to the tune of $800. Feeling rejoiced, she informed hubby. He figured no doubt this was the time to leave. He did, with $800, and the family rubber. Wifie has begun grieving for his return . . . so she can slap him in the joint or the Angelus. . . .Orchids go to such illustrious names as: Elihu (Black Dot) McGee, Leonard McClain, A. B. Clay, Libby Clark, Al Mills, Gilbert Lindsay for making our editor's trip to Chicago possible. S. W. Green is on hand to lend his weight for a strong Civil Rights platform. He will really have a fight on his hands when the Autocrats, Bureaucrats, Dixiecrats, Democrats and Un-hepcats team up to defeat all good purposes of the convention.

Approaching the vicinity of Western and Adams one is immediately impressed with the streamlined structure on the southwest corner. Less than 15 years ago, during the terrible thirties, when the antiquated "A" trolley stumbled, rumbled and grumbled west on Adams, the only brown brothers beyond Western Avenue were either collaring a slave or tired tan tourists.

THE E.P.U.'s (E PLURIBUS UNUM) members entertaining their husbands and a few out-of-towners with a patio garden barbecue. It ended all barbecues at the J. P. Crobeirs' beautiful home. Cocktails and card games were part of the fun.

The members along Crenshaw and Adams call our attention to the fact that demands were made by the Negro customers to the owner to hire a few Negroes. To which the butcher remarked: "Why should I?" One of the best and most effective remedies for a situation like this is STOP BUYING THERE — then watch how quickly he'll become a "liberal."

Nice Fellows

The lush salesmen were having an early morning beef session in front of Webb Drug Store the other a.m.: (Carl (Seagram's) Haley was wishing Ballinger (Schneley) Kemp a nice time down Mexico way. He's taking off for a few days. Lloyd (McKesson & Robbin) La Beach, was being shaken down for a bottle by one of the newspapermen. While James (Bourbon Deluxe) Scott, was beefing about the hard times. Leonard (Simon Levi) McClain was keeping his secret about a good deal for the bartender. Fred (Old Fortune) Harris making plans to spend a fortune that he hopes to make this year. All in all, these guys are really turning out a grand job for their respective companies and could use a little more cooperation from all of us.

Francis Ellis Rivers

Security is one of the big satisfactions that insurance brings.

Insurance, can mean money put aside to educate your children. It can mean protection against injury or accident. It can mean money at hand for a comfortable old age.

It can mean peace of mind for the head of the family.

In fact, more than half of all insurance payments go to living stockholders.

Why not find out about the security that insurance can bring to YOU?

Narcotic Peddler Killed By Police As He Makes Sale

Stanley Mutersbaugh, 1219 E. 54th street, alleged head of a million-dollar dope ring, was shot and killed last Thursday by Det. Sgt. William H. Caskey, who had staked out and watched him sell narcotics to two known addicts. The sales were made in front of a building at 3201½ Central avenue, said to have been owned by Mutersbaugh.

Police said they saw Mutersbaugh make the sales to Booker T. Braxton and Anne L. Taylor, of 811 E. 25th street, and that they arrested the pair on the scene. Caskey trailed Mutersbaugh to an alley leading off Griffith avenue between 32nd and 33rd streets.

Mutersbaugh got out of his car, walked part way up the alley and before Sgt. Caskey could see where he obtained the packages the peddler was on his way out again. Caskey said the man lunged toward him yelling, "You're not going to take me alive! I know you from the time you got me a few years ago; but never again!"

"Stanley, stand still and drop that stuff," Caskey ordered, but Mutersbaugh c[illegible] after him with a six-inch blade knife and simulating a gun in his pocket. Caskey fired one shot to fell his assailant.

As his 18-year crime career came to an end, Caskey had more than 200 names on his customers list, including about 43 teen-agers. With 28 previous arrests, 17 for dope, 11 convictions, and a Federal penitentiary sentence to his credit, Mutersbaugh tried to destroy the evidence by cramming the stuff in his mouth and swallowing it just before he jumped for the detective.

He died before reaching the hospital and was taken to the morgue where Dr. Victor Cefalu took several hundred dollars worth of narcotics in three cellophane packages from his stomach.

YOUTH KILLED — Mrs. Ora Lee McClain was held for manslaughter in traffic accident in which Jordan High student was killed.

CARLTON ASHLEY Killed in traffic.

Claims Brakes At Fault

Saddened and depressed because a "life has been taken," lovely Mrs. Ora Lee McClain Tuesday told the Eagle what happened in the tragic bus-auto traffic tangle Sunday afternoon at 62nd and Avalon in which a 15-year-old youth was killed and 10 persons injured.

Young Carlton Ashley, 10th grader at Jordan High school, who lived with his parents at 9613 Laurel street, died Sunday night from injuries received when he was hurled 60 feet.

Mrs. McClain, whose 1949 Cadillac made a double somersault before landing upright, miraculously escaped unharmed except for minor bruises. She was taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital, released, and driven to her home, 212 W. 57th street, by friends.

Held in Jail

At 9:30 p.m., police came to her door, told her the sad news that young Ashley had died, and that she was to be taken into custody on a charge of manslaughter.

She was removed to Lincoln Heights jail where she was detained until 4 p.m. Monday, when she was released on $1500 bail through the efforts of her attorney, Earl Broady.

An inquest has been scheduled for Aug. 5.

Police claimed cause of the accident was Mrs. McLain's failure

Klan Wizard Gets 4-Year Jail Sentence

WHITEVILLE, N. C. — The pasty-faced Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, terrorist ruler of the two Carolinas, Wednesday was sentenced to four years in prison.

Sixty-two of Thomas L. Hamilton's gang of hooded thugs drew sentences along with their leader in a crushing blow to the far-flung anti-Negro secret society that has kept people cringing in fear for more than a year.

The 62 were given terms ranging from one to two years, many of them suspended on payment of fines.

Wizard Hamilton was sentenced for masterminding the flogging of a Negro woman, Evergreen Flowers.

On Tuesday, the state completed its presentation of evidence against 14 of the former Klansmen accused in two other cases of violence. Victims in this assault were two Chadburn Negroes, Esther Lee Floyd and Dorsel Robinson.

The convicted Klansmen appeared before Superior Judge Clawson L. Williams, who reviewed testimony on 158 indictments obtained in 10 cases of violence.

The Klan scourge terrorized residents of Columbus and nearby counties for more than a year, coming to a climax during the last six months of 1951.

Negro Delegates at Chicago Walk Out As Sparkman Wins

CHICAGO—Led by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, most of the 60 odd Negro delegates were absent from their seats as the Democratic convention bowed to the wishes of Adlai Stevenson, presidential nominee, and selected Alabama Senator John J. Sparkman for vice president.

Powell was bitter as he led his followers from the convention hall and, told reporters that he personally would not campaign for the Democratic national ticket this fall. "They can cram a candidate down our throats but they cannot make us vote for him," he said. Powell said that Stevenson's preference for Sparkman caused him to refuse to cast his ballot for the Illinois governor.

As triumphant Rebel yells greeted Sparkman in the convention and as he went to Washington, anguished cries came from Negro spokesmen who pitched their opposition to Sparkman on his consistent opposition to civil rights during his years as congressman and senator.

White Unhappy

"It will be difficult, if not impossible for the Democratic party to sell to Negroes, as well as to many other civil rights advocates, any nominee whose voting record has been one of consistent opposition to the civil rights objectives of the Democratic party," Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP said in commenting on the Sparkman candidacy.

Meanwhile Negro Democratic stalwarts were busy painting Sparksman as a liberal and excusing his voting record as a reflection of the fact that he has had to campaign in Alabama. They pointed to the fact that he was one of the chief architects of the 1952 Democratic civil rights planks praised by Walter White as outstanding. Sparkman, they also said, did not go with the Dixiecrats when they bolted the party in 1948 and was one of the leaders in his state in the successful fight to oust them from control this year. Although he was convention manager for Senator Richard Russell's campaign, Sparkman also supported the loyalty oath drive in the convention.

Rumford View

Democratic party spokesmen who joined Powell in the opposition to Sparkman were cagey about saying they would not campaign for or support the national ticket. Byron Rumford, Oakland, Calif., assemblyman, said "it would be very difficult for me to support Sparkman.

Here's What They Say on Sparkman

"It will be difficult, if not impossible, for the Democratic Party to sell to Negro voters . . . any nominee whose record has been one of consistent opposition to civil rights . . . such as Sparkman."—Walter White, Executive Secretary, NAACP.

It will be very difficult for me to support Senator Sparkman. While he is a liberal in a southern sense, we cannot see things the same way."—Assemblyman Byron Rumford, Oakland Democrat.

"It is death. I personally will not campaign . . . If General Eisenhower takes a forthright stand—which he hasn't done so far—he's in"; Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, New York.

"I am a good Democrat and I am going to support my Democratic ticket. . . . Adlai Stevenson will continue . . . an active program for civil rights . . ." Earl Brown, New York city councilman.

* * *

"Negroes cannot overlook the fact that if elected, Sparkman will be presiding officer of the Senate where filibusters take place." Arthur Chapin, director civil rights section CIO Political Action Committee.

Man in Street Says He's Still For Democrats

What does the man in the street think about the Republican and Democratic national conventions?

Will Negroes continue to vote Democratic despite the fact that an Alabaman, a Dixie politician, Sen. John J. Sparkman, won the vice presidential nomination?

Democratic

The Eagle felt its readers would like the answer. A poll by the Eagle's circulation manager and reporter, Edward "Abie" Robinson, seems to indicate that Negroes by and large will "stomach" Sparkman and go along with the Democrats.

Of nine people queried, eight stated they would vote in November, and would vote Democratic. The ninth person, an attorney, said he had not yet decided.

The question asked of each of the nine persons was:

"The Democrats have nominated Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for president and Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama for vice president. Do you plan

Despite Heat Baby Enjoys Plaster Suit

Winifred Furlow is 5 months old. On July 3 she was taken to the Orthopaedic hospital, 2400 S. Flower street, for examination and x-ray. She had been referred by the Georgia Street Receiving hospital.

Winifred had been playing with children who lived near her home at 2005½ Budlong avenue. The children, in swinging her, had evidently broken her leg accidentally.

While her parents didn't know what was wrong, they noticed that the leg was swollen, and that the child was unusually irritable.

The hospital found her leg fractured, put her in "traction," and kept both legs in proper alignment for about three weeks. Then, when the bones began to knit properly, Winifred was put in a plaster cast.

She is a baby with personality plus, always ready with a smile. Hospital personnel think she's wonderful, especially in this hot weather. "How much smiling," they ask, "would most of us do in a plaster suit?"

Jordan High Student Killed In Car Crash

Carlton Ashley, 15-year-old Jordan High school basketball player who was killed in an automobile accident at 62nd and Avalon last Sunday, is to be buried Saturday from the Angelus Funeral home.

Carlton, who died after the car in which he was a passenger collided with one driven by Mrs. Ora Lee McClain, was born in Liberty, Miss., and came here with his parents in 1944.

He lived with his mother and father, Mrs. Amelia Ashley and Scott Ashley, four brothers and a sister, at 9613 Laurel street, and was a 10th grade student at Jordan. He was also a member of the Deputy Auxiliary Police.

On the fatal day, Carlton accompanied a neighbor, 16-year-old George Coleman Jr., of 2279 E. 98th street, to pick up Coleman's sister.

Coleman's car was spun around in the collision, and smashed up against a telephone pole. Young Ashley was thrown a distance of 60 feet. He died later in the evening.

Bandits Hold Up Cafe

Two armed bandits early today held up a cafe at 10807 Alameda St. and escaped with $536, Sheriff's deputies reported.

One of the pair, armed with a .36 caliber pistol, surprised the porter in a rear room and forced him to open a cash register.

Variety Store Robbers' Victim

HAWTHORNE — Two armed bandits held up and robbed at gunpoint a woman clerk in a variety store at 11953 Inglewood Ave., escaping with $702, sheriff's deputies reported Monday.

The bandits entered the store shortly before closing time Sunday and ordered Jeanette B. Solomon of 4836 West 119th St. to hand over the cash box.

One of the bandits grasped the victim by the shoulders and threw her to the floor as they fled, she told deputies.

MRS. BASS OPENS DRIVE FOR PROGRESSIVE PARTY

DES MOINES—Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, who opened her campaign here as vice presidential candidate of the Progressive Party July 20, is the first Negro woman ever to be named for that high political office.

Mrs. Bass was chosen unanimously by the Progressive Party Convention in Chicago, July 5, as running mate of Vincent Hallinan, West Coast lawyer, who is the party's candidate for president. Her first campaign tour, which started in Des Moines, will be a four-week speaking trip throughout seven Midwest states, and will include such centers as Milwaukee, Chicago, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Dayton and Cleveland. She will follow this with a campaign that will take her through the South, the middle-Atlantic states, and the West Coast.

Politics is not a new interest to Mrs. Bass. Prior to 1948, she was a life-long member of the Republican Party and in 1940 was Western Regional Director for the Wendell Wilkie campaign for the presidency.

We give the replies verbatim:

Democratic Convention Had Circus Flavor, Green Says

By WENDELL GREEN

CHICAGO—Ever been to a three-ring circus? Multiply that by 50 times and you have a national political convention. The clowns are there, but most of the workers are intense as the trapeze artist or liontamer.

So much happens at once that the television and radio audience got a much clearer picture of events than Joe and Jane Delegate.

Meetings Everywhere

Meetings in delegations, meetings in the aisle, meetings in the back rooms, hallways, over drinks, over steaks, in automobiles, in campaign headquarters, hotel rooms—everywhere possible. All of Chicago became a honeycomb of smoke-filled rooms with anything serving as a meeting place, and any purpose serving as a cause.

Rumors fly so fast and furious that they make the Branham shooting case look like a Quaker meeting. Everyone has an ear cocked and a mouth propped wide open.

An endless round of cocktail parties 24 hours a day and sometimes more is accomplished over cocktails than in the entire convention. I saw only one obviously crocked delegate in the entire convention. He was the solicitor general for New Jersey and obviously had his reasons.

Negroes Participate

Hundreds of Negroes participated in the convention as delegates, alternates, workers and hostesses in campaign headquarters.

Almost every delegation except the Deep South had Negro delegates and alternates and they fully participated in all scheming and plotting behind the scenes as well as on the floor.

Everything was integrated and no "colored rump" sessions were held. Congressman Powell gave a cocktail party that was a beautiful picture of democracy in action.

Lubrication

Organization builds the wagon, votes give it fuel and alcohol lubricates it and the machine uses more lubrication than fuel. All a dypsomaniac needs to do is get elected as a delegate or alternate and he will be killed or cured as everything is free and all of it is nothing but the best.

A day runs like so. Caucus with the delegation at 9. Two or three other meetings before noon. To convention hall until adjourned with endless side meetings. To the hotel to attend special meetings until 6 in the morning. To bed and up for 9 o'clock caucus. During any adjournment there are 50 "important" cocktail parties to attend.

The convention met in the amphitheater where the livestock shows are held in the heart of the stockyard section. The stench and flies were tremendous, but the debris swept out of the hall every night equalled the amount in the yards.

Dawson and Powell

Congressmen Dawson and Powell were seldom on the floor. They operated from hotel rooms.

The California delegation committed to Kefauver was a beautiful picture of consistency. They voted right on every issue as did Tennessee and other delegations committed to Kefauver and went down fighting. Led by State Senator George Miller, Jr., John Anson Ford and James Roosevelt, they maintained a solidarity that enabled Kefauver to keep his position strong. Negro members of the delegation were Atty. George Wilson, San Francisco; Atty. Hugh McBeth and Almena Lomax as delegates; Byron Rumford, Assemblyman from Berkeley, and Wendell Green, editor of the California Eagle, as alternates.

Negro photographers and reporters were in evidence all over the hall as fully accredited press representatives. This was quite a feat when only dailies for the most part, were given recognition.

Walkout

The California delegation started to follow South Dakota out in protest over Chairman Sam Rayburn's handling of the chair, but was so large that by the time a decision was made it was too late.

The convention was loud, long and often raucous, but never deliberately impolite. Southerners like Gov. Battle, Gov. Byrnes, Senator Russel and Senator Long, guys you would like to spit in their eyes, were perfect gentlemen, polite and willing to discuss without emotion or tirade, any question with any Negro delegate that approached them. Couldn't say the same for most of their delegates who were willing to engage in fist fights, and did, over political questions.

Here's Demos 1952 Plank

Here is the full text of the Democrats' civil rights plank:

"In order that the will of the American people may be expressed upon all legislative proposals, we urge that action be taken at the beginning of the Eighty-third Congress to improve Congressional procedures so that majority rule prevails and decisions can be made after reasonable debate without being blocked by a minority in either house.

"The Democratic party is committed to support and advance the individual rights and liberties of all Americans.

"Our country is founded on the proposition that all men are created equal. This means that all citizens are equal before the law and should enjoy equal political rights. They should have equal opportunity for education, for economic advancement, and for decent living conditions.

"We will continue our efforts to eradicate discrimination based on race, religion or national origin.

"We know this task requires action, not just in one section of the nation, but in all sections. It requires the cooperative efforts of individual citizens and action by state and local governments. It also requires Federal action. The Federal Government must live up to the ideals of the Declaration of Independence and must exercise the powers vested in it by the Constitution.

"We are proud of the progress that has been made in securing equality of treatment and opportunity in the nation's armed forces and the Civil Service and all areas under federal jurisdiction. The Department of Justice has taken an important part in successfully arguing in the courts for the elimination of many illegal discriminations, including those involving rights to own and use real property, to engage in gainful occupations and to enroll in publicly supported higher educational institutions. We are determined that the Federal Government shall continue such policies.

"At the same time, we favor Federal legislation effectively to secure these rights to everyone: (1) the right to equal opportunity for employment; (2) the right to security of person; (3) the right to full and equal participation in the nation's political life, free from arbitrary restraints. We also favor legislation to perfect existing Federal civil rights statutes and to strengthen the administrative machinery for the protection of civil rights."

Here's Demo 1948 Plank

The Democratic Party is responsible for the great civil rights gains made in recent years in eliminating unfair and illegal discrimination based on race, creed or color.

The Democratic Party commits itself to continuing its efforts to eradicate all racial religious and economic discrimination.

We again state our belief that racial and religious minorities must have the right to live, the right to work, the right to vote, the full and equal protection by the Constitution.

We highly commend President Harry Truman for his courageous stand on the issue of civil rights.

We call upon the Congress to support our President in guaranteeing these basic and fundamental rights: (1) The right of full and equal political participation (2) the right to equal opportunity of employment, (3) the right of security of person and (4) the right of equal treatment in the service and defense of our Nation.

We again call upon the Congress to exert its full authority to the limit of its constitutional powers to assure and protect these rights.

Child Problems

Practical information on the problem of the child who refuses to eat is being presented in the Canadian color film "Why Won't Tommy Eat" to be shown at the Expectant Mothers' Class Monday, Aug. 4, 12:30 p.m. in the Willowbrook Health Center, 11725 Compton avenue.

Mrs. Turpeau Will Head Chest Drive

Mrs. DeWitt D. Turpeau, wife of the pastor of the Hamilton Methodist Church, who directed Central-South Park district in the Community Chest in 1951, will serve as South Central Area Co-Chairman with Mrs. Albert L. Garvey in the forth-coming Red Feather appeal.

"Thanks to the fine teamwork of Mrs. Turpeau and her co-volunteers, Central-South Park district was the first large city unit to announce 'over the top' in last year's Red Feather appeal," said Mrs. Ben P. Griffith, general chairman for residential and business metropolitan districts, in announcing area leadership.

"Under her capable leadership, we expect really fine support for our 160 hospitals, children's homes and other services, family and veterans services, and the USO. We are proud and happy that she will give this further community service."

Pair Named to Demo Committee

Assemblyman Vernon Kilpatrick announced this week his appointment of two prominent local Democrats to membership in the State Democratic Central Committee which convenes in Sacramento Friday. The State Committee has the responsibility of writing the state platform, elect officers and conduct the campaign for party nominees.

Those appointed are: Rev. Sutton O. J. Evans and Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson. Reverend Evans is pastor of Masadonia Baptist Church, 114th and Graham, and Mrs. Johnson is Secretary-treasurer of the Watts Chamber of Commerce.

ACTRESS BEATEN—Movie and TV actress Helen Crozier (Mrs. Helen C. Greenwood) appeared in court Monday at the preliminary hearing of the three women who pounded and bit her July 16. Mrs. Greenwood, still bearing scars of battle, plans to sue for damages.

Stevenson's Record On Civil Rights Reviewed

CHICAGO—Governor Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president, regards the separate but equal doctrine as a "myth" thinks that "the answer to communism is democracy; not less democracy, or just enough, but more. And democracy is color blind." Those are some of the statements made at the annual meeting of the National Urban League in New York last Jan. 21 before he became a candidate for president.

The record also shows that he asked the Illinois legislature to enact an FEPC and has consistently pushed for an expansion of that state's civil rights laws. When a howling mob set out to drive a Negro from his Chicago apartment the governor called out the militia to curb the mob.

South Changing

Regarded as an exponent of state solution of civil rights problem, Governor Stevenson told his Urban League audience last January that "the idea that the South is unyielding in its opposition to changing the status of the Negro is itself a myth. The evidence is to the contrary."

In the Urban League speech the governor also took time out to score the belief that laws are ineffective to conquer discrimination and said that "racial segregation is being severely scrutinized by courts and the legislatures."

In his campaign for governor in 1948 the Democratic presidential nominee won an overwhelming majority of Negro votes.

Sparkman Chosen--Negroes Walk Out

While he is a liberal, we cannot see things the same way."

Earl Brown, New York City councilman, told a New York audience this week that he would go along with the Democratic ticket and expressed the opinion that civil rights would be pushed by Stevenson.

Proponents of civil rights led by Senator Herbert Lehman of New York joined Negroes in urging Sparkman to embrace the full civil rights program of the 1952 convention. The candidate himself told radio and television audiences that he would speak for the platform "everywhere" and stressed the fact that he was a member of the platform committee that wrote the civil rights plank.

Raps Democrats

Bewhiskered Edgar Brown, who is gunning for Congressman William Dawson's seat in the First Illinois district, grabbed the opportunity to belabor the Democrats and branded the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket as a "Democratic-Dixiecrat coalition" and charged that Sparkman was the "chief spokesman for white supremacy."

Back of the Sparkman nomination lay the determination of Democratic bosses to forge a unity ticket that would keep the southern Democrats in the party while satisfying Negro and labor supporters in the north. Sparkman's liberalism in foreign affairs and on domestic issues, aside from civil rights, was counted on to keep southern votes in line and to prevent bolting by independent voters in the north and west.

Satisfies Both

His nomination was a foregone conclusion in the event of Stevenson's success. Party leaders had agreed that Russell's presence on the ticket would do more harm outside the South than it would do good in Dixie and as Russell's floor leader, Sparkman had the advantage of having lined up with the die-hard southerners while being depicted as a liberal.

Representative Powell said before he left that Senator Sparkman's nomination was one of the "great tragedies of our time" because the Alabaman's record and position on most issues, except the civil rights question, was good.

"His world position is unassailable."

"However," he went on "with a weak civil rights platform and a totally uncommitted Presidential candidate, it will be sheer death in the north to try to sell anyone from the South, except Vice President Alben W. Barkley, to the Negro voters." Mr. Powell continued:

Sectional Captive

"Unfortunately, Sparkman is a sectional captive and it is as impossible for him to get the Negro vote in the North as it is for me, a Negro, to get the white vote in the South. Some day the situation might be different. But that time hasn't come yet.

"I personally will not campaign for the national ticket. I will help in the election of state and local tickets where I am asked but I will not say a word for the national ticket.

"This has been cooking since Monday. That's why I refused to vote for Governor Stevenson."

Powell said he was speaking for all the Negro delegates from New York and that he thought he reflected the view of the Negro delegates from other states.

Arthur Chapin, a Negro delegate from New Jersey, who directs the civil rights section of the New Jersey Political Action Committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, refrained from an outright refusal to support the Democratic candidate, but he, too, took a very pessimistic view of Democratic chances of winning the votes of Negroes and other minority groups.

"In Alabama," he remarked, "Negroes cannot get equal educational opportunity. They cannot get equality in anything." He added:

"Negroes cannot overlook the fact that, if elected, he will be presiding officer of the Senate where the filibusters against civil rights take place. It could make the platform declaration on cloture limiting debate on controversial issues to insure they are brought to a vote meaningless."

Mother of Four Requests Divorce

In one of the many domestic tragedies where young children are the real victims of the broken home, Mrs. Cora Lee Ball of 8806 Plevka street entered suit to divorce her husband, Coleman Ball, 30. She asked the court to force him to support their four minor children.

Declaring she feared threats of death Ball had made many times against her and the children, Mrs. Ball, through her attorney Janes Reese, asked the court to issue a restraining order against him.

Three Women Charged With Hitting Actress

Movie and TV actress Helen Crozier (Mrs. Helen G. Greenwood), still bearing visible evidences of the beating she received two weeks ago, told the Eagle this week she intends to file damage suits against the three women who attacked her.

All three appeared in court Monday for a preliminary hearing and were released on bail pending their arraignment.

Named as the principal attacker was Mrs. Thelma Brooks, who, Mrs. Greenwood claims, has been "going with" her husband for six months.

Mrs. Greenwood said she was set upon by the there, pounded, bitten, thrown to the pavement and kicked, then left unconscious. Her 16-months-old son, Rene, was struck, she claims.

Mrs. Greenwood played a leading role in Foxes of Harrow, tutored Ingrid Bergman in Creole for one of her stellar roles, and also appeared on the Amos 'n Andy TV show.

The beating occurred July 16 when Mrs. Greenwood was walking with her husband in the 300 block on E. 36th street. One of Mrs. Brooks's sisters passed in an auto and stopped for Greenwood, the actress claimed. After Greenwood left, Mrs. Brooks and two other women allegedly pounced on the young mother and began giving her a thorough going-over.

PLAN DEPARTURE—Father H. Randolph Moore, pastor of the St. Philip's Episcopal church, 28th street and Paloma, is heading for the national church convention in Boston. He is shown above with Mrs. Iona Moore (seated), at their 25th wedding anniversary last Sunday. Shown also are H. Randolph Moore, Jr., and Miss Lenora E. Moore.

Jeff Student Wins Highest Award in State Art Contest

Proud and fired with ambition to become one of the world's best artists, 17-year-old Alton Brewster this week marked up a new achievement when he won first place in the California portrait competition.

The winning picture was a portrait of his cousin, called "Jurrey."

Winning recognition is no novelty for the young Jefferson High School senior who just recently returned from three months' study in Paris, which he was accorded as the winner of last year's international contest. He received that award Nov. 15, 1951, together with the title "Artist of the Year."

Young Brewster, who lives at 410 Park avenue, received the new award in San Francisco, where the portrait "Jurrey" is being kept on exhibition. In addition to the honor, he was given a $200 cash prize.

He plans to enter the picture in the national contest being held in Pittsburgh in December, and hopes also to enter it later in the international contest.

Elks Parade on 103rd Sunday

James M. Stewart, general chairman, will address the group at 10 a.m., introducing panel discussions, which will continue to 4 p.m.

A social session, including dancing, will follow the discussions.

Negro Populace In State Jumps

Non-white population in Los Angeles has increased 116 per cent in the decade between 1940 and 1950, according to a report just released by the Federal Housing Authority.

During the same period, white population increase 47 per cent.

In California, there was an increase of 105.7 percent in the non-white—mostly Negro—population. In figures, the increase for the state was 328,400, to make a total of non-whites in California in 1950 of 639,000.

Following are the cities with the most non-whites and the percentage of non-whites to the total populations:

New York City, 775,529, 9.8 per cent; Chicago, 509,437, 14.1 per cent; Philadelphia, 378,-968, 18.3 per cent; Detroit 303,-721, 16.4 per cent; Washington, D. C., 284,031, 35.4 per cent; Baltimore, 226,053, 23.8 per cent; Los Angeles, 211,-585, 10.7 per cent; New Orleans, 182,682, 32 per cent;

Baptist Pastor Winner in Fight Against Ouster

Rev. Edgar S. Johnson, who rose from janitor to the post of pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, 831 E. 28th street, this week won his eight-months' old battle to continue at the head of his flock.

Superior Judge Ralph K. Pierson handed down a permanent injunction restraining the irate members of the Board of Trustees from interfering with or molesting the pastor in any manner.

The court action replaced a previous temporary restraining order.

Defendants

Named as defendants in the suit were Arthur Quarles, Albert Robinson, DeWitt Newton, Louis Flanagan, Robert Tanksley, James Teague and several other individuals listed merely as "John Does."

According to the complaint, the Trustee Board held a meeting last December and voted to terminate Rev. Johnson's services as minister.

Attorneys Walter L. Gordon Jr. and Theodore M. Schaffer, representing the minister, contended that the action of the Board was illegal, in that the church membership had not voted on the matter, in accordance with the laws of the Baptist church and the constitution of the Tabernacle church.

Since the action of the Board to oust the minister, a new trustee board has been elected.

Rev. Johnson started to work in the Tabernacle Baptist church 30 years ago as a janitor. He soon was ordained a deacon and 10 years later became a licensed minister. In 1943 he became pastor of the Tabernacle church.

Theme of the Conference will be "Building Better Human Relations Is Everybody's Business" with the Cleveland Urban League acting as host.

The panels will concern themselves with reports of Commissions which have been reviewing developments in health, housing; employment, vocational services and social welfare affecting the Negro population, Guichard Parris, conference secretary, announced.

Brakes Failed

Mrs. McLain said that she attempted to stop but that her brakes failed.

Said Mrs. McLain: "I had been to San Diego for the weekend and had driven all the way back to Los Angeles.

"As I approached the intersection, my brakes went out completely. I tried to turn left and to avoid the bus that was going very fast. The car in which young Ashley was riding, shot out from behind the bus, hit my car, and knocked me into the bus.

Blacked Out

"I blacked out then," she said, "but they told me that when the accident was over I was still clutching the wheel."

Mrs. McLain's car collided with a Greyhound bus and with an automobile driven by George Coleman, Jr., 16, of 2279 E. 98th street. It was Coleman's car in which young Ashley was riding.

Police said the Coleman's car caroomed from the bus to another car, then struck a telephone pole. At the impact with the pole, Ashley was hurtled from his seat, to land 60 feet away, mortally injured.

Also hurt in the accident were: Mrs. Laura Kleinschmidt, 67, of 1157½ W. 27th street; Joan Wilcox, 18, of Fresno; George Coleman, Jr.; Audrey Wolfe, 21, of 411 E. 68th street, and her brother and sister, James, 2, and Paula, 5; Elsie T. Clark, San Clemente; Mabel Mirabel, Hurton, Calif.

Editorial

Good Platform But——

Mixed feelings were the response of the Negro voter to the labors of the Democratic convention.

The platform is what Walter White of the NAACP says it is: the best such document on civil rights that any major party has produced in this century. It comes fairly close to hewing to the line laid down by the more than fifty organizations who have been trying to persuade the parties to take forthright stands on civil rights. The Negro voter likes that platform.

If our mail and telephone calls are any gauge of the sentiments of the Negroes who will go to the polls this fall, there is considerable consternation about the candidates.

Governor Adlai Stevenson started out with a large amount of goodwill from Negroes. They thought of him as a man who had fought a good fight for FEPC in his own state and who had displayed understanding and sympathy for the related problems that face the Negro. These same Negroes were dismayed at what they saw over television and heard over radio to the effect that Stevenson's managers were playing footsie with the Dixiecrats. They didn't like what they thought was Stevenson's conciliatory attitude toward Governor James Byrnes and Herman Talmadge. And when they heard that he had personally plugged for the nomination of John J. Sparkman as vice president, they were a little outraged.

As for Sparkman himself, Negro voters are more than leery of him. They know he is from Alabama and any politician from Alabama is suspected despite the example of Hugo Black, whose civil rights views as a judge are excellent in spite of his long service as a United States senator from Alabama. The record in Sparkman's case is there and that record shows that he has been an opponent of civil rights. The recurrent talk about his being a liberal doesn't strike much of a spark from the Negro voter who doesn't count any man a liberal who supports the Jim Crow system. And Sparkman has done that. Negro voters know, too, that he supported Russell of Georgia for president.

Sparkman is already at work trying to put his record in the best possible light. He has said that he will "campaign anywhere" on the party platform with his promise of federal action to correct inequalities. His supporters are busy pointing out that he did walk out with the Dixiecrats in 1948 and that he helped oust the Dixiecrats from control in his home state of Alabama. They point out that Alabama supported the loyalty pledge at the Democratic convention and the lesson they draw is that Sparkman's record shows him as a man who can be trusted to carry out the will of his party, whether on civil rights or on other issues.

The evidence isn't all in yet and the Negro voter won't make his judgment on the Stevenson-Sparkman records alone. He will weigh those records against the Eisenhower-Nixon records. And he won't get much comfort there. Eisenhower's record doesn't begin to measure up to that of Stevenson. As for Nixon, his senatorial record is no whit better than that of Sparkman's. His last official act before accepting the GOP nomination for vice-president was to cast a vote against reporting an FEPC bill out of the senate committee which had held hearings on the matter.

Most Negro voters are now aligned with the Democratic party. That fact alone will play its part in November. In light of the unsatisfactory records on both sides the question of what the Negro voter will do when he goes to the polls will depend far more on what happens and what the candidates say between now and November 4 than on what they had said and done before the Chicago conventions.

Titus Alexander, Dr. Garrot

Through a stroke of ill fortune three of this city's pioneers died last week. We paid our respects to Frederick M. Roberts in these columns in our last issue but at the time the editorial was being written we didn't know of the deaths of Titus Alexander and Dr. Alva C. Garrott.

Both Mr. Alexander and Dr. Garrott played a large and prominent part in the affairs of our city for many years. Each of them left his indelible impress on Los Angeles.

Dr. Garrott was the city's pioneer professional man; he began the practice of dentistry here more than a half century ago and set such an example of professional competence and devotion to duty that local dentists named their professional society after him. In addition he was one of the founders of the local Urban League and was in the forefront of the many bitter battles that Negroes of this city fought to gain their constitutional rights and privileges.

Mr. Alexander was one of those vigorous and outspoken men that were bred by his times. He had something to offer on all issues and he said what the thought, despite the consequences. He was one of this city's first Negro liberals in the sense in which that term has come into popular use. He was a long time proponent of municipal ownership and a determined advocate of the right of government to regulate social and economic affairs. He brooked no compromise on civil rights and once frightened timid city fathers by telling them that Negroes would dynamite places of public accommodation which refused to serve Negro patrons. Discrimination stopped.

Los Angeles will miss both Mr. Alexander and Dr. Garrott. Each of us is a freer man or woman in Los Angeles today for what they did yesterday.

Round Them All Up

State and federal law enforcement officials who have been rounding up the city's top narcotics dealers are entitled to the applause of this community. The dope traffic is a serious business and we hope that both the state and the government redouble their efforts to ferret out law violators.

The immense profits that accrue from the traffic can be seen in the affluence of "Chink" King who, fortunately, is now in jail and faced with a prison term. King was broke when he got here in 1949. Today he owns large real estate holdings. The money to buy that property was gouged from unfortunate addicts.

King's affluence was not only a reflection of his illegal activities and the misery that trailed in their wake be he set a bad example for others. All too many persons are tempted to go in for narcotic peddling when they see the dividends it pays. We hope his arrest and prosecution will serve to emphasize the often made point that crime doesn't pay in the long run.

Finally, we hope that other narcotics dealers will end up in the same prison with him.

Voting Is Easy

There is just a little more than a month left for those who want to vote this fall to get their names on the registered voters' lists. Registration closes on September 13.

Those who haven't voted must register. Those of you who have moved since registration or those who want to change party affiliation or those who once registered but failed to cast their ballots at the last election must also re-register.

Registration is a simple matter. All you have to do is to find a deputy, give him your name and address and tell him what your party affiliation is. He'll give you a slip and that little slip of paper will enable you to choose between the men and issues that will appear on the November ballot.

Simple, isn't it? Register now!

Battle Axe & Bread

The labor leaders who fixed Vice President Barkley's wheel at Chicago may have done the National Democratic Convention a favor by getting rid of a contender for the top nomination whose candidacy was as embarrassing as it was seriously to be reckoned with. In doing this favor, however, it is doubtful if the labor leaders performed a service to their own field of interest.

There are few except professional politicians who will argue that Barkley possesses any real qualification for the Presidency of the United States.

Unqualified

This is the world's most important elective job, and nothing in the Barkley record indicates that he is capable of handling such a job.

His lack of qualification, however, did not discourage a North-South combine of "practical men" from conspiring to make the aged Vice President a compromise candidate. And they might have succeeded at that, if Governor Stevenson had remained out of the picture.

As it was, the rumored availability of the Illinois governor as a "draftee" encouraged the CIO and AFL to turn thumbs down on Alben Barkley on the grounds that he was too old for the job.

May Hurt Labor

This statement produced a sensation since everyone out of his swaddling clothes knew that there were reasons other than that of age behind the labor officials' position. Barkley himself made this clear in the bitter statement that announced his retirement from the race. He accused "self-anointed" labor politicians of forgetting his pro-labor, pro-New Deal record.

The chances are that the Barkley charge will be taken up at a later date by other legislators, both in the Congress and in state legislatures—to the disadvantage of some of labor's plans for legislative action.

Wary Breed

Politicians spring from a wary breed, and those who get elected are the wariest of all. There are very few Senators and Congressmen who vote "pro-labor" out of a philosophic conviction that labor's cause represents "God's plan."

They vote as they do because they cherish labor's support at the polls; they would vote the opposite way if they felt they would gain more votes by so doing.

The risk that has been incurred by the Chicago strategy is that Senators and Congressmen who have voted "the labor way" because they have felt that it paid off at election time, will now take a look at what has happened to Barkley and decide that maybe pay day isn't as certain as they thought it was.

May Backfire

This is probably the reason why Jack Kroll for the CIO and George Harrison for the AFL based their judgment against Barkley on his advanced age. But even this tactic will not deter criticism. A considerable number of the public are already asking indignantly, "By what right do labor officials determine how old the Presidential candidate shall be?"

If they are going to speak for labor, they say, let labor officials confine themselves to labor matters. The age of the Presidential candidate is no issue in which organized labor enjoys any special wisdom.

Thus, the unprecedented Chicago development can possibly build a backfire against organized labor from two opposite directions—the voting public on one hand, and the elected officials on the other.

It would be a serious loss to labor if this should happen, but it is a loss that has been increasingly risked in recent years as politiacl spokesmen for organized labor have tended more and more to put their official weight behind one political party.

Paid Off

The old Samuel Gompers advice that labor must "reward its friends and punish its enemies" irrespective of party, has been largely forgotten. The slogan now is "Labor-Liberal Action" which is usually interpreted to mean "New Deal—Fair Deal."

This strategy has paid off in terms of New Deal legislation, but the New Deal and Fair Deal together comprise a very short period of history. Labor's interests must be measured in long historical terms, not in terms of intermittent political administrations.

Democratic Party chieftains have every right to appreciate the actions of Jack Kroll and George Harrison, but it remains to be seen whether organized labor as a total body of special interest will suffer from it.

Letters to the Editor

Missed the Boat

The Editor:

The GOP platform draftsmen evidently were guided by Mr. Warfield's rendition of "Old Man River" rather than the eloquent cry from Alderman Carey to "let freedom ring." The vague and uninspiring paragraph devoted to civil rights is the most vivid example of two-faced-doubletalk our people have witnessed in years. The Republican program planners are guilty of appeasement on all counts in their attempt to woo the Southern vote and at the same time show a "willingness"—for the benefit of Negroes—to do something about the issue of civil rights. However, the GOP propaganda machine has admitted that it has no idea of just what the party intends to do.

Unfortunately, Mr. Carey seemed to be the only true Negro statesman present at the big meet. He spoke openly with a warning that the platform boys completely ignored in their anxiety to please Southern delegates. And pleasing Southern delegates just won't get the huge Northern Negro vote.

How other Negroes, purporting to represent Negroes, could rise and face millions of Americans and countless others throughout the world and accept as flimsy a plank on civil rights, I fail to comprehend. I am perhaps optimistic in feeling that no Negro will support such a program with any feeling of pride.

Republicans have missed the boat. What we want is a sound program that will bring a swift and complete end to the existing chaos in our race relations. A program calling for Federal law to insure the protection of the right to complete and unabridged freedom for every United States citizen from border to border without reserve. It is for this uncompromising, non-appeasing program and no other, that Negroes will stand up anywhere and fight with pride.

Truly,
CHARLES B. PROTHO
former president
Indiana Negro Political Council.

Dear Mr. Miller:

I wish to call to your attention a situation which is more disgraceful than the restrictive covenants that you have so ably erased. There exists at the University of California at Los Angeles rank discrimination in the grading of students. It is such an irritating situation until I have taken it upon myself to write you and other newspaper editors in the hope that you will make a concerted effort to eliminate the conditions.

One of the most disheartening things about the situation is the fact that one of the minorities of America is responsible for the discimination. Some young ladies have been reported to have suffered nervous breakdowns as a result of the irritating situation. I am writing the NAACP, other newspapers and Assemblyman Hawkins. The existence of the conditions at UCLA is an insult to the intelligence of all the Negro people of this state. It is my hope that you will take immediate steps to correct conditions.

Yours very truly,
A STUDENT

Dear Editor:

It is nauseating to hear the various politicians saying they are opposed to Civil Rights, FEPC, and other measures which outlaw racial and religious discrimination.

When anyone is discriminated against because of their race or religion, automatically their pursuit of happiness is hampered. It is my opinion that, no politician is fit for public office who is against the justice due every citizen of America.

To support civil rights, FEPC, and other measures which ensures equal rights and opportunity for all Americans, will not be un-American, but to do otherwise will be. If the Constitution of the U. S. A. was founded on Christian principles, it is high time the citizens practice them.

Dear Sir:

Certainly the cooperation of far-sighted newspapers such as yours during the information program for Proposition F through J prior to the June 3 election was an example of the vital contribution that is made by the press to the welfare of Los Angeles.

"Down The River"

ON THE BOOKSHELF

National Inventors Week, July 25-31, has been set aside to emphasize the significant role of the inventor in the advancement of human welfare and to encourage new inventions. It is said that everyone has at least one novel in him; an astonishing number of people also have inventive ideas and find that they can develop them for eventual profit. Some of the ways you can "do something" about those ideas for inventions you've had from time to time, as well as the debt we all owe to the inventiveness of the last century, are suggested and brought out in this book list recommended by your public library.

INVENTIONS AND THEIR MANAGEMENT by Alf. K. Berle and L. Sprague de Camp.

Offhand, we can't think of any one volume that would tell you more than this about patenting and marketing an invention or about such important items as choosing an attorney, finding a buyer, or figuring taxes. It is also unusual, alas, to find a book on this subject that's as easy and as much fun to read. Science-fiction devotees may recognize de Camp as an author in their sphere of reading, but in this one he restricts his fancy only to style and lets the facts go ungarnished.

INVENTING FOR FUN AND PROFIT by A. Frederick Collins.

This is a standard practical guide to the whole process of invention, from the first glimmering of an idea to the ultimate manufacture of the article. Mr. Collins writes in a simple, clear style that is helpful to readers of all ages. He suggests how to develop the first plans and drawings from your initial idea, how to prove the utility of your idea by experiment, how to find out whether your invention would fill a need, and how to go about obtaining a patent. There is a useful chapter on ideas for inventions in various fields.

MAN THE MAKER by R. J. Forbes.

We like to think of this as the technological age. Actually, how much of civilization has been affected by the work of inventive geniuses from the days of the Egyptians to the present, it's difficult to estimate or even to imagine. Here is a book that pays tribute to those inventors, known and unknown, whose devices have given us better ways of living, glimpses into unknown worlds, leisure to enjoy life, and roads to the clear exchange of ideas.

3100 NEEDED INVENTIONS by Raymond F. Yates.

The author points out the interesting fact that, despite the technical wonders of our age, practically every machine and device we have in the world today will eventually have to be invented all over again. Hence there is almost infinite room for future progress in every field, and the author vast fortunes are waiting within reach of ingenious inventors who are alert to need and opportunity. The book presents a useful list of needed inventions in many fields and may be just the inspiration to give you fruitful ideas.

PRODIGAL GENIUS: THE LIFE OF NIKOLA TESLA by John J. O'Neill.

Creator at will of lightning and earthquakes, Nikola Tesla is also known for his equally dramatic inventions in power transmission and in the principle of the alternating current. This is a definitive biography of a true genius, a picture of him as an inventor at work with, and later in opposition to, Edison—as an originator whose mind could visualize new principles and the machines to put them into practice—as a charming individual with a superman's single-minded devotion to science.

INVENTORS BEHIND THE INVENTOR by Roger Burlingame.

Mr. Burlingame throws deserved recognition on the thousands of nameless and devoted inventors without whose work the triumphs of the great heroes of invention, the Edisons, the Fultons, and the Whitneys, would have been impossible. These men often received little beyond the satisfaction of their achievement; they remain unknown to fame and often did not receive adequate monetary compensation. Yet their story, and their total accomplishment make inspiring reading.

A GENIUS IN THE FAMILY by Hiram Percy Maxim.

Before he invented the automatic gun that still bears his name, Hiram Stevens Maxim had devoted his mind both to other profitable inventions and to learning how to be a father. As his first-born tells it, the same imagination that resulted in inventions stood him in good stead as a delightful if unpredictable parent.

Rev. M. Marshall, pastor of the Union Baptist church was selected by the Providence Association to bring the message. Rev. C. D. Evans read the scripture lesson and Dr. B. W. Wade, pastor of the great Pilgrim Baptist church prayed.

The Pilgrim Baptist Church choir sang as did two choirs from Union Baptist church.

The ministers who were present were: Rev. E. S. Johnson, Rev. T. R. Bailey, Rev. C. D. Evans, Pastor B. W. Wade, Rev. S. J. Anderson, Rev. A. L. Lewis, Rev. J. E. Sweeney, Rev. F. Cameron, Moderator Kirkpatrick, Executive Secretary Rev. E. Burns.

Native African Church Talker

African missions and the problems of the natives enter largely into the program of the Church of Christian Fellowship, 3125 W. Adams boulevard, a church dedicated to brotherhood. Another distinctive message will be brought next Sunday morning by Ajala Olabisi, a native Nigerian, a student in sociolgy at the University of Chicago. Olabisi gained current notice by riding his bicycle on this trip all the way from Chicago to Los Angeles. His subject will be "The Why Of Missions In Africa."

Olivet Installs Matron Leaders

In a well-planned program that included Miss Elsie Hunt, state president of the Red Circle in the Providence Baptist Association as guest speaker, the officers of the Olivet Matron League were installed recently.

Personable Mrs. Manila Lee installed the officers in a beautiful candle light service. The officers in their white dresses with purple corsages, official uniform of the Matrons in the Providence Baptist Association, were deeply attentive as Mrs. Lee explained the significance of the color of each candle.

Order of Tabor Concludes Meet

Delegates returning from the Grand Session of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, held last week in San Francisco, reported a splendid session which revealed continuous growth of that order in all departments.

Reports of the financial officers showed receipts of more than $10,000 during the year, with a cash balance of $21,484.12. More than $15,000.00 additional is invested in U. S. Defense Bonds making the total cash and convertible securities more than $36,500.00.

Property investments in Los Angeles valued at $25,000.00 bring the value of total assets of the Order to more than $61,000.00 greatest in its history.

Annual election of officers from Los Angeles resulted as follows: Dtr. P. L. Williams, of Pasadena, V.G.H.P.; Sir D. D. Holmes; Sir W. Johnson, G.P.P.; Dtr. Maggie Rush, C.G.P.

Sir T. B. Norman of Los Angeles, who has served as death benefit secretary for 25 years, was retained in that office. He will be aided by his wife, Dr.

D. D. HOLMES

Ola Mae Norman, P.G.H.P., due to his failing health. The session was honored by the presence of Dtr. Mabel V. Gray, I.G.H.P.

Service Honors Bishop Crouch

Bishop S. M. Crouch, recently returned from the International Pentecostal Conferences in London, England, will be the honored guest, at a special service on Friday night, at 28th and San Pedro street. Service will be held in conjunction with the summer revival campaign now in progress at the Mt. Olive and Evangelist Temple Churches of God in Christ. Rev. B. R. Stewart and Rev. L. C. Page, are pastors respectively.

Bishop Crouch, pastor of the Emanuel Church of God in Christ, and national president of the Home and Foreign Mission Board, following the London Conference, visited Holland, Paris, Greece, and Jerusalem.

A capacity audience welcomed this eminent religious leader home last Sunday morning after an absence of nearly two months.

BAHA'I SUBJECT

"The Significance of Calamity" is the subject which will be discussed by Mrs. Jesma Herbert at the public meeting of the Baha'i World Faith, to be held Sunday afternoon, 331 S. New Hampshire Avenue., at 3:30 p.m.

INTERNATIONAL BAPTIST MAKES RADIO DEBUT

A great deal of favorable comment is being received by the officers and members of the newly organized "International Baptist Temple" relative to the dignity and intelligence of their initial broadcast which went on the air over radio station KFOX on last Sunday morning at 8:15 a.m. Sallie Nuby Edwards, who recently appeared in "Who's Who for 1952" is the radio minister of music. Lillian Avery, one of Los Angeles' outstanding concert artists, is the soloist on these Sunday morning broadcasts that originate in the main auditorium of the church located at 635 West 17th street, one half block West of Figueroa.

Rev. Kyle will start a regular Sunday night broadcast over station KGER from 11-11:30 p.m. this coming Sunday, August 3.

The first radio message by Pastor Kyle also came in for much praise from many listeners. His sermon subject was "Let the Church be the Church."

The organization of the newly founded church, the direct result of Kyle's refusal to condone the "smooth-over" policies of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance in the Branham affair, is proceeding rapidly. Kyle reports that scores of ministers and layman have been contacting him for the last few weeks approving his stand in the matter.

Guest Minister at Lincoln Memorial

Rev. Norman A. Holmes, of New Orleans, will be the speaker Sunday at 11 a.m. at Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, corner East Vernon and Hooper avenues. There will be special music presenting a soloist and quartet in spiritual music. A reception will be held afterwards in the Social Hall for Dr. and Mrs. Holmes.

Lincoln Memorial will hold closing exercises for the Bible Vacation School this Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Charles J. Smith, III, who heads the office of Public Relations at the Florida A and M College pens a mighty important item this week. So interesting is the piece we will turn it over to the Old Corner:

Joseph "Singlewing" Williams, a one-armed member of the Florida A and M College Golf team, is the latest individual to join the growing list of Famcee athletes to be spotlighted in the sports world during the past five months. He is a junior.

First to set the athletic world a-talking was Quarterback Alkin Hepburn's amazing performance against the North Carolina Eagles last December in the Orange Blossom Classic when he threw five touchdown passes and walked off the field at the game's end with a New Orange Bowl record of 10 completions in 11 attempts.

And March 8 is a night long to be remembered in SIAC sage circles, as the night when four members of the Rattlers hardwood squad played 13 minutes and 35 seconds (including two five minute overtime periods) against the Alabama State College Hornets and won the tournament crown 71-67, enabling Famcee to become the first school to win four tournament championships.

The spotlight shifted next to Tallahassee on March 24 when a 20-year-old freshman pitcher—Robert Austin—in his initial college mound appearance, hurled the Rattlers to a 3-0 no-hit win over the Howard University Bisons.

"Singlewing" Williams, or just plain "Wing" as the popular golfer is often called, is no newcomer to athletics. He earned a state-wide reputation as a basketball, baseball, and football player while wearing the colors of Rochelle High in Lakeland. He was forward on the cage squad; a center on the gridiron eleven, and held down first base on the diamond nine.

Without his left arm since he was eight which he lost when a gun went off accidentally, "Wing" took up golf while in the sixth grade because "he saw some other fellows playing and decided he to wanted to play." As a member of an intercollegiate squad he uses regulation clubs and consistently shoots in the high seventies. As for driving distances, he averages 220-yards.

Golf Coach Hansel Tookes has this to say about Williams' ability as a golfer. ". . . He has beautiful control of his iron shots but is not so consistent with his woods. I have yet to see him hook or slice an iron shot. Because of the light weight of the wood club which is used for distance, he gets off a fraction in his swing, and error is created, largely because of his over effort of determination, but once he settles down, he's hard to beat. Williams has amazing hand-eye coordination which is evidenced by his ability to compete in several sports . . ."

When he completes his education, "Wing" who is a physical ed major, hopes to keep active in sports, but this time as a coach.

BOBBY WHY TO FACE GALLARDO

Bobby Why, University of Santa Barbara gift to the boxing gentry, will face Abe Gallardo in the 10-round Olympic feature this Tuesday night.

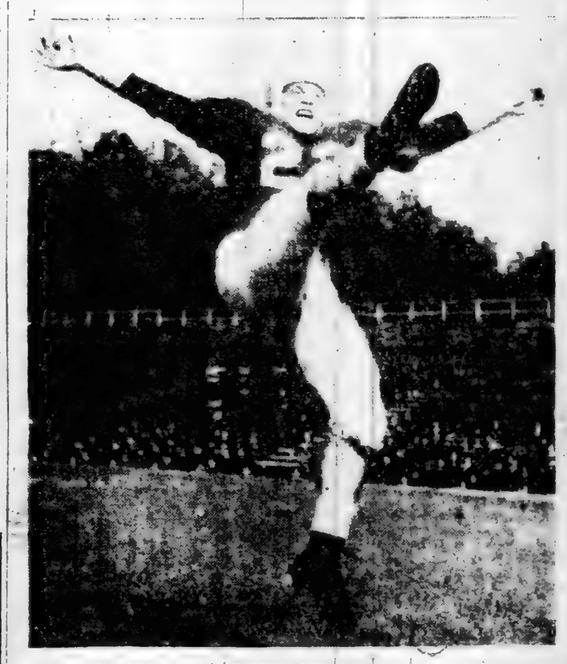
Why is no stranger to the Olympic fight fans. He defeated his foes in two Olympic showings. Abe scored a stunning knockout over Stonewall Jackson for his most impressive boxing victory.

Why and Gallardo will battle over the 12-round route to settle the question for the State Featherweight title.

INDIANS START PENNANT DRIVE

CLEVELAND — The Indians' fans are beginning to shout for the American League Flag. Many of the Tribe fans seem to think the Indians have just begun to make their move. Bob Lemon won his eleventh game in Cleveland's opener with the Nats as Larry Doby fractured a 1-1 tie in the third inning with his twentieth homer. Long Luke Easter won the second contest for the Indians with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Fuentes Nods Trigo



Ramond Fuentes, the newly crowned latin state welterweight champion successfully defended his title last Tuesday night at the Olympic by punching out a unanimous 12-round decision over Mario Trigo.

In the six-round semifinal, Al Cruz, 125½, won the decision over Bobby Garza, 125½.

LAW CLUB PULLS DENTISTS' TEETH IN 10–3 BALL GAME

Southern California Lawyers (Langston Law Club) armed with fielding genius and batting prowess, instead of statutes and writs, caught the Doctors and Dentists (So. Calif. Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Asso.) without their knives and forceps and overpowered them 10-3 at the Val Verde County Park as one of the features of the annual picnic sponsored by the medicos.

Under a blazing sun (105) and before a cheering crowd, the lawyers jumped off to a seven run first inning and were never headed thereafter in the seven inning event. With two lawyers retired, wildness of the pitcher plus some long ball hitting by Attys Newsome and Willard Woods with the help of some weird fielding on the part of the doctors aided the lawyers cause. Outstanding for the lawyers on the hit parade were Woods with a triple and double, Neusome two doubles, and Tolbert two doubles, while Tolbert was sensational afield, accounting for 8 putouts. For the doctors, who were held to 4 hits by Atty David Lee, Beck thrilled with his sensational play at 2d base, while DiLilly, Gittings, McCoo were outstanding.

The game is sponsored by Al Malaikah Temple to raise money to support the Los Angeles Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children.

Theme Of Pyramid's Formal Ball

By MONNA JONES and SYBIL THOMAS

One of the outstanding fashion promenades was presented upon last Friday evening when the Pyramid club of Delta Sigma Theta sorority sponsored their annual formal.

The theme "Stairway to the Stars" was characterized by each girl making her appearance through the large pyramid, which is the symbol fo the club, in a beautiful and dazzling white gown.

The general trend of the evening seemed to be toward a strapless ballerina length, however; the full formal gown was much in evidence, which made the variety of styles magnificient.

Every gown had its own special touch which fitted the individual wearing it perfectly. Whether it was nylon net, brocade, organdy or taffeta, the gown should articulate designs and fashions.

Each girl was a vision of lovliness as she stepped out of the pyramid to be seen by the eager audience.

To describe each gown would be impossible. Only a poet could do it justice. This year's formal can go down in history as being one of the best high fashioned affairs.

The well attended formal found many localites as well as out-of-towners in attendance, such as Howard Daniels, pre-med student from New York, who planed out to escort Pyramid Gloria Hunnicutt. Other guests included Nat Brannon and Mary Walton, Alora Anderson and Jimmy Backstrom, Evelyn Johnson, Ed Tucker and Wanda Stasher, John Barber, Bill Ward, Hal Miller, Chase Edmonds, the Gerald Lenoirs, the Andy Thomases, Ted Daniels, Ed Thomas, Julia Atkinson, the Ike Staffords, Tom Neusom and Imogene Fatheree, Wilma Johnson, William Johnson, Ben Wyatt, Louise Ateman, Richard McCarty and Jewell Glasse, Ed Seals (of New Orleans) and Jo Smith, Norman Johnson; the Don Watsons, the Bridges twins, Leon and Lynette, Barbara Watson, Jim Jones and Shirley Higgenbotham, Bettie Davis, Gerald Strange, Sylvester Ringgold, Sonny Taylor and Johnetta Brent, the Junis Deautrives of New Orleans, Rod Richards and Lois Banks, Johnny Snead and Jackie Rambo, John Sandoz, Zach Wilson, Phyrom Taylor and Roz Douglas, Bill Johnson and Marie Ross, Paul Aubrey and Vina Harding, Joe Harris, Theron Aubrey, Howard Morehead, Grace Jeter, Kathryn Perdue, Gloria Owens, Billy Heard and Barbara Hobbs, Camille Billops, Preston Johnson and Joan Arnold, Irma Littlejohn, Elaine Broady, Jimmy Wright, Arthur Pulley and Charles Fielding of New Haven, Laura Hill, Dorothy Cain, Rena Marlowe Hughes, Marlene, Jack Adkins, Ed Mulholland, Leroy Taylor, Nolan Penn, Delores Potter, Betty Thomas, Marcia Waller, George Ulman and Lillian Mintz of Brooklyn, New York, Mitchell Jackson, Ruth Thompson, Glenette Blackwell, Clarence Hargraves, Queenie Duncan, Gloria Persons, Danellen Mabry, Robbie Tapscott, Murney Hardon, Ira Clark, Pete Brown, Morris Buchanan and Zulita Breigerman of Chicago, Rudell Slay, Mattie Weaver, Lavern Bass, Sandra Shields, Janice Shelby, Clara Ware, Delores Johnson, Leonard Evans, Glenda Arceneaux, Kenneth Brandon, the Willard Powers,

Links Urged to Assume Responsible Civic Duties

LOS ANGELES — The Negro woman's contribution to the advancement of their respective communities goes further than the festive board or latest fashions, Mrs. Loren Miller, prominent Los Angeles clubwoman, told a fashionable gathering of delegates attending the fourth annual meeting of Links, Inc., in San Francisco last weekend.

Principal speaker for the lavish luncheon meeting which preceded the group's opening session on Friday, Mrs. Miller told her audience it was high time that women of the "privileged set" integrate themselves into all phases of community and civic life.

The day has come, she emphasized, when we are judged by the contributions we make in the interest of the community as a whole instead of a distinct segment or distinct organization.

Sharing the rostrum with Mrs. Miller was Mrs. Sarah Scott, National president of Links, Inc., and Mrs. Willa Evans, member of the San Francisco Links, who introduced the guest speaker.

One hundred and ten delegates representing 53 chapters in 22 states were in attendance at the two-day convention.

Mrs. Robert L. Vann, president of the Pittsburgh Courier Publishing Company addressed the banquet meeting of the Links on Saturday evening.

National officers were retained intact, a permanent constitution adopted as well as a national project in the business sessions of the parley.

The group elected that each chapter subscribe to life memberships in the NAACP as their national project.

Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority Concludes Regional Sessions

Sigma Sigma chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority was hostess for the Far Western Regional conference which was held in Los Angeles on July 26 and 27. Lessie B. Crossland, regional director, presided over the sessions which were held in the beautiful lounge of the campus YWCA of the University of Southern California.

Mrs. Crossland, a pioneer Californian, is a public school teacher and has for many years been well known in the social and civic circles of the Angel City. The establishment of a Far Western Region was achieved by the extensive work done by Mrs. Crossland in contacts for and organization of chapters in the states of the West Coast.

The business sessions included a worship service, chapter reports, and a sorority workshop. An address by the Grand Basileus, Mrs. Sallie N. Edwards, presented the history of the sorority and fraternity movement in the United States and its 50-year development within the eight groups which make up the National Pan-Hellenic Council.

She challenged the delegates to make fuller use of sorority membership for greater service to community life, to aid in the establishment of high scholastic and educational standards, and to work toward the attainment of human rights for all the peoples of the world.

A beautiful memorial service directed by Claudia Whitmore paid tribute to two Los Angeles sorors, Louise De Bose and Mattie Brown, who died during the year.

Highlight of the program was an address by Dr. Tanner Duckery, assistant superintendent of schools in Philadelphia. Dr. Duckery is serving as visiting lecturer in the intercultural workshop being held at USC. His message on the work needed in the area of human relations and the progress now being made was illuminating and provocative.

The social affairs of the conference included a delightful luncheon at the Ontra Cafeteria on Crenshaw; a closed banquet in the Wedgewood Room at Carl's, and a "sip and chat" at the attractive home of Mrs. Priscilla Ramos at Geer and Hauser avenue. Several brunches and dinners were given for the visiting sorors by members of the hostess chapter.

Regional officers elected for the year were: Grammateus, Pearl Meshank of San Diego; Anti-Grammateus, Irma Simpson of Denver; Tamiochus, Myrtle Neal of Phoenix; Financial Secretary, Thelma Vick of Oakland; Epistoleus, Pollyanna Reid of Portland; Parliamentarian, Reatha Herndon of the campus chapter in Los Angeles; and Reporter, Virgie Mason of Los Angeles.

The 1953 conference will be held in Phoenix, Ariz., the second week-end in July with the Beta Mu Sigma chapter as hostess.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

When should a person wear eyeshadow? V.B.

Eyeshadow should be worn in the late evening with a blending make-up.

I have a little girl about 3 years old. I have noticed that her scalp has become extremely scaly with dandruff since the birth of my second baby. I wish to restore her scalp to a healthy one. B.A.

This condition may be caused by an emotional upset. You have a problem which should be handled by a family physician or the neighborhood clinic.

What is the importance of a facial? C.R.

The beneficial results are that you get (1) restoration of muscle tone (2) relaxation of nervous tension (3) stimulation of the glands of the skin to excrete normally their secretion of sebum (oil) and perspiration and give you that radiant look.

All questions submitted will be analyzed by Eugene. Just mail yours to the Eagle office 1050 E. 34rd place, Los Angeles 11.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Beyond any shadow of a doubt the Pyramids "Stairway to the Stars" united the majority of the city's fun raisers in the Zenda Ballroom to make for one of the swellest formals yet. Couple by couple poured into the crowded setting and such people as Joan Arnold and Preston Johnson, Ken Spencer and June Burns, Alfred Elliot and Sandra Simms, Leon Adams and Julie Withers, Dorothy Cain and Sherril Luke had to resort to dancing at close range to keep from being trampled by people like Walker Bruce and Evon Moore, Sandra Shields and Everette Brandon, Guy Blackburn and Theresa Prelau, Robert Armstrong and Vivian Jones, Zoe Wise and Nat Boowie, Nira Hardon and Wardell Moss, plus Mary Cantrell and Robert Campbell.

Numerous after-affairs were in progress during the wee hours remaining before sun up and probably the most heated was the one given by Robert Armstrong which broke up shortly after sunrise.

For Men Only

As the summer's heat continued to besiege the city, Lou Robinson gave the male nightlifers little relief by throwing his final gig before joining the ranks of the already-doomed married folk. This "HOT STAG" ran close competition with the temperature of Old Sol and in between reels and speels, when atmospheric conditions were such that we could see for an inch of so, fiendish grins and twisted faces were vaguely familiar. Chuck Brussard, Lorenzo Hoard, Billy Benefield, Frank Braxton, Tony Sheen, Ken and Hugo Hill, Don Wilson, Jimmy Daugherty, Don Benjamin, Lorenzo Wallace, Thomas Green and a host of Alpha fratmen were there to cheer the old boy up during his hour of need. The Crystalettes Present . . .

Another in a series of lavish cocktail parties which attracted many of the town's top socialites. The fabulous girls' club comprised of a bevy of lovely femmes played hostess to scores of invited friends at the not-yet-dedicated Sigma house. Phy Taylor, better known as the poor man's Charlie Parker, and his aggregation played many delightful tunes 'til the brows began to moisten. Making woomance in the remote corners were the love tainted couples of Walter Smith and Vanola McHatten, Harry Warner and Pat Brown, Barbara Harte and Leslie Brooks and others.

People and Places

The weatherman is featuring his best brand of heat these days. We love it as it brings out the tropical in us, as you will see if you continue reading.

BILL SAMPSON, one of our top owl-disc jockey handed me a real hot tune the other eve. Titled "The Sheet Shaker" it's a Norman Alexander arrangement and The Shades of Rhythm make with a groovy tune. The inside dope of how well the membership of St. Paul thought of their minister in term of loot reaches a frightening figure. They have it around church row that it was the largest single day collection in the history of the church. In fact any church.' That little rumpus between that brilliant young dentist and the equally brilliant news photographer was nothing serious, we hope. Both are young driving, ambitious fellows and rough words often leave small minds with the fight thought. They are both much too smart for that as they are fathers and they leave fighting for the kids.

The Locks

Somebody with a set of fancy padlocks with ostensibly good reason placed several so strategically placed about the Crescendo last week. The Sunset strip joint opened about a month ago with Mr. B. billed as a co-partner. After one week of it, he wouldn't have any part of the jive club. It was the owner's idea to make a fast buck by announcing "we welcome the Brownskins." He figured the son-of-Ham would hear about his way-out policy and would swamp the club on the famous Sunset Blvd. A few suckers gave him a play as is to be expected, but not enough to keep the man from hanging the hardware on the doors. We will wake up one day and start supporting our Club Alabam and bring Sunset to Central Ave.

Pretty Boy

That sister of the brother in Pasadena better keep a close check on her wardrobe. It is wearing them. And very well too! That Hollywood private secretary to the movie actress with the French name better check the silly rumors flying around. We think you are both really fine people.

Mac Newman, cool mixmaster at Garnett's is seeing to it that the best place in town for the latest summer refreshing drink titled "President." Two of them will ease the heat and coast you into a mellow mood. Missing from around our favorite grounds, the Paradise is Sandpaper "Slim," Louis Brown and Eloise Carlye and after five years of faithful service. Wonder why???? Jack Smith top handicapper among the bartenders draws the mid-day race horse mob in the Memo daily. His motto is: one tip with each sip. Horace Clark's Blue-Interlude Room is the center of attraction down Washington and Central way. He just added a real crazy front entrance to the Clark, it gives you that Beverly Hills feeling when you step through the doors. Stuff Crouch's Turban Room with Sidney White dispensing the spirits keeps the gang around the Dunbar happy. Sweetwine Mister Mayor of Avalon is making no bones that the Elbow Bend is just about the city's most friendly spot. Maceo Birch, the best handshaker in the business, is certainly an achievement for Bill Watkin's swank W. Adams Room. New Yorkers and world travelers will feel most at ease when they see Maceo's smiling face.

Sight Items

It is a first for the SINCLAIR-MILLER law firm who moved their offices into the ARCADE Building at 512 S. Bdwy. Caught Cora Howard leaving Maddox Realty office. Could be that she is trying to raise enough loot to spring her boy-friend. Norman and Edith Houston looking as happy as newly weds taking in the Pharmaceutical Medical Dental picnic out Val Verde way last Sunday. Along with Dr. D. O. Gray, Sam Wafer, Mrs. G. A. Handis, Lorraine and George, Emily Portwig, Dr. Roy Andrews, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Woods, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Spann, and a host of others. Supervisor Leonard Roach and J. Robert Smith, his new man Friday, got in a few handshakes. Benny (Big Pimp) Lee sporting a shapely sepia blond. Could be that he is real serious this time. Melvin Johnback in circulation in Chicago.

Faces and Places

A well known westside woman, member of the "snob mob" and a local Reverend "Holler-loud's, whose initials are 13—10, was bitten by a dog (the four legged variety) Monday evening. She was immediately advised by her physician to write her last wishes, as she might soon succumb to hydrophobia. "13—10" spent so long with pencil and paper that the doctor finally asked whether it was getting to be a lengthy will. "Will, 'ell,' she snorted. "Nothing of the kind. I'm writing a list of people I'm going to bite!!!!"

'Porgy and Bess' Score Favorite In Bowl Event

By Harry Levette

Including a noticeable number of Negro music lovers, 30,000 listeners of all ages lined the vast slopes of newly beautified Hollywood Bowl last week for the George Gershwin concert. Growing even more popular with each passing year, Gershwin night at Hollywood Bowl has been an annual custom, ever since his death here 15 years ago.

As always the deathless numbers from "Porgy and Bess," were the most eagerly awaited, and though the Bowl would be as silent as the proverbial pin drop, during their rendition, the wildest applause followed the last fall of conductor Johnny Green's baton at the end of each tune. Andre Previn, who is from the same motion picture studio as Green, MGM, was the piano soloist. Green is general musical director at MGM, and to him is due much concentration the corporation is plaicng on music this year.

Nostalgic memories came to many of the listeners, who were so fortunate as to have heard the first presentation here of "Porgy and Bess" at the Philharmonic Auditorium, and the perfect characterization, and singing of Etta Moten, Dooley Wilson and others that notable cast were recalled and discussed during the intermission by faithful devotees of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." Previn played both this and the Concerto in F. The Bowl orchestra 'Strike Up the Band," and "An American in Paris." The third week at the Bowl will feature Gaetano Merola, general director of the San Francisco Grand Opera, conducting a program of excerpts from favorite operas.

Opera 'Aida' Set For Fall Opening

The National Negro Opera Company has just been granted a contract to present the opera "Aida" for the delegates of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., which meets in Chicago in September.

NNOC will offer "Aida" with a cast of more than 200 persons from Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York, Balitmore and Washington, D. C., to an estimated 20,000 delegates who will be in attendance at the convention which will be held in the Chicago Coliseum, "Aida" will be given at 8 p.m., on Sept. 14.

In signing the contract with Mary Cardwell Dawson, founder and producer of the National Negro Opera Company, Dr. D. V. Jemison, founder and president of the National Negro Opera Company, Dr. D. V. Jemison, founder and president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., stated:

AT PARAMOUNT—Nat "King" Cole with his trio and the young Bell Sisters will open Friday, August 1 at the Downtown Paramount Theatre, 6th and Hill streets.

Downtown Paramount Show Sparked by King Cole Trio

The second star-studded stage show booked for the new Downtown Paramount Theatre, 6th and Hill, Los Angeles, opening Friday, August 1st, will feature the famed sepia entertainer, Nat "King" Cole and Trio, plus the recently-discovered Bell Sisters, of Seal Beach, California, who sky-rocketed to fame off their recording of "Bermuda."

"King" Cole needs no introduction to Southlanders, having been a local favorite for the past decade. In fact, Nat got his start at a little club near Hollywood and Vine. Since then he has popularized many great tunes including "Nature Boy" and "Too Young." His most recent Capitol recording is "Some Where Along the Way."

The Bell Sisters, 12 and 16, were totally unknown six months ago, but when they appeared on Peter Potter's local TV show and sang their own song, "Bermuda," they were famous overnight. Their engagement at the Paramount will be their first stage appearance anywhere.

Additional acts will fill out their show including Don Rice, a comedian, dancer Paul King, and Dick Pierce and his band.

The screen attraction at the Paramount will be Republic's "I Dream of Jeanie" with an all-star cast, filmed in Trucolor.

Public Likes San-Fern Manor

Heavy public demand for three-bedroom homes in San-Fern Manor, new San Fernando Valley community, has prompted officials of Gold Medal Homes, developers, to add construction workers so that the first group of dwellings will be completed within two weeks.

This was the announcement today from James L. Carter, sales director for the property at Herrick Ave. and Filmore St., close to San Fernando Rd. and Van Nuys Blvd.

Priced from $9999, the homes in San-Fern Manor may be purchased by veterans with down payments as low as $425, plus impounds, while monthly terms range from $51.80 for principal and interest. Non-veterans may also buy on liberal terms, Carter said.

Despite the low prices and terms prevailing in San-Fern Manor, the homes include many features generally found in dwellings costing hundreds of dollars more, the sales director pointed out.

He said that buyers have a choice of 28 attractive architectural styles as designed by Architect Charles Du Bois, A.I.A.

Women Split in Election

Irene McCoy Gaines led in the primary election of the National Association of Colored Women's convention held Wednesday afternoon in Belmont High School by more than 100 votes over Mrs. Geneva Weaver while one of the stormiest conventions in the annals of the 56-year-old organization was in progress. Final election will be held Thursday.

Installation ceremonies will be held Thursday night at a banquet at Park Manor, 607 S. Western avenue, which will mark the official end of the NACW's 28th biennial session.

The election will settle a bitter political rift that developed during the convention between Mrs. Ella P. Stewart of Toledo, former president of NACW, and Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, Los Angeles resident and outgoing state president of the association.

Causes for the differences between the two women were said to have come over disagreement in choices for national president. Mrs. Stewart was not eligible for re-election.

Although Mrs. Stewart is a house guest of Mrs. Hicks, each hurled harsh words at the other in public as well as behind closed doors. Mrs. Hicks states that they were on the friendliest terms when both were endorsing the same presidential candidate during the earlier part

Paul Hughes, 39-year-old plasterer who lives at 1526 S. Van Ness avenue, walked into University police sation Sunday evening and told police he had just stabbed his wife's "boyfriend."

When police arrived at the home of Hughes' estranged wife, Mrs. Sara T. Hughes, 1045½ W. 36th place, they found the body of Henry A. Ross sprawled grotesquely at the foot of the blood-streaked stairs, a knife wound through his heart.

Ross, who lived at 5209 S. Avalon boulevard, was dead, a pocket knife still clutched in his left hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were married two years ago but are now separated. Mrs. Hughes was entertaining Ross at her home Sunday when Hughes called.

"Come on Over"

According to the police report, Hughes called about six times. Mrs. Hughes said that he kept

Teddy Roe, Policy King, Shot to Death

CHICAGO — Theodore (Teddy) Roe, gangland's fabulously wealthy policy king, former partner of the notorious Ed Jones, was shot from ambush and killed Monday night outside his South Side apartment.

Police said the city's hoodlum boss "never had a chance" to reach for the loaded revolver he always carried with him. It was in his pocket when he died.

A blast of shotgun bullets roared through the night as Roe moved toward his automobile. He crumpled to the earth with deep wounds in his chest and neck.

Suspects Seen

Police investigating Roe's death found four spent shotgun shell cases on the ground behind a signboard south of Roe's apartment building.

A filling station attendant said he saw three men in a car parked behind the signboard about 20 minutes before the shots were fired.

Roe had been slated to testify before a Federal Grand Jury. He was expected to point the finger at a number of the city's leading racketeers. The Grand Jury is investigating seven of the city's policy wheel leaders. The hearing opened Monday.

It is believed he may have been "rubbed out" to keep him from telling what he knew about the men he's been fighting for years in his attempt to keep his

Sold Heroin To FBI Man

Al Trice, man-about-town, sportsman, liquor store operator, and well-known bootlegger during prohibition, was picked up last Friday and charged with two sales of heroin.

He was held in county jail until Monday when he made bail of $3,000.

Trice, who operates a liquor store at 5109½ Central avenue, reportedly sold the dope on two different occasions to a Federal undercover agent who looked and acted like an ordinary garden variety hood.

No indictment has yet been brought in. Authorities advised one is expected Wednesday when the information regarding the alleged sales and arrest are to be presented to the Grand Jury.

Also arrested for selling dope was "Duke" William Wilson, 746 E. 46th street. He was taken into custody the same day and held until he posted bail, also of $3,000, Tuesday.

There was no connection between the two arrests, however, except that both men reportedly sold the stuff to the same undercover agent.

Arrests are no novelty for Al Trice. According to police rec-

Ike Still Coy on FEPC; Dems Bid for Negro Vote

County School Board Given Negro Member

Los Angeles county got its first Negro member of the County Board of Education this week when Mrs. Aaron Douglas of 2710 So. Harvard boulevard was named to that post by the Board of Supervisors on motion of Supervisor Leonard Roach.

Mrs. Douglas fills the unexpired term of William A. Sheldon, a Roach re-appointee, who died last week after serving only one month of his new term on the board. She was immediately sworn in.

A native of Texas, Mrs. Douglas taught at Wiley and Prairie View State Colleges, and is a product of the Universities of Cincinnati, Minnesota and Southern California. She was also a Laura I. Spellman fellowship student.

The possessor of a lifetime California teaching credential, Mrs. Douglas is the wife of Aaron H. Douglas, who was very recently promoted to the position of superintendent in one of the local Post Office branches after 25 years of service.

Mrs. Douglas will sit on the five-member board until 1954. She is a member of the NAACP and Holman Methodist Church.

Civil Rights Planks Okay –Stevenson

NEW YORK — With Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president, asserting that "I can hardly see why the Negro vote would find any refuge in the Republican Party," Congressman A. Clayton Powell held a widely publicized mass meeting in New York at which he voiced threats that Negro voters would go on a sit-down strike on November 4. He demanded Stevenson supplement his party's civil rights plank with specific commitments for a compulsory FEPC.

Powell's "sell-out" charges leveled at the Democrats got little support from other Negro Democratic leaders who continued to insist that the party's civil rights planks were far superior to the 1948 declaration and "miles ahead of the Republican promises."

Channing Tobias, delegate to the UN, promptly repudiated Powell's claim to have his support and said that he would not

Here's Why Both Parties Are Wooing Negro Voters

The Negro population of the large urban areas of the North has increased in the last four years. The Negro vote is now expected to hold the balance of power between the two parties in New York, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, California, and several other states where the margin between the parties in the 1948 election was less than 5 per cent.

Since the Democrats patched up some of their differences over civil rights legislation in their Chicago convention, some feel that they have strengthened their position in the South but may have weakened it among the Negro voters of the North.

The Republicans also seem to have realized this same thing. For example, 16 prominent Republicans, including General Eisenhower's former campaign manager, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, issued a statement saying that a Republican victory in November would speed enactment of a fair employment practices act with adequate enforcing powers.

Nixon, Sparkman Flunk Out In Civil Rights Performance

NEW YORK—The NAACP totted up the score on Vice-Presidential Nominees Richard Nixon, Republican, and John Sparkman, Democrat this week and came up with the answer that both have bad records on civil rights issues upon which they have voted as congressmen and senators. Nixon was listed as having three good and four bad votes while Sparkman made a perfect score — in reverse—with 16 bad and no good.

Both flunked the test on FEPC, filibusters and on curbing the power of the House Rules Committee to bottle up civil rights legislation. Votes on these issues were called "vital" by the Association. "While other votes are important," Roy Wilkins, NAACP

General Gets Approval of Negro Group

DENVER, Colo. — Asserting the belief that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, "is an honest and sincere man," a group of Negro Republicans this week plumped for his election in November despite his refusal to endorse a federal FEPC. He has said that he believes the matter should be left to the states and that law cannot cure racial inequalities.

The carefully timed visit of the delegation, led by AME Bishop D. Ward Nichols, came on the heels of a statement issued by 16 prominent Republicans who said that they believed Ike's election "will hasten creation of a Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission with teeth."

Heading the list of signers were Gov. Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey, who pushed an FEPC law through his own state legisla-

Court Kills Try to Evade Covenant Ban

In a smashing defeat for race covenants, the District Court of Appeals in a unanimous decision Wednesday, refused to grant damages to three white people who sued a neighbor for selling her home to Negroes. The sale was in violation of restrictive covenants covering the property.

In a 35-page opinion written by Justice Paul Valee and concurred in by Justices Clement Shinn and Parker Wood, the court upheld the decision of Superior Court Judge Daniel Stevens and refused to grant $11,600 damages to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Barrows, Richard Pikaar and M. M. O'Gara against Mrs. Leola Jackson.

Mrs. Jackson and her neighbors signed a race restriction agreement in 1944 but in Feb. 1950 and after the United States Supreme Court held that state court enforcement of such agreements was unconstitutional she sold the property to Mr. and Mrs. Pearnell Smalley who are Negroes. The Smalleys moved into the home on Sept. 14, 1950 and the law suit ensued. Mrs. Jackson was represented on the appeal by Attorneys James Sims, Maurice Walbert and Loren Miller.

Barrows and the other neighbors based their claim for damages on the charge that Negro occupancy lowered the values of their own property but Judge Stevens held that the effect of the Supreme decision was to eliminate all suits for damages

Ethel January Held in Three Forgery Deals

Mrs. Ethel January, highly respected public relations expert who enjoys an excellent reputation among both Negroes and whites, this week was being held in County jail charged with three counts of forgery.

Sgt. James R. Ferguson, of Central Forgery detail, told the Eagle that the well-known young woman was caught "red-handed" and has admitted obtaining more than $1600 fraudulently from the various May Co. stores throughout the city.

He also advised that Mrs. January has a long police record that goes back to 1936, includes time served of from nine months to one year on each of three separate occasions in Oakland, with five previous arrests to her credit.

Negro Group Tries To Keep Whites Out

OMAHA, Neb.—In a curious upside-down version of the explosive housing issue, Negro residents here last week tried to keep a white family from moving into their midst.

Timely intervention by wiser heads, however, prevented the closely-knit group from carrying out their threatened legal action.

The Negroes said they were "sorry," and that the white family can move in whenever they want.

A protest petition with 17 signatures aimed at keeping out the "undesirables" was submitted to Public Defender Joseph Lovely, but was later withdrawn.

Mrs. Lucille Blackson, spokesman for the group, explained it this way: "We don't have anything against them (the white family). It just won't work out. Everything has been peaceful and quiet and we want it to stay that way. We don't want to live fighting all the time. There are too many children in the neighborhood."

But Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, reversing usual practice, called the Negroes "misguided," and offered legal assistance to protect the rights of the white family.

M. M. Taylor of the Omaha Urban League also came to the defense of the whites. "It is our purpose," he said, "to fight discrimination, not to promote it."

ture; Sen. Irving Ives of New York, who authored the first FEPC law in the nation; and Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, who was Ike's pre-convention campaign manager. Other senators and representatives signed the statement as did Harold Burton, New York delegate to the GOP convention who has been under fire for "selling out" other Negro delegates.

Honest, Sincere

On behalf of the group that met Eisenhower, Bishop Nichols issued the following statement:

"The general also stated that discriminatory practices in our nation's capitol were disgraceful and said that, if elected, he would take immediate steps to end them. He likewise said he wholeheartedly supported a program for integration in our armed forces.

"We found General Eisenhower to be a sincere and honest man, with deep convictions on the equality of every American citizen. He stated that he would be a 'soldier, fighting in the ranks of civil progress,' and we have every reason to believe him.

"In all fairness to our position, we must point out that the general told me that he is not yet willing to concede that the only solution to civil rights is through a compulsory Federal law."

No Mississippi Deal

Meanwhile the general's spokesmen vigorously denied reports that he was toying with the idea of entering into a "deal" with a group of disgruntled Mississippi Democrats who had offered their support. The offer was based on a proposal that Eisenhower repudiate an FEPC and that he promise to secure dismissal of Perry Howard as GOP committeeman from Mississippi.

Included in the committee, in addition to Bishop Nichols, were:

The Rev. John Bright of Philadelphia, acting district supervisor for Bishop Nichols.

accompany the New York congressman on a delegation slated to interview Stevenson.

White Approves

Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, stood pat on his claim that the Democratic 1948 plank is completely acceptable to the Association and the more than 50 organizations who met in Washington last winter to frame demands for party platforms. White and others who sided with him pointed to the pledge to curb senatorial debate as the outstanding accomplishment. They said that if debate can be curbed an acceptable civil rights program can be pushed through the Senate and House. However, Governor Stevenson has refused to take a specific stand on filibustering.

Meanwhile disappointed Democrats and Independents continued to snipe at the record of Senator John J. Sparkman, Democratic vice-presidential nominee. The NAACP listed him with 16 bad and no good votes during his 16 years in the House and the Senate and Republicans were waving a statement he made in 1950 in which he said:

"I am against the civil rights proposals — always have been and always will be. . . . We Southern Democratic Senators—21 of us—are banded together and pledged to use every parliamentary device possible to defeat civil rights legislation."

Okehs Platform

On his part, Senator Sparkman insisted that he would abide by the Democratic Party platform and stressed the point that he had served on the committee that wrote it. He refused a point-blank request from Powell that he commit himself to support of a compulsory FEPC and insisted that he would have to judge legislation as it was presented.

Undismayed by Powell's attacks, Congressman William Dawson, vice-president of the Democratic National Committee and also a member of the convention platform committee, had little to say. He reiterated former assertions that the platform was the best possible under the circumstances and that the Democratic party has most to offer the Negro voter. "We have to learn to forego sectional differences and join to achieve a common objective," he said.

Dawson is credited with being one of the nation's most astute politicians and is a power in his own party. It is known that he regards Powell's failure to work in party harness as a distinct liability to the party.

Praises Veep

In a statement at his press conference Monday, Governor Stevenson said:

"I can hardly see why the Negro vote would find any refuge in the Republican party. It should be pointed out, I think, that Senator Sparkman's contribution to the civil rights plank in the Democratic platform was a national contribution, both in its craftsmanship and also in heading off any minority report to the committee.

"I think everyone who is interested in civil rights and in the more rigid realization of equality of treatment should feel deeply grateful to Senator Sparkman," he said. "I personally do."

The Governor's view is that the present plank in the Democratic platform retained all the force of past statements by Democratic leaders without actually using the language of compulsion. In this effort to retain the substance

CALIFORNIA PIONEERS — Descendants of Negro pioneers of the California gold rush recently honored Sue Bailey Thurman, author, in San Francisco. From left, David W. '49er Descendants In 'Pioneer' Reunion

SAN FRANCISCO—More than 100 persons attended a luncheon honoring Sue Bailey Thurman, author of "Pioneers of Negro Origin in California," and all living descendants of Negro pioneers of the gold rush period residing in California, in the Nob Hill Room of the Fairmont Hotel last week.

Mrs. Thurman, wife of the minister of the Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples, drew national attention to the contribution of Negro pioneers of the gold rush era in a series of articles featured in the San Francisco Sun-Reporter during the centennial celebrations of 1949.

Dr. Hugh Sanford Baker, professor of English literature at San Francisco State College, was guest speaker.

25 Descendants

Mrs. Thurman shared honors with 25 descendants of the '49ers, including members of the families of Coffey, Logan, Rodgers, Barber, Wysinger, Johnson, Campbell and Ruggles.

It was largely through Mrs. Thurman's efforts that these pioneer families were assembled together for the first time, bringing with them an interesting exhibit of priceless documents.

Among these was an August, 1857, edition of the "Mirror of the Times," first Negro newspaper published in the West.

A telegram was sent to the group by Mary R. Beard, historian of New Milford, Conn., widow of historian Charles A. Beard, who gave initial encouragement to Mrs. Thurman in the collecting and documenting of Negro archives in America.

Mrs. Beard's message expressed her regret at being unable because of the imminence of her 76th birthday, to be present with this group "assembling to discuss and promote a noble enterprise" and concluded with her best wishes "for the rooting of (this) cause in the minds and hearts of our people."

Sponsors

Organizations sponsoring this first historical pioneer luncheon were the International Institute, the World Fellowship Committee of the Buchannan YWCA-YMCA, the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History (Bay Area chapter), and the Intercultural Workshop of the Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples.

Songs of the old West were sung by the International Fellowship Quintet, under the direction of Corrinne Barron Williams, with Seaton Manning, executive secretary of the San Francisco Urban League, master of ceremonies.

Jail Ethel January

July 19 at the May Co. downtown store. Police had been on her trail for some time and were laying in wait for her when she entered the store Saturday afternoon and attempted to obtain a refund, displaying a charge account plate.

The plate, police said, was one of five in Mrs. January's possession. She reportedly claimed she had found them all.

In addition to using the charge plates for making purchases and later returning the merchandise for cash, police said Mrs. January also had obtained a stack of refund vouchers on which she forged authorizations.

Questioned Before

The race relations expert, who was studying for her master's degree in Sociology at the University of Southern California, first came under police surveillance about a year ago when she was reported to have charged merchandise to some one else's account.

She was questioned but was not held. She was then suspected in various similar transactions. Examination of the several samples of handwriting and comparison of the descriptions given by salesgirls involved in the sales all seemed to point to one and the same person.

It was on the basis of this information that police were set for the arrest.

Small Amounts

Mrs. January was first charged with four counts of forgery. Amounts in each case were small —$11.05, $9.69, $8.10 and $12.89.

She was released on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by her attorney, Rayfield Lundy, July 21, and had a hearing on the writ July 24. At the hearing, the district attorney charged her with the four felony counts, to all of which she pleaded "not guilty," and she was released on $1,000 bail.

Mrs. January appeared for preliminary hearing Friday, after which one of the counts was dropped, and arraignment on the other three set for Superior Court Aug. 18.

Previous Arrests

The bail bondsmen, police reported, on the basis of Mrs. January's record, withdrew their bond, and she was returned to County jail.

The police record shows that Mrs. January's five previous arrests all occurred in Oakland, the first being in 1936 for petty theft.

Mrs. January lives at 234 W. Adams street.

She is very active in community affairs and is responsible for considerable improvement of race relations through her position as race relations expert. She had many and excellent contacts with downtown banks, department stores and other large businesses.

Oldest Resident, 117, Dies

The city's oldest citizen and one of the oldest men in the world died Friday at the age of 117.

Esquire Smith, born into slavery in 1835 in Shreveport, La., had 73 direct descendants, in addition to a brother, also over 100, who lives in Texas, and numerous other relatives.

Smith died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Arrington, 1245½ E. 28th street.

"We believe that was his true age," Mrs. Arrington said. "He used to tell us many of his childhood experiences as a slave. He was 28 when Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation."

Smith came to Los Angeles in 1921 and worked for the city until he was 92.

In addition to his brother, he is survived by six children, 52 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by Angelus Funeral Home.

Fair Employment Drive To Hit Unfair Products

An all-out drive for fair employment got underway last Friday, August 1, as members of Manuel Talley's Consumers' Mobilization took to the field in a door-to-door campaign to enroll 50,000 new members during the next two months who will be willing to boycott goods produced by employers who discriminate.

Spokesmen for Consumers' Mobilization have promised a vigorous campaign and even as the first few hundred enrollees signed up, merchants and other business men in the area began receiving letters asking them to support the program of Consumers' Mobilization by agreeing not to handle goods that will be under boycott.

Among the first of the community leaders to offer support in the campaign is Loren Miller, nationally known civil rights attorney and publisher of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE. Miller stated that all available news concerning Consumers' Mobilization will be published in the EAGLE each week and that businesses which cooperate will be listed. He said that he looked to the organization with great interest and hope.

The letter to merchants pointed out that every cent which buys a loaf of bread or a quart of milk supports either a company which is fair or one that is unfair. It called the efforts of the community toward fair employment highly commendable and read in part:

"We are asking that you support the effort which we, your customers, are making to obtain fair employment by agreeing with us that you will not purchase, advertise, or sell any of the goods listed as unfair while a campaign of nonsupport, conducted by Consumers' Mobilization is in operation."

The letter, which was signed by Manuel Talley, National Chairman of Consumers' Mobilization, gave assurance that merchants who support the campaign will receive advance notice when a product is to be boycotted thus preventing them from being caught with large stocks on hand of the goods that are to be listed as unfair.

The Reverend Mr. Lloyd Galloway, minister of Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, in response to a request to serve on the advisory committee stated that he was especially pleased to note the non-violent principles of the organization and said that as a Christian and as a person interested in the welfare of his community he wished it every success.

In a brief statement to this paper Talley praised the EAGLE as a fighting newspaper and said: "The people of this community need an organization through which they can speak and act to secure fair employment. Consumers' Mobilization is such an organization. He said that it is the purpose of his organization to make democracy equally meaningful to people of all groups. Wherever investigation shows discrimination to exist we will try to correct the situation through friendly discussion with the employer," said Talley. "But in cases where agreement is not reached through discussion, we promise swift and energetic action."

hold on the lucrative racket from which he made his fabulous fortune.

Roe had long lived a charmed life. The last attempt on his life occurred a little over a year ago when on June 18, 1951, he beat his would-be killers to the draw and pumped shots into "Fat Lenny" Caifano and three other "hoods" who had forced his car to the curb. Caifano was killed, but Roe was freed on his plea of self defense.

A second theory for the killing of Roe was that it was a revenge shooting by Caifano's friends.

of this year. Mrs. Hicks said they had agreed to support Mrs. Weaver.

Mrs. Stewart pulled her support and pledged it to Mrs. Gaines without mentioning the change to her subordinate. When Mrs. Stewart arrived in the city Friday and saw the strength of Mrs. Hick's campaigning, she set about doing a little stumping herself. This split the organization into two hostile camps.

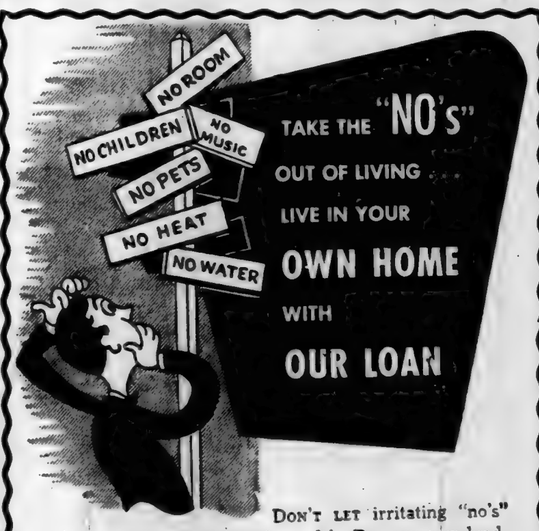
Raps Fanning Award

A press conference was called to air each complaint which was attended by three newspapers. Mrs. Dora Moore, who represented the Los Angeles Sentinel, attempted to place Mrs. Hicks in an embarrassing position by demanding to know what amount she paid for the use of a public school building, why an incumbent supervisor's greetings were printed in the souvenir program, and why Postmaster Michael Fanning received a special citation.

Her searching questions set off a hot debate that embroiled the whole convention and won Mrs. Hicks more favor.

More than 3000 delegates from all parts of the United States, Hawaii, and Haiti, took part in the debates, election and other activities of the convention.

Delegates Welcomed



The convention, spread over five daily sessions, began last Friday with a public education meeting at Shrine Sunday. City, county and state officials welcomed the delegates.

Principal speaker at the convention was Moss Kendrick of the National Education Association, Washington, D. C.

The convention's program of activities covered several important subjects, including the rehabilitation into a national shrine of the Anacostia, District of Columbia, memorial home of Frederick Douglass, famed anti-slavery figure.

VISITORS HERE FOR STUDY—The Federation of Associated Clubs of Indianapolis is in Los Angeles this week on an educational tour. Leader of the group of 41, which includes individuals from New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Dayton, Gary, Indianapolis and other Indiana towns, is Starling W. James (center, in white shirt, behind sign). In previous years, the group has visited all of the United States, sections of Canada, Mexico and the Carribean.

Masons Meet In San Jose

The Prince Hall Masons of California and its jurisdiction held their 96th Annual Communication in San Jose with R. C. Marshall Lodge, Observatory Chapter, and Alpha Court as hosts, last week.

Reports of the various committees also showed the craft to be in a healthy condition. The report of the Grand Secretary showed sixty lodges on rolls of the Grand Lodge, having a total membership of more than 6114 members, an overall increase of 200 members and an increase of more than $30,688 for the year just ended.

The Grand Lodge provided money for two scholarships at U.C.L.A. and U.C. at Berkeley; gave approximately $300 to a student from Africa who is now enrolled in Stanford University at Palo Alto in the school of medicine; gave $500 to the central office of N.A.A.C.P. in New York; gave grants of cash money to the Y.M.C.A. at Oakland, California, and at Los Angeles, California, also, made its usual charity donation to their own cases which demanded attention.

Starling James Hopkins, Orange Valley Lodge, was unanimously re-elected Grand Master. Also reelected were all other officers except the Grand Lecturer who declined to run. Past Master W. C. Taylor of West Gate Lodge No 36, Berkeley, was elected Grand Lecturer.

Housing facilities were most satisfactory, as the entire roster of hotels of San Jose was placed at the convenience of the members of the Grand Lodge. The hotels were most solicitious of the members' welfare at all times; the cafes outdid themselves to see that every desire of the guests was satisfied; the stores in the metropolitan area were staffed with personnel which were most cooperative to render any service and the entire citizenry of San Jose exemplified the spirt of hosts.

Armed Bandits Rob Gas Company

Two armed bandits Friday entered a branch office of the Southern California Gas Co. at 7126½ Compton avenue and forced a cashier to hand over $440. The cashier, Jeanne McKennaner of 1833 12th avenue, told deputies the bandits threatened to shoot her unless she turned over the money.

The bandits, who covered their faces with handkerchiefs, taped the cashier's hands and ankles and threw her into a restroom. Another employe, Janice Ayers, 31, of 5863 Bowcroft St., escaped detection and turned in the alarm. The bandits, however, made good their escape.

Stevenson Wins Vote Test Over Eisenhower

ATLANTA, Ga.—Gov. Adlai Stevenson led Gen. Dwight Eisenhower by a 3-to-1 margin in the race for the presidency, according to a straw vote cast at Atlanta University on Wednesday.

The results as tabulated were: 486 for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket, 175 for Eisenhower-Nixon, 12 for Hallinan-Bass of the Progressive Party, and write-in votes for President Truman 2, Senator Kefauver 2, and Norman Thomas 1.

Faculty and staff members led the way to the ballot boxes in the university library where the mock election was held. More than 45 per cent of the 1600 summer school students took the trouble to vote on the hot July 30. Most of the students live in the southeastern part of the United States, although there are a few from all sections of the country. Two-thirds of the balloters were graduate students—many of them teachers and community leaders in their home towns.

Moral: Don't Leave Phone Numbers In Your Pockets

By EDDIE LEE KING

A Westside housewife who found a strange telephone number in her husband's pocket turned detective and went on the warpath Saturday night. The episode ended with a woman running completely undressed down Western avenue with the outraged wife in hot pursuit.

Mrs. Jennetta Moore, 35, 3430 Third avenue, went through her husband's pocket for the loose change and found a telephone number on a plain piece of paper. Hubby J. D. Moore being out that Saturday night, Mrs. Moore called the number and asked for a fictitious address. The voice on the other end told her: "No, this is 1626 W. 39th street."

Mrs. Moore stayed in bed until midnight and when J. D. hadn't come home, she went to her detected address. Not seeing her husband's car she started to leave but at this time the car drove up with Moore behind the wheel and his prize, Anne Adams, 28, sleeping beside him.

Without taking time to introduce herself, Mrs. Moore rushed to the right side of the car and started cutting Miss Adams and her husband with a pocketknife.

Moore jumped out of the car and ran down the street with his wife hot-blading it right after him. After a futile chase she returned to finish the job on her husband's girl friend.

Rude Awakening

Miss Adams woke up and found Mrs. Moore slicing her into ribbons. Not waiting to chit chat, Miss Adams broke from the car and Mrs. Moore slashed away, cutting all of her clothes off.

Miss Adams ran up the street for a half block and across Western avenue into a liquor store, as her clothes were hacked off her. She passed out and only regained consciousness after more than a quart of blood was transfused into her body at Georgia Street Receiving and General Hospitals. Nearly 100 stitches were taken to close up the ravines Mrs. Moore put in her.

J. D. escaped with minor wounds and Mrs. Moore was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Preliminary hearing is set for today, Thursday, at 10 a.m. in Municipal Court, Division No. 4.

Chicago Visitor Takes Own Life

Mrs. Shirley A. Jones, 54, 729 West 72nd Street, Chicago, Illinois, committed suicide here Monday morning around three a.m. at Ferndale and Western avenue by shooting herself with a .22 caliber revolver.

The police have been unable to give any reason for her action. So far all that was learned is she was probably here for the convention.

Manslaughter Charge Faces Mrs. McClain

A coroner's jury Tuesday held Mrs. Ora Lee McClain "probably criminally responsible" for the bus-auto death of 15-year-old Carlton Ashley, Sunday, July 26.

The district attorney's office did not immediately issue a complaint against Mrs. McClain, but it was believed she would be charged with a "misdemeanor manslaughter." A "felony manslaughter" charge was thought possible, however.

Mrs. McClain is at present free on bail, by virtue of a habeas corpus writ. A hearing on the writ was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, but was postponed for two weeks following a request from her attorney, Earl Broady.

The tragic accident occurred late in the afternoon a week ago Sunday in a three-car crash at the corner of 62nd and Avalon. The car in which young Ashley was a passenger was hurled against a telephone pole. In the terrific impact the youth was hurled about 60 feet. He died a few hours later. Nine other people were injured.

Mrs. McClain had failed to come to a halt at the stop signal. She claimed that the brakes on her 1949 Cadillac failed when she applied them as she approached the intersection.

Fred Roberts' Death Found 'Accidental'

The coroner's jury Wednesday found the traffic death of Frederick M. Roberts, July 18, as he was backing out of his garage, "accidental."

After hearing the testimony, the jury was "unable to determine who, if anyone, was criminally responsible for the death."

Roberts, one of the city's favorite and best-known sons, died of injuries received when his car was struck by an automobile driven by Henry E. Anderson, of 734 E. 42nd street.

Financial Wizard, Dr. Spaulding, Dies

DURHAM, N. C.—Dr. Charles Clinton Spaulding, nationally known business, educational, civic, and religious leader, died here last Friday morning. He headed enterprises with assets exceeding $60,000,000.

The death of the venerable Tarheel, who had become an international figure in the past half century and who had won citations from both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, occurred on his 78th birthday at his home, 1006 Fayetteville St., Durham. His second wife, Mrs. Charlotte Garner Spaulding, was at his bedside when death came.

Funeral services were scheduled for 3 o'clock Monday afternoon from the White Rock Baptist Church where he served as deacon and trustee for many years. Dr. Miles Mark Fisher, pastor, was scheduled to officiate at the funeral.

Banker

Dr. Spaulding was president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Mechanics and Farmers' Bank, and the Mutual Building and Loan Association. He was on boards of directors and held positions as trustee or executive on numerous other interlocking businesses in Durham and throughout the South.

Although Dr. Spaulding never finished college himself, he was one of the most influential figures in Negro collegiate education during the past half century. He served on the trustee boards of Howard and Shaw Universities and the North Carolina College at Durham. He was one of the original signers of the NCC charter.

His varied career spanned many fields other than business. However, as a follower of the late Booker T. Washington, he contributed significantly to the growth of the National Negro Business League that did much to foster businesses operated by Negroes in the U. S.

Humble Beginnings

At the time of his death he was a vice president of American Bible Society.

Charles Clinton Spaulding was born on his father's farm in Columbus County, near Whiteville, on August 1, 1874, the third in a family of 14 children.

A modest, smiling man with a deeply religious outlook, Dr. Spaulding closely followed the preachments of the late Booker T. Washington in business and racial matters. He never failed to speak out against racial injustices, and he argued that privileges entailed responsibilities.

He was an advocate of harmony between whites and Negroes in the South and throughout the country. "It takes both the white and the black keys to play the music of the 'Star-Spangled Banner,'" he used to say. Harmonious racial relations, he said, must represent the mutual desire of the white and colored people.

Nursery School Gets Unsolicited Gift of Money

Little Citizens Nursery School, 3768 Seventh avenue, was the recent recipient of a generous unsolicited donation from Beverly Hills resident M. A. Koffman.

The gift was made in memory of the late Ellis N. Warren, who had been Hoffman's employe for more than 30 years and whose grandchild formerly attended the school.

The recently deceased Warren often had expressed to his employer his great admiration for the progressive methods used by the interracial school's founder and head, Mrs. Camille Steverson. For this reason, Hoffman felt that contributing to Mrs. Steverson's establishment was a fitting tribute to the memory of his friend and employe.

threatening them. The last time he phoned, Ross told him: "If you're big enough to get me, come on over."

Hughes "came over." He and Ross, according to the report, immediately began fighting. Mrs. Hughes fled to the rear of the house.

Ross chased his rival to the top of the stairs, whereupon Hughes pulled out his pocket knife and stabbed Ross once. The cut was clean, right through the heart.

Ross tumbled backward, bleeding profusely as he bounced down to the foot of the stairs.

Ross, the father of a 16-year-old son, was employed as a tire recapper.

Hughes was arrested on suspicion of murder. The coroner's inquest was set for 10:30 a.m. today, Thursday.

Negro Soldier Saves Two in Waco Crash

WACO, Texas. — An unidentified Negro soldier was one of the two outstanding heroes in what was probably the worst bus crash in history.

The two vehicles locked in head-on collision seven miles south of here in Monday's predawn hours.

Both gasoline tanks exploded, trapping the passengers with walls of flame. Twenty-eight persons were known to have died in the wrecked cars that became their funeral pyre.

The soldier-hero, believed to be stationed at Ft. Hood, was one of the lucky ones thrown to safety by the terrific impact.

But he fought his way back to the agonized screams of those still living, ignoring the leaping flames and the stench of seared flesh, and dragged two people to safety.

One was a 17-year-old white woman, Mrs. Dora Daniels, of Waco. The other was an 11-year-old Mexican girl, Matilda Zamoudio, who was on her way back to Mexico with her mother and father. But it was their last journey. Both died in the wreck.

Mrs. Daniels told of the Negro who was "thrown to safety" but was "brave enough to come back and pull us out.

because of violation of racial agreements. Oklahoma and Missouri have held that damage suits are permissible but Michigan and the District of Columbia have held they were not. This is the first such appeal in California.

Backing up the damage seeking property owners were 12 neighborhood associations who secured former California Supreme Court Justice, John W. Preston, to file a brief in their behalf. John C. Miles and Wallace McKnight represented the property owners who are suing.

"Safety for the concern of the wives and daughters and . . . anxiety of parents that their children will grow up to marry, or worse, with a neighbor playmate of a different race" are assigned in the brief as some of the reasons why damages should be assessed against whites who sell race restricted property to Negroes. Neighborhoods in which Negroes move are called "afflicted neighborhoods."

Attorneys for Mrs. Jackson claimed that damages could not be assessed because of both federal and state constitutional provisions.

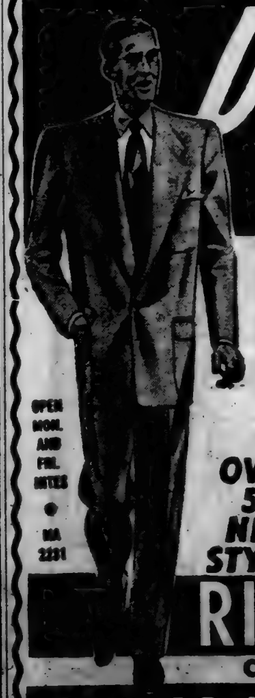
administrator, pointed out, "they are not as important as these two basic issues. Unless bills are permitted to come to a vote we can have no legislation."

Nixon voted against curbing the power of the Rules Committee to block civil rights legislation on Jan. 20, 1950, doubled back with a vote against an FEPC with enforcement powers on Feb. 22, 1950, and on Juhe 24 of this year—on the eve of his nominatio n for the vice-presidency — cast a committee vote against reporting an FEPC bill out of committee. He also voted against a bill to protect service men in uniform. Of his three "good" votes two were for an anti-poll tax bill and one was against segregation in the Spars.

Sparkman is listed as having been in favor of a variety of anti-cloture bills and for continuing filibusters when they developtd against civil rights legislation. He got on record as being opposed to banning segregation in public housing, in schools getting federal aid, in the armed forces and for all other measures listed by the NAACP as crucial votes, including ballots in favor of the poll tax and against protection of servicemen in uniform.



The NAACP dealt only with civil rights issues.

Look At The Reasons

One of the best ways to ferret out what an office seeker really believes is to take a look at what he said befor he began plumping for public office.

That rule should be applied to presidential candidates as well as to those who seek minor offices. General Eisenhower never said very much that made sense as far as Negroes are concerned and if he had any views on civil rights before the presidential bug bit him he kept those views to himself for the most part. The general did get on record on army segregation before a senatorial committee.

And he came up with the rather extraordinary proposition that he was opposed to complete integration in the army on the ground that mixed units would deprive Negroes of all opportunity to become commissioned officers of any consequence. If that statement means anything at all it means (1) that Negroes of ability should not be permitted to command white troops or (2) that Negroes lack the ability to win advancement when they're thrown into competition with whites. In either event the general is revealed as a man with a rather low opinion of Negros.

Adlai Stevenson's record as governor of Illinois reveals the fact that he asked for an FEPC in that state and that he has been a rather staunch proponent of civil rights. The objection may be made that as an Illinois politician such proposals advanced his chance to retain his office. There is another source: a speech the governor made to the Urban League's national meeting last January before he was mentioned for president.

In that speech Stevenson branded the "separate but equal" doctrine for what it is: a "myth". He went further to state a positive belief in law as an instrument for breaking down inequalities based on race. He said that the answer to communism is not less but more democracy and democracy that is "color blind." He hooted at the myth that "the time isn't ripe." It is only fair to add that woven into that speech was an undertone that primary responsibility for the correction of the ills of segregation and discrimination belongs to the states. He has said that where the states fail to meet the problem, as they have done in the field of employment, the federal government must act.

We don't know what General Eisenhower is going to say in the forthcoming campaign or whether he is going to yield to importunities that he dump the GOP states rights doctrine as written into his platform. By the same token we don't know how Governor Stevenson is going to interpret the strong civil rights plank written into his party's platform.

What we do know is that at the moment and on the record Stevenson shows up as a much better informed and much more courageous spokesman for civil rights than Eisenhower.

Throwing Money Away

Councilmen opposed to the city's ten thousand unit low rent housing plan have just come up with a plan to ask the voters to approve a bond issue of between thirteen and twenty million dollars to repay the federal government for money advanced to launch the program. The city would get nothing for these millions and the only result of dumping this money down the drain would be abandonment of the housing program.

In addition to the monetary loss, ten thousand families who can't find homes in the private market would be deprived of the opportunity of living in decent dwellings. Many of these families would belong to minority groups, both because of their low income status and because of the color lines drawn by private builders and developers.

The real beneficiaries of this plan to throw these millions out of the window would be these same private builders and developers who are hell bent for residential segregation. The land that has been accumulated by the city would be sold to these men. They would proceed with private developments with average rents so high that the most needy couldn't possibly afford one of the dwellings and, of course, they would refuse to rent or sell the homes to Negroes except in those areas where there is little or no possibility of sale or rental to whites.

These facts are enough to damn the scheme out of hand but there remains the grave danger that the city would be liable in damages that might reach astronomical figures when former owners of the land pressed law suits. The Housing authority bought those properties under the express condition that they were to be used to construct public housing. If that public housing isn't built it would seem that the city would be liable.

We can't believe that City Council will try to foist such a scheme on the taxpayers and we're sure that the taxpayers won't buy it if it is put before them.

The Board Fumbles Again

The Los Angeles Board of Education—composed of two men who hold their jobs by mandates of the people and four others who got their jobs as a result of votes of former members who were either removed for malfeasance in office or who quit before they could be kicked out—overlooked the claims of Negroes last week when they named a USC professor to the then existing vacancy.

We suppose that Prof. Hugh Willett is a competent enough person but he has just about as much as one man can do what with his teaching duties at his university and with his widespread activities in athletic activities with which his school is concerned. We doubt that he'll have time to do much more than rubber stamp what the rest of the Board does.

Hardly had Willett got on the Board before there was another vacancy through another resignation and under our archaic procedure the Board would fill that job too. We hope that it will come down to earth and really consider the claims for the appointment of a Negro to that vacancy.

It is imperative that a body such as the Board of Education represent all of the people of the city. And one tenth of this city's population is non-white. Being "non-white" in Los Angeles, and in the rest of the nation for that matter, breads special problems. The Board needs and should have the advice and participation of some person who is more than passingly familiar with these problems. We don't say that none but a "non-white" can fill that bill but we do say that it is a cinch that such a person would know what is happening and would be able to contribute a good deal toward solutions.

We think, too, that it would be a mighty good idea for a Board which spends so much time and talk on the issue of democracy to practice the democracy that it likes to preach.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

When "Colonel Stoopnagle" of radio fame coined his priceless phrase, "People are more fun than anybody," he must have been thinking of the American people in the early stages of a national election campaign. Certain it is that at no other time do people in the mass carry on the same high jinks and conduct such absurd debates as they do under the influence of a forthcoming election for President.

A year from now some of us will feel a bit sheepish over positions so strenuously assumed and vociferously defended as those which are now becoming a part of our political partisanship. Only the knowledge that "this too will pass" makes the atmosphere of a political campaign endurable—and at times even provides some source for scientific enjoyment.

For instance, by the middle of 1953 most of us will be laughing shamefacedly over present efforts to prove that there is really any great difference between the civil rights platform planks offered by the Republican and the Democratic parties. Both platforms are collections of phrases which have no more relationship to what the party plans to do than the keynote speech has to what the party has done during the preceding four years. No bright child of more than eleven years believes any longer that platform-makers sit up nights wondering how to put down on paper exactly what their party plans to do for the Negro voters. What they worry about is how they can cover up what their party failed to do to fulfill past promises and how they can present new promises most beguiling to the trusting Negro electorate.

All Het Up Now

And again, next year when the steam of political shouting has died down a bit, some of us are going to wonder why we got "all het up" over the nomination by the Democratic Party of Senator Sparkman for Vice President. Or why we took seriously the frantic efforts of the party's faithful to picture this Alabama political product as a sincere liberal whom Negroes could trust, if only they'd relax and close their eyes. By 1953 we shall be willing to admit what we know very clearly now—that the Sparkman nomination is a perfectly logical recognition of the fact that the Democratic Party cannot get along without the Old South, that Southern Senators and Representatives occupy the important posts in a Democratic Congress or control those who do. We shall admit that if a Democratic President wants to get any part of his program through Congress he must do so with the consent of the South, and therefore it is good, sound politics to elect a Southern Vice President as the best guarantee of maintaining amicable relations with the southern wing.

By next year most of us will be willing to admit these facts, but during a political campaign we don't feel that we can afford to do so. The reason is that we are not looking for facts on which to establish a choice between the parties and their candidates; we are lookink for excuses to justify the choice that we have already made on the basis of our political preferences. If we are Democrats, we constantly seek to justify our preference by arguing that the Democratic Party is "the best for our people," and of course that can't be done, logically, as long as the southern wing is firmly in on party policy. So we become frustrated, angry with ourselves and angry with anyone who points out the error in our reasoning.

If we are Republicans, we seek to justify ourselves by "proving" that the GOP would do a better job for Negroes, if only given a chance. And we can't prove that, either, so there we go again—frustrated and angrily argumentative. Since we have already made an emotional choice between the parties — or made a a choice on the basis of our personal profit—we cannot afford to admit that there is really no choice on the race question as such, and that our judgment should be based on even large issues of peace or war, runaway inflation or wise monetary control, integrity or cynical corruption in government. Because to admit that would require us to think instead of merely feeling about the election issues — and feeling is so much more fun than thinking during an eletion year, and the morning after won't come until 1953.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

Considerable debate is in progress over the country on the merits of the civil rights planks adopted by the two major parties in convention.

It is not surprising, in the light of the views held by both Senator Robert A. Taft and General Eisenhower that the Republican platform plank on civil rights is essentially a states' rights document. They stated specifically, "we believe it is the primary responsibility of each state to order and control its own domestic institutions. . . ." They did add later that the federal government should take "supplemental action" to oppose discrimination.

The Republicans, besides the usual planks on anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills, stated that action should be taken to end segregation in the District of Columbia. On the highly controversial FEPC matter, the GOP urged federal legislation "to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices" but it also declared against another "huge" federal bureau to carry out the suggestion. This could mean that any legislation on FEPC would not be enforced by a Federal bureau.

Demo Plank Better

The Democrats come forth with a much better plank, not only better than that of the Republicans, but better than the Democratic plank of 1948. If for no other reason, it is better because it contains a statement against the Senate filibuster rule and urges a change that will permit decisions to be made by majority vote instead of by the two-thirds vote as at present. The present Senate Rule 22 has been the real roadblock to civil rights legislation. Any promise of anything in the civil rights field is mere talk unless something is done about the Senate rule. This the Democrats have urged be done. They have put it down among their party principles and from now on it is up to the voters to use this declaration in dealing with Democratic party candidates and party bosses.

The Democrats also pledged a continuation of efforts against discrimination and cited the action of the Feredal government, under the Democratic administration, in the fields of housing, education, and service in the armed forces. By inference, this commits the party to initiate federal action in these fields. The plank also deals with anti-lynching,anti-poll tax, and fair employment practices, although the latter is called "equality of opportunity in employment," rather than FEPC.

Make Platforms Work

It is the omission of these familiar initials which has caused some to say that the 1952 platform is not as strong as the 1948 one. This is an unbelievably silly stand to take, for, as has been said many a time, a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. The real milk in the coconut is the anti-filibuster recommendation. If that is carried out, civil rights legislation can be passed in the next Congress; without it, nothing can be done, no matter how many fine words are in a platform, or how many times FEPC is or is not used.

Purely on platform, the Democrats have done better than the Republicans, but platforms are statements of policy. Negroes will have to hold the party nominees and bosses strictly to account on policy and use their voting strength in bargaining to make the platform a reality.

On the Bookshelf

Unknown eight years ago, Frank Yerby is today the most popular author in the United States. The 38-year-old Negro, profiled in the current issue of PEOPLE TODAY, has written seven best sellers since 1945, which have sold 8 million copies, plus another 2 million when 3 were reprinted as 25-cent and 35-cent books.

Born in Augusta, Ga., Yerby attended Haines Institute and Paine College there, got his Master's from Fisk U., and studied at the U. of Chicago. Little magazines published his first poetry in '33. He taught English at Southern U. in Baton Rouge, married in 1940 and moved to N.Y. where he worked for the Tanger Aircraft Corp. during the war. His first story, "Health Card," won an O. Henry award in '44 and paved the way for his first novel.

Yerby's historical novels usually take the conventional picture of an era or a place, but they are documented with material ordinarily left out of history.

DEMOCRACY AT WORK

Dear Sir:

This may not seem practicable, but I wish that all our enemies and detractors abroad, as well as all the pinks and punks and fellow travelers and innocent stooges and the outright mouthpieces of the Kremlin within the confines of our land; all those who accuse us of race discrimination, persecution and of failing to practice democracy,—I wish that all those people had attended a program at Slauson playground.

There must be quite a few people around Los Angeles that have never heard of Slauson. It is a small playground in southeast Los Angeles. It is surrounded by workingmen's homes and factories. The population is about equally divided between whites and colored.

The program took place on the lawn in front of the wading pool pegola. It was a nice day. It was nice to watch the program. The participants included colored children, white, Mexican, Japanese, Chinese and I think, one little Jewish girl. The kids were frolicking around and acting. A colored pianist was playing nice tunes, of the type that fits a program like that. They had the eternal spirit of youth and spring and beauty and hope and gaiety and charm.

A colored young lady directed the program. A colored gentleman, who is the chief director, took overall charge of the arrangements. The distirct director and the district foreman were there, both fine Irishmen. One of the district foreman's assistants, who worked around, is of French parents. Another one speaks with a strong German accent. They all got along all right. They were giving the kids a good time, and they themselves had a time.

So I says to myself, "Yes, Sir, we are making progress in the direction of complete equality and brotherhood. And let my voice ring out clear and true as a bell, and loud, so loud that it could even be heard in Georgia, and Mississippi, and Nawth Ca'lina, and South Ca'lina, and in the halls of the Daughters of American Revolution, and at the secret meetings of the Ku Klux Klan, and in Moscow, and in Peking, and in India, and in Japan, and in Indonesia, and in Iran, and in Egypt, and in the vast greatness of the Russian land, and in the enslaved satellites, countries, and in the meetings of the British labor party, and among the French communists, and among the Italian communists, and among the Jewish communists, and in East Germany, and in Argentina, and in Canada,—let my voice ring out loud and clear and true: Lord Oh Lord as thy name is true I bear witness before all the peoples of the world. I say yes we do practice democracy.

SPEND WISELY

Dear Sirs:

I would like to suggest to those who live near large markets that refuse to hire Negros, a system that worked effecitvely near here. A number of us simply traded at other more "liberal" stores and then enclosed our weekly grocery sales slips, along with a polite but pointed note, in a letter to the manager of the offending store. Negroes now work in all departments. More Negroes should use the power of their purchasing towards eliminating prejudice in employment. The old saying of "don't buy where you can't work" is still good advice.

P. A. Jones.

Dear Mr. Ellis:

Just a brief note to express thanks for the appreciative thoughts expressed in your column on my late husband.

Although words are of little help, I can truly say your comments were a great comfort and a source of pride.

Gratefully,
Mrs. Frances Lee

Church Will Honor Local Newspapers

A salute to the local press will be the highlight of the special 3-week interlude of Prayer and Thanksgiving being inaugurated this weekend at the International Baptist Temple. Rev. C. F. Kyle presiding.

Kyle, who on ethical grounds, recently issued vehement protest against the policies of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance while resigning from the organization, issued the following statement:

"As spiritual leader of the International Baptist Temple, I feel it only fitting and proper that we give thanks in our meditations to the three newspapers whose recognition of our stand has meant so much to the founding of our Temple.

"Were it not for The California Eagle, and the other papers, it would have been impossible for us to have reached the great numbers of people who have joined us in the great spiritual reformation we have started in this city.

"Clergymen and laymen by the scores, through the medium of these great newspapers, have contacted us through the weeks to wish us well and put their shoulders to the wheel.

"Our gratitude knows no bounds."

Special invitations have been issued to the publishers and the staffs of the three newspapers to attend the International Baptist Temple on three successive Sundays: The Los Angeles Sentinel, August 10; The California Eagle, August 17; The Los Angeles Tribune, August 24.

Special texts and sermons for the three successive weeks are being prepared for Rev. Kyle.

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their kindness during the recent death of our father, David Earl Gatlin, of 1263 E. 20th Street.

SPORTS

ABIE'S CORNER

From President Emile Germaux of France down to the man in the street, everyone lauded the exemplary conduct and top-notch boxing displayed by the five Sepias who boxed their way to five Olympic titles in Helsinki.

The boxers, Nate Brooks of Cleveland, won the flyweight title; L. Charles Adkins, of Gary, Ind., captured the light welterweight crown; Middleweight Floyd Patterson of New York flattened his foe in 20 seconds with one punch.

Norvel Lee not only walked off with the light-heavyweight title but also received a silver cup as the outstanding boxer in the tournament. Los Angeles' gift to the Olympic team in the person of Ed Sanders literally frightened his foe cold to take the heavyweight honors.

The California Eagle sports department is completing plans for a gigantic welcome home banquet for the four Olympic heroes and feels certain that the members of this community will turn out to pay their respects to the Negro athletes who carried the banner so high as to be acclaimed the greatest boxing team since 1932.

Veteran boxing trainers Duke Hollyway and Calvin Woods are hot on their two young fighters Gerald La Broi and Sammy Saunders.

They seem to think that boxers have what it takes to hit the big times. La Broi two bouts with tough Carlos Chavez was proof that he could take care of himself when the going got rough. He won one and drew one with Chavez.

Saunders, a hefty 160-pounder is having trouble finding ring opponents. In ten bouts he won nine and lost one. He is slated for a 10-round main event in San Diego soon. Saunders has been cooling the cats ever since he was a 12-year-old. He turned professional in Chicago.

After failing to get a start in the Freddie Dawson stable he became disgusted with boxing and joined the army. Hollywty talked him into returning to the rings and he quickly moved up with his smashing ring victories.

Trainer Hollyway waited years for one of his boys to win a world title. He got his boy to do the job after only 6 pro. bouts. Boxing writers termed Harold Dade's win over Manuel Oritz that year's greatest upset. Hollyway smiles broadly at that statement.

McKINLEY, DAVIS SET BRITISH MARKS

GLASGOW. — American and Jamaican track and field stars won all except one of the invitation events at the Rangers Football Club annual meeting today.

Sixty thousand fans braved rain that fell steadily throughout the first half of the meet to see two British records broken.

Walt Davis of Texas, Olympic high jump champion, broke the British all-comers record formerly shared by Alan Patterson of Britain and Bill Vessie of the United States, with a leap of 6 feet 8¼ inches. D. R. Cox and N. G. Gregor of Britain were second and third.

The second record was lowered when Herb McKenley of Jamaica took the 220-yard dash in 20.9 seconds from Lindy Remingo of Manhattan College and Les Laing.

It takes a live one to swim up stream, but a dead one can float down.

An outstanding collection in the latest Spring and Summer fashions priced just right.

G. Baker Sets Angel Mark

Gene Baker set a new Los Angeles Angel record for iron-man performances last week as he played in his 394th consecutive game, breaking the mark of 394 held by Marvin Gudat.

Bob Boyd, Seattle batting star of the Pacific Coast League, is sporting a hefty .322 batting average. Teammate Artie is close behind with .313. Thurman of San Francisco has a steady .278.

Fabela Chavez At Olympic

Fabulo Chavez, colorful featherweight boxer with ideas of becoming the state champ, will meet Baby Face Gutierrez in the 10-round feature event at the Olympic Tuesday.

This one looms a thriller as both fighters shape up pretty even and sporting impressive ring victories.

DICK LANE—rookie football player from Scottsbluff Junior College is causing a mild sensation with his stellar defensive right halfback work in his bid for a position on the L.A. Rams grid team. Lane is playing the position with a fury that nobody in this game has ever seen before.

ON THE TURF

DEL MAR "Where the Turf Meets the Surf"—Going into its third week of the summer meeting, the 3-year-olds again will hold the spotlight. The big event awaiting them is the $10,000-added La Jolla Handicap at one mile to be run this Saturday.

RAMSEY

So far during the early season the feminine members of the sophomore set have shown to the best advantage and a large number of them are expected to be starters in the La Jolla Handicap. Danae, who won the Oceanside Handicap at six furlongs will no doubt be a starter in Saturday's featured event. This fleet filly ran one of the fastest six panels of the meeting. Her time was 1:10 1-5 and was two lengths in front over the masculine Stranglehold at the finish. Before winning the Oceanside Handicap she won her last two races at Hollywood Park, beating some of the best fillies in the West.

Although she has never been tested over a distance of ground, but in the manner she has won her races this writer has every reason to believe she will go the distance in the La Jolla Handicap. Another filly that is expected to go postward for this event is the Yolo Stable's Tonga. She whipped a field of older fillies and mares not long ago in an overnight feature, coming from eighth place to gain the victory over Worn Out by a short head.

NEW CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO — Second Glory, one of the best sprinters seen at the Caliente oval in many months rattled his fast heels over eight other good sprinters to score by one length over the favored Foreign Loan in the featured Annandale Handicap. It was Foreign Loan that broke on top and was in front to the quarter pole when Second Glory uncorked his burst of speed to take a four-length lead of the favorite coming down the home stretch. It was Second Glory with Jockey Louis M. Leon riding like Eddie Arcaro to stall off the challenge of Second Glory, who just missed by a half length.

Olympic Boxing Title To Compton Ed Sanders

By Edw. "Abie" Robinson

Ed. Sanders, the only California boxer from Compton College to win an Olympic boxing title is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hays Sanders, 9328 Compton Ave.

Young Sanders took to boxing

RING KING — Ed Sanders,

three years ago and flashed early form as a good prospect. He was encouraged by his father who in his youth was a pretty fair heavyweight himself.

Sanders' ring success started this year when he won our Los Angeles Times Golden Gloves tournament. Following this, he won the Chicago Tournament of Champions as member of the Times team.

Ed has told his parents that he wants to return to college after he finishes his hitch in the Navy, get his degree in Physical education and then go into the coaching profession.

We understand that several top-flight professional boxing trainers are interested in signing the colorful heavyweight to a pro. career.

The former Compton College student ended a 20-year-Olympic victory drought with a golden cascade of first-place medals. This was the first time America ever has won the ring team Crown. The boxing team will certainly enjoy the plaudits of the many thousand Negro sports fans as all five Olympic titlists are Negroes.

LIGHT MIDDLEWEIGHT: Laszlo Papp, Hungary, outpointed Theunis Van Schalkwyk, South Africa, 3-0.

MIDDLEWEIGHT: Floyd Patterson, USA (New York) knocked out Vasile Tita, Romania, first round.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT: Norvel Lee, USA (Washington, D.C.) outpointed Antonio Pacenza, Argentina, 3-0.

HEAVYWEIGHT: Ed Sanders USA (Los Angeles, defeated Ingemar Johansson, Sweden (Johansson disqualified in second round for not trying).

Gallardo Wins

Chalky Wright's got a tough cookie in young undefeated Dave Gallardo. The hard-punching featherweight scored a stunning 12-round split decision over previously unbeaten Bobby Why in another Olympic Auditorium thriller.

Both boys were bleeding after the 12 torrid rounds and Why sported two ugly gashes under his right and left eyes. Gallardo had crimson flowing from a cut over his right optic.

Although Why showed plenty of heart we thought free-punching Gallardo scored a clear-cut decision. Sparky Rudolph, Why's manager, was pretty sore about the ring officials, who saw the referee tab it a draw and two judges giving the edge to the winner.

South Park Gets New Scoreboard

A new scoreboard will be installed at the South Park baseball field as a result of a letter from R. C. Jackson, 730½ East 15th Street, to Councilman Kenneth Hahn.

Hahn requested George Hjelte, General Manager of the Department of Recreation and Parks, to install a baseball scoreboard because of the increased attendance and activities at South Park. This improvement will add to the enjoyment of the thousands of citizens in the community who are enjoying the baseball facilities at South Park as a result of Councilman Hahn's efforts to secure greater recreational facilities for the district.

46 Grid Stars At Florida A & M

TALLAHASSEE. — Forty-six candidates, plus an unknown quantity, the 1952 freshman class will report August 18 to make bids for Coach "Jake" Gaither's Fighting Rattler football team at Florida A and M College.

Among the hopefuls are 25 lettermen and 21 non-monogram winners, many of the latter who are anxious to make good this season.

FLORAL TOKEN — A large floral design of roses was presented to Mrs. Michael Fanning, wife of the local postmaster, by Addie McWashington (left), a representative of the National Federation of Postoffice Clubs. Mrs. Fanning was not able to attend, her husband appearing for her at the ceremony instead. The ceremony was part of the NACW's mass meeting at the Shrine Auditorium.

NACW Program Enthralls Delegates

SCANNING PROGRAM—Ella K. Mays, an EAGLE columnist, displays for the inspection of Mrs. I. W. Rowan, Administrative Secretary of N.A.C.W., with headquarters in Washington, D.C. and delegate to the NACW convention, a program she designed especially for the gathering. The souvenir program was a well-edited publication with a complete listing of the daily schedule of activities at the convention. Mrs. Mays pens the column, "Miss Welcome."

The 28th biennial session of the National Association of Colored Women was called to order last Friday when a program of interesting activities was launched.

Headed by their leaders, Mrs. Ella P. Steward, national president, and Mrs. Gertrude R. Hicks, state president, delegates representing 44 states sat under the light of the moon and stars Monday night at Pilgrimage Bowl to be entertained for two hours without intermission by a galaxy of stars of radio, stage, screen and television.

Promptly at 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Vassie Reece-Wright, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, introduced mistress of ceremonies A. C. Harris Bilbrew, who handled the program from there on.

Opening the program was a terrific juvenile dance ensemble from Covan's Dance School that set the pace for the evening. Show stoppers were Jean Jackson with the beautiful contralto voice; Buddy Messine with his trumpet, from the Horace Heidt television show; James Lucas, favorite loca tenor; Benzell Graham, artistic whistler; Cecil Dandy, baritone who won first Horace Heidt TV prize two weeks ago; and Walter L. Hutcherson and his sensational square dancers.

Scat Man Crothers, after his performance in his own clever way, presented three top characters of the "Amos 'n' Andy" show —Alvin Childress, Spencer Williams, and Tim Moore. Ruby Dandridge of the "Beulah" show and Ginger Smock of TV's "Show-Boat" also appeared.

William Walker, veteran screen actor, spoke on "Future of Negro in Movies."

Kendrix Urges NACW to Support Morality, Dynamics in Education

The 56 year old National Association of Colored Women was called upon to support "a type of education based in a morality and a dynamics that will protect democracy," by Moss H. Kendrix, public relations counselor, who was keynoter for the Association's 28th biennial convention at the Shrine auditorium, in Los Angeles.

The Washington, D. C., speaker who represents the National Education assiciation, asked his audience to work for an atmosphere in which "our children once they are brought into the world in full control of their facilities, may grow into adulthood healthily, happily and without fear."

He called "education and democracy" dependent inherents" and pointed out that "education must support the democratic practice that affords the right to teach and the right to learn without those restraints that are inconsistent with freedom."

Challenging women and education "to give America a leadership that will prevent its losing democracy by default," Kendrix called upon the NACW to continue to support the NEA in its effort to promote free public supported programs of education adequate to meet the needs of all boys and girls. He commended the association for the support that it has given the NEA in the past.

The young public relations man was speaker at the first open session of the convention. This meeting was chaired by Mrs. Gertrude R. Hicks, president of the California State Association of Colored Women and national convention chairlady.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron, City of Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Supervisor Leonard Roach, and L. A. Postmaster Fanning, who received a trophy of appreciation for his employment policies, shared the program.

Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, Washington, D.C., 1st president of the Association gave the response for the greetings of welcome from city and county officials and representatives of local civic and fraternal groups while Mrs. Ella P. Stewart, Toledo, Ohio, the Association's current president outlined the planned objectives of the organization's 28th biennial session.

GODMOTHERS TAKE PART—The above energetic club members are busily taking part in the NACW convention which is now being held at Belmont High school. Surprise Party Seals Young Couple's Love

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson of 640 Hatchway, Compton, were honorees at a beautiful party Sunday, July 27, at the home of Cyril Shepard, 3025 9th avenue. The occasion was the observance of the couple's 10th wedding anniversary and sealed the young celebrants' love forever.

The home was attractively appointed for the gay celebration that took place during the afternoon. Scores of friends of the young couple were on hand to assist in the festivities. Most surprised by the sequel of events that led to the anniversary celebration was wife Hortense who know nothing of the planned celebration.

Mrs. Thompson was driven to the Westside home by her husband and requested to "let's drop in for a moment." She protested after noting that it appeared that some sort of party was going on and, "we have not been invited."

After running into the exciting surprise that was her own party, the happy honoree burst into tears. Afterwards she confided to friends she had grown furious at her husband's apparent carelessness in not paying any outward attention to their coming anniversary.

Plus the fact, she continued, he had shown some signs of stinginess and she made up her mind to separate. It was an overwhelming revelation when she learned that all the time it was her husband's greater love for her that kept him silent.

Among guests who kept the "secret" and assembled at the home of Shephard for the "surprise party" were Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph Jones, Frank Estes, Stonewall Turner, Charles Dirden, Clarence Hall, Commodore Wynn, Homer Clarke, Eugene Summerhour, Chester Comeaux and Mmes. Sue Shaw, Mildred Hardaman, Wilhemena Powell, Gertrude Gipson, Geneva Robinson and Marie Simpson.

Misses included Betty Jones, Juanita Cruse, Irmean Moore, Edythe Carr and Mattie Carr with Messrs. Victor Jordan, David Armstrong, Clifton Dixon, Charles Dirden, Alex Pendleton, Jesse Watson and Fred Randolph.

Fred (honoree) is a member of Jeep Smith's orchestra and Hortense is the band secretary. Other Jeepsters present were Charles Dirden, Clarence Hall, Juanita Cruse and Jesse Watson. The honorees received all sorts of gifts and the guests joined in the excitement at cutting the huge anniversary cake.

No copy will be accepted by the Society Editor unless it is typewritten, double-spaced and in the office by Mondays 6 p.m.

Due to the steady demand for pictorial coverage, appointments for pictures should be made at least two days in advance of events.

Emerson Smith Offers World Travel Service

An ambitious young man with a keen eye for business has opened a travel agency here which could solve all the little problems of those who must move about the country regularly. He is Emerson Smith, who was born here and is a product of Jefferson High School and Los Angeles City College. His agency is located in the lobby of the Watkins Hotel.

Married and the father of two sons, Smith has been working at the travel agency business for about 2½ years. He began in the employment of the Ray Cardello Company in Westwood. A year or so ago he switched to a job in the ticket office at International Airport.

The agency set-up which Smith now directs was suggested by Bill Watkins, president of the Watkins Hotel. Smith's first customer at the new stand was famed bandleader Louis Jordan. The agency offers to arrange trips to any point in the world, via whatever method of travel desired.

Among Smith's regular clientele are several nationally known figures, including Billy Eckstine and Count Basie.

Should Smith's local venture in travel agency turn out to be successful, he plans to open similar offices in five other cities: Chicago, New York, Detroit, Cleveland and San Francisco.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

My hair is very dry and brittle after a bleach. Why?

Bleached hair is inclined to be more or less dry, brittle, porous and lusterless. Oil treatments should be given frequently to keep the hair in the best condition possible so as to give it that natural, lustrous texture.

How can a dye be removed from a dark shade to apply a lighter shade?

A dye solvent (remover) may be used. Before using a dye remover, the operator should know the nature of the preparation that has been previously applied to the hair. The remover to be used for an acid dye or Egyptian henna will differ from the one selected for a compound henna or a metallic dye.

What is meant by virgin hair?

Virgin hair is hair that has not been treated for anything such as coloring or dressing.

immediate schedule. The Dr. Homer Harrises expecting in Chi.

He of course is Seattle's pride and joy; the Harrises are well known the length of this rocky coast. Incidentally his uncle is visiting here from Louisiana.

In town from Dayton, Ohio: Dr. Haskell who once practised here. Jennette Paront will go east for a visit later in the year, she decides.

I wouldn't be surprised if Jennette on such a trip would just remain in N. Y., her former home town. Curvaceous Eula Henderson getting her breath after helping her mother Mrs. Lucille Henderson entertained visitors from Omah.

Della McDonald quietly tossing to and fro the idea of flying east in Dec. for a fresh look at the lights, shops, shows, ole friends, etc. The Bill Warfield-Leontyne Price wedding set for the twenty-first.

The Charles Blacks expect her brother in from D.C. via SF for a month.

Albert McNeill to Tanglewood prior to N. Y. Faustina Johnson may go to NY. If so she'll continue onto Boston to visit her son.

Ruth Towles had a gay houseful for Sunday brunch. Her house guest Florabelle Pogue of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Roy Barkers of K. C. (they're visiting the Frank Thomases) and off-to-N.Y. Jo Cooper were the vital reasons for all the gayety. And gay it was, yup.

Needless to add with Ruth as hostess the accent included much music especially with several talented guests willing and able too. The Barkers and Ruth's friend leave for Denver soon en route home.

Edna McCormick busy having the interior of her house done in pastels has quiet reason for all the flurry. Her Haitain is due back in town later in the month.

He wants her to accompany him to Port-au-Prince for his father's birthday in November. She's acquiring a taste for Haitian coffee, plantains and brushing up on Henri Christophe so she may make it at that.

In town: Florence Evans from St. Loo. She was with the Urban League for ages. Lillian Skinner Malone of Dee Cee who visited her son here left Monday via air. En route home she will visit Flushing, L. I., whence lives her sister Ethel Lowry who has been far from well since last Febr.

The latter is National Secretary of the Links.

Jean Williams and Henrietta McMillen trained from Chi on a visit. They are at the Watkins. Watkins.

Helena Harper Coates and her son are due for a visit. They will be at the Norman Hopkinses.

Tommy Long, a captain now, is in town. Arrived Monday to visit in his native city.

Civil Rights

without using such words as "compulsory" FEPC, Senator Sparkman played an important part and has Governor Stevenson's support.

Governor Stevenson likewise declined to say that he would use his support to try to get the rules of the United States Senate amended so that debate on such things as fair employment practices legislation could be limited more easily.

No Cloture

"I do not know that I would," the Governor replied. "I should like very much to know more about that. My impression is there are two sides to the problem of closure (limiting debate), and it would be a very dangerous thing indeed to limit debate in a parliamentary body in a democracy.

"So far as this effects the program of legislation that is in the national interest, I think the Senate should themselves be able enough to devise ways and means of exercising restraint. However, the problem of closure hardly seems to me to be that easy.

"You could have filibuster, you could filibuster the anti-filibuster proposition. You could not even change the rule, for you could filibuster the effort to change. . . ."

The Governor added that he did not like to see filibustering used to postpone decisions on the nation's business, but he thought that perhaps it would be better to leave the adjustment of the Senate's rules to the Senate itself.

People and Places

JOHNNY and PHYLLIS OTIS and PRESTON and BETTYE LOVE are a frantic foursome. Last week during one of their infrequent outings these popular band leaders and their wonderful wives caught more fish than the law allowed. Here indeed are four who definitely know the score!

A Classy Chassis

CAUSING NOTHING BUT DISORDER both above and below the border is a great "brown" date from San Diego State, who stopped more cars than a traffic cop when she hopped across Los Angeles' favorite neet street . . . with a split skirt draped around her smooth shape tighter than the skin on a cue-ball????

WHAT WELL KNOWN DRUMMER was discovered "uncovered" and moving faster than his flying "sticks" as he got his "kicks" with several "slick chicks" . . . and the only thing they were wearing worth while was just a "smile"????

Earl Griffin, the smooth talking goodwill salesman, talked himself into a job with the Anheuser-Busch, million dollar Budweiser Beer family. Branch manager Ira P. Jones and his most charming wife catching the L'Tanya's dazzling Florentine Gardens show. Jones heads the West-Coast office of the beer company and appears to have both feet solidly on the American soil.

Pretty people with tendencies to be big in our so-called plush society often show their true colors when loot is to be spent. This type always looks for the cheapest way and whatever you managed to squeeze out em' they resent you for not letting them take you for a complete fool. Such is the case which involves a well-known, well liked, and brilliant westcoast news gal. She'll prove to her boss that the two lousy $25.00 checks did go for promotion publicity and not in her pocketbook as alleged. I am very disappointed in the lady's actions and it grieves us to think the club members would stand for such a thing.

Ethel Sissie Gordon, attractive westside looker is working up a sweat on her pretty brow. She is a member of the popular 13-Aides and her club is having a way-out affair come August 10th at the 2057 S. Hobart address and you and you are invited.

Sidney White, Turban room's top bartender is the youngest Grand Special Deputy in the order of Elks. California Golden West Lodge is dickering for the 1953 Elks convention.

Elihu (Dot) McGee is trying desperately to save Sue Jones' sleek sky blue cadillac. The T-men want to slap a lien on the car for fines and the dealer won't give it up until he gets his bread. McGee will need the power of attorney before he can act and a few dead presidents.

Spinola Mayfield is the latest attraction gracing the cashier counter at the Golden State Drug Store. Spinola sends the guys' hearts spinning when she drapes that knitted number about her torso. Aside to Bill Smallwood heading east to New York. Check the rumors flying on the coast that Ethel Sissie will soon leave for New York to make her third fling at marriage, a wealthy New Yorker of note is the catch.

Our boss's brilliant wife Juanita really came up with a masterpiece when she spoke at the fourth annual Links, Inc., national convention held in San Francisco. Mrs. Miller didn't pick her words when she told the fashionable group that: "The Negro woman's contribution to the advancement of their respective communities goes further than the festive board or latest fashions."

The causal manner in which a prominent westside school teacher is carrying on with the father of one of her pupils will

A NEW CRAZE—in summer drinks has hit the popular Hotel Watkin's swank Rubaiyat Room. The refreshing pause is called "Rumbacao." Leonard McClain, hustling salesman for the Simon Levi Company, is shown introducing it as bartender Bob Keith serves one of the delicious drinks to model Vera Francis and Eagle's society editor Miriam Christian. They're enjoying the latest in Christopher Columbus Rum special. Edward "Abie" Robinson also pictured looks on very approvingly.

New York Writer Lauds Late 'JT'

July 24, 1952

Dear Editor:

The death of your Theatrical Editor, J. T. Gipson, came as a great shock and a personal loss to one who had just renewed acquaintances with the late writer, via his column, the week before.

Although we didn't know the versatile colunist personally, many East Coast readers garnered a priceless insight into the character, the driving ambitions, the personal sorrows of the man, J. T. Gipson, through the impressions which appeared in your paper.

Your epilogue, "Final Curtain," in "Showbusiness," perhaps expressed it best of all: "He just needed the room to move in, the space that a Walter Winchell had, for instance . . ." But, even though Gipson wasn't granted that space in this life, he left an ever bigger legacy. Readers all over the country will read my columns, and the columns of others like me who've torn a page from Gipson's book, and they'll say:

"Gee, isn't that a little bit of Gip?"

What greater tribute to any man?

Sincerely,
EDWARD (Sonny) MURRAIN

Rita Hayworth Returns As "Trinidad" Feature At All RKO Theatres

"Affair in Trinidad," Columbia Pictures' new romantic drama which brings beautiful Rita Hayworth back to the screen, now playing at the RKO Hillstreet and Hollywood Pantages theatres. Glenn Ford, who starred with Miss Hayworth in the memorable "Gilda," again shares stellar honors. The featured cast of "Affair in Trinidad" includes Alexander Scourby, Broadway star Valerie Bettis in her movie debut and Torin Thatcher.

A Pretty "Package"

Miss Hayworth returns to the screen as a night club entertainer on tropical Trinidad. Ford, who starred with Miss Hayworth in the memorable "Gilda" and other films, is seen as the brother of her murdered husband, suspicious of the girl and of the manner in which she associates with an unsavory international intriguer.

As the Judge approached the bench in the early "bright" wanting to get himself another press agent, as Eddie Lee King had left him out of the paper too long, it was brought to his attention that the 'snob mob' of the westside thinks they're in a superior social 'whirl' and far above their east, south and north side brothers and sisters.

As he spots these 'characters' ap, paring before him, he wonders how many of them realize that before the good Attorney Loren Miller's restrictive covenent victory, they had to travel east to reach the furlong tract and the only 'browns' west of Western avenue were either going to work or on a sight seeing tour.

Never forget that no neighborhood is any worse than the people who live in it. Swank homes remodeled and reconditioned to accommodate 'paying guests,' in order that their ritzy owners can meet the payments on the third and fourth mortgages — makes these 'waxed fingered phonies' no better, or perhaps no worse, than any other citizen throughout the city . . . whose habits are not always pretty!!!!

WESTSIDE LOVE

After he and his wife picked up his brother-in-law from work at 11 p.m., stopped, had a few drinks and started for home again, his wife's brother, Ralph M. Smith, 30, who lives with them at 1428 W. 57th street, started an argument about sex relations between Virgil Stokes, 43, and Smith's wife, Marinets.

Stokes told him to wait until a later date and he would explain everything.

When they reached home the argument was so strong that Mrs. Stokes dialed for the police. Smith snatched the telephone away from her, squashed the side of her face with it and banged Stokes' head in with an unknown object and left them both for the Coroner.

However, they lived and Thera Dantignac of 1430 W. 57th street, took Stokes to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital, to have his head reshaped.

Never let your wife's brother know that you are kissing his wife. He may leave your head flattened flat, fancied the Judge. After all it's just a bit of westside love.

PISTOL PACKIN' POPPY ON WEST 41ST

When Leon Spencer, 27, 4259½ S. Main, arrived home from work and found a note from his wife, Thelma, 27, that she had left his ways of living, he blew his top, snapped his cap, got his 7.65 Belgium Browning, hopped in his '39 Studebaker Sedan and broke all speed records getting to 619½ W. 41st Place, to find his wife at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Betty and Don Brown.

When Mrs. Spencer refused to see him, he kicked the door in, pistol whipped her and gave the Browns a few licks when they interfered. He made the three of them, at gun point, pack Mrs. Spencer's clothes in two suitcases and forced Brown to carry them out to the car.

He dragged his wife down the stairs, out to the car and hit her several times with the gun to make her get in the car. When he got in the car on the other side, she jumped out and ran. He caught up and beat her some more.

At this time the police arrived and Spencer threw his gun to the sidewalk from the car in front of 720 W. 41st Place.

The victims were treated at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital with the prints of the gun being removed from Mrs. Spencer's head. Three weeks before he gave her a good beating without the gun.

Don't go away mad, just go away, and don't leave a pistol for your husband to pack or you may find yourself packing unwillingly to return, and getting gun whipped by the pistolest packin'est poppy in town.

AFFAIRS IN WESTSIDE CLUB

Hattie Jackson, 35, 423 W. 83rd street, and her husband, Hartfort, were out nightclubbing with some friends when he noticed that she kept disappearing from the group with different men. He accused her of intimacies with other men back of this exclusive night club. When she got home Jackson drove up, gave her a down to earth husbandly beating about the head, face and body, leaving her with black eyes, busted lips, and paining limbs and refused to let her see a doctor.

Jackson took Mrs. Jackson's purse, barricaded himself in the bedroom and she slipped out and blew the whistle for 'Oscar Law.'

A slogan from the Judge, "never have affairs with men in front of your husband without getting his okay or you will find yourself busted open in the most unusual places unbecoming a female.

WESTSIDE BRIBE

"I'd give you officers $35 a piece if you'd let me go." That was the statement to agents of the law by Charlie Mae Holloway, 26, 233 Bloom street, after finding her truck driver boyfriend, Samuel Young, 26, 1436½ W. 36th street, at home in action with two women, Shirley Sheppard of 2927½ S. Manhattan Place, and Margaret Jackson of 972 E. 41st Place. Pulling out her pocket blood tester she sliced Young and Mrs. Sheppard about the body.

"I did not cut anyone. If I pulled a knife out, I'd do it right and cut the face. They'll have to take them to the General," she said.

"First find out a policeman's price before trying to bribe one or you will end up in the pokey every time if you don't meet it, especially if there are witnesses to your making blood flow like wine from your boy-friend," muttered the Judge in sharp sarcasm.

WEST L.A. BATTLE AXE AND BREAD

Samuel Edward Anderson, 31, 11350 Sunset boulevard, was towed home by Edward Brozard at 12:20 p.m. after being out gambling in a crap game with a woman and two men without his weekly bread check and in a stinky drunken condition.

His bread cooker, Lucinda, 38, questioned him about it and pushed him off the back porch when his answers did not meet with her approval.

Anderson, a carpenter by trade, crawled up the back steps with a .38 American revolver in his hand, the only thing he had left after the crap game at 43rd and Main. After getting up off his knees, in search of Mrs. Anderson, who was now lying down across the bed, in the master bedroom of their swanky Sunset Strip home. He fired one shot which landed in her leg. He had been drinking kind of heavily and was plenty drunk, but this sobered him up and he called the wagon boys for himself." He must have been drunk to express his sober mind and sober to express his drunk mind—calling the boys on himself," mused the Judge.

"Never shoot your battle axe in the leg after losing your bread money in a crap game for you will find yourself lacking of whiskey, food and the usable contents of your head, functioning as a brain, in more ways than one.

The "ole" Judge dismounted the bench for the day thinking that he would keep Eddie King as his publicity agent, and smiled over at the bailiff, who was still suffering from the earthquakes, the "shakes," hangover, or a bad night on the westside.

Youngster Held On Rape Charge

Bessie Coleman, 63, 2112 East 117th street, reported to Sheriff's Deputies Saturday that her 19-year old daughter, Elizabeth, was the victim of rape by a 14 year old boy.

Miss Coleman stated that on May 18, between six and eight p.m., she cut through an empty lot when she was accosted by a 14-year-old boy who took her to her home and assaulted her.

Reports about town that several more secret indictments will be issued to well known heroin peddlers and natch the boys are plenty jittery these days.

Mac Pinkston, dapper sportsman is cleaning up at a New York Golf course. Mac is taking in the big city for a few weeks. New Yorkers say the Californian is hard to beat at $25 per hole.

Maurice Saunders, the gal with the know-how with a cook book is turning out meals for Curtis Mosby's San Francisco swank Supper Club at $100 per week.

Song writer Joe Green was sporting a wealthy Beverly Hills number the other eve. Stan Kenton just recorded seven of Joe's tunes.

Johnny Hodges, Mr. Sax, just returned to the Duke Ellington ork, seems to think he'll be greater with the master than heading his own unit. Al Hibbler said he also would return if a loot figure could be agreed upon.

Policy operators may set up a nation-wide organization. Caught couple big timers coming out of what easily ran into a three-hour pow-wow. The boys even plan to hire a well known attorney to handle the legal dept.

A certain grey political figure and ex-New York newsman are rumored to be interested in a South Los Angeles newspaper. We suspect the organ will be used to rally the Negro votes.

Thelma Le, Detroit designer, will make her L. A. debute tonight (Thursday) when she will present Auctione Fashione'e at the Oasis Club. It is a twilight affair starting at 6:30 until 8:30. All ideas for this unique show were created from her fashionable Studio Room in Hotel Watkins. Models Connie Jones, De Von Middleton, Johnnie Gillas and Martha Jones will be the eye-appealing gals to wear Thelma's creations.

Norma Storms, pulsating westside looker will be tossing deluxe hamburgers at you from a 2047 W. Jefferson stand soon.

Traffic jam in the 3100 block on Western Avernoo is announcing that Bill Davis' newly remodeled Red Hut Broiler is doing business again. Which is good news. The crew is headed by likeable Chef Ray Mills and Bill Crawford Lsybeth Rogers, Rose Mary Hudson, Cora Newman, Gladys Terry, Rubye Brown, Laurita Alexander and Dorothy Donley as part of huge waitress crew. Cliff Allen who incidentally is taking his first job will work the service counter with a guy who calls himself Roy L. Johnson, Woody Brown expert window man assured us that ultra modern glass windows will sparkle like a diamond, so you might see inside and out.

Orchids to young Sammy Davis of the Will Matson trio who insisted that his father and uncle go along as an act when he joined Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis for a tour. Davis is one of our all-time great performers.

Eartha Kitt, singing star of the Broadway musical New Faces of 1952, certainly proved one point to Katherine Dunham's ex-boss. Her latest four-page spread in Life's magazine is proof that when you've got it, you just can't keep a good gal down.

Kenneth Hill, popular member of the younger set and one of the twin sons of the prominent Asa Hill clan will marry pretty Gloria Crouch this month.

Bouquets go to Mrs. Clark, ex-policewoman living in the 2900 block on Chesapeake. She averted a would-be tragedy involving a respected churchman and a hot-headed white neighbor. The churchman's 11-year-old son and the neighbor's daughter had one of their usual kid fights. The neighbor who weighs 160 pounds and 55-years set upon the churchman's son when he saw him fighting his daughter. When the father returned home from work and found his son battered up, he asked him what was the trouble. He told him what happened and without further questioning he reached for his colt .45 and was out the front door and Mrs. Clark was waiting. Her police experience taught her what to expect. She got him to listen to her way thus halting a certain shooting and maybe a race riot.

Eretta Coats, St. Louis school teacher certainly is having a real California good time. She is visiting with two of the city's most attractive and popular young ladies in the person of Mignon (Pam) Spender and Lenore (Elbow Bend) Lewis.

Striking Superior, Claimed

A wounded hero of the Korean war, still in a hospital from serious injuries received when he was hit by a mortar shell in Korea, this week was under arrest and detention at Camp Cooke Army Base after an ugly incident involving race discrimination.

First Lt. Ernest J. Collier, 2967 Fifth avenue, is being held in the psychiatric ward of the Army hospital, despite the fact that he was found "sane and responsible" by psychiatrists in the hospital Monday.

Lt. Collier was awaiting the filing of formal charges, facing the possible accusation of striking a superior officer, and an army court martial.

Serious Charge

Although his right arm is said to be totally incapacitated, Lt. Collier is accused of having shoved the officer of the day at the hospital.

Mrs. Ceola Collier, wife of the thrice-wounded hero, however, gave a graphic account of how her husband was first struck by the officer and slammed up against the door.

The incident occurred early Sunday and stemmed from Collier's inability to find accommodations for his wife in the town's motels. He was refused admission for her because she is a Negro, he claimed.

NAACP Lawyer

Collier is being defended by the Los Angeles branch of the NAACP which sent Atty. Thomas G. Neusom to Camp Cooke to investigate.

Mrs. Collier went to visit her wounded husband Sunday. He tried and failed to obtain accommodations in Santa Maria because of the race discrimination that exists there. He then invited her into the hospital ward and she sat in a chair near his bed.

The nurse in charge ordered Lt. Collier to have his wife leave. He refused and the nurse then'

LOSER — Al "Chink" King lost his case Wednesday and was sentenced to jail for possession of narcotics.

Walker Asks Rehearing in Freedom Fight

A motion for a rehearing in the case of Lawrence J. (Bucky) Walker, serving a life-term in San Quentin for the double murder of Doris and Richard Cook, was filed last week with the District Court of Appeals in San Diego.

Request for the rehearsing followed the Appeals Court rejection of Walker's latest plea for freedom, which was heard July 8.

Atty. John Preston, who with Atty. Crispus Wright is handling the appeal, advised that in the event the rehearing motion is denied, the case will be carried to the California Supreme Court.

Unanimous Decision

The 13-page unanimous decision of the three-man court completely rejected Walker's contention that he had not been given a fair trial, and confirmed the Riverside conviction.

They denied that remarks of the trial judge to the jury were prejudicial. The judge, after the jury had deliberated lengthily without coming to a verdict, stated that there was "apparently one juror who was perhaps unwilling to discuss the evidence fairly and squarely with the other jurors."

They also denied that there was any prejudice due to the fact

'Chink' King Found Guilty In Dope Case

Al "Chink" King was found guilty on a narcotics rap Wednesday afternoon and was immediately sentenced to an indeterminate sentence in State prison of not less than one year and not more than five years.

The case will be reviewed by the parole board at the end of the first year. Time already served is to be deducted from the sentence.

The jury apparently had a hard time weighing the evidence, trying to determine whether King was an innocent victim of mistaken identity as he claimed, or whether police had caught him just after he had dropped the "hot" evidence next to a post office box March 27.

Hearing of evidence ended Tuesday evening in Judge Clement D. Nye's court, and the case was turned over to the jury.

Returned to Jury Room

The jurymen deliberated all morning, recessed for lunch, then returned to try again to reach a verdict.

King was defended in his plea of innocence by Attys. Martha Malone Jefferson and Walter Gordon.

King, 30, who lives at 2031½ Rimpau boulevard, was arrested on the felony charge when police claimed they saw him leave a small white package on the ground near a mail box at 29th and Chesapeake streets.

Denied Charges

They claimed, further, that the package, when retrieved, contained one ounce of pure heroin.

King took the witness stand in his own defense. He denied knowing anything about the contents of the little white package, denied that he had placed it near the mail box, denied that he had been driving on the street where the mail box is situated, and denied that he had gotten out of his car for any purpose at all, until he reached his home.

After his arrest, King, who arrived here broke from New Orleans in 1949, was released on $10,000 bond. Then troubles began to multiply.

He was picked up again on an

Eagle Opens Drive To Enroll Voters

Plans for a gigantic registration drive were rapidly reaching completion this week as the California Eagle turned all of its resources into spearheading a drive to register every eligible Negro citizen in the Los Angeles area.

"This is the most important election in the history of the Negro in America. We stand on the threshhold of full citizenship if we all exercise our democratic right to vote and cast our ballots wisely at the polls. If we fail to do our civic duty and vote in this important presidential election, all the gains we have made in the last 10 years can easily be lost," Loren Miller, Eagle publisher, commented.

S. Wendell Green, editor of the Eagle who was a member of the California delegation at the Chicago convention, pointed out that the importance of the Negro vote in key northern states cannot be overemphasized. "California casts one of the largest votes in the electoral college, and a large Negro vote can tip the election balance in California," Green said.

"To just talk about it is not enough. There are a large number of our citizens who are not eligible to vote in the coming election for technical reasons, such as moving, or failing to vote in the June primary or the November general election in 1950. Then there are a disgraceful number of citizens who are just too lazy to register. If we are to be effective in the coming election, every possible voter must be registered and every eligible voter must cast his vote in November."

Disc Jockeys Help

Every means of reaching the people will be utilized in this coming campaign. Registration closes September 11, leaving only a month to get everyone registered.

Radio, television and the newspapers are being urged to join in this civic crusade. Several popular disc jockeys have been contacted and they have given their word that they will plug the registration drive every day on their programs. Television shows are being urged to assist in the same program.

Various lodges are being asked to use their organizations to push the program.

Fireworks Loom in Elks' Election Fight

Attention of Los Angeles' Elkdom this week was focused on the 53rd Grand Lodge meeting at Atlantic City Aug. 23 to 29, with local delegates planning to leave here Tuesday, set to make an all-out bid to bring the Grand Lodge to Los Angeles in 1953.

Main fireworks at the convention are expected to center around election to the powerful, much coveted post of Grand Exalted Ruler of all Elkdom.

The battle to inherit the mantle so proudly held for many years by the late J. Finley Wilson is shaping up as a two-way battle between Robert H. Johnson, who succeeded to the post of Ruler upon the death of Wilson, and Herbert Jones, government worker of Washington, D.C.

Fine Orator

Jones, now Grand Organizer, is an eloquent orator, capable of swaying, moving and convincing an audience, and is considered a serious challenge to Johnson.

Johnson, however, has extensive and solid support. The regular cabinet of the Independent Brotherhood of the Protective Order of Elks of the World, its top committee, is reported to be backing him, and he is widely regarded as the fabulous Wilson's choice as a successor.

The Los Angeles lodge, along with a number of others, has endorsed Johnson.

Woman Injured In Teen Age Row

A teen-age gang fight ended with four .25 caliber bullets being fired through the windows of 144 East Ann street, a 27-year-old mother shot in the chest and a general uproar throughout the William Mead Homes late Saturday.

Witnesses stated that three 15, 16 and 17 year old boys were fighting when the 16-year-old broke away and ran up the stairs in the house and the 17-year-old fired four rapid shots at him through the upstairs windows.

Mrs. Ruth Billingslea, 27, 118 East Ann, was upstairs in her apartment about 200 yards from the fracas when she heard the commotion. She walked to her door which leads to the balcony, and a bullet went through the house, riccocheted and stopped in her chest.

Pair Fought Over Bread

By EDDIE LEE KING

A can opener, wielded by Rogene Long, 37, 4722 Honduras street, over a loaf of bread, closed the life of her common-law husband, Marion Manard Roberts, 40, Sunday afternoon.

Around 5 p.m. Sunday, Mrs. Long, a domestic worker, and Roberts, a maintenance man, left the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Maxie at 1710 E. 84th street, for their own residence and immediately started arguing over who was to buy a loaf of bread.

Mrs. Long said that as she started preparing dinner, Roberts changed his clothes, put on slippers and told her, "I'll do my own cooking!" "All right, you do your own cooking, I'm going to lie down on the davenport," she said.

Beat Her Twice

He took a chicken out of the ice box and got a kitchen knife, about 12 inches long. Mrs. Long suspected he was going to attack her and told him "I have had enough of this and I'm going to leave you." As she began to get up he knocked her down. Holding the knife in one hand he beat her black and blue about the face and head, she said.

She tried to reason with him and he went back into the kitchen. As she started for the front door, he grabbed her and beat her some more, threw her in a corner of the kitchen where he continued to kick and beat her.

Mrs. Long said she grabbed the can opener from the table and stabbed him in the chest. She stated that she stabbed him several more times before he dropped the knife.

As Roberts yelled, "I'm hurt! I'm dying! I'm dead!" and staggered to the davenport, Mrs. Long called her neighbor, Ruth Wright of 4720 Honduras, and asked her to call an ambulance. When Mrs. Long called she shouted, "My husband hit me and I knocked the devil out of him!"

The two women returned to find Roberts rolling around on the floor, muttering his last words. When an ambulance crew and police officers arrived on the scene, Mrs. Long was applying ice to Roberts' head and chest.

Roberts was pronounced dead at the hospital and Mrs. Long was arrested on suspicion of murder. She told the officers where to find a gun that she said Roberts had threatened to kill her with when he kicked her around on previous occasions.

An inquest is set for Friday.

Police Find Pool Of Blood; Victim, Suspect Vanish

Shots were fired, police were called, an ambulance was summoned. A big pool of blood stained the grass, the sidewalk, spilled over into the gutter.

It happened at 8:40 p.m. Sunday at the corner of 22nd and Trinity streets.

But no one knows what happened. At least, those who do know are keeping mum and out of sight.

When police arrived in response to the telephone call, they found the street-corner empty. No one was there. No one in the vicinity knew anything about a shooting.

There was no victim, no witness, no evidence. Except the blood, and there was plenty of that. Whoever had been hurt had apparently been badly hurt.

Police were miffed. They're still trying to figure out who done what and why.

'After Hours' Spot Raided By Policemen

A pre-dawn Monday police raid of a popular west side "after-hours" spot netted a bag of arrests of a number of well-known citizens.

Police swooped down on the swank home of Roy "Sonny" Howard, 2953 Dalton street, at 3:35 a.m.

They claimed they found "Sonny" dispensing liquor to the men and women present, and took the whole lot of them down to jail.

Prominent Residents

Among those charged with "drinking in public" were Gerald Foster Wiggins, prominent pianist who has accompanied well-known musicians such as

Hate Groups Crippled by New Covenant Court Rule

Neighborhood associations which have been frightening property owners out of selling race restricted homes to Negroes by circulating tall tales of liability for astronomical damages were looking around for a new sales talk this week to plug for residential segregation. They were told by the District Court of Appeals in no uncertain terms last Wednesday that the Constitution won't tolerate use of courts to collect damages where a signer of a racial covenant sells his property to a Negro.

"Of the civil rights conferred," said Justice Paul Vallee, speaking for the Court, "none is clearer and few more vital than the right to buy a home and live in it. . . . In the light of the Restrictive Covenant cases it is the duty of this State to refrain from exerting judicial power to give legal sanction and effect to racial covenants in an action at law for damages." The case was argued by Attorney Loren Miller last June 18.

In the course of the opinion Justice Vallee reviewed the history of racial covenants and pointed out that in 1948 the United States Supreme Court held that state courts could not use their powers to prevent a Negro from owning, buying, using or occupying real property anywhere. That decision, he said, "erected a broad barrier to segregation by judicial decree."

Fourteen of the neighborhood associations filed a brief through John W. Preston, former supreme court justice, urging the Court to uphold the right to collect damages. These groups are federated in a city-wide organization and

Green Gives Inside Dope On Politics

What happened to Kefauver? What about the civil rights plank? What about the feud between Dawson and Powell? What kind of a man is Stevenson? WHAT ABOUT JOHN SPARKMAN OF ALABAMA?

These and many other questions have been asked of the Eagle by its readers since the Democratic convention closed. Wendell Green, who attended the convention as a member of the California delegation will answer these questons in a series of articles starting this week revealing the inner workings of the Democratic National Convention. The first article starts this week on page 2.

said to have withdrawn his bid for the post of Grand Exalted Ruler in favor of Johnson.

Final plans for pressing Los Angeles' claim for the Grand Lodge in '53 were made at the regular meeting of the Golden West Lodge No. 86 Tuesday night at the Elks Hall, 4016 S. Central avenue.

Heads Group

Heading the delegation of 10 representatives from Los Angeles to the Atlantic City conclave is Atty. Marshall Denton, Jr., Exalted Ruler of Golden West Lodge.

E. Preston Green, president of the Pacific States Association, will head the entire West Coast group of about 40 delegates. Douglas Simpson, of San Francisco, Grand Organizer for the West Coast, will be in charge of the San Francisco delegates.

Others of the local lodge planning to attend are: Past Grand Exalted Ruler George A. Jackson, Wendell Hill, Brig. Gen. Matthew L. Lipscomb, Past Exalted Ruler Eddie Ewell, Past Exalted Ruler Wayne Brown, and Grand Esquire Henry W. Davis.

Expect 75,000

Some 75,000 are expected to converge upon Atlantic City from practically every city in the country.

Highlights of the convention will include awarding of the coveted Elijah Lovejoy Medal to Branch Rickey for opening up big league baseball to Negroes.

The award to Rickey, former general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and now manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be made by Hobson R. Reynolds at the Civil Liberties meeting Aug. 25. Previous Lovejoy medal winners were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche in 1951 and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of N.J. in 1950.

In addition to the serious business of the conclave, the six days at Atlantic City will be crammed with every type of entertainment, including the Grand Lodge ball, golf tournament, moonlight boat ride, bathing beauty contest, and the Grand Lodge parade.

Then King got into trouble still a third time early in July. Like the first arrest, this was on a narcotics violation. Police said they saw him cache a package containing three ounces of heroin in the vacant lot next to his impressive home. He was arraigned on August 8, and is scheduled to appear August 19 to enter a plea of guilty or not guilty.

Sparkman Spars on Issues of Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — Senator John J. Sparkman, Democratic nominee for vice president, told a television audience Sunday that he believed that the civil rights issue can be "worked out by reasonable men" if divorced from politics. He justified his own opposition to past FEPC bills on the ground that they were too rigid.

Meanwhile, the American Veterans Committee, seeking to eliminate civil rights as a campaign issue, wrote to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson urging that each agree to "unequivocally support all reasonable and necessary steps, including enforcement on a Federal level, to guarantee to all Americans:

"The right to vote in all primary and general elections.

"The right to equality of employment opportunity.

"The right to security of the person."

In a further letter to the opposing Vice-Presidential candidates, Senators Sparkman of Alabama and Richard M. Nixon of California, the A. V. C. called upon them to state they would work for adoption of an amendment to the Senate rules to outlaw the filibuster as a means of stopping the enactment of civil rights legislation.

No Vote

The Vice President can vote only in the event of a tie in the Senate, over which he acts as Presiding Officer.

However, it is within his province to rule on whether a limitation of debate can be imposed on a motion to take up a measure. This ruling is of great importance when a motion is made to take up a measure to change the rules.

In 1948, when the Republicans controlled Congress, the late Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Presiding Officer of the Senate with the Vice-Presidency vacant, ruled that cloture could not be applied to a motion. The very next year, Vice President Alben W. Barkley reversed this ruling, but the Senate, by a vote of 46 to 41, overruled him in turn.

Sparkman appearing in the "Meet The People" program repeatedly sidestepped questions on how he would rule as Presiding Officer of the Senate on outlawing the filibuster on any motion to take up civil rights measures.

He said he would "certainly study up on the history and precedents just as any one would who is called upon to make such a ruling." He declined to say what his ruling might be, although there have been two such rulings, one for and the other against limitation of debate, while he has been in the Senate.

"If we could get the kind of a program I suggest — divorced from politics and worked out by reasonable men," he said, "there would be no problem of a filibuster."

• The Senator said that, if elected, he hoped to be a "working Vice President" who would be "given any job I could do."

Last week three men who have been on all sides of the Federal Fair Employment Practices dispute have come out of conferences, with Governor Stevenson saying that they could go along with his views: One was Senator Blair Moody of Michigan, who helped lead the fight for the broadest possible F. E. P. C. policy at the Chicago convention, another was Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, who thought that Senator Moody was trying to read the South out of the party at Chicago, and a third was the Governor of Mississippi, Hugh White.

Inside Story!

Kefauver Halted By Bosses, Dixiecrats

By WENDELL GREEN

What happened to Senator Estes Kefauver?

Everyone who watched the Democratic Convention on television has asked that question.

The Senator from Tennessee was leading on the first two ballots, was holding his own on the third, and suddenly the roof fell in and Gov. Adlai Stevenson received the nomination with the convention hall in a tumult late Friday night as delegation after delegation clamored to get on the bandwagon.

Most Popular

Senator Kefauver, who was the most popular candidate among the delegates, lost because of his uncompromising stand on the question of seating the Virginia delegation when they refused to take the "loyalty oath." This earned him the undying enmity of the "solid South." This, coupled with the fact that the big-city bosses were solidly aligned against him cost him the chance for the presidency and the vice-president spot.

When the big-city steamroller smashed him, ten Southern governors went to President Truman and informed him that Kefauver absolutely was not acceptable to them, and Senator John Sparkman got the nod.

The New York delegation led by Harriman, Senator Lehman and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., got together with Gov. Mennen Williams and Senator Blair Moody of Michigan, and the delegations committed to Senator Kefauver, and Senator Humphry's supporters and proposed a statement of loyalty to the Democratic party as a condition of participating in the convention.

Harriman Weakens

When the sessions opened Wednesday, it was learned that the Harriman forces had weakened and were prepared to submit a weak substitute resolution. Senator Kefauver let it be known that he would not compromise on the resolution and the California delegation backed him to a man, as did other delegations committed to Kefauver.

The Harriman forces were forced to submit the strong resolution, and in a long and bitterly fought session the resolution was passed.

Meanwhile the city bosses were working behind the scenes trying to start a Stevenson boom, and weren't meeting with much success.

Rayburn Stalled

Thursday during a 15-hour continuous session, a resolution was offered to seat Virginia despite her refusal to sign the pledge. This move was voted down, but Chairman Sam Rayburn stalled and refused to give the tally. Suddenly Illinois changed her vote and many states followed suit with only the Harriman, Kefauver and Humphreys delegations holding fast. Virginia was seated and also South Carolina and Louisiana in spite of their non-compliance with the resolution.

This set the groundwork for a Stevenson-Jake Arvey alliance with the South.

Friday evening after two ballots and Kefauver still leading the convention was recessed for two hours. President Truman, who had let it be known that he favored Stevenson, had dinner with several party bigwigs, among them Averill Harriman. Before the next balloting, Harriman announced his withdrawal in favor of Stevenson and the convention buzzed with activity as pressure was put on various delegations to change their vote.

However, the convention refused to stampede as expected when Harriman withdrew. The procedure of voting was slowed down by large delegations requesting a poll of their delegates to give the machine boys a chance to work. Michigan finally capitulated, deserting Kefauver for Stevenson and the avalanche was on.

Fear that Russell would throw his votes to Stevenson in exchange for the vice-presidency was the reason given by Northern liberals for deserting Kefauver.

Kefauver lost the fight for the nomination, but his uncompromising stand won him the respect and admiration of liberals all over the nation. He will be a man to reckon with in the future.

the Golden West Lodge, gave his wholehearted endorsement to the drive. "We will be glad to coordinate our program with any other registration program. We are sending out our monthly newsletter urging every Elk to be sure he is registered and then to see to it that his neighbors are registered. This election is more important to Negroes than any other one. The proof is the great interest and consideration given the Negro vote in both national conventions," he said.

Elks Back Move

Robert Bentley Strather, exalted ruler of Joe Bass Lodge in the Watts area, said: "Registration is our most pressing immediate job. Particularly in the Watts area where we have a large new population. We are completing plans to go all-out and do a block job to see that every eligible person in our community is registered."

Ethel Bryant, field secretary in Congressman Sam Yorty's office, is compiling a list of deputy registrars in the community, and seeking interested persons to become deputy registrars in precincts where there are none.

Plans are being formulated for a "Registration Sunday," when every minister in the community will be urged to speak on the subject, and deputy registrars will be present at the churches to register the members.

Various organizations are banding together to establish a car pool to enable invalids to register.

Anyone who wants to register and desires to know the location of the nearest deputy can call the Eagle office, AD. 4-0161. A list of the addresses of the deputy registrars is available in the office for that purpose.

that the murder charges had been joined with an alleged charge of rape and kidnapping of another woman months previously, a charge on which the jury failed to agree.

The judges held also that they saw no reason to question that the jury had determined the sufficiency of the evidence, or that there was any merit in the defense protest over refusal to grant a change of venue.

Walker, former Air Force sergeant stationed at March Field, was convicted of the double slaying of the Cooks on a lonely road March 26, 1951, after one of the lengthiest trials in Riverside county. Walker was found guilty on both counts of murder.

EARLY START — Young Doris Louise Worthy is already a past master at hurdling color bars. She is now the first Negro girl to represent Southern California at the All-State Scout Encampment at Cody, Wyo.

Doris Worthy At All-State Scout Camp

Young Doris Louise Worthy, despite her youth, has already made long strides in romping over race barriers with ease and fresh vigor.

The first Negro girl to be president of the Senior Board of the Los Angeles Girl Scouts, she is now the first Negro to be selected locally for the three week all-state encampment of the Scouts at the Buffalo Bill Scout Camp in Cody, Wyo. In addition, she is the first scout selected from the Los Angeles Council for such an expedition. She will return here Aug. 20.

A member of Troop 970, she left for the camp last week, after spending the early part of the summer as assistant counsellor at Camp Osito, in Big Bear. Miss Worthy was one of five young women selected for the Cody encampment from Southern California.

She was president of the Senior Board during 1951-52, her term of office ending in May, and has been with the Scouts for a little more than nine of her 18 years.

Miss Worthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton L. Worthy, 1737 W. 37th street, graduated from Dorsey high school in June of this year, after four years crammed with every type of honors and extra-curricular activity. She expects to enter Santa Monica Jr. College in the fall as a Sociology major, and hopes to make scouting her life work.

Fight Over Woman Ends in Killing

A row over the affections of a woman led to the killing of 50-year-old Steve Markham of 1811 E. 110th street, who was shot and killed by 34-year-old Dumont T. Gilbert of 1750 Palm Lane at the height of a quarrel in front of the Gibson Lunch Counter, Wilmington and Imperial avenues, Saturday morning.

Witnesses said that Markham accosted Gilbert in front of the lunch counter and accused him (Gilbert) of telling friends that Markham was living with Mrs. Gilbert. He added the boast that women did like him because he had more experience than younger men.

After some arguments and threats on both sides, Markham said that he would knock Gilbert's teeth down his throat if he didn't stop talking like that as he was not a wife-stealing man.

Gun Jammed

Gilbert told Markham that he would kill him before he knocked his teeth down his throat. More argument followed and as Markham swung Gilbert took out his gun and fired. When Markham fell he pumped three more slugs into his stomach and as he tried to fire again the gun jammed.

Willie Morris, 26, 1628½ E. Palm Lane, who had witnessed the shooting, hit Gilbert in the face when the gun jammed.

Lawrence Scott, 38, 1819½ E. Imperial highway, took the gun away from Gilbert. John Devers, 42, 2238 E. 117th street, said he heard a shot but could not stop Gilbert before he shot Markham three times more while he was lying on the ground.

Gilbert was arraigned Tuesday in the Compton Municipal Court and the preliminary hearing was set for August 20. He is represented by Atty. Rayfield Lundy.

called the major who was officer of the day.

Mrs. Collier then tells what happened:

"He (the major) came into the room and demanded that my husband remove me from the room immediately. My husband asked him could he get a place for me to stay to which he didn't reply. My husband then asked for the key to the clothing room which he was given. He got his bag out of the clothing room and attempted to pack it at which time the Officer of the Day told him that he wasn't leaving the premises.

"My husband replied 'if my wife is not welcome here I am not staying either.' My husband proceeded to pack. The officer was furious.

"He pushed my husband and struck him on his right arm, slammed him against the wall, by his right arm which is still in stitches and in a sling.

"My husband cried out in pain. When my husband regained his composure, he pushed the officer with his left arm. The M.P.'s and guards were called in by the major. My husband was placed under arrest, at prison at Camp Cooke."

Lt. Collier volunteered for service in the United States Army in February, 1942. He received his commisison on March 20, 1943, at Fort Benning, Ga. He served in the Mediterranean and European theaters of operation and wears three battle stars for World War II and the Purple Heart.

He was wounded twice in the Korean War. Serious wounds received from a mortar shell caused him to be sent back from Korea to undergo extensive surgery.

Several operations have been performed at the United States Army Hospital, Camp Cooke, the latest of which had not yet healed when Collier was manhandled by the major. Collier's right arm is totally incapacitated, according to his wife.

have been maintaining expensive headquarters from which a stream of literature has been mailed to all parts of the city.

In numerous instances property owners who have shown interest in selling to Negroes have been visited by the associations and threatened with damage suits in the event of such sales. Literature has been widely distributed and each of the groups has held widely publicized meetings in which property owners have been assured that the damage suits would be won.

The case is the latest in a long series of law suits involving racial covenants that began in California in 1890. In that year a San Diego federal judge held that a court could not enforce an agreement depriving Chinese of the right to own or occupy property. More than a quarter of a century later, in 1919, the District Court of Appeals held that agreements forbidding the sales of land to Negroes was unenforceable but the next year the California Supreme Court ruled that agreements against Negro use and occupancy of land were valid and enforceable in the courts. That decision stood until the Supreme Court decision of 1948.

Issue Orders

From 1919 to 1948 California courts issued countless injunctions forbidding Negroes to live in homes they had purchased and in at least one instance a home owner and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Laws, went to jail for defying an order to move out of their 92nd street home.

The consistent holding that agreements against use and occupancy of Negroes were enforceable met little challenge in the state until 1945 when Superior Judge Thurmond Clarke held in the celebrated Sugar Hill cases that issuance of such injunctions violated the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment. Two years later Superior Judge Stanley Mosk also refused an injunction on the ground that such an order was contrary to the public policy of the state. Both holdings were appealed.

Cases Reviewed

Meanwhile the United States Supreme Court had agreed to review similar cases arising in Missouri and Michigan and in 1948 that court took the same position that had been taken three years earlier by Judge Clarke and held that court enforcement was contrary to the guarantees of the Constitution. The cases were backed by the NAACP.

Hardly had the ink dried on the Supreme Court decision than supporters of residential segregation began their attempts to secure damages from whites who sold in violation of such agreements. In 1949 the Missouri Supreme Court held that damages could be collected and in 1951 the Oklahoma courts took the same view. However, early this year the Michigan Supreme Court decided that damage suits could not be maintained. The same result was reached by the federal district court in the District of Columbia in 1950.

The first suit to be filed in Los Angeles was against Oscar Reichow, baseball figure, who was sued for a quarter of a million dollars for selling his Leimert Park home to Negroes. A half dozen other suits were filed later and all of them were thrown out of court by Judge Daniel Stevens of the local superior court. The only appeal that was filed involved property on East 66th street, the case decided by the Appeals Court last week. The local branch of the NAACP secured the services of Attorney Miller in the case.

WATER CARNIVAL—Paddleboard polo will be one of the events to highlight South Park pool's gala community water carnival Tuesday, Aug. 19, starting at 8 p.m. sharp. Contestants are getting practice for the big event.

Langendorf Bread Put On Unfair List

A full-scale "Don't Buy" campaign against the Langendorf, Cal Ray and Barbara Ann bakeries loomed this week, as a release from Consumers Mobilization reported that its investigators had not been able to find a single Negro delivery salesman, baker, or office worker, employed anywhere in the state by the huge baking chain.

The report indicated that persons of Oriental and Mexican background are also discriminated against though less severely than are Negroes.

Manuel Talley, national chairman of Consumers Mobilization, informed the Eagle that the Cal Ray and Barbara Ann bakeries are subsidiaries of Langendorf and in reality they are all a part of the same company.

He said that the chain which sells bakery products throughout the state of California has its headquarters in San Francisco and has been established since 1925.

"Nearly 30 years of patronage from minority people has gone into the building of the Langendorf empire," said Talley. He indicated that the investigation was conducted a year ago and that some negotiation followed.

He said that the Langendorf, Cal Ray, Barbara Ann chain would have a chance to lay its case before the public before a general boycott is called but added, "Some of us are already refusing to buy Langendorf, Cal Ray, or Barbara Ann bakery goods."

Mrs. McClain Draws Lesser Charge in Death

Mrs. Ora Lee McClain, held "probably criminally responsible" for the traffic crash death of 15-year-old Carlton Ashley July 26, was officially charged last week with a manslaughter misdemeanor complaint.

Mrs. McClain is now out on bail on a writ of habeas corpus. Hearing on the writ is scheduled for Aug. 19, at which time it is expected she will be indicted on the manslaughter charge.

The finding that Mrs. McClain was probably responsible for the crash death of young Ashley was returned by a coroner's jury Aug. 5.

The tragic accident occurred late Sunday afternoon July 26 at the corner of Avalon and 62nd street when Mrs. McClain failed to halt before crossing the intersection. Her car crashed into a bus and into the car in which the Ashley youth was a passenger. The latter car side-swiped a telephone pole with terrific force, hurtling Ashley to the pavement 60 feet away.

Mrs. McClain claimed that the brakes of her 1949 Cadillac failed when she applied them in an attempt to come to a halt at the stop sign.

Editorial

The General Stands Pat

The attempts to get a forthright statment on civil rights from General Eisenhower have proven a dismal failure. Sixteen liberal Republicans sent up a trial balloon in the shape of a statement to the effect that the election of a Republican president would advance the cause of a compulsory FEPC. The silence from GOP headquarters was significant; the General said nothing.

Either inspired or dismayed by that failure, Bishop D. Ward Nichols of the AME Church gathered up a small band of the GOP faithful and made a journey directly to the General in an obvious attempt to wheedle a little campaign material out of the candidate. The measure of their failure may be guaged from the statement issued by the bishop after the meeting. The General, said the Bishop, is a Fine Man whose heart bleeds for the wrongs and injustices done the Colored Brother. But, added Bishop—turned Politician—Nichols the general isn't convinced of the need for civil rights legislation on a federal level. Never, we suppose, did a mountain labor more mightily and turn out a smaller mouse.

General Eisenhower's attitude isn't hard to understand in light of his experience. He is a military man. His adult life was spent in the army at a time when military leaders were determined to impose a rigid Jim Crow system in the armed forces. By the time of World War II Negroes were barred from the air force, consigned to menial duty in the navy and fenced off in a couple of Jim Crow regiments in the army. General Eisenhower never gave the remotest sign that he didn't approve of, or that he even questioned the official military viewpoint. In fact, he helped shape that policy.

The army and the navy and air force now pursue a better policy but that policy was forced on them by the civil heads of the various departments of defense who in turn were prodded into action first by President Roosevelt and even more strongly by President Truman. General Eisenhower's response to these changes was testimony before a senate committee to the effect that racial segregation was not advisable in the army.

The general is a standpatter in civilian affairs regarding racial relations just as he was in military affairs. To him, old ways even with their patent injustices are to be preferred to new ways with their promise of progress because he fears that interrupting patterns of conduct might produce some friction.

In his testimony before the senate committee General Eisenhower voiced pious and vague hopes that time itself might bring some change in the army's pattern of segregation, but he was against taking any forthright steps to achieve that end. It is plain that he has no formula for needed changes in civilian affairs except those same vague and pious hopes. That attitude may stamp him as the sincere and honest man that he was painted by Bishop Nichols but it hardly fits him as a candidate worthy of Negro votes at a time when forthright action is needed.

Spiking Residential Segregation

The decision of the District Court of Appeals upholding the judgment of Superior Judge Daniel Stevens that damages cannot be collected from a signer of a racial covenant who sells race restricted property to a Negro should end attempts to impose residential segregation in this state through judicial action.

Justice Paul Vallee who wrote the opinion for the Court of Appeals pointed out that the suits for damages were devised to get around the 1948 decision of the United States Supreme Court holding that courts could not use their powers to prevent ownership, use or occupancy of real property by Negroes. Those who filed the suits weer trying to do indirectly that which they couldn't do directly because it is plain that no owner would sell his property to a Negro if he was going to have to pay damages for doing so.

The fight for the right to own a home and live in it has been a long and costly one and various aspects of this litigation have been before California courts since 1919. In the first such case Negroes won the right to own homes anywhere and then the courts turned right around and said that the Negro who had the right to own his home could be prevented from living in it if his neighbors objected and had the foresight to levy a race restriction on the property. That was the law of this state until the Supreme Court decision of 1948.

The course of this litigation portrays democracy at its worst and at its best—as its worst because a prejudiced majority was able to persuade our courts to exercise their powers to deprive a minority of a priceless right and at its best because that minority was able to correct the original error through peaseful means even in the face of powerful public sentiment backed up by special interests.

Those who believe in residential segregation won't give up just because of this decision. Thirteen neighborhood associations filed briefs in support of the damages suit and they will certainly use every means in their power to win a reversal of the decision. However the ultimate victory will be ours and not theirs. More than a score of non-Negro organizations ranging from the YWCA to American Civil Liberties Union ranged themselves against the law suits and in favor of the right of an American citizen to freely own and dispose of his property.

In this case as in similar litigation designed to break down racial barriers the courts have looked beyond legal technicalities to give meaning and content to the guarantees of equality contained in the Constitution. We believe they're going to pursue that trend.

Better Than Our Police

Times are getting pretty tough for the Ku Klux Klan. Sixty-three of them got fined or thrown into the clink last week — right down in Dixie. These sheeted hoodlums came to grief because they had taken it on themselves to flog some Negroes whose actions they disapproved.

This attitude of law enforcement authorities in the South is in striking contrast to what happened after World War I when the Klan not only flogged and terrorized Negroes without hindrance but also enlisted nearly every top ranking politico in its ranks.

We suppose that it must have taken some pretty fair police work to round up and arrest Klansmen in a section of the country like the South, where Negroes have precious few rights. We also think that the same kind of diligence in Los Angeles might result in the arrest of the vandals in our midst who bomb houses and threaten citizens who moved into what are called "white neighborhoods." It is apparent now that our police officers aren't equal to the task in our city.

It is a sorry commentary on Los Angeles when North Carolina police can make wholesale arrests and get convictions of Klansmen and our officers can't even find the bomber of the William Miley home.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

At least a dozen readers of this column have suggested that I blast Congressman Powell for his denunciation of Senator Sparkman and his fellow-Congressman William Dawson. Probably a half-dozen others have suggested that the Congressman should be praised rather than blasted for his remarks at the Golden Gate Ballroom Rally two Sundays ago in New York City. I shall neither blast nor praise, because, actually, while I consider Mr. Powell's denunciation intemperate and his adivce unsound, I believe, nevertheless, that he has made a healthy contribution to discussion of a most important political subject.

Mr. Powell denounced the selection of Senator John Sparkman from Alabama as the Democratic choice for Vice-President. He also denounced the role played by Congressman Dawson of Chicago in helping to shape up the Democratic platform plank on civil rights.

Me, Too

The Harlem political leader had every right to express himself on the subject and, indeed, had a responsibility to let his public know what he thought of such important issues. If he indulged freely in hyprbole this is only to be expected in a Presidential campaign year. If he accused Mr. Dawson of being an "Uncle Tom" it is neither the first time that the charge has been tossed about loosely in an election campaign, nor the first time that "our Adam" has applied the term. (If memory serves me right, Mr. Powell tossed a handkerchief in my own direction when he disagreed with some public position I took seven or eight years ago. "Uncle Tom-naming" is such a common custom that it is to be degarded like "the dozens" not to be taken too seriously.

It is, of course, unrealistic to advise Negroes to boycott this Presidential election, so here, again, Congressman Powell was indulging in hyperbole. He knew as well as anyone else that practically no one would follow his advice. Why, then, did he offer it? Without attempting to read the Congressman's mind, I suggest that he may have considered this a good way to get plenty of headline space for expression of the widespread dissatisfaction among Negro voters with the rather cynical bargaining that went on in the Democratic Convention. He was serving notice upo nthe backers of Sparkman's candidacy they they would be held responsible for the Alabaman's performance in case he should be elected. This can be a sobering thought to "labor" and "liberal" leaders who are so ready to assure us that Mr. Sparkman is at bottom a very sound liberal.

As for the Dawson-Powell feud, that is unimportant except as a symbol of the difference between the "free-wheeling" quality of the Powell leadership and the cautious party organization operations of the successful Chicago politician. Congressman Dawson is what is known as a political professional. He is in the business for a living—the fatest living he can contrive. He has spent years serving the Democratic Party in his city and state, and his high post in the Democratic Party is part of his reward. Without the Democratic machine he could neither have advanced where he is now nor remained there twenty-four hours if the machine should decied to break. The professional politician is very seldom a public hero, but he can be very influential as long as he gears himself efficiently into the machine operation.

No Party Man

Congressman Powell has never depended upon party organization. His strong church support, together with his unparalleled platform style and natural bent for the spectacular, has made the organiaztion come to him. He scorns the Dawson methods and resents the Chicagoan's designation as unofficial head of Negro Democrats the country over. He is not alone in this resentment, for many Negroes fear that the White House is clearing too much national business with a man who is, after all, only a Congressman from a Chicago district

The Powell-Dawson feud grows out of the traditional difference between the individual who values public service for prestige, joy of competition excitement, o rthe opportunity of service in the general welfare, and that individual who subordinates all of these to the business of making a living. The two approaches cannot be reconciled. What is most important in the Powell address at the Golden Gate Rally is that it sent both Democratic and Republican Party leaders scurrying to the conference table for another look-see at the Negro vote and prospects for capturing it. It is possible to disagree with everything that Congressman Powell said and still be glad that he said it if it makes party leaders consider the Negro vote more seriously.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

Thomas Stokes in his syndicated column in numerous daily newspapers has hit the nail on the head in his discussion of the civil rights question and the coming campaign. He says the planks in the platform on civil rights and on the anti-filibuster resolution must be put to each and every candidate for the Senate and the House as well as to the two top candidates of each party if any tangible results are to be achieved.

All too often too many of us forget that laws are passed by Congress, not by the President of the United States. We tend to concentrate on the Presidential candidates and ignore those for the Senate and the House. It is important to pin down the two top men if possible because they will set the tone for their administration if elected.

Pin Them Down

But it is much more important to pin down the men who want to go to Congress and make the laws. Negro voters should not miss an opportunity to ask direct questions of the men who want their votes. Will a prospective Senator vote for an FEPC with enforcement powers if elected? Will a prospective Senator vote to change the Senate rule on filibusters so that debate can be shut off by majority vote instead of the present iron-clad two-thirds of the entire Senate membership? This is the key question, the question of whether we will have majority rule in the Senate, or rule by a small minority. A Senate candidate either believes in majority rule or he does not. Voters should make him say where he stands.

A candidate can save his breath about his devotion to civil rights and FEPC if he is not willing to promise to change the Senate rule on filibusters. Without such a change his promises on civil rights mean exactly nothing.

Local Negro political leaders should take the lead in questioning candidates, but because they are part of the machine of the party, ordinary voters should not wait for them to act. Letters should be sent to candidates asking their position on civil rights, on majority rule in the Senate, on changing the House rule to provide for bringing out legislation after 21 days if House committees have not acted. Bear in mind that that the House Rules committee at the present time can refuse to report bills out and nothing can be done about it.

Not only should letters be written, but committees should call on candidates when they are in the same town or nearby. When the top candidates appear on their tours voters should not hesitate to speak up in the meeting and ask questions.

Number One Issue

Negroes must remember that practically all observers now admit that civil rights is very close to the number one issue in this campaign and that Negro votes in key Northern and Western states can be the difference between victory and defeat for the major parties. We don't have to be belligerent in pressing our cause, but we must not be bashful. The time when the parties need us is the time to drive our bargain.

In the word battle over the vice presidents, much has been heard about Senator Sparkman and little about Senator Nixon, yet one of the last acts of Senator Nixon in the closing days of the 82nd Congress was to vote against even reporting out the Humphrey-Ives fair employment bill from his committee. Californians can perform a valuable service by putting all the important questions squarely to the "Boy Wonder" of the Republicans whose record on civil rights is something less than wonderful.

Flying Saucers

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

One of the most tragic mistakes in California politics, as far as Negroes are concerned, was the ill-fated campaign for Proposition 11 in 1946 to create a statewide FEPC.

The smashing defeat of Propositon 11 became a bugaboo that haunted fighters for FEPC all over the country, and was a direct cause for many cities and states not passing FEPC laws.

The responsibility must be placed on the political leadership in the 62nd Assembly District and the Negro leadership in the unions.

Actually there was no Negro leadership at the policy level of the CIO and AFL and Gus Hawkins was the only person on the policy and stategy level of the state Democratic party machinery—a burden that was too much for one person to handle.

Liberals In Power

The Liberals were in control of the state party machinery and the left-wingers were directing political policy in the CIO. The Liberals came into power in 1938 with the election of Culbert Olson as governor.

It is generally conceded that Olson was defeated in 1942 by highly organized pension groups and certain labor factions because they charged that he turned his back on them during his administration.

In 1946 the liberals in the party and the extreme left wing of the labor movement were hard pressed to find a candidate and a rallying issue to get sufficient votes out to defeat Warren.

Gimmick Needed

Pensions, unemployment and relief were no longer issues around which they could rally the vote as they did in 1938, so a new gimmick was needed.

They reasoned that if they could get a big registration and a big turnout of the large new Negro population that flooded California during the war years, it would tip the balance in any fairly close election.

THEY WRONGLY FIGURED THAT FEPC WAS THE GIMMICK!

It was a case of well-meaning white politicians planning strategy for Negroes without consulting Negroes. The liberals traveling in their own political circles, talking only to each other, were mesmerized into believing that everyone in California thought as they did on FEPC.

If any Negroes were consulted, they were Hawkins in the state political organization, and a handful of Negroes in the left wing element of the unions, who were bound to say yes for political or economic reasons.

If twenty Negroes of any political sagacity and political independence had been consulted without a doubt the dangerous pitfalls, and the full implications of such a reckless gamble would have been pointed out, and the tragic fiasco would have been prevented.

No Organization

Due to the complete lack of political organization among Negroes in the state, Gus Hawkins, by virtue of his position as the only Negro in the state assembly, was the only one high enough in the party's council to nip such a move in the bud.

Traveling in the rarified atmosphere of high political councils without the grass roots contacts needed to keep one's feet on the ground, anyone can make a mistake, and Hawkins did when he agreed to such a program.

The fact is that any single individual can make a wrong political guess. It was too great a decision to put on the shoulders of one man, Hawkins, dependent upon no local organization or individuals for his election to office, didn't feel that he had to consult with anyone else, and didn't.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I read in the August 7 issue of the Eagle where the Consumers Mobilization, sponsored by Manuel Failey, is going to start a campaign boycotting goods produced by employers who discriminate. I further noted that your publisher, Loren Miller, will give this organization full support.

The article further stated that Failey had praised the Eagle as a fighting newspaper and I agree with this statement. However, I feel that in the matter of fighting could also point out those manufacturers who do not discriminate so that those of us in the buying public can support the organizations who do not discriminate and thus lend a positive as well as a negative approach to the general campaign. It seems to me if the Eagle would publish these firms favorable to Negroes, then members of our community could support these companies or merchants. Through this action unfavorable companies would not receive support by Negro buyers automatically.

FEATURED—The world famous Pilgrim Travelers were featured in the Pre-Musical at the St. Paul Baptist Church Wednesday, when the National Quartettes Singing Alliance opened its 6th Annual Convention. Others featured on the program were Soul Stirrers of Chicago, the Blue Jays, the Four Notes of Buffalo, and the State Chorus. Rev. Henderson Named To Head Cal. Baptists

The Western Baptist State Convention of California, the oldest state organization of Negro Baptists on the Pacific Coast, re-elected Dr. J. Raymond Henderson president of the Convention, Mrs. D. M. Mills, president of the Women's Auxiliary to succeed Mrs. Blanche N. Carter, and closed its sixty-second annual session Friday, at the Faithful Central Baptist Church.

From the reports of Rev. L. A. Felix, executive secretary, and Rev. L. D. Stevens, statistician, it was brought out that the year closing was the greatest in the history of the convention in numerical additions to the membership personnel, as well as in money raised by the body and its auxiliary associations. The treasurer, Rev. Ernest A. Anderson, reported a balance and a large cash reserve.

The meeting, which began on Monday, August 4, presented many features of inspiration and information to the religious-minded. A. B. Washington presided over the Laymen's hour which was unique. The opening feature, a great music festival of the S.S. and B.T.U. chorus was enjoyable and revealing.

Inspirational speakers to address the meeting were Rev. J. C. Noble, Rev. L. D. Revoal, Rev. H. W. Washington, Rev. L. D. Stevens, Mrs. Eddie B. Campbell, Mrs. Dessie Webster, Dr. Frank H. Russell Wins Vernondale Golf Tournament

Rayson Loses Sudden Death Playoff

In a dramatic "sudden death" playoff, Robert Russell combined his steady game with the bad luck of Milton Rayson to win the Vernondale Golf Club championship on the Fox-Baldwin Hills golf course for the third time hand running last Friday afternoon.

Rayson was two under par on the 18th when he missed a five foot putt to boggie the hole. Russell came in under the same circumstances and also boggied the hole, making necessary the playoff.

The San Diegon's drive was straight down the fairway. Rayson seemed to tie up and his drive landed in the trees. He gambled, but was unable to recover and Russell won the championship shooting par on the first extra hole.

Al McDaniels looked like a sure winner when he turned the back nine four under par, but he went out of bounds twice on the 14th to blow the commanding lead he had built up.

Teenage Henry Barabin, protege of the Vernondale Golf Club was third in the men's championship flight with a 73.

Madree Jackson shot an 86 to walk off with the women's low gross championship.

One-hundred and firty-seven golfers from up and down the coast and as far east as Kansas City participated in the important open tournament for the sixteen trophies.

Cecil Williams was winner on "A" flight with Jess Hutton runnerup. Nelson Saunders topped the field in "B" flight with Dr. Walter Hines the runner-up. Jetty Viot won "C" flight with Wallace Bailey second.

Among the women contestants, Martha Clisby won the "A" flight honors with Maude Thomas, runner-up. Anise Clark coped "B" flight first prize with Malthelde Johnston second. In "C" flight Louise Hill was the winner with Dorcas Riley runner-up.

Jefferson Aces Lead South to 20-19 Win

By Edward "Abie" Robinson

The North-South All-Star prep football game for the benefit of the Shriner's crippled children's hospital will become a big football attraction in the future. Slick Sandy Lederman quarterbacking for the South edged the North on the scoreboard 20 to 19. However, in the statistics the South in total yards gained 290-227, and first downs 11-10 which indicates that the North wasn't any pushover. Jefferson's Rommie Loudd, and Gordon Chappell acounted for 12 points with their terrific running. McClymond of Oakland had Sam Brown leading the way for the North he was easily the outstanding back on the field. Also, for the North was Doug Peters, L. C. Joyner and Bill Jones. Lineman that stood out for the South Andy Shief and Hardiman Cureton, while the North had big N.C. Hurd and Warren Fannin.

We rated Sam Brown as the back most outstanding with Rommie Loudd getting a tie Sandy Lederman ofr most valueable. Quarterback Bill Jacobs from the North won the Shriners trophy as the outstanding player.

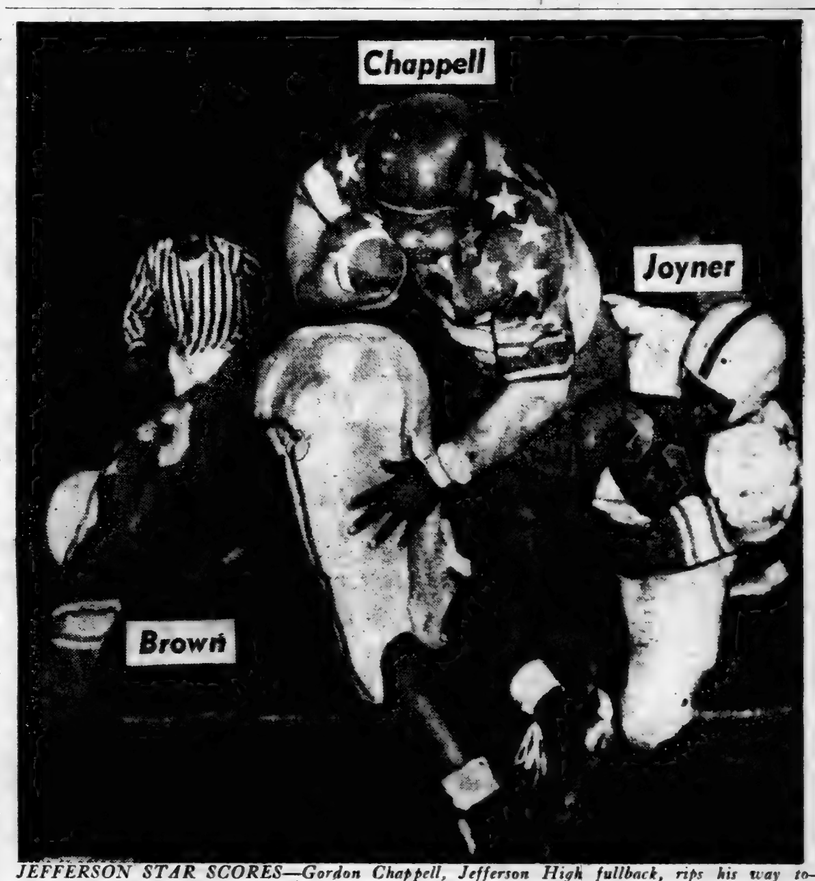
OGDEN—Boxing promoter Kenny Mayne corrected the fight figures on the recent Rex Layne-Ezzard Charles bout. Friday night show drew approximately 18,000 fans for a gross gate of $129,058.10. Earlier figures had it 22,318 persons and $149,361. Layne won the decision over the heavy favorite Charles.

SMITH TOSS NO-HITTER



Phoenix—Ford Smith, former New York Giant pitcher, hurled a no-hit, no-run game here last week to lead the Phoenix Senators to a 4-0 victory over Juarez, leader by a wide margin in the Arizona-Texas League.

STILL HAS STUFF—Satchel Paige, veteran St. Louis Browns pitcher, smiles happily as he slaps a big pat on the back of outfielder Bob Nieman who singled in a run in the 12th to give Paige a neat 1-0 shutout win over the Detroit Tigers.

JEFFERSON STAR SCORES—Gordon Chappell, Jefferson High fullback, rips his way to score the South's second touchdown. North's L. C. Joyner and Sam Brown, both outstanding backs, attempted to battle and block Chappell's bid to pay-dirt. It was in vain.

ON THE TURF

RAMSEY

DEL MAR, "Where the Turf Meets the Surf"—The high-class handicap horses will dominate the picture at popular Del Mar this weekend. The main event will be the $10,000 added San Diego Handicap at 1 1 16 miles for three-year-olds and upward. This event will lead the older horses up to the Del Mar Handicap which has been increased from $15,000 to $25,000. This handicap will be run Saturday, August 22. The distance is 1¼ miles.

Blue Reading, the property of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hirsh, who won this event last year, will go postward as the likely favorite after being away from the races for many months with hoof trouble. Blue Reading returned to competition late in the Hollywood meeting and finished a fast second to the good sprinter Boner, beaten a half length in record time.

Blue Reading has had one outing here so far, running second to Gustaf in the Bing Crosby Handicap. He came from far back in his last two events. Both races were at six furlongs. He will be better suited for the 1 1 16-mile journey. In last year's San Diego Handicap, in which he won, he set a new track records of 1:41 3/5 and the mark still stands.

Also expected to start in the San Diego Handicap is the Walkinay Farm's Boomerang Boy, Clifford Moore's Renown, A. J. Campbell's Tuzado, the Velvet Acres Farm's Fife and Drum, Abe Hishberg's Bullfighter, and Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Phillips' Stormy Cloud. All of these horses has had one or more outings so far this meeting.

NEW CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO — Veteran Harry Walters, popular shrewd dean of the Western trainers, scored a double-header with Pretty Maggie in the featured Cyclops Handicap and earlier in the day his Tom won like a good thing.

Fans will remember Pretty Maggie in her younger days when she ran third to the great Honeymoon. In winning the feature even she defeated Mrs. H. C. Morton's Chest o' Gold, an invader from Del Mar, by nearly a length, paying a neat mutuel of $15.60.

She was fourth favorite in the mutuels. Chest o' Gold and Connie Bear were equal favorites. One of the largest crowds of the season were on hand to enjoy the 12-race program and witnessed many tight finishes. The daily double paid $53.00, and the quinela $34.20.

Neal were the big guns in the scoring attack.

Big Buzz Mackey, former great baseballer was very pleased with his team's showing. Mackey has coached the team 4 out of 5 victories. The winner of the tournament will get a free trip to Catalina. Come out and root for the home team.

ABIE'S CORNER

The Olympic Auditorium, the west's largest boxing arena, will feature the only Japanese boxer to win a state title in Tommy Umeda, California State 118 pound kingpin.

Umeda is a classy mittman with plenty of T.N.T. in both hands and the boxing fans love the way he is willing to mix it with all comers.

In moving up the ladder to the state title the little 118 pounder bowled 'em over, all but two times. He fought two thrilling bouts with Tiny Terran and was defeated.

However the story was different when they met for the state title and Umeda really went to work on Terran, dropping him to the canvas three or four times before knocking him out in the seventh.

Umeda is very popular with all the Olympic fans. This Tuesday night the Japanese are honoring him during their Nisei Week celebration. He will face tough Oscar Torres in the 12-round main event. Umeda will be defending his title. The state champ holds two split decisions over Torres but the fans are looking for the third knock-down-drag-out brawl when the gong sounds. We kinda think after the Nisei queen plants a kiss on Umeda's cheek it may be the inspiration for him to win in a hurry.

Andy Stanfield, Jersey City's brilliant track star and gold medal winner in the Olympic 200, breezed the 100 in 10.3 and then came back to win the 200 in 21.1. Mel Whitfield, former Jefferson High ace, captured the 800 meters in 1:48.4. This was the second fastet 800 meters ever run by an American. Whitfield and Stanfield marks won't replace the recognized American record of 1:48.6, set by John Woodruff in 1940, because it was made in a meet outside the country.

BOXING NOTES—Fabela Chavez, sharpshooting featherweight earned a shot at the title by his 12-round easy split-decision over Sparky Rudolph's Baby Face Gutierrez at the Olympic Auditorium. The fabulous Fabela will certainly have to show more class when he meets Dave Gallardo. Charky Wright's featherweight. They will meet some time next month for the state title.

Delta's Jabberwock Unfolds Arabian Night Tales

JABBERWOCK GIRLS—Introducing the theme "Imaginuity" in form of song Deltas gather around piano to key up before the show goes on. In white tams and red skirts the girls are Sybil Thomas, Geraldine Spaulding, Dorothy Richardson, Rita Williams, Barbara Williams, Ura Redmond, Marjorie Lutchee, Semmie Green, Evalyne Grace, Floraline Ingram, Bobbie Walker and Danellen Mabry. SLAVE GIRLS—Made the king of their Kingdom pretty happy with their exotic Arabian routines created by Harriet Flowers. Pretty dancers were, front row, June Miller, Joella Allen, Gloria Nelson, Gloria Person. Back row, Harriet Wilson, Jackie Rambo, Lois Powell, Gloria McPherson, Mona Jones and Joyce Arceneaux.

ENTICING HANDSOME KING—Reggie Pierson played a role to top all when he proved his prowess as well as weakness to a beautiful array of girls. In this colorful scene the King is being admired by Gloria Nelson, Dorothy Gadberry, King, Gloria Peirson, Alma Tarrance, Sandra Monroe and Jackie Rambo.

Exotic Slave Girls Dance Before Mighty King Shahriyar

By Agnes Moreland

Last Saturday's "Jabberwock of 1952" left an enthusiastic audience eager for more of the same from the women of Delta Sigma Theta sorority. With the theme "Imaginuity" based on the Arabian Nights, Delta girls and five popular social and fraternal organizations sang, danced and pantomimed through two hours of fun for all.

Mistress of ceremonies for the evening at Bovard Auditorium on the USC campus was Joyce Overr, president of Upsilon chapter.

Capturing first prize with their clever and colorful depiction of "Wine, Women and Song," were the girls of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. Second prize was won by the imaginative men of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, and the colorfully-costumed Silhouettes won third prize.

Winner

Presenting well-done but not prize-winning skits were Kappa Alpha Psi and Omega Psi Phi fraternties. Judges for the evening were the well-known and talented Florence Brantley, Maidie Norman, Ernest Anderson and Percy McDavid.

Production prize winners were announced after the last skit and before the epilogue.

"Imaginuity" was based on the Schenerazade story from the tales of the Arabian Nights. This unifying theme was presented in an excellently-produced prologue and epilogue by the sorors and pledges of Delta.

In the leading role and narrator of the thousand and one tales was Delta Florelle Pierson. Brother Reggie Pierson portrayed her lord and king, Shahriyar. Other major supporting roles were played by Robbie Tapscott, Sandra Monroe and Sybil Thomas.

Lovely dancers and court girls helped to carry out the theme as did colorful costumes rich with Old World splendor of hue and design. Choreographer was Harriette Flowers.

The prologue and epilogue were directed by Jackie Rambo. Jabberwock co-chairman Robbie Tapscott was outstanding in every department of the 1952 production.

An interesting and colorful feature of the evening was the crowning ceremony for "Miss Jabberwock of 1952." Claiming that distinction for a lovely bouquet of roses and a unique first prize was Camille Billops, lovely June graduate from Catholic Girls High.

She was crowned during intermission by Miss Overr. In her court and also recipients of useful awards were Evelyn Johnson, Erma Littlejohn, Alibe Peak, and Gwen Westfield. Competing, but absent due to illness was Barbara Jones.

Annual

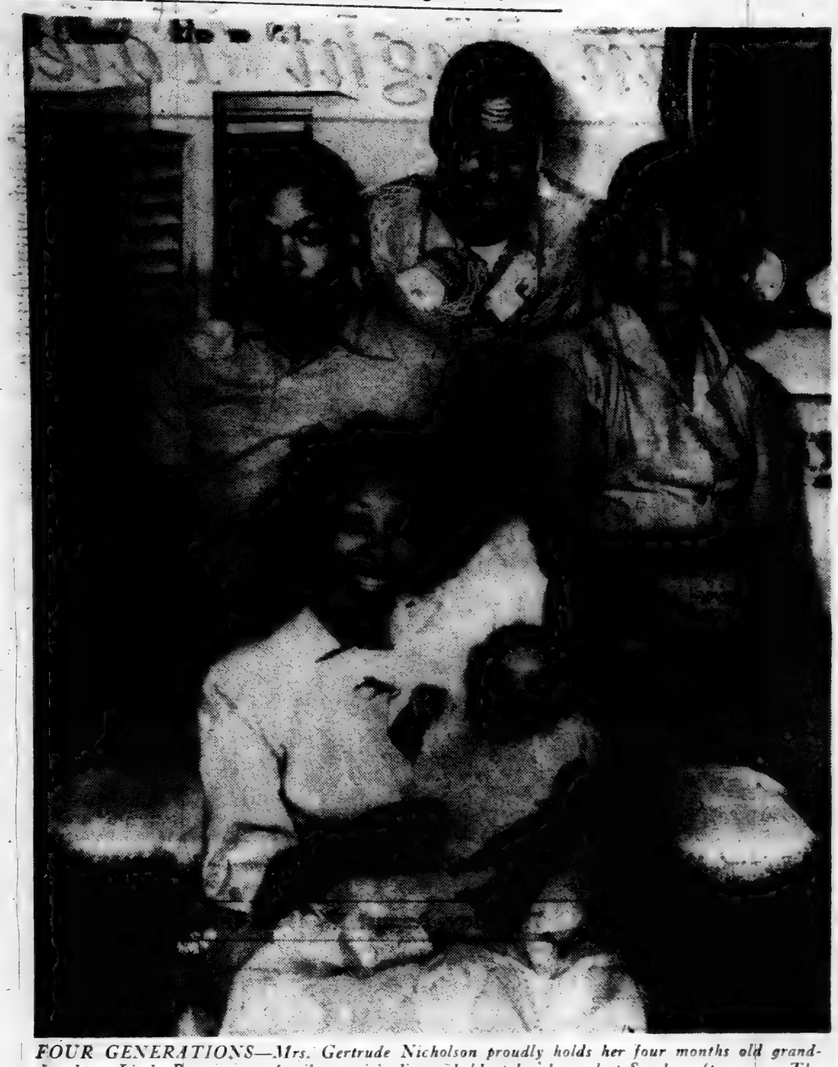
An annual production given in many states by Delta, "Jabberwock' is a variety show presented by various community organizations.

Although its primary purpose is to raise funds for chapter scholarships to be given to young women of ability and promise, the Jabberwock also provides an opportunity for local talent to indulge in experimental theater.

It also gives the Delta chapters a chance to shine as artists, writers, business managers and ALL that goes with a big show.

Heading this year's production were dynamic and talented Robbie Tapscott and Janice Wright. Other committee heads in addition to Misses Rambo and Flowers mentioned above were Dorothy Gadberry, Queen's contest; Lorraine Harris, costumes; Marilyn Franklin, judges; Joyce Overr, club contest; Danellen Mabry, auditions, and Betty Taylor, publicity.

Without titles but working just as hard were many other girls of Delta.



Talented dancers in the prologue and epilogue were Harriette Wilson, June Miller, Joella Allen, Gloria Persons, Gloria Nelson, Margie Lutcher, Dorothy Gadberry, Alma Morris, Alma Morris, Alma Tarrance, Willa Dean Ursury, Jackie Rambo, Lois Powell, Gloria Macpherson, Mona Jones, Joyce Arcenaux and Sandra Monroe.

QUEEN OF QUEENS—Among many features which showed clever imagination on part of Deltas was the coronation of the Jabberwock queen. Joyce Overr, who served as mistress of ceremonies, is pictured preparing to give bouquet to queen Billops while court attendants Erma Littlejohn, Evelyn Johnson, Alibe Peak and Barbara Jones watch. Gwen Westfield, also a royal member, is not pictured.

FOUR GENERATIONS—Mrs. Gertrude Nicholson proudly holds her four months old granddaughter, Linda Brown, at a family reunion dinner held at her home last Sunday afternoon. The parents of baby Linda sit above Mrs. Nicholson while grandfather Escott Nicholson smiles between them. Attractive Mrs. Nicholson is without a doubt one of the youngest great-grandmothers in the community.

What effect does dry cleaning have upon the hair? Y.N.

Drying cleaning is a quick and thorough process of cleaning the hair and serves as a mild stimulant for the scalp.

What causes soreness around the nails and how may it be treated? R.L.

The definite cause cannot be answered directly, but it is believed that improper care of cuticles play an important factor in the irritating condition. The treatment consists of a series of oil baths for the nails, and manicuring regularly. This method will soften the cuticles enabling them to grow properly and relieving all sorness.

Can false eyelashes be attached securely enough to wash your face and yet remain in tact? G.R.

Yes, provided they are applied by a well trained person, such as your beautician. Lashes can be purchased at any beauty supply house by your beauty operator.

BEHOLD THESE BEAUTIES!—The long liner of 23 beautiful girls reveal grace, charm, attractiveness and personality which will play a major role in the coming selection of "Miss Consolidated Realty Board" to be held Sunday, August 24 at Brookside Park. Fetchingly posed by Eagle photographer Irving Smith, the girls were exhibited at the board's Saturday afternoon's pool party held on the grounds of Lena Torrence's Westside home. Camera bugs as well as professionals kept the beauties busy for several hours. The lucky winner will receive many wondrous gifts and will host at the board's many events. Popular hair stylist Eugene Swayne will make up each contestant before she parades in contest for queen.

Beauties Compete for Realty Board Title

The girl who wins Miss Consolidated Realty Board title will face strong competition as a long list of beauties drops to the required number of contestants. The test will prove she has charm, grace, poise and personality when the regal robe is draped about her shoulders.

Competing in the contest sponsored by prominent realty board members will be girls from all sections of the city. Effort has been made to recruit the beauties in that manner to make doubly sure no eligibles will be overlooked.

The "Annual Picnic" for members of the Consolidated Realty Board and their friends is being planned for August 24 at Brookside Park in Pasadena. Many entertaining events are slated for the day.

Beginning at 9 a.m., the brokers will play their annual softball game. Winning team will be awarded a trophy. Foster Price Realty will lead one team, Maddox Realty theother.

Popular hair stylist Eugene Swayne has offered his professional talents free to make up the contestants for the contest.

Judges for the contest will be instructed to rate the contestants by a point system. Points are to be counted on the basis of how a contestant stacks up as to poise, personality, beauty, charm and shape.

For the winner, there will be several handsome gifts, including an impressive gold trophy.

Guests Receive Party Favors

Everything possible will be done to insure an enjoyable time for everyone at the Social Esquires' mid-summer party, August 16, at the Masonic Hall, 1230 E. Florence avenue.

Free party hats, noise-makers and other party favors will be featured. Members of the planning committee are: Dootsie Williams, Luthell McKellom, Jesse Miller, William Hill and William Jackson.

Committee Sets Harvest Frolic

Mrs. Lillie Montgomery, chairman of the NAACP Special Activities Committee, announced this week that the members of her group have planned and set the date of September 27 for the third gala Annual Harvest Frolic held each year for the benefit of the Los Angeles Branch NAACP.

This well-known affair will move to South Los Angeles this year for the first time to the spacious grounds at 11226 S. Central avenue. Tickets are now available to those who like to have a good time and contribute to a worthwhile cause at one of the most highly promoted and best arranged events held in this city. Headquarters are located at the NAACP office, 4263½ S. Central avenue.

The lucky ticket holder will receive an Amana deep freeze, including a supply of choice meats.

Cuff-note in Berkeley: Must remember to tell Berti Hathaway of our inability to catch Atty. Tom Berkeley at his office so I could deliver her message to him.

She's an ole chum of his, wants much to have Tom bring his bride by on their next L.A. visit.

Louise Terry back home after a visit to Detroit where she had reunion with her family. The Charles Blacks (Marion) have her brother visiting from DeeCee. On his way home he will visit Mrs. Helen Mahammitt in Omaha.

It was the greatest—that's why it netted her first prize.

People and Places

GAMBLER SONNY HOWARD's Dalton Street after hours "pad" was raided Sunday night. We missed taking the ride in the tax payers taxie by seconds. The names that did take the trip were Mr. and Mrs. "big" in our community. One thing was certain that Jeany couldn't send "Ronnie" down to take the rap for him as she did the last time the joint was raided. She quit working when he accused her of stealing.

13 AIDES, outdoor affair turned out to be rather nice; late in the afternoon. It blew up cold in the early stages of the affair and many came and left as they couldn't stand that ice cold lemonade some not-to-bright member selected to serve. Someone got the idea something stronger was needed. It was! Now the members are happy as they have some loot to put into their charity fund which goes to help young students on to college.

THE THEFT of a well known Central Avenoo sportsman's wallet containing $400 and his personal papers at an exclusive Main Street address, where they didn't warm him that the place had been robbed before! The sportsman, angered at the thought and is toying with our idea of an "inside" job.

RED HUT BROILER is really a classy ultra modern Drive-In and you won't find the like, even in Beverly Hills. We hope the brothers help Bill Davis keep it that way. Don't loiter about the business premises getting in the cute carhops' way. The girls are working and just as you don't want loafers hanging around your job, give them the same respect.

HOUSE OF BEAUTY could become well known as the house of brawl. It wasn't long ago one of the operator's boy friends didn't like the way she was acting and shot holes in the place. A few evenings ago another operator was nursing a few knife wounds. Wonder why?

BABE WILSON, the little fellow with the big voice was caught out-of-character when he was spotted sporting the rounds with two lovelies at the Turban Room Saturday nite. They answer to the name of Marguerite Mathis, a San Francisco lass and Dorothy Flowers, a local bundle of joy.

THREE FIPS and a Vop is Al Burghardt wild trio, been in rehearsal some three months and may make their debut at the Club Alabam. Burghardt is a former member of the Jack McVea outfit.

THE REPORTS that C. R. Lane, San Francisco Booker T. Washington hotel man may get himself off the list of "eligible bachelors." Who is she?

CURTIS MOSBY, S. F. night club owner in town with a pretty coffee brown called Miss Wynn.

FIFTH STREET was in a jitter the other eve, over the sudden disappearance of Brown who always carries large sums of money around strapped to both legs.

LOUIS BROWN, popular bartender is now operating at the Club La Salle. He says there is nothing wrong with the talent that hangs out at the Vernon and Figueroa street sip and sway tavern.

ELBOW BEND'S likable Mary Davis is on the sick list. Lenore Lewis is back on her feet but seems to be having trouble mending a broken heart.

DOTTIE DANRIDGE threw one for the press at her Victoria street swank home and couldn't talk above a whisper suffering with a bad case of laryngitis. G. G. took charge and for a while we thought it was her party. Incidentally Dottie got the lead role in "See How They Run." She is serious about her acting.

PEGGY HYSON, Medical Center pulchritude pretty who has been causing the traffic to jam at Jefferson and Western avenoo, every morning at nine will be missing. Her classy chassis will drape a clerk's seat for the Board of Education starting next week.

BILLY BOSWELL, young beaubrummel of the west-coast is taking up resident in the family's new Gramercy Park estate.

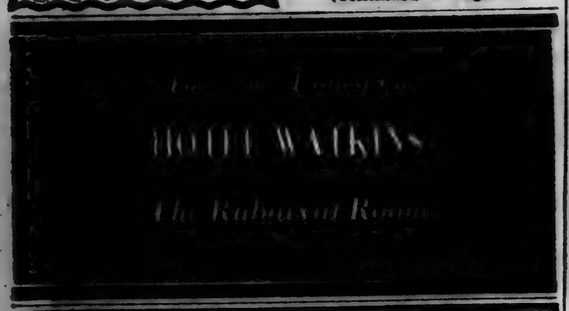
BOB WORKS, easy going bartender at the Rubaiyat Room wasn't so easy when a character insisted upon annoying the guest. He got himself bounced right out the front door.

SADIE MAE MCGURDER will enter the County General Hospital School of Nursing instead of returning to Oklahoma.

HAZEL SIMPKINS, the red head gal who provided the year's biggest story is taking life easy in the east. May be heading for Europe before her return.

HOTEL STATLER, youngest member of the national chain was the sight Ethel Sissle elected for a dinner party that included Chicago's Jean Williams, Henrietta McMillan also La Cora Rowell, Betty Vaughn and Camille Cannady.

STUFFY BRYANT, rated as America's top modernistic dancer goes into Larry Potter's Hollywood spot this week. Stuffy is set for a New York engagement that should lead to a European tour.



A WELL known Avalon street bookie is thinking about closing shop; reason, the protection insurance took a sudden jump.

FIRST FOR THIRST . . . "BLUE CHIP," latest product of Simon Levi Distributing Co., Ltd., is rapidly topping the hit of "tasty thirst quenchers." LEONARD A. McLAIN, debonair dispenser" of Simon Levi "drinks," unveils BLUE NOTE before Clarence Jones, Jr., and a bevy of tantalizing torsos: Beverly Kirkwood, Jacqualine Jacquet, Maria Galann and Cora Howard. Mac newman, marvelous "mixologist" at Garnett's, applied his magic touch to BLUE CHIP and everyone agreed it was a royal nip . . . every sip.

PRETTY RETURNS . . . Darling Dorothy Dandridge, one of the Angel City's favorite daughters, officially entertained the members of the fourth estate at her great Victoria Drive residence. Harry Belafonte, bronzed balladeer, flew in from New York to join Dotty in a new MGM motion picture, "See How They Run." Ruby Dandridge, Dotty's marvelous mother, equally famous film, radio and TV actress, proved a charming co-hostess.

Longitude 49 Extends Long Run

The moving, honest play about white and Negro seamen, "Longitude 49," extends its run at Robertson's Rendezvous Theater, at Pico, two blocks south on Robertson.

In the story and acting, this newspaperman has been excited and held spellbound both times he has seen the play.

Featured in the cast of mostly Equity actors, the group includes Bryon Marrow, Robert A. Davis, Irvin Mosley and Frank Greenwood.

At 60 cents and $1.20 there is little reason for this fine play not to be seen. The evening is one of the warmest and finest you will see in the theater.

Performances are Friday and Saturday until August 24, with curtain time at 8:30. Please call HI. 2530 for reservations.—B.E.

San-Fern Manor In Formal Opening

Opening last weekend of the model home furnished by the Brady Furniture Co. at San-Fern Manor brought a greater number of families out to the new San Fernando Valley community than ever before, reported James L. Carter, sales manager for Gold Medal Homes, developers.

San-Fern Manor, development of three-bedroom homes at Herrick avenue and Filmore street, close to San Fernando road and Van Nuys boulevard, offers 28 architectural styles designed by Architect Charles Du Bois, A.I.A.

The homes are priced from $9999, and are available to veterans on down payment as low at $425 plus impounds, and on monthly terms from $51.80 for principal and interest. Liberal terms are also available to non-veterans, according to James L. Carter, sales manager for Gold Medal Homes, the developers.

The homes are said to outrank in quality of design and construction dwellings costing many hundreds of dollars more. To demonstrate the homes' quality in finished form, the developers this week end are opening a model home, superbly furnished by the Brady Furniture Co., of 1121 San Fernando road, San Fernando. The model will remain open daily and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The homes, which come with either one or two bathrooms, have such features as two-car garages, living rooms at front or rear, General Electric garbage disposals (except in plan 105), and French doors leading to covered concrete terraces, which may be converted easily to extra rooms.

Golden State Opens Office

First caller at the new modernistically equipped and decorated South Los Angeles office of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company at 11025-27 South Avalon boulevard to pay a premium over the chrome-trimmed counter to Cashier Obelia Washington was a 15-year-old youth.

Nearly 100 policyowners came to pay premiums and were welcomed to the new area by officers of the firm for the first time on Monday, August 11.

A special open house for the new South Los Angeles offices of the firm will be held on Sunday, September 14.

There is time for a smile between every tear.

It takes a strong man to hold tongue and temper at the same time.

She filed a complaint for divorce, alimony, custody of their 10-year-old child, community property and a restraining order against her husband, Thos. J. Jones, whom she charged with extreme mental and physical cruelty.

You still buy gasoline at 1925 prices

If you were to take a sentimental journey back into the mid-twenties by thumbing through a stack of old magazines, you'd find the page below in the Saturday Evening Post issue of July 4, 1925. Remember the square-topped cars of those days . . . with their flat windshields, wide running boards and big wooden steering wheels?

Remember the prices? Things were a lot cheaper than they are now when almost everything you buy is 'way up in price . . . except gasoline. ¶ Actually, gasoline costs almost exactly the same today—aside from taxes—as it did when the beauty above was an exciting new automobile. ¶ And it's far better gasoline, too. Two gallons today do the work that required three in 1925. ¶ Few industries can match this record of keeping prices down and raising quality. It was made possible by two things: intense competition among oil companies and a steadily increasing efficiency of production. ¶ In the last five years alone, Standard Oil Company of California has put more than $644,000,000 into facilities—and another $36,000,000 into technical service and research. This investment helps us make certain that gasoline continues to be one of the best buys in your family budget.

Oakland Changes Pattern

Abolition of racial segregation in the Oakland Fire Department following an attack on the practice by the Alameda County branch of the NAACP will be followed by an immediate all-out attack on racial segregation in the Los Angeles Fire Department, according to Lester Bailey, executive secretary of the Los Angeles branch of the Association.

Remarking that Oakland had pursued its discriminatory policy for 30 years, Bailey said that he "could see no reason why Los Angeles pursues a policy that is in plain violation of the laws of this state." He pointed out that Washington, D. C., where racial segregation persists in many public facilities, has recently taken steps to drop racial segregation in the fire department. "Even some Southern cities, notably Oklahoma City, integrate fire fighters in their departments," he said.

Queried by the Eagle, Fire Chief Alderson said that his department has "no intention of changing its present policies." He admitted that all Negroes who qualify and who are appointed to the department are assigned to the 14th and Central station or the 34th and Central station but said "they have a right to apply for service at other stations." None of them has ever applied, he added.

Despite Alderson's statements, local employes of the Fire Department told the Eagle that he maintains a rigid policy of racial segregation in the department, with Negro firemen being confined to the two Central avenue stations. Negro officers in the department are also confined to service at those two stations.

Two years ago the local Urban League held a long series of negotiations with Alderson in an effort to get him to make a change in the policy but he was adamant. He based his refusal to make a change on the claim that the present plan promotes efficiency in the department.

The Eagle also learned that civil service laws are evaded by asking Negroes to waive their right to appointment when a vacancy occurs at a "white" station and that whites are similarly persuaded to waive their right to appointment when there is a vacancy at a "Negro" station.

Newson Murder Case Dismissed After 3 Trials

OAKLAND — District Attorney J. Frank Coakley last week moved to dismiss murder charges against Jerry Newson, 22-year-old Negro, to end a three-year battle for the youth, charged with murdering Robert Savage and Marjorie Ruth Wilson at the Seventh Street Drugstore on October 22, 1949. During those three years, Newson underwent three trials for the crime; the California Supreme Court by a 6 to 1 decision reversed the "guilty" verdict of his first trial, and two subequent trials ended with hung juries.

The prosecution had based its entire case on circumstantial evidence of a very dubious nature. A firearms "expert," Dr. Paul L. Kirk, was reputedly paid $1500 of public money at each trial to testify that the death bullets came from Newson's uncle's gun. His testimony was contradicted by four other experts—including the Oakland police department's own criminologists.

At the preliminary hearings, Barbara Cruikshank, frightened 17-year-old ward of Juvenile Court, testified she saw someone who "looked like Jerry Newson" in the drugstore after closing time. But at the first trial, she broke down on the witness stand and sobbed: "They told me I'd go to jail if I didn't say it—but I didn't see anyone in the drugstore!" A major part of the prosecution's case consisted of re-enacting for the jury details of the amateurish hold-up, freely admitted by Newson, which he did a few days before the murders.

Judge Carter

Puts 'Chink' Into Clink

Troubles multiplied this week for Al "Chink" King, sentenced last week to a one to six year prison sentence for possession of narcotics.

On Tuesday he had two more prison sentences chalked up against him.

Federal Judge James A. Carter sentenced King to one year in prison for evasion of income taxes; and gave him another five years and a $2000 fine on one narcotics count, and the same sentence suspended on another narcotics count.

The sentences are to run concurrently, however. But a condition of the suspension in the sentence on the second narcotics count was that King be given five years probation, to follow completion of the prison terms.

Federal authorities, in seeking consecutive instead of concurrent sentences, claimed that since King has been out of circulation, there has been a "very, very substantial" drop in the amount of heroin flooding the local market.

King, who pleaded not guilty to the narcotics charge last week, pleaded no contest on the income tax charge, and guilty to the two additional narcotics counts.

Man Killed In Duel With Son-in-Law

By EDDIE LEE KING

"Get out and don't come back!" ordered Elijah Lawshea, 46, 934 East 132nd street, to his son-in law, John L. Ivy, 41, Monday night after more than eight weeks of family quarrels.

Ivy left without uttering a word of argument, after observing a loaded .38 caliber revolver Lawshea leveled at him.

Ivy Returned

Tuesday morning Ivy returned armed with a 30-30 rifle. Apparently Lawshea pulled his gun a little too slowly and Ivy was a wee bit ahead of him. He shot Lawshea, his father-in-law, through the chest.

The only witness to the shooting was Ivy's wife, Alice, 35, Lawshea's step daughter.

Nine in Five Room House

The two men had been arguing over the large number of people living in the small house. There were nine of them, including Lawshea, his wife, Lucile, 55; the four children of John and Alice Ivy and one they brought from the East ranging in ages from 16 months to 15 years.

Lawshea, a railroad maintenance man, was opposed and Ivy was for it and the quarrel came to a climax with the death of the father-in-law. Ivy said Lawshea drew his pistol as if to shoot, but that he fired first.

Unions, Churches Join Vote Drive

With the dramatic slogan, "It's Up to You in '52," the community is rallying to the Eagle's registration drive with indication that thousands of unregistered citizens will register before the September 11 deadline, and become eligible to cast their vote in the coming presidential election.

Five of the city's top disc jockeys met Tuesday night and agreed to give the drive their wholehearted support.

The various labor unions in the city are coordinating their registration drives to help make this one the most effective ever put on in the city.

The YMCA, YWCA, Urban League, NAACP, American Council on Human Rights, the Watts Area Democratic club and members of the Democratic and Republican Central Committees in the 62nd and 55th Assembly Districts have indicated their interest and willingness to work and register as many persons as possible before the deadline of September 11.

All the churches in the city are being contacted for two gigantic "Registration Sundays" on August 31 and September 7. Ministers have pledged their cooperation to set aside some time for the registration program and registrars will be present at the churches to enroll the members.

Award Certificates

The Eagle will award certificates of merit to "first voters" who have just turned 21 and are registering for the first time. The citations will be signed by Congressman Samuel W. Yorty, Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, Loren Miller, publisher of the Eagle, and Herbert James, head of the Wendell Willkie chapter of AVC.

Joe Adams, Robin King Brun, Jerry Hemphill, Bill Sampson and Charles Tramell, the top disc jockeys in the city, stated that they will go all-out on their programs to get the registration message over to the people. Thirty-second transcriptions will be made by leaders in labor, the church, business, veterans, fraternal orders, civic and political organizations and the theatrical world, urging every eligible person to register. These transcriptions will be played daily on the popular disc jockey shows.

Victor Nix of the Building Service Employees said that his union was setting up registrars in all local union meetings and a registrar is stationed at union headquarters at 631 W. Ninth street.

'Don't Buy' Boycott Wins First Victory

An initial victory has already been chalked up by Consumers Mobilization in its "Don't Buy" campaign started two weeks ago against bakeries which hire Negroes only as janitors and maintenance men.

On Monday morning Wonder Bakery, manufacturers of Wonder Bread, 9340 Santa Monica blvd., hired its first Negro salesman. A spokesman for the company said they "plan to hire one or two more."

Wonder Bread was not one of those bakeries singled out as discriminatory. Their action, however, is an indication of possibilities that exist in the job field once the issue is effectively publicized.

Response

The first successes in the campaign are undoubtedly due to the excellent community response given by such merchants as Ovid A. Pierce, owner of Pierce's Super-Market, 1714 East 55th street.

Pierce cut the article entitled "Langendorf Bread Put on Unfair List" from last week's issue of the Eagle and displayed it prominently on his bread counter. Customers took notice of the article.

Named by Consumers Mobilization in launching their "Don't Buy" campaign were the Langendorf bakery and its subsidiaries, Cal Ray and Barbara Ann.

No Good Jobs

Manuel Talley, national chairman of the organization, stated that these firms do not hire Negro delivery salesmen, bakers or office workers.

Talley said his organization's attempts to gain jobs, other than maintenance jobs, with these companies date back to June 13, 1951, when they approached S. S. Langendorf, president, in San Francisco.

They never got to see Langendorf himself, but have had several interviews with the firm's

Denies Charges; Records Show He Was at Fort Ord

— Dancer Held —

FACES TRIAL—Dancer Donald Martin is charged with four felony counts, including rape. Must answer in Santa Ana Aug. 29.

By GRACE E. SIMONS

Because he was unlucky enough to take a trip to Laguna Beach while police were on the lookout for a "tan-skinned Negro," talented young dancer Don Martin this week faced prospects of a gruelling trial and a possible sentence of 50 years in prison.

Martin, officially listed as Pvt. Donald R. Martin, was bound over for trial Wednesday on four of the most serious charges in the book—rape, kidnaping, grand theft and armed robbery.

Martin denies even the possibility that he could have committed the crimes. He claims that at the time of the alleged attack he was nearly 500 miles away at Fort Ord.

Documentary Proof

His attorney, Edward Mosk, substantiates his assertion, declaring he has positive documentary proof that Martin was in the Army camp July 20, the day of the attack.

Martin was held after two witnesses, Mrs. Virginia Jackson, alleged victim of the rape attack, and her husband, Harold Jackson, "positively" identified the youthful dancer at the preliminary hearing in Laguna Beach.

Arraignment was set for August 29 at 10 a.m. in Superior Court at Santa Ana.

Friends Stunned

Friends and associates of the young man were stunned by his arrest. They described him as a "fine clean-cut young American."

Motorcycle Crash Proves Fatal for Two

A speeding motorcycle crashed into a concrete abutment about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday on the Arroyo Seco Freeway killing two riders.

The victims were Farrell Sneed, 24, 1604 East 55th street, mail carrier, the driver of the motorcycle and Miss Ernestine Wilson, 19, 778 East 46th street, who died immediately following the collision. The accident occurred near Cypress avenue. Sneed was impaled against the abutment. Miss Wilson was hurled 10 feet in the crash.

Sneed, who is married, was on his way back from Pasadena with Miss Wilson.

Police reported that the speedometer on the cycle was jammed at 78 miles per hour.

The bodies of the two victims were taken to the County morgue. It was discovered that Miss Wilson had a bottle of whiskey in her jeans which had smashed at the time of the crash. The deaths were determined as accidental due to excess of speed.

Ethel January Pleads Guilty in Forgery Case

Public relations expert Mrs. Ethel January pleaded guilty Monday to one count of forgery involving a fraudulent signature on a charge purchase at one of the May Co. stores.

PLEADED GUILTY—Ethel January, public relations expert, pleaded guilty to forgery this week. She awaits sentence and answer to probation plea.

The count on which she pleaded guilty was for merchandise valued at only $11.05.

Through her attorney, Rayfield Lundy, Mrs. January also filed a petition for probation. Granting of probation is potional with the judge.

Hearing on the probation plea as well as sentencing on the forgery charge is slated for September 8.

Atty. Lundy told the Eagle that there were a number of mitigating circumstances connected with Mrs. January's action, and that he was in hopes that because of these the judge would grant the petition.

Mrs. January, who is highly regarded by both whites and Negroes and who is generally credited with having brought about important improvements in community race relations, is still being held in jail.

She is eligible for release on bail, pending the hearing, but was returned to jail when the bail bondsman learned she had several prior arrests in Oakland.

Robeson, Bass Slated for IPP Rally

Paul Robeson, National Co-Chairman of the Progressive Party, has been added to the program for the gigantic Third Party Election Rally scheduled for Wednesday, August 27, at the Culver City Stadium, 13451 West Washington Blvd.

Robeson will join Vincent Hallinan, Progressive Party's Presidential candidate, and Mrs. Charlotta Bass, its Vice-Presidential candidate and the first Negro woman to be nominated to this high office, at the rally which will mark the launching of the IPP campaign in Southern California.

According to Jack Berman and Horace V. Alexander, spokesmen for the Southern Calif. Regional office of the IPP, Robeson will deliver a major address to the more than 10,000 people who are expected to attend.

More About Vote Drive

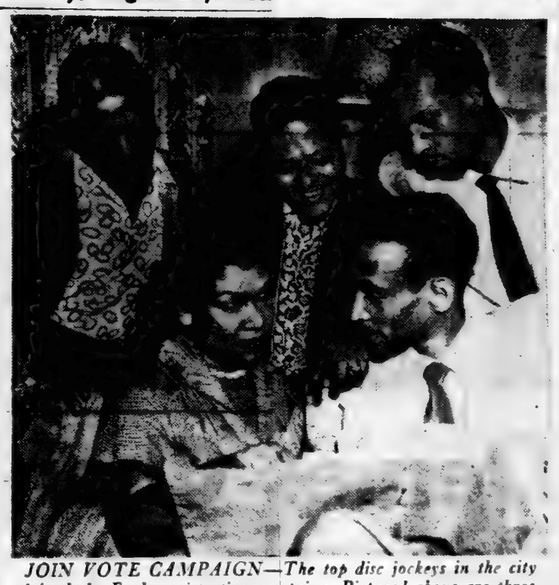
Car Cooks and Waiters Union told the Eagle that they have a deputy registrar in their headquarters and the organization is getting out a bulletin to all members urging them to register.

E. J. Franklin of the UAW-CIO said that his union was placing registrars at the plant gates and in all local union halls.



Catherine Kinney, executive secretary of the YWCA, pointed out that the public affairs committee has become active, and a registrar will be stationed at the Woodlawn branch for the convenience of voters.

The American Council on Human Rights has several members who are deputy registrars, and they will be active in the campaign.

Atty. Edward Hardwicke, of the newly organized Watts Area Democratic club, opened an intenstive registration drive instituted by the organization in the Watts area.

Louis Cole, veteran Republican leader, promised that the Republican organizations were joining in the drive to register every eligible citizen.

Any social or civic organization desiring to join in this massive civic crusade can call the California Eagle, AD. 4-0161.

JOIN VOTE CAMPAIGN—The top disc jockeys in the city joined the Eagle registration campaign. GI Faces Rape Trial and declared they were "absolutely sure" of his innocence.

Martin, picked up while he was spending a final furlough in this country before being shipped overseas, was, before induction into the Army, one of the featured dancers of the Lester Horton dance group.

The defense of Martin, who lives with his parents, at 1467½ E. 22nd street, has aroused wide interracial support.

Friends Help

First to come to his aid were his friends of the Horton dance group, who sponsored a meeting at the theater, 7566 Melrose avenue, Tuesday night to raise funds to carry the fight through the courts.

Frank Eng, business manager of the theater, told the Eagle: "He's our friend. We all know he's incapable of such an act. One of the difficulties," Eng continued, "is the fact that witnesses from Fort Ord who can testify to Martin's whereabouts are now scattered to the four winds."

Army records reportedly show that Martin was at camp at the time of the attack.

Martin and a number of his buddies were given blanket furlough the first of this month. Martin was to have reported to the Army embarkation center at Camp Kilmer, N.J., August 15.

Fitted Description

Martin, 21, was arrested in Laguna Beach August 6 and accused of the crimes which had occurred two weeks previously.

Laguna police had been alerted to pick up a light-skinned Negro, weighing about 150 pounds and five feet nine inches tall. They figured that Martin fitted the description, and took him to jail to be finger-printed and photographed.

He was released the same night, but re-arrested three days later at the dance theater, where his former colleagues were giving him a farewell party, and jailed at the Santa Ana county jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Feigned Illness

Martin was charged with gaining entrance to the Laguna Beach house at 2120 Ocean Way occupied by Harold Jackson and Mrs. Virginia Jackson, of Riverside, July 20. The intruder allegedly feigned sickness, then once inside the house drew a gun and proceeded to the rape of the white woman in the presence of her husband and his parents. He is then alleged to have robbed everyone present and to have forced Jackson to drive him to Los Angeles.

Work to Start on Health Center

Construction work on a new Watts District Health Center building at 1522 E. 102nd Street is scheduled to start by Sept. 2, following award of a contract for the project Monday by the Board of Public Works.

The bid of Carl-Ray's Co for $93,433, the lowest of nine submitted, was accepted.

Funds are available for erection of the much needed center.

Plans for the new structure call for erection of a one-story frame stucco building.

Bitter Fight for Civil Rights Plank

By WENDELL GREENE

The strong civil rights plank adopted by the Democratic party at its 51st National convention was the result of a long and bitter fight that finally culminated in victory for President Truman and the liberal wing of the party.

Meeting in a hot muggy room in the hotel Conrad Hilton, the subcommittee of the platform committee to consider the civil rights plank wrangled and fought for 20 hours, before there was finally a meeting of the minds, and a general accord was reached.

Truman's Plank

The first draft that was considered by members of the committee originated in the White House and the members of the committee knew it had President Truman's personal stamp of approval. This draft was finally approved by the committee with only minor changes in wording that most committee members felt strengthened its meaning.

The steaming heat of Chicago, was accented by the great press of people in the conference room as every bit of available space was taken.

A tug of war went on with Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York heading the administration forces and Senator Holland Spessard of Florida battling for the Dixiecrats. Each side threatened to go to the floor with a minority report if their version of the plank was not adopted. Senator Lehman's forces wanted to be more positive in language than the draft sent down by the President. Senator Holland didn't want any part of the plank.

Tempers flared and bitter words were exchanged. Time and time Senator Spessard rose to leave the room and take no more part in the discussions, and every time Senator John Sparkman prevailed upon him to remain and be bound by the decision of the committe. Senator Lehman became so angry at the tight-minded attitude of the Dixiecrats that he threatened to walk out and "fight it out on the floor" and Congressman William L. Dawson, the only Negro member of the committee, urged him to stay and not split the party over "mere words."

Compulsory FEPC

Senator Lehman wanted to spell out a provision for a compulsory FEPC and standing with him in his fight were the two California members of the committee Helen Shrank of Los Angeles and Lyle Cook of Berkeley. The California delegation was committed to such a provision and fought bitterly for it.

Senator Holland wanted to eliminate any reference to discrimination and the two forces locked home for 20 long weary hours in the record-breaking heat of Chicago.

Congressman Dawson finally prevailed upon Lehman's forces that the plank called for a compulsory FEPC without saying it in so many words. Lyle Cook was high in his praise of Dawson's conduct in the committee that won victory for the strong plank forces.

Senator Sparkman proved himself to be one of the South's outstanding liberals by holding the recalcitrant Dixiecrats in line and preventing them from walking out, precipitating a fight on the floor and a walkout of some southern delegations. His nomination as vice president was a direct result of his fine work on the civil rights platform committee.

The weary members of the committee finally reached agreement on the original draft with only some minor changes, and agreed that no minority report would be submitted by any factions. The entire platform committee passed the civil rights plank with a unanimous vote.

Anti-Climax

The passage of the platform by the entire convention was wholly anti-climatic. Hardly a delegate in the convention except those who were members of the platform committee knew exactly what was in the civil rights plank or any other plank.

Walter White, Averill Harriman, Senator Estes Kefauver, Senator Hubert Humphries and the forces representing Governor Adlai Steevnson let it be known to the various delegations that the plank was satisfactory to them. After a reading of the entire platform by the clerk, Chairman Sam Rayburn called for a voice vote.

The platform was quickly gaveled through. If there was opposition, things happened so quickly that the diehard Dixiecrats didn't have time to form any vocal opposition.

Ed Sanders Honored by City Council

The City Council passed a resolution honoring Ed Sanders of 9328 Compton avenue, native of Los Angeles, who won the heavyweight boxing championship of the world at the Olympic Games in Helsinki, Finland.

The resolution was introduced by Councilman Kenneth Hahn and Councilman John S. Gibson.

Sanders, who attended Jordan high school, was star on the football team and was star trackman at Compton Junior College. He attended Idaho State College and is at the present time a seaman in the U.S. Navy.

At a special ceremony held at Will Rogers Park, Councilman Hahn presented an embossed resolution to Ed Sanders.

Far West Votes For State FEP

Most of the voters polled by the Gallup Poll favor state rather than federal action on FEPC, according to figures published this week. Federal FEPC legislation found most favor in eastern and New England states in which the larger states already have state fair employment practices legislation.

The results of the survey showed that on a national scale 32 per cent of the voters favored federal action, that 44 per cent wanted state legislation, that 16 per cent wanted no action of any kind and that the remaining eight per cent had no opinion.

On a sectional basis the East voted 44 per cent for federal action and 35 per cent for state laws; the Midwest went 28 per cent for federal legislation and 44 per cent for state action; the South furnished only 13 per cent for federal action and 70 per cent for leaving the matter to the states while the Far West showed 29 per cent for federal and 41 per cent for state action.

The Republicans had a larger percentage of members in favor of leaving the matter to the states than the Democrats. An even 50 per cent of GOP members favored state action while only 45 per cent of the Democrats cast their ballots in favor of states rights.

NAACP Brings Fair Pay Suit Against Maintenance Outfit

Chairman John H. Dial Jr. announces that the Labor Committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is filing charges against the Aetna Maintenance Company for not paying sufficient overtime rates to employes in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Wage and Hour law.

Chairman Dial pointed out that Aetna and many other Maintenance firms make pretense of their fair hiring policies by hiring mostly Negro and other minority workers. Actually most of the employes are required to violate the law by working excessive hours without proper pay.

Charges were filed on behalf of John Lee with the understanding that all past and present employes pay rates, as far as overtime is concerned, will be investigated.

Dial further pointed out that many workers from this firm have from time to time reported their cases to the NAACP.

Watts to Get Much Needed Health Center

Word came from the office of City Councilman John S. Gibson of the 15th district today that the new Watts District Health Center building contract has been awarded to the Cal Ray Construction Company, whose bid of $98,433 was $13,000 under the City Council approved appropriation.

Construction of the needed new Health Center, which will be located on E. 102nd Street between Success and Compton Avenues, will begin around the middle of September, Mr. Gibson said.

The Center, under the direction of District Health Officer Dr. Robert F. Kolts, will service a population of more than 200,000 citizens residing in an area bordered by Alameda street on the east, Van Ness avenue on the west, 79th street on the north, and 120th street on the south.

Army Command Asked to Probe Arrest of Vet

Lt. Ernest J. Collier, Jr., wounded Korean war veteran, is still being held in the prison ward at Camp Cooke following his altercation with a superior officer Aug. 10.

No charges, however, have yet been filed against him, the Eagle was informed.

The NAACP, meanwhile, has appealed to the Sixth Army Area headquarters in San Francisco, on behalf of the wounded hero.

Seek Information

"We will be extremely interested in the kind of charges, if any, that will be leveled against Lt. Collier in view of the highly questionable demeanor of Major Carl Bruck," the NAACP communication said in part.

Major Bruck, officer of the day at the army hospital, manhandled Lt. Collier after the Negro officer refused to remove his visiting wife from his hospital room, according to the NAACP.

Collier, after the incident, was confined for nearly two days without medical care though he had been regularly receiving attention following his most recent operation, the NAACP reports.

Bias Involved

The incident occurred when Collier was unable to find accommodations for his wife either at the Army base guest house or in nearby Santa Maria. The lieutenant's explanation for refusal of Santa Maria hotels and motels to supply him with a room was racial discrimination.

Collier sought to leave his hospital room when his wife was ordered to leave. It was then that the scuffle between him and Major Bruck occurred.

Major Bruck is said to have shoved Collier by his right arm causing him serious pain due to the fact that he had undergone surgery on it a few days previously.

Collier is a veteran both of Korea and of World War II. He was sent back here for hospitalization after his most recent wound—his third.

Stevenson For FEPC, Against Filibustering

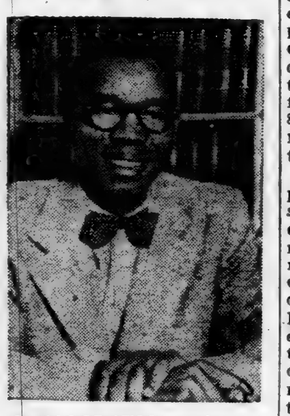
NEW YORK—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President, will support the move for a change in the Congress rules looking to the shutting off of filibusters in the Senate and the permitting of freer flow of legislation in the House.

This was the assurance given Roy Wilkins, administrator of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in an hour-long interview last week in the executive mansion in Springfield, Ill.

Wilkins requested and secured an appointment for a similar interview with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican nominee.

Favors FEPC

Gov. Stevenson said he had called the civil rights plank in the Democratic platform "an excellent one" and that he intended to run on it. He said he had previously stated that he was opposed to filibusters that endanger the national welfare and that he would support the platform which urges action in the 83rd Congress to prevent a minority from blocking the will of the majority.



On FEPC, Gov. Stevenson repeated his belief that there should be no discrimination in employment and he cited once more his approval of the Humphrey-Ives FEPC bill which came out of committee in the last days of the 82nd Congress. The Humphrey-Ives bill provides for enforcement. The nominee also told Wilkins of his sponsorship of an FEPC bill with enforcement powers in the state legislature of Illinois. It was passed by the Democratic lower house, but defeated in the Republican-controlled state Senate.

Gov. Stevenson recalled that he had sent troops to quell the Cicero housing riot and that state troopers had been sent to Cairo on the occasion of a bombing in connection with a school case. He said he wanted to "accomplish something" on civil rights and not just "talk about it." He said where one kind of approach might not achieve the end, another might do so, and he firmly intended to "go forward" in the civil rights field.

South Moving Ahead

Gov. Stevenson repeated that his feeling was that there was support for a good civil rights program in the South and expressed confidence that Southern states were moving ahead on the problem and would do more in the future.

In a brief discussion of Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, controversial vice-presidential nominee, Gov. Stevenson listened attentively as Wilkins cited the Alabaman's voting record against civil rights legislation in the House and Senate. The Governor limited his comment to stating that Sparkman was a liberal Southerner, had many friends in the Senate, and as presiding officer, had a better chance than most for success in guiding an administration program of legislation through the Senate.

DEMOCRATIC appointee—Atty. Edward S. Hardwick was appointed this week to membership in the California Democratic Central Committee, representing 23rd Congressional district.

SIGNAL HONOR — Mrs. Pearl W. Roberts, widow of the late Republican leader, Fredrick M. Roberts, this week was appointed as one of the state's 34 presidential electors by the Republican State Central committee.

EARNED REWARD—Mrs. Lena Washington, who began her political career in Los Angeles ringing doorbells for former Gov. Frank Merriam, was assistant to national secretary at Republican convention in Chicago. She will be co-honoree at affair here next month.

Auto Leaps Curb, Kills 9 Year Old

A nine year old girl was killed in a freak accident late Tuesday afternoon while on her way home from the store with a loaf of bread, at 103rd street and Wilmington avenue.

Mildred Phillips, 22, 1905 East 112th street, was driving North on Wilmington avenue when she approached a line of cars and stopped for the signal.

The car veered onto the curb lane and she drove into a service station, went behind the gas pumps onto the sidewalk of 103rd street, knocking down a bus stop sign and a scale machine, also scraping the front of a store building.

Little Lavonne A. Washington, 9, 9549 Anzac, was carrying a loaf of bread from the store home, saw the car was out of control and tried to escape it.

Past President Denies Split in NACW Meet

A vigorous denial that there were any important differences of opinion in the recent convention of the National Association of Colored Women or that her dispute with Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, state president, was over the organization's presidential candidates was issued this week by Mrs. Ella Stewart, outgoing president.

The difficulties with Mrs. Hicks arose over "handling of convention affairs contrary to procedures outlined by the national office," Mrs. Stewart said.

At the same time the association issued a full report of its resolutions. Among important stands taken were:

Support of candidates who back a federal FEPC with teeth regardless of party affiliation.

Support of the United Nations.

Opposition to segregation in public housing.

Opposition to segregation in education.

The Council also favored the appointment of a lobbyist in Washington and pledged itself to compile a list of qualified women for appointment to state and federal offices.

Mrs. Hicks had told the Eagle that it was Mrs. Stewart's change of plans for support of a candidate for president that led to difficulties between them.

Mrs. Stewart said that Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, the successful candidate, was "drafted from the floor."

Negroes on Picket Line at Goodrich Co.

Negro workers were walking the picket line outside the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant at 12:01 a.m. Monday morning when the union officially went out on strike.

They have been there every morning and every day since, taking their regular tour of duty with all other union members.

There are approximately 150 Negroes among the 800 employes of the factory, 5400 E. Olympic boulevard, which was struck along with all Goodrich factories throughout the country.

Negroes are employed in all departments of the local plant, according to Frank Bullinger, vice-president of the striking union, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO. Only exception, he said, is in the office, which is not under the union's jurisdiction.

No-Strike Clause

Chief sticking point in the dispute, Bullinger said, is the company attempt to hold the union financially responsible in the event that a strike occurs.

He claimed that the demand is especially unfair in view of the fact that the contract calls for only a "modified" union shop —including a 45-day initial trial period, an "escape" clause for workers after a year on the job, and a provision that workers who were already in the plant when the original contract was signed are not compelled to belong to the union.

The contract expired July 15, with negotiations in progress since June 9. Talks are taking place in Cincinnati, Ohio, covering all Goodrich plants. There is reportedly no dispute over a 10-cent hourly wage increase offered by the company.

In addition to the fact that Negroes are hired throughout the plant, one Negro, Charles Rentie, has been a member of the union's executive board for several years, while other Negroes have posts of shop stewards.

Can Opener Killer Held For Murder

Mrs. Rogene Long, who 10 days ago stabbed her husband with a can opener in a quarrel that started over the purchase of a loaf of bread, Friday was held to answer on a charge of murder.

The murder complaint was issued following a coroner's jury hearing.

Mrs. Long, who lives at 4722 Honduras street, fought with and stabbed her common-law husband, Marion Manard Roberts, Sunday afternoon Aug. 10. She claimed in her defense that he beat her, knocked her down, and brandished a 12-inch long butcher knife during his attack upon her.

In desperation, she claimed, she grabbed the first thing that came to hand—a can-opener—and began striking him. She stabbed him in the chest, then stabbed him several times more.

public relations manager, Jack Evans. He wasn't very cooperative, Talley said, and would give specific information only about the San Francisco plant on McAllister street.

HELD FOR MURDER—Rogene Long, who killed her husband with a can opener, was ordered held for murder following a coroner's jury hearing Friday.

Statement Challenged

At that plant there were no Negro delivery salesmen, no bakers, no office workers, at the time of the latest interview. There was one Negro janitor.

At the main Langendorf plant in Los Angeles, at 62nd and Western, Talley said he was informed there were two Negro handymen.

When the Eagle checked with the bakeries, the local Langendorf representative disputed this statement. He said that they have a "couple of Negroes" in the garage, several in maintenance, one in the wrapping department and one or two in the bakeshop.

In Maintenance

Barbara Ann Baking Co., 3545 Pasadena avenue, have 12 Negro employees — all in the maintenance and warehouse. Morry Dedeaux, 332 W. 51st street, is foreman of the department. Cy Haygood, 60 Pepper street, Pasadena, is assistant foreman.

Cal Ray, 239 Howard Glen, Glendale, has no Negroes employed in any capacity and never has had any, according to a spokesman for the company. They "probably" would hire a Negro if there were an opening and if any Negroes applied, the Eagle was told.

But there are no openings now, the informant hastened to add, advising also that they expect to be closed for two weeks starting next week.

Editorial

The Choice Isn't Hard

Vice-presidents don't loom very large in American history. We doubt that one voter in fifty can tell who was vice-president under Woodrow Wilson and most of our friends can't even name Herbert Hoovers' second in command. An appreciable number of them don't know the name of Franklin Roosevelt's first running mate.

However, the Republicans seem determined to stress vice-presidents this year as far as Negro voters are concerned. The reason is simple. They're caught in the middle with General Eisenhower committed to states rights and with a civil rights plank that is meaningless. Their strategy is to obscure the Eisenhower stand and divert attention from their platform with an all-out attack on Senator Sparkman.

While the GOP is cynically raising the roof about Sparkman's civil rights record its spokesmen keep discreetly silent about would-be vice-president Nixon. And justly so because Nixon has a record of die-hard opposition to fundamental civil rights proposals. He opposed FEPC when it appeared as an initiative issue on the California ballot; he voted to lodge power in the House rules committee to bottle up civil rights measures and his last act before accepting the Republican vice-presidential nomination was to vote against the mild Humphreys-Ives FEPC bill in the Senate labor committee.

However it is well to keep in mind that the records of vice-presidential nominees are secondary issues in this campaign. The primary considerations are the party platforms and the presidential candidates themselves.

Obviously the Democratic planks on civil rights are much stronger and better from our point of view than their opposite numbers in the Republican platform. The Democrats accepted the basic ideas proposed by the NAACP and the more than fifty organizations which held a conference on civil rights in Washington last winter. They even pledged themselves to curb filibusters. The Republicans slanted their document to fit their hopes of doing business with the Dixiecrats and of making inroads in the South. On the basis of party platforms the Democrats are far in the lead in the race for Negro votes. Sparkman has said that he will be bound by the Democratic platform; Nixon is on record as saying that the GOP platform calls for a voluntary FEPC.

Eisenhower has no record on civil rights except his plea for the continuation of segregation in the armed forces and his blunt rejection of all demands that he come out for a federal FEPC. He says that he doesn't believe that laws are effective in securing or protecting civil rights.

Stevenson, as governor of Illinois, worked hard for an FEPC; he ordered the end of Jim Crow in his state's schools; he ended acceptance of discriminatory job orders by the Illinois Employment Service; he inserted a non-discriminatory clause in all state contracts; he has fought for non-discrimination in public housing; he has increased the number of Negro state job holders and he had the courage to call out the State Guard to enforce order in Cicero.

The short of it is that Stevenson is committed to continuing the New Deal-Fair Deal policies while Eisenhower wants to turn the clock back. The choice between them doesn't look very difficult to us.

Attention, Mr. Alderson

Oakland has abrogated an ancient rule that required segregation of Negroes in its fire department. Los Angeles must follow that example. Our fire department is the only municipal department in this city that clings to Jim Crow in open violation of the letter and the spirit of California laws and constitution.

Chief architect of our Jim Crow policy is Chief Alderson. His alibi is the usual one that his sole concern is that of conducting an efficient department. We think that he should do that but for the life of us we don't understand why he thinks that racial segregation promotes efficiency. And when it is all sifted down he doesn't either.

The chief is the victim of his own blindness. He has heard so often that Negroes and whites can't mix that he believes that myth. We aren't concerned with Alderson's private beliefs about race. He is entitled to them even when they are erroneous. But he has no right to impress Jim Crow on the city of Los Angeles. It is time he was brought to book.

An Excellent Appointment

We hope that the appointment of Mrs. Aaron Douglas to the Los Angeles County Board of Education will alert the members of the city Board of Education to the fact that a qualified Negro ought to be named to its existing vacancy.

Everybody is talking about democracy and here is a chance for the Board to do something about it. Education is everybody's business and members with diverse points of view and background would make the Board more representative of the entire citizenry.

Supervisor Leonard Roach who proposed Mrs. Douglas' appointment and the other supervisors who approved it deserve the thanks of the entire community. Her record indicates that she will do a good job and that Los Angeles county will have a better Board of Education as a result of the skill and experience that she will contribute.

Compton's Opportunity

With the retirement of the incumbent, Compton will get a new postmaster in the near future. Obviously the job requires a competent man. It also calls for a man who is committed to doing the same kind of a job of integration of employes that Mike Fanning has done in Los Angeles. Joseph L. Causeway seems to us to be the man who fits both requirements.

Government has the duty of taking the lead in putting aside old customs and traditions that confined citizens to inferior positions because of race and color. Government can do that job only if those in administrative capacities use merit as the sole yardstick for appointment and advancement. Compton needs a man who will be that kind of an administrator.

Battle Axe & Bread

A month ago I nearly blew a gasket listening to the Honorable Sam Rayburn, Congressman from Texas and Speaker of the House of Representatives, when that "beloved son of the South" addressed the Democratic Convention at Chicago. Yesterday the old gasket almost went again when I happened to re-read press accounts of the Rayburn speech. It was a masterpiece of brazen effrontery, coming from the representative of a state which has so frequently shown arrogant disdain for the rights of its Negro citizens. It was brass-bound gall, considering that those same Negroes comprise so large a proportion of Speaker Rayburn's constituents, in theory, at least.

In a one-hour breast-beating exercise, and in a surge of bombastic rhetoric, Brother Rayburn asked a number of questions of his audience while dwelling on the blessings of twenty-year Democratic regime. Some of the colored farm laborers with whom I have talked in his state should have been there to answer "their Congressman" face to face. Since they couldn't be, I'll submit the Rayburn questions, with the answers his constituents could have given him.

Granger Answers

Question: They go on saying the Democratic Party is ruining the nation. Hence, I'll ask you this: Are you listening to me tonight in a room bare of furniture? Answer: That's a dumb question. Where'd I get a radio? I got a wood-burnin' stove, a bed withouten springs, a table and a broken-down chair in a one-room cabin. I don't know if you'd call that bare, but that's what I got.

Q: Did your children go to bed hungry, as they have so many times in the past? A: Yes, tonight and last night and the night before, for that matter.

Q: Is your wife sitting by your side, weaving baskets of straw to make a supplement for your starvation wages? A: No, she's over to the big house, working in your kitchen for these same starvation wages she was getting ten years ago.

Q: Is the sheriff standing outside your door to take away your home from you? A: He already did, last week. That's why I'm a squattin' down here in this here shack.

Q: If I should want a snack, or if this man in his home should want a snack tonight, from the icebox, will you have to eat the bacon rind that you set aside for fishing? A: You're gettin' a bit mixed up in your language and I don't wonder. How someever, I'll answer your question. In the first place, I haven't got any icebox and couldn't buy ice if I had one. In the second place, I eat fat-back because bacon costs too much for me. In the third place, I haven't got time to go fishin' after I get through workin' for you "from get up to lay down."

Q: Are you better off or worse off than you were twenty or even ten years ago? A: Ten years ago I was hungry and broke; today I'm still hungry and broke. Which is that, better or worse?

You Mean KKK?

Q: The Republican leadership tells you that you've not only been ruined financially by the Democratic Administration, but also that your liberties have been destroyed. Hence, I'll ask you this: Are you fearful that the secret police will knock at your door tohight? A: You mean the Klan? Yeah!

Q: Are you afraid of being thrown into prison without a trial? A: What do you suppose happened to my boy last week? Not only no trial, no crime either.

Q: Are you forbidden to worship as you want to worship? A: Come to think of it, I don't believe they've gotten 'round to that yet. But give 'em time!

Q: Does this government tell you what to read and what not to read? A: Matter of fact, my county never gave me a schooling, so I can't read anyways.

Q: Does (the government) deny you any of the rights of the Bill of Rights, that great charter of liberty? Of course not!

A. ARE YOU KIDDIN'?

Letters to the Editor

SAYS WE'RE WRONG

Dear Sir:

In the August 7, issue of the Eagle, an article appeared under the caption, "Women Split in Election," whose contents are decidedly untrue and very damaging to the National Association of Colored Women.

The policies of the NACW through the 56 years of its existance, with such dynamic leaders at the helm of this great organization as Dr. Mary Church Terrell, of Washington, D. C.; the first president; Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, of Florida; Dr. Mary F. Waring of Illinois; and our own present leader, Mrs. Ella Phillips Stewart of Ohio, have been at work continuously to uphold the standards of true womanhood and the principles of democracy, as well as to promote interracial understanding with justice, goodwill and peace among all peoples.

In this 28th Biennial session, which is now being held in the Belmont High School, Los Angeles, with more than 1000 delegates and visitors from all parts of the country, honest differences of opinion have arisen, but have been settled intelligently, democratically and harmoniously.

We have had absolutely no confusion in the Association.

Yours, for "Lifting As We Climb,"

The National Association of Colored Women

(Mrs.) Ella Phillips Stewart, President

SPARKMAN'S RECORD

Dear Sir:

It appears to me the Democrats were on the spot when the Republicans nominated a war hero for president. We Americans have been weak for our glamerous fighting men following most every war in our history. This being true it appears obvious to me that the Democrats had to get a vice president from the South since they were not in position to miss a bet in this election even in dear Old Dixie. So they got the man that I think the best of those available to enter the race. I refer to Senator Sparkman of Alabama.

Many Negroes are concerned about his record on Civil Rights. Have they forgotten that as long as he depended upon white Alabamans for election and re-election to Congress and later to the Senate he dared not have voted to please Negroes on the Civil Rights issues? Had he done so his political career would have ended quite suddenly.

However we have seen what broadening the base of voting did for Harry Truman our very liberal president, who hails from Missouri; for Justice Black of Alabama and Vice President Barkley, a Kentuckian. Who would doubt my faith in the liberality of Senator Sparkman once he is elected to office by many of the states?

COUNTY WAGES

Dear Sir:

I read with interest the proposed salary raises for the five Los Angeles County Supervisors from $9,800 to $16,750. Undoubtedly these solons are distinguished and able gentlemen, and I do not begrudge them this "needed" increase. It appeared, however, that the "delegation" which came before them Tuesday had little difficulty convincing the officials to seek more pay. Their immediate action was certainly inconsistent with their usual reticence and delays in approving salary adjustments for county employees. Only after endless surveys, hearings, and petitions can even a token boost in pay materialize for those civil servants.

One prominent Supervisor who is enjoying practically a life membership on this august board once told an employee who had made a most pathetic plea at one of the wage hearings (and these are my own words), if he was not satisfied with his lot and felt he was worth more money, if he had any guts he would seek employment where the pay was commensurate with his supposed qualifications. Perhaps this Supervisor would qualify as a superior court judge whose present salary the proposal intends to match, or would he?

Maybe Attorneys James L. Beebee, Frank P. Doherty, et al would like to go to bat for some of us underpaid, debt-riddled, and disgusted workers on the lower rungs of our county government.

Sincerely yours,
Ray S. Stone

Dear Sir:

I am writing because I admire the manner in which you run your paper and to offer a suggestion that may improve its circulation.

The idea which I would like to present is: why not have a Gene Baker Day in honor of the fine playing which he is putting forth as short stop for the L. A. Angels?

I also would like to commend one of your reporters for the excellent manner in which he writes his stories. I am not much at judging writing but his news stories are better than any I have read. That person is Mr. Greene.

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

The tactical error of placing FEPC on the ballot in 1946 was readily apparent to most political observers with the least bit of political sagacity. The founding fathers of our country were very wise when they delegated powers to the legislative division of government to pass measures that were good for the general weal. Most legislation, if put to a popular vote, would never pass. That is where the legislature exercises leadership and statesmanship by passing measures that often the general public is not ready to accept.

Can you imagine what would happen if every tax boost was put to a vote of the people?

FEPC legislation is in the same class. It is the kind of legislation that requires far-sighted leadership as to what is the greatest good for the general welfare.

There are latent prejudices in all people. If nothing ever happens to arouse the prejudice, it may sleep forever. But given enough inflammatory stimulus, it will quicken into life. That is what happened in the FEPC campaign.

Accomplished Fact

The policy was an accomplished fact when Negroes learned about it. Responsible leadership, who opposed such a move tactically, were without a voice as when such a drive was made known to the public, to oppose it would cause one to join the camp of the racial bigots.

The only thing to do was pitch in, help in the petition drive and hope for the best.

Hope Not Enough

Hope was not enough. The racial bigots had a field day, and whipped up more racial hysteria in California than at any time since the turn of the century, when restrictive covenants were upheld by the courts and the alien land laws were passed.

The issue became so hot and so emotional that the Daily News and the San Francisco Chronicle were forced to join the ranks of the bigots and oppose the legislation.

People who had never thought much about race and prejudice had it brought right home to them as a threat to their economic security and their home.

Vicious Propaganda

The most vicious propaganda imaginable flooded the state, and poisoned the minds of many otherwise fair-minded persons.

The great bulk of labor deserted the cause, giving only lip service to the Frankenstein they had created, and in some instances openly opposing the measure.

This left only the strident left in labor and politics, and a few strong-minded liberals openly supporting the measure. Plain ordinary liberals were running for cover like scared jackrabbits.

When I returned from the service, I was amazed at the money and time that was used to defeat Proposition 11. It turned out that the vested and bigoted interests were not trying to defeat just Proposition 11, but to defeat for all time any move that Negroes in California might make to broaden their political, economic and social horizon.

They were trying to smash the fight on restrictive covenants as well as the fight for job opportunities. Fortunately, they did not succeed in doing this as the courts refused to be swayed by the "mandate of the people" in the vote on FEPC. It did not carry over to the restrictive covenant fight.

The brutal truth is that all an employer need do to defeat a proposition like Proposition 11 was to place a notice on his company bulletin board to the effect that if the measure passed, a Negro might "take your job tomorrow." A complete falsehood, but effective as it strikes at a worker's economic security.

Labor Deserted

In the Bay Area, labor openly deserted the cause, and didn't even give lip service to it. A pamphlet was printed, first showing a Negro working beside a white woman, then showing them eating lunch together, and the last picture showed two pair of shoes under a bed. That sort of vicious propaganda was unleashed on the state because a few misguided liberals and extreme left-wingers knew what was "best for the Negro" without ever consulting responsible Negro leadership.

When the measure was defeated by a whopping vote, racial bigots all over the country jumped for joy. They used it as a club to beat down any fight for fair employment legislation. Nixon uses it as his excuse for consistently opposing FEPC.

A costly blunder that Negroes in California and all over the country are still suffering from.

To me more dear, congenial to my heart,
One native charm, than all the gloss of, art.

—Goldsmith.

Delegation includes H. W. Ragsdale, Phoenix, Ariz.; A. A. Robinson, alternate delegate, Los Angeles; Annie Mae Woods, delegate, Pasadena; Leon Harrison, Los Angeles; James P. Tate, San Diego; Edwin Baker, California.

Local Pastor Named Christian Church VP

A Los Angeles minister, the Rev. F. M. Mitchell, last week was elected first vice-president of the National Christian Missionary Convention during that body's 1000-delegate conclave here.

Newly-elected president is Dr. L. L. Dickerson of Columbus, Ohio. Elections took place last Saturday. Final meetings were held on Sunday. Avalon Christian church, where the Rev. Baxter Duke is pastor, hosted the convention.

Chosen executive secretary was Dr. L. L. Dickson of Houston, Texas. The convention's top officers this week are conferring on the future work of the organization which they will lead for the next two years.

Vice-President Mitchell, who declares that his now ailing wife, Mrs. Ruth Mitchell, is his greatest inspiration, has been a minister in Los Angeles for 32 years.

He has held numerous posts on executive boards of civic and religious organizations including the YMCA, Avalon Community Center, Dean Reed College of Religion and the Conference of Christians and Jews. He is a past president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance and is currently vice-president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A native of Little Rock, Rev. Mitchell was a chaplain in the first World War and was cited for heroism. His name appears in Who's Who Among Religious Leaders of America. According to the clergyman, his former church, Cosmopolitan Christian, was the first here to open a community center in the church building and also inaugurated a Boys' Home in 1922.

Convention delegates enjoyed a bus tour of the city with stops at Knott's Berry Farm, Long Beach, San Pedro and Beverly Hills. Supervisor Leonard Roach donated the cost of six Tanner busses for the tour.

Ward Reviews Accomplishments

W. T. Ferguson, Steward of Ward African Methodist Episcopal church, and lay delegate from the church to the Southern California Annual Conference which will convene in Pasadena the first Wednesday in September, remarked this week that the report of his Church to the Conference this year will be unique in many ways. "To begin with," he said, "for the first time in the history a Church west of the Mississippi River will report the election of its pastor a Bishop in the A.M.E. church; secondly," he said, "the Church will report the reduction of its indebtedness from $75,000.00 to $42,500.00 in two years."

"Within this same period of time it has added to its membership approximately 392 persons, and developed a program of effective community service which is making a distinct contribution to the life of the city."

Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, who has continued to serve as pastor since the General Conference will conduct the services for two more Sundays. This Sunday evening the Senior Choir will present a special "Talent Night" program in tribute to Bishop Jordan, featuring some of his favorite selections. Mrs. Virilla Allen will be at the piano, Mrs. Esther M. Roach at the organ, and Mrs. Minnie S. Robinson, guest director.

Trinity Youth Day

Youth will be the concern of the service Sunday morning at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church, E. 35th and Trinity streets.

Willie Barnes, a member and worker in the Sunday School since he was 11 years old and now a student at UCLA, will deliver the morning message, the Youth Choir will sing, the Youth Ushers will serve, and the Boy Scouts, Cubs and Ranger groups will be presented.

Barnes, a graduate of Jefferson High School, a former student body president and member of the Jefferson baseball team, was selected by the young people of the church as the speaker. He teaches the high school class in the Sunday School of which he is assistant superintendent. He is president of the youth choir.

Rev. John C. Bain, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Bain are out of the city on vacation. Their son, John, left for the Army only a few days after graduation from UCLA. He is at Fort Ord.

Special Services At Institutional

Dedicatory services are being held at the Institutional Baptist Church of California, Dr. L. D. Reveal, pastor, E. 66th and S. Main streets. The services began August 11 and will close Sunday, August 17, with two guest ministers speaking. Delivering the message of the morning will be Dr. G. W. Reed, president of the Interdenominational Alliance of Los Angeles and vicinity.

The afternoon service will be directed by Rev. William T. Ward, assistant minister of the United Brethren church. This service will be supported by the Sons of Melody and other gospel singers. The dedication will include not only the sanctuary but the pastor's residence and the beautiful "garden of prayer" also used for the solemnization of weddings.

The embellishments of the person are poor substitutes for the charms of being, shining resplendent and eternal over age and decay.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Catholic Body Urges Passage Of FEPC Law

During the 70th annual supreme convention of the Roman Catholic Knights of Columbus held here August 19 to 21, high officials declared themselves in favor of fair employment practices legislation, according to newsman Lawrence LaMar, who covered the sessions.

In declaring the position of the Knights of Columbus on the question of a national or federal Fair Employment Practices Committee, armed with the power of enforcement, Judge John E. Swift, Supreme Knight of Boston, stated in an interview shortly after his arrival here that he favored FEPC at the federal level. Later, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, special guest of honor at the 70th annual session of the Supreme Council of the K. of C. personally informed the writer that he stood firmly for FEPC at the federal level. He also revealed the presence of Negroes in the Order throughout the nation.

Bishop Jordan Main Speaker At AME Event

Before sailing to his new field with headquarters in Johannesburg, South Africa, Bishop Frederick D. Jordan of Los Angeles delivered the keynote message at the 44th session of the Christian Education and Rural Church Institute of the African Methodist Episcopal church in Atlanta with Bishop Sherman Green presiding. Bishop Green was assisted by Bishop E. C. Hatcher of West Africa.

Milton and Willie Rayson teamed up on Sam Cummings to edge him out for both low gross and low net honors in the Cosmopolitan Golf Club's August Sweepstakes tourney held last Sunday at the Rio Hondo course in Downey. Milton Rayson, who had lost similar play-offs at the San Francisco and Vernondale tournaments, finally came through to take home the low gross trophy after tieing with Cummings with 74s while Willie Rayson's net 69 produced a tie for low net honors. His par golf in the two-hole sudden death play-off won for him the low net cup. Cummings won the second place low net cup. Other low scores included Milan Qualls with a 76, after turning the first nine in 33. Oscar Clisby and Andy Howard with 76s, and Ed Shaw and Henry Barbarin with 78s.

ON THE TURF

Del Mar. "Where the Turf Meets the Surf." The highlight of the Del Mar season for this Saturday will be the renewal of the Del Mar Derby which the best 3-year-olds in the west will meet over the mile and a furlong under handicap conditions. Top weight in this event if she starts will go to the Calumet Farm's prize winning beauty A Gleam, who was the outstanding star of the Hollywood Park meeting. A Gleam compares favorably with her great stable mate, Real Delight, who has won many of the big stakes in the east. A Gleam won five straight stakes victories at Hollywood Park this summer. She established herself the undisputed sophomore champion of California. She not only demonstrated her superiority over members of her own sex, her own age and older; she also scored three major successes over masculine 3-year-olds. One of her biggest victories was the $50,000 Added Westerner, California's big summer special for 3-year-olds. Other stakes that she won at Hollywood Park were the Milady Handicap, Hollywood Oaks, the Debonair and the Cinema Handicap. Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's Arroz, and Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Phillips' Stranglehold, along with the Arcadia Stable's The Green Lion, Mrs. Connie Ring's Blue Trumpeter, the Rancho El Refugio's Don Rebelde, the sensation of Mexico City; the Yolo Stable's Tonga; Abe Hirschberg's Haltafire, and W. M. Peavey's Down De Lane. The Derby carries an added value of $15,000 and a full field is expected to face starter Billie Mills.

RAMSEY

New Caliente in Old Mexico—A bad spill marred the running of the eighth race at the border course last Sunday when Apprentice Pedro Huerta of Mexico City was critically injured and was rushed to the Mercy Hospital in San Diego and is under observation for a brain fracture and hemorrhage. Turning into the back stretch of the mile and one-sixteenth, his mount, Swen's First, apparently crossed his legs, fell down and rolled over in a tense moment that brought a gasp of apprehension from the crowd of over 7500. Huerta regained consciousness by the time the ambulance reached the hospital. X-rays and examination by Dr. Delbert H. Werden, neuro surgeon of San Diego, revealed that Huerta had sustained a depressed fracture with concussion on the left side of the skull and that there had been hemorrhage into the brain.

CALIENTE RACE TRACK

Vic Kelley, University of California at Los Angeles Westwood campus, pens a able publicity director at the highly informative bit of football news:

Both offensively and defensively, UCLA's starting ends should be stronger this fall than in 1951. Replacements are few, however, and lacking in experience.

Coach Red Sanders' Bruins lost four fine ends, Herb Lane, an offensive starter, and Dean Kirby, a top-drawer reserve, by graduation, and Cliff Livinston and Pete O'Garro by ineligibility. Both Livingston, a stellar defensive wingman, and O'Garro, a flashy pass catcher, were expected to make strong bids for 1952 starting berths.

Five veterans are back, headed by All-Coast Ernie Stockert, 204, South Gate senior who figures to be one of the nation's best reecivers. Lanky Ernie has led the Bruins in pass catching for two years and set two new school records last season.

In 1951, Stockert caught 30 passes to better Bob Wilkinson's record of 27 receptions in 1949. He also snagged seven passes against Illinois last year to erase the previous one-game record of six held by Wilkinson and Burr Baldwin.

Backing up Stockert at offensive right end is Bob Long, 220, South Pasadena sophomore. Long is a promising prospect who received experience on the Rebel Team last year.

Ike Jones, 181, Santa Monica senior, seems to be the No. 1 candidate for left end. This two-year letterman has been shifted from position to position the last two seasons. He has shown flashes of brilliance but never consistency. This figures to be his year.

Jones is a real offensive threat both as a pass catcher and on Sanders' tricky end-arounds. Last year he scored on a tricky 20-yard run against the USC Trojans. Ike averaged 6.5 yards on five carries in 1951. He also caught three passes for 28 yards and one touchdown. Jones wasn't used at end until late in the season.

Spelling Jones will be Bob Heydenfeldt, 181, Canoga Park sophomore, and Dave Owen, 187, Pasadena senior and 1951 letterman. Heydenfeldt is rated a top prospect who played Rebel football last year. Owen alternated between the varsity and Rebel squads in 1951 but showed improvement in spring practice.

Defensively, UCLA expects to have two of the best ends in the country in Myron Berliner, 170, Los Angeles junior, and John Peterson, 186, Los Angeles sophomore. These two light but willing lettermen were instrumental in UCLA's driving finish last year. They are both smart and aggressive.

The ranks are thin behind the defensive whiz kids, however, with only Heydenfeldt figuring prominently at this time as a likely reserve.

If Stockert, Jones, Berliner and Peterson escape serious injuries, the end situation at UCLA stacks up well; but look for End Coach Billy Barnes to be working overtime to develop Long, Heydenfeldt, Owen and other replacements.

Torres Wins Bantam Crown

Oscar Torres, busy little punching Latin from South of the border won a clean cut decision over Tommy Umeda to win the State bantamweight title.

Torres and Umeda thrilled a goodly number of Olympic Auditorium fight fans who watch Torres come off the canvas in the second round to out punch, outclass the cool Umeda.

DOBY BENCHED FOR LOAFING

Manager Al Lopez benched Larry Doby for 13⅓ innings last week, saying the ace Indian outfielder failed to hustle on the base paths against the Chicago White Sox.

Doby, on first as the result of an error, stopped at second after Luke Easter singled in the third inning of the first game. Lopez thought he should have made it to third.

Doby told his manager he really had been running but Lopez said he couldn't accept that.

BONNIE TIME, MON—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Smith express keenly their interest when told by Daniel Hester and his wife Carleta that Jimmie Witherspoon would guest appear at the Townsmen's summer formal held at Shrine auditorium last Saturday.

Mad Plaid Becomes Popular Townsmen

The Townsmen didn't have to go to Loch Lomond to have a Highland fling. Instead they selected the Shrine auditorium where all the plaid laddies had a bonnie bonnie time last Saturday evening.

A large crowd of guests watched the members do their hosting chores in bright plaid formal jackets of all hues, trimmed with ebony satin lapels. Having less than three months to plan the formal, the Townsmen successfully gave a dance that proved to be one of the most colorful in the late summer season.

The club is several years old. It disbanded for a short time. Finally the old members got back together, revised by-laws and revived social activities. The group meets in homes weekly where it continuously stresses the importance of establishing some charitable project.

Presently there are eight active members, with a limit of 10 to complete the register.

The Townsmen presented their wives and dates with white carnation corsages. The men wore the same flowers as bouttonaires.

Two friends of the Townsmen, Joe Lutcher and Jimmy Witherspoon, provided music for dancers. Officers are president, James Cummings; secretary, Albert P. Smyles; treasurer, Louis Cummings, Jr.; and business manager, Bristol C. Andrew, Jr. Members include Richard Bennett, Arthur I. Cummings, Jr., Casimiro Estopellan, Daniel J. Hester and Everett A. Smith.

A shampoo tint has been used on my hair. After the tint I have noticed a few of the gray strands are still showing. Please tell me why part of the gray hair will not stay tinted?

If the pressing comb is used, the heat from the comb would be a little too warm which would cause some of the tint to be removed.

My nails have been breaking as soon as they grow to the ends of my fingertips. Why is this?

I would try a series of professional manicures. It would help. Also check your diet and see if you ar getting enough calcium.

My face seems to break out when I use a certain brand of soap powder. Why does this happen?

Your skin is sensitive and is probably allergic to the metallic ingredients contained in the powder.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

My desk has been simply overflowing with requests this week . . . It makes me happy to know people are reading this column and that they know they can depend on me to help . . . Perhaps you can help me to find the right people for these opportunities.

Free College Education

A respectable family in Long Beach is seeking companionship for the wife and two children as the husband is away from home often as a traveling salesman . . . The young woman should be interested in going to college as they will pay all expenses for her attendance in either the city or state college and give her an adequate allowance . . . They have just purchased a new home and the duties will be very simple . . . They want it clearly understood that the person is not being taken as a maid but rather as a member of the household . . . Doesn't it sound good? . . . and I assure it is a sincere request. Call me, MISS WELCOME at the Republic 25798 number or write to 2125 W. 29th street for information, to apply or make a recommendation.

Partnership Desired

Someone with an eye for business and a small amount of capital can now share a partnership in an already established dining room business . . . if you hurry. The present owner is a personable, thrifty business woman whose other responsibilities make this request possible . . . This, too, is a MISS WELCOME EXCLUSIVE. The details are available for your consideration.

REMINDER: I almost forgot to tell you that because of my vacation arrangements you should call me after 5 p.m. at REpublic 2-5798 or write to 2125 W. 29th street . . . for day calls, MAdison 1129. I know you'll be wanting to inquire about these opportunities. . . .

THIS WILL SURPRISE YOU as it did me to learn that you can get a Sunday dinner for $1 for Adults . . . 75c for Kiddies. WHERE? At The Club LaVelle Dining Room located in the Alpha House, 2116 South Western Avenue . . . Its family style service, available on Thursday and Sundays . . . You can not only afford to have your own families; regardless of size, but can fraternize with old friends and make new ones . . . Sunday's menu will boast of Eastern ham, southern fried chicken . . . smothered pork chops, hot biscuits and choices of vegetables. YUM! YUM! . . . Maybe it would be wise to call and make RESERVATIONS as this offer should pack the place . . . Telephone REpublic 2-4721 or RE. 9396. Askfor Charyety Jackson . . . Other big surprises will be forthcoming through this column from that very ingenious Gal . . . So don't miss reading it weekly . . .

I ASK YOU? Have you heard the latest CAPITOL record release by none other than Nat King Cole "Somewhere Along the Way" . . . Its steadily gaining in popularity . . . The flip side is a bouncey little tune titled "What does it take to make you take to me" . . . with Billy May's band providing the accompaniment.

DON'T MISS THE EAGLE AND THIS COLUMN NEXT WEEK . . . Or you'll miss some important information about your own (the Negro's bargaining power) and how you can make your dollar work for you . . . Till then . . .

Janice Edwards Entertains With Buffett Supper

A lavish supper hosted by Janice Edwards brought old and new friends out to meet honoree Rose Garrott Showell of Rosewell, New Jersey and her 22 months old daughter, Sandra Lucille.

Mrs. Showell, formerly of Los Angeles, is visiting her parents, ex-Captain and Mrs. Homer L. Garrot, who met their granddaughter for the first time.

Each guest was surprised with the presentation of gardenias given by the attractive hostess. Champagne cocktails were sipped while lively parlor games and conversation took place. First place was won by Paula Giddings.

Those assisting Mrs. Edwards were Emma Hooks, Rosetta Wilson, Paula Giddings and Ruth Estwick.

Sphinx Pledge Club Sponsors Musical

The Sphinx Pledge club of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity has spared nothing to provide the finest in musical talent for their Annual Scholarship Musical.

The benefit performance scheduled for 4 p.m., Sunday, September 14 at Dorsey High School auditorium, 3537 Farmdale avenue, is highlighted by Bob Parrish, lyric baritone; Mrs. Amanda Ambrose, popular pianist; and the famous Los Angeles Interracial chorus directed by Elmer Bernstein.

Proceeds will be used exclusively for scholarships to deserving high school students. Presentation of the scholarships will follow the concert.

Patron tickets may be bought directly at the Cannady and Freeman Law offices, 28th and Western avenue. Scholarship application blanks may be had likewise.

Twilight Cocktails Served by Blazons

The talk of the town will be the gala "Twilight Cocktail" to be presented by popular Blazons Social and Charity club, Sunday, August 31 at the Sigma Fraternity house, 2151 S. Harvard boulevard.

Phy Taylor's combo will furnish the music for the occasion which will take place between the hours of 5 and 10 p.m.

Unique invitations of gray and royal blue are flooding the mails bidding the collegiate set of the Angel City to one of the most outstanding events planned by the Blazons.

Busily attending to the details that make a successful affair are: Richard Gilliam, Lorraine N. Howard, Dorothy Wynn, Anne Harrison, Juanita Heard, Barbara Lleming, Ellen Bowman, Aline St Julian, Gurthiner Chapplle, and Clara Ware.

A unique organization, the Millionaire club, will lose its secretary for about a month. Mrs. Charles Crutchfield is leaving for New York September 20 where she will be joined by he husband. Both will return together.

Women of Charity Give Cocktail Fete To Furnish Baskets

How many times have you heard someone say "Whenever women get together, all they talk about is clothes and bridge?" Well, maybe so, but they also talk about how to raise money for their cherished welfare projects as they arrange various events, and devote hours of hard work to making these benefits successful.

One of the earliest benefit affairs on the horizon will be the Cocktail dance to be presented by members of The Women of Charity, 9 'til 2 Saturday, August 23, at the Sigma Palace, 2151 S. Harvard.

No worthier cause could be chosen than aid to those in need, and the entire proceeds will be used to provide baskets of food at Thanksgiving to many families.

Because of this, tickets have been sold in volumes, and all purchasers are assured of delightful music and a brilliant time.—M.C.

Amile Souspanes on Three Week Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Amile Souspane of New Orleans motored to Los Angeles to visit their relatives and many friends. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Medley and Mrs. Ethel Milanez.

During their three week stay, the visitors will be widely hosted by their many friends. While here they will be the house guests of Mrs. Souspane's brother and Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Knox, cousin of Mr. Souspane.

HINES LAUNCHES TALENT HUNT

People and Places

JOHNNY OTIS and his great little band had the packed Club Alabam patrons forgetting about their taxes and high cost of living. Blues singers Mel Walker, Willa Mae Thornton and the mellow "Little" Esther provided real groovy Saturday night tunes. Capable Geo. (Mr. Horn) Washington is just about the best "T-man" in the business. Lady "D." and John Streether are top musicians. In fact Otis has woven together a neat little package of music.

ANNA PRICE, who is seeking a divorce from her Insuranceman husband, and the "event" could turn out to be a real eye lifting affair, if one should elect to be stubborn.

BETTYE CLARK easily rates as one of our better dressers. She's the wife of swell hotelman Horace.

JUANITA MILLER, our boss's Mrs., words of less "festive boards and latest fashion" must have hit home when she was guest speaker at the recent Links Inc., San Francisco convention. As a result, the nation's outstanding women's organization pledged a yearly membership to the NAACP which will amount to $25,000. That invincible Miller Duo is a great combination. What Los Angeles needs is more of the same!

MEDICAL CIRCLES are buzzing about the surgery that a certain medic is performing upon a certain patient who is also a female, at least it states so on her birth record. Could it be the climate??

JIMMY PITTS, dapper sportsman, had a couple of uninvited visitors to follow him to his Main-Street apartment and stick a gun in his face. They got away with $18.00 bucks but not until Pitts put up a stiff battle.

DORIS BROWN, shapely westsider, was the reason for the sudden hush when she entered Bill Watkin's Rubiyat Room the other eve. Billy Boswell claimed that the situation is in good hands.

MARY LOUISE, chic song stylist appears to have a hit record in "Softy Baby," a Joe Green tune. The record collectors say the words and music are a perfect pitch for Sarah Vaughn also.

ATTY. ED. MADDOX'S writes that he and his Mrs. are really knocking themselves out in the east. While in Detroit they were invited to a private yacht party that ended up at an exclusive country estate. Both owned, occupied and operated by the fine "Browns." He termed the party the very "end."

ELAINE GRAHAM, attractive ex of Bill, is having a three weeks fling on the coast. The easterners often refer to L. A. as the best spot on the map for penisoners and women with broken hearts. 'Tis said some California women were not any good—even when times were good.

ALIMONY BOGGIE got a well known social figure up a tree. It seems as though her elusive spouse is blocking her trip by ducking the signing of papers which would bring him up to date on $800 back alimony. It would be sensational if she follows his fleetwood out Hollywood way one night and makes a pressing demand on what she is entitled to—providing she reaches him first!!!

POKER SET—the 'snob mob' in the plush westside section are no longer playing for the big stakes. Seem like every time the gals plan a big blowout with the chips some slicker always shows or the police. Now they are playing 25 cents limit; take it or leave it. A couple groups of black-jack players are going full blast in the place of the heavy "looted" poker games.

INSURANCE HEIR who wasn't smart enough to keep her boyfriend and her husband all to herself was shaken to bits and madder than 'ell when ex-boy friend showed up with another at a westside party the other night. The gals shot some mean arrows at each other throughout the evening.

LADY MARK, the willowy brownskin is attracting the wolves along the 4200 block on South Central. She punched her time card at the Alabam Liquor store.

GERTRUDE GIPSON, West Coast representative of Our World, is making big plans for her wedding reception. Hubby just purchased a swank Hillcrest home for his bride.

SCAT MAN, Crother's top funnyman, will get his big break Oct. 5th. He makes his debut on the Colgate Comedy Hour, starring Donald O'Connor (KNBH Channel 4).

MIDNIGHT OIL was being applied to a well known 12th Avenoo gal by a Arlington Ave. housewife. It seemed that the housewife had eyes for the same man! As we know both gals we bet a few "freaks" came into play before the party was over.

New Variety Acts Show Wares to Vets

A new song, and a new star made their debut Wednesday night at the Veterans Administration Sawtelle Auditorium. Lonnie Satan, from Philadelphia, sang "Dark Rapture," written by Mario Bruno and Jill Lockwood. Even before making his west-coast debut, he has been booked to appear at the Cafe Gala on Sunset Strip.

Others featured were the Cimino-Reinburgh singers headed by Mario Cimino and Annabelle Reinburgh. In the group are Norma Edwards, Henry Humphy, Blanche Barhoun, Joan Maggio, Cheri Grey, Janine Roose, and Henry Wettstein.

The Carmen de Alba troupe of Spanish Dancers, starlets from the Child Actress Professional School; A dancing line from the Eduardo Cansino Studio; Bill Mayo, mind reader and telepathy; Rose Marie Lopez dance ttam; Barronness Lena, beauty and style expert for wrestlers; Dolores Castillo and Richard Daniels, 10 year old dance team; and Uncle Larry Perkins as emcee as well as producer.

Scat Man On New TV Program

Local funnyman "Scat Man" Crothers will be cast in a new role as a supporting actor beginning October 5, on the Colgate Comedy Hour, starring Donald O'Connor (KNBH, Channel 4).

Successful appearances on past Donald O'Connor shows by the hilarious song and dance artist have resulted in the show's writers creating a be-bop characterization that will account for a more important role for this talented performer.

Many Attend Dream Dance

The hundreds who attended the Sophisticated Ladies "Mid Summer Night's Dream dance August 9, at the Alpha Bowling Social Club, found it to be very enjoyable. The members of the club sported colorful halter dresses with wrist corsages.

Jerry Propps, the president, along with the other members, wish to thank those who attended their evening of dancing.

House Party Honors Niece

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Holmes, 1015 E. 41st place, was the locale for a pleasant house party honoring their niece, Mrs. Eldee Battle of St. Louis, Mo., who is spending a month vacation in California.

Local guests attending included Misses Sadie and Rohelia Burrell and Mrs. Lucile Duke, cousins of Mr. Holmes; Merideth Beal, Mr. and Mrs. David Mosley and Mmes. Mattie Harris, Mary DeVore, Anna Lee Robinson and Mattie Thomas.

A delightful luncheon was served after an evening of social games. Mrs. Battle will visit in Berkeley and San Francisco before returning to her home.

TV Stars Will Assist Monday Youth Carnival

The Watts Youth Health Council's "Third Annual Youth Cavalcade of Health" at Will Rogers Memorial Park (corner E. 103rd St. and Success Avenue) Monday night at 8 o'clock is expected to attract over 15,000 persons. This figure is based on the fact that an estimated 10,000 attended the annual show last year and hailed the program as outstanding in every detail. They will be back this year, and thousands more.

Amos & Andy to Appear

Heading an all-star array of talented artists of stage, screen, radio and television will be the cast of the Amos & Andy TV show which will present one of its many humorous incidents. Then comes Oscar Moore and his trio, internationally famdus guitarist, Ginger Smock, star of Dixie Showboat, Earl Bostic and his band, Joe Liggins and his Honeydrippers, the McNiles Virgin Islanders, the Merl Young Trio, Baatch-O-Bacon, juvenile dancing duo, Toni Harper, juvenile singing star, Jimmy Jackson's band, the Hollywood Four Flames, Johnny Otis and Little Esther, Betty Martin's Studio Dancers, T-Bone Walker and band, Scat Man Crothers, Jimmy Witherspoon, Mr. Blues in person, Lonnie Satan, song stylist, Ed Lynn an dhis tom toms, "Llittle Willie" Littlefield, and Jimy Nelsorf, "Mr. 99."

Inside Story!

Would-be Stars Get Chance To Tryout for Fame at Oasis

Earl "Fatha" Hines is generally recognized by astute critics as one of the few real creative geniuses in jazz today. And for a good reason. The famed piano maestro is practically always coming up with some sort of musical creation that captures the fancy of fans. His many contributions to jazz are by now legendary with the aficionados of the idiom around the world.

Hines, it is often noted by experts, gave to jazz a modern approach to the piano, the idea of a string complement in a big band and two of the greatest vocal stars of all time, Billy Eckstine and Sarah Vaughan. Eckstine and Vaughan were first discovered by Hines, got their first important pointers on the vocal art from him.

New Gimmick

Currently, Hines is up to his old trick of toying around with new-fangled gimmicks, one of which he plans to put on parade soon at Club Oasis, 3801 S. Western avenue, where he and his sharp six-piece combo are presently occupying the podium. It is a special Hines-styled quest for fresh theatrical talent which he wants to combine in a package show under his name for presentation in theaters and night clubs around the United States, beginning about the first of the coming year.

The talent hunt, slated to begin within a week or so, will be conducted on three nights, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, of each week. Winners from any one week will compete in a final contest the Monday following their trial appearances. In each final, a single victor will be named and honored with a spot in the Hines show troupe.

Singers, dancers, comics and special act performers are eligible to compete in the contests. The competition will afford an excellent opportunity to every promising young entertainer here who wants to exhibit his wares where it might bring him national fame.

During each night of the talent hunt and every other night for the coming three months, Hines and his aggregation will be presenting the regular jazz program at Club Oasis. The group is exciting enthusiastic praise from both experts and fans for its great versatility and top-notch ensemble work. Featuring such able stylists as trombonist Benny Green, trumpeter Jonah Jones, bassist Tommy Potter, saxist Aaron Sachs, drummer Osie Johnson and the inimitable maestro, the unit swings deftly through just about every type of popular music, from Dixieland and straight jazz to syncopation and bop.

On vocals, the band highlights winsome Etta Jones, a mellow-voiced new female chirper who has been cleverly described as "a cross between Sarah Vaughan and June Christy."

Comic Scat Man Crothers and dance star Benny Ramsey round out the show bill at Club Oasis.

At the strong request of many fans, dancing to the music of the Hines band has become a regular and popular feature at the S. Western avenue nitery.

Talented Roaches Now Local Residents

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Roache, with their two attractive daughters, Ione and Lucille, and nephew William Roache, formerly of Minneapolis, Minn., have recently taken up residence here.

Miss Ione Roache is a recent business school graduate and also a talented, accomplished student of piano. She acquired her musical background from her mother, who has been a teacher of piano in Minneapolis for several years. A recital of 32 music students ended her instruction there. Mrs. Roache is planning to continue her teaching career in Los Angeles during the month of September.

The Roaches are going to celebrate with an open house in the near future to welcome all their former friends

First San-Fern Manor Homes Near Completion

Completion of the first three-bedroom, one- and two-bath homes in San-Fern Manor, new San Fernando Valley community, is expected within two weeks, it was announced this week by James L. Carter, sales manager for Gold Medal Homes, developers.

Carter declared construction progress indicates the first families will arrive in the near future in the residential development at Herrick avenue and Filmore street, near San Fernando road and Van Nuys boulevard.

Early purchasers are choosing among 28 architectural styles which were designed by Charles Du Bois, A.I.A.

Veterans are buying with down payments as low as $425, plus impounds, and on monthly terms of from $51.80 for principal and interest, Carter reported full price begins at $9999, with liberal terms also available to non-veterans.

Negro Gets Job As Pasadena Fireman

Pasadena last week selected its first Negro, Wilfred Robert Duncan, for training as a member of the city's Fire Department.

The action of Pasadena followed closely upon abolition of racial segregation in the Oakland Fire Depart-ment, and added new impetus to the drive to bring about a change of policy in Los Angeles, where Negroes are assigned to two all-colored stations.

WILFRED DUNCAN

The Los Angeles branch of the NAACP is currently considering ways of dealing with the problem of segregation of Negro firemen in Los Angeles.

Seek Change in L. A.

Field Secretary Lester Bailey presented the matter to the branch's executive committee at its regular meeting Monday night. The committee voted unanimously to pursue the matter with all the force and vigor at their command.

The question has been turned over to the association's Legal Redress committee.

Duncan, now serving as a probation fireman for 60 days, was selected on the basis of a competitive examination, following which candidates are placed on an eligible list. When a vacancy occurs, the three men at the top of the list are interviewed. Duncan took the examination last December.

No Policy Change

According to Asst. Fire Chief Adler, Duncan is the first Negro on the 175-man 10-station force. There has never been any policy of discrimination, Chief Adler said, explaining that previous Negroes who applied either did not pass the tests or placed so low on the list that they were not hired.

Duncan was born in Los Angeles, and attended James A. Garfield School and McKinley High School. While at Pasadena City College he was called into the Navy, and served from 1943 to December, 1945, as an aviation machinist's mate.

Back from Honolulu, where he was stationed, Duncan got a job in the Pasadena Street Engineers Dept., working there six years as sub-foreman.

He is married to Thelma Jackson Duncan, and the couple has one daughter, year-old Andrea. They live at 600 W. Howard street, Pasadena.

Dr. Booker Dies After Long Illness

Dr. Arthur J. Booker, pioneer citizen, died Monday morning, Aug. 25, at the Good Samaritan Hospital after a lingering illness.

Born in San Antonio, Texas, in 1882, he moved here from Des Moines, Iowa, where he practiced medicine for a number of years before moving to Los Angeles. He was a first lieutenant in the Medical Corps 92nd Division in World War I, and practiced as a physician and surgeon for 28 years.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Naomi Booker, and a host of friends to mourn his passing. Funeral services were to be held Thursday morning at 10 a.m. from the South Los Angeles Mortuary.

Safe Thieves Get $20 for Night's Work

Thieves with big ideas got a couple of surprises when they attempted to cart off a safe Saturday morning, and left with only a few dollars in their pockets to show for their trouble.

The would-be safe stealers started boldly by knocking in the rear door of the Universal Life Insurance Co., 1639 W. Jefferson boulevard.

Then they laboriously began to move the safe, managed to shove it from its customary spot to the rear of the building.

Then, police theorized, the safe must have been jolted when it hit an uneven spot in the floor. And here's where the thieves got their first surprise.

Police believe that the door of the safe had not been tightly closed, and apparently jounced open when the safe was jolted.

Second surprise for the gangsters was when they got down to rifling the strong-boxes. There they found exactly $22.60, of which only $19.62 was in cash.

We can think of easier—and safer—ways of getting our hands on a few bucks.

Local Ministers Ask Registration On Aug. 31, Sept. 7

In an unprecedented drive to up the registration in the community, the churches are cooperating in a "Registration Sunday" set for this Sunday and the first Sunday in September.

Ministers have assured the Eagle that they will cooperate with the program. Registrars will be stationed at most of the churches to register the parishoners as they leave services.

Radio Appeals

The radio appeals are under full steam. Supervisor Herbert Legg offered the facilities of the county radio station to make the recordings. Fifteen prominent citizens in the community made half-minute speeches, urging citizens to register.

"It is indeed gratifying to note the splendid response the Eagle registration drive is receiving. The demonstration of community spirit and cooperation at the recording session was a heartwarming demonstration of civic-mindedness in the highest form," Loren Miller, Eagle publisher, said.

George Beavers Jr., chairman of the board of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company; Gilbert Lindsey, Democratic County Central Committee; Ed Hawkins, chairman, 62nd District Democratic Central Committee; E. J. Franklin, UAW-CIO; A. B. Clay, director, Civil Liberties Department, IBPOE of W; Luther Merriweather, CIO; Harold Markham, Watts Democratic club; Herbert James, AVC; Rayfield Lundy, Republican; Wesley Brazier, Urban League; Lester Bailey, NAACP; Ethel Bryant, AFL Voters League; and Catherine Kinney, executive secretary of the YWCA; and Loren Miller and Wendell Green of the Eagle were present at the record-cutting session.

'Don't Buy' Drive Gets New Support

Developments started popping all over the community this week in response to Consumers Mobilization's "Don't Buy" campaign, launched for the purpose of obtaining fair employment for Negroes.

Several more stores prominently displayed the Eagle's article on the boycott. Among these are Pullum's Market, 1254 E. 28th street; Ford's Market, 1707 Naomi street; and Jones Market, 56th and Ascot.

Ovid A. Pierce, owner of Pierce's Supermarket, 1714 E. 55th street, told Manuel Talley, national chairman of the mobilization, that he has had more trade in his store than ever before since he posted the Eagle story over his bread counter and

HOUSEWIFE SUES FOR HOME, CAR

A Chattanooga, Tenn., housewife, Mrs. Addie Lou Harris, who says she gave her lover $21,000 to buy a house, a 1950 Buick automobile and a houseful of furniture, last week asked Superior Judge Irvin Taplin to order him to give it all back to her. She was joined in her plea by her husband, Reece Harris, who said that the money belonged to him, anyhow. Target of the suit is George Lee of 3812 Second avenue. Mrs. Harris is white and Lee is a Negro. Trial of the case will be resumed in Judge Taplin's court on September 11.

Testimony at the trial unfolded a spicy trail of interracial associating that blossomed in 1950 and stretched from Chattanooga to Seattle and back to Los Angeles where Lee and Mrs. Harris purchased the Second Avenue property. Shortly after the purchase, Mrs. Harris had a change of heart and went back to her husband who promptly filed suit, charging that his wife had taken the cash that had been entrusted to her and skipped off with Lee.

Wants His Share

Lee's version of the affair, that has not yet been told from the witness stand, is that he, too, had some money and that he and Mrs. Harris chipped in together to buy the house, the car and the furniture. All he wants, he says, is his share of the purchases. As for Mrs. Harris, he says she can have back whatever investment she made.

Mrs. Harris' version of the affair is that she had $21,000 in cash that belonged to her husband and that she was persuaded by Lee to join him on the Pacific Coast after he had preceded her to the west. The money, she said, came from her husband's business and had merely been left in her charge. She said that all of the money invested in the home, car and furniture was contributed by her and that Lee doesn't have a red cent invested in the enterprise.

Brother Saw Cash

Backing up Mrs. Harris' story of where she got the money and how much she had was her husband and her brother, Frank Smallon. The brother said that she had actually that amount of cash in her possession before she left Chattanooga.

Lee, the Eagle learned, was in the numbers business down in his home town and had made Mrs. Harris' acquaintance through trading at her husband's store. The investment he made in the property came from his gambling activities, he has told friends and associates. He is now employed in a local defense plant.

Ranting Rankin in Rankling Defeat

JACKSON, Miss. — Ranting Rankin, bellicose, ruthless enemy of the Negro people, Tuesday lost his bid for re-election to the House of Representatives from Mississippi.

Nearly complete primary returns gave him 20,568 votes against 26,903 for his opponent, Rep. Thomas Abernathy.

After re-electing Rankin for 32 years, the people of Mississippi decided they'd h a d enough.

Don Martin Terms Rape Charge 'Silly'

Exclusive

By GRACE E. SIMONS

"It's lucky it was me instead of somebody else, because I can prove I wasn't there. They could have picked up anybody."

Don Martin, featured ballet dancer, now a private in the Army, was telling the Eagle representative about the four serious charges, including rape and kidnap, levelled against him after he was arrested in Laguna Beach Aug. 6. Martin claims he was at Fort Ord, near Monterey, at the time of the attack.

"It's fantastic. Absurd. It doesn't seem possible," Martin continued. There was no bitterness in his words or manner. It was just one of those things that couldn't happen—but had happened.

Family Support

The young soldier's mother, Mrs. Edith Martin, and his brother, Tom Martin, were indignant and angry. Both were present at the Martin home, 1467½ E. 22nd street during the interview. Don had been released on $5,000 bail Wednesday after the preliminary hearing in Laguna Beach, after which he was held to answer on four charges—rape, kidnap, grand theft and armed robbery.

After hearing two witnesses "positively identify" Martin, the judge reduced bail from $10,000 to $5,000 following a plea from Defense Atty. Edward Mosk.

Arraignment was set for Friday, Aug. 29, at Santa Ana.

'Felt Sorry'

Martin told of the preliminary hearing last Wednesday. "The husband was unsure of the identification," said Martin. "He was frightened. Hestitated before answering questions. All the questions." Then the youth com-

Posse Kills Rape Suspect In Fla. Swamp

CHIPLEY, Fla.—A posse of 25 white police officers followed a path traced by bloodhounds for six hours to track down and kill a lone Negro in the saw-grass swamps near here Saturday.

The 35-year-old Negro, James Sullivan, was suspected of rape.

The posse, with the hounds, was organized at 2:40 a.m.

Two trusty prisoners were ahead in the hunt, and spotted the victim deep in the heart of the swamp. He reportedly tried to bribe them in a bid for a chance to get away.

The main posse then spotted Sullivan as he attempted to flee deeper into the swamp. The officers claimed they ordered him to halt, but that instead he fired

Negroes Get New Local Market Jobs

New jobs for Negroes are beginning to open up in places where no Negroes have previously been hired, as a result of community action in Negro and mixed neighborhoods.

Last Tuesday a large market in the Watts area, which caters primarily to colored trade, hired its first Negro in a "front store" job.

Several other markets in the Florence avenue area also have recently hired Negroes, according to a report from the Florence FEP committee.

Allen Soo Hoo, proprietor of the Wilmington Market, 11830 Wilmington avenue, hired Mrs. Fredora Brooks, 1813 E. 118th street, as a cashier. Mrs. Brooks started work last Tuesday.

The hiring at the Wilmington Market followed a brief picket line demonstration by members of the Willowbrook Citizens Committee.

The picket line was set up Monday afternoon, August 18. Many prospective customers, when informed of the purpose of the demonstration, refused to cross the line.

The store manager expressed a readiness to discuss the situation, and a meeting was arranged after store closing hours at the real estate offices of John H. Kelly, 12714 Wilmington avenue.

The manager said he has been considering several applications, and would be happy to hire a competent Negro woman as a cashier. As a member of the community, he pointed out that he, too, is interested in a program for civic betterment.

Tabernacle Church Feud Ends in Draw

After months of wrangling in and out of court, the affairs of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, 831 E. 28th street, this week were right back where they were before all the feuding started.

The Board of Trustees tried to fire the pastor, Rev. Edgar S. Johnson, minister, tried to prevent the Board of Trustees, headed by Arthur Quarles, from handling the church's funds.

Late in July the court ruled that the trustees couldn't oust Rev. Johnson, who rose from the job of janitor of the church to pastor during 30 years of service.

This week the court again made a ruling—this time refusing to interfere with the trustees' right to administer the organization's money.

In its ruling, the court denied Rev. Johnson's complaint and specifically ordered that the Board of Trustees not be enjoined from disposing of or encumbering any of the money or property of the church.

And that leaves matters more or less a draw, right back where they were last December, before the Board of Trustees voted to terminate Rev. Johnson's services as minister.

Rev. Johnson is still pastor. But neither has there been any clipping of the power of the Board of Trustees.

Scottsboro Boy Patterson Dies In Mich. Prison

JACKSON, Mich. — Heyward Patterson, a semi-literate Georgia common laborer, who was catapulted to international fame when he was convicted of a crime which he said he didn't commit, died of cancer in this state's prison last Friday.

Patterson was one of the famed Scottsboro Boys and was twice sentenced to death for an attack on two girls who were companion hoboes on an Alabama freight train in 1931.

One of the girls, Ruby Bates, later repudiated the attack story and charged that she had been coerced into making the charge but her companion, Virginia Price, clung to the story to the bitter end. The episode brought both fame and suffering to Patterson.

He was finally sentenced to 75 years in prison for the crime but later escaped to Michigan. That state refused his extradition. In 1949 he told his story to Earl Conrad and the pair wrote a widely publicized book, "Scottsboro Boy," which told his side of the story.

Patterson, who was 39 years old, was serving a 6 to 15-year term for manslaughter. He fled the Alabama prison in 1948 and at the time was the last of the nine boys who were convicted of the rape charge preferred by the two women.

All nine originally were sentenced to death. The sentences never were carried out. The defense won three retrials. On June 14, 1937, Patterson was resentenced to 75 years in prison. He escaped on June 20, 1948, and fled to Michigan, which refused to return him to Alabama. But in 1950 Patterson was accused and convicted of stabbing Willie Mitchell, a 27-year-old Negro in a bar-room brawl.

None of the original "Scottsboro Boys" now is in prison as a result of the 1931 case. All have been released or are dead.

Sullivan is supposed to have robbed several homes in Chipley Friday night and raped a young housewife. He is alleged to have used chloroform to overcome his victims.

Stevenson Wins Approval; Dawson's Critics Rapped

NEW YORK—Twenty leading Negro Democrats from eleven states with a heavy Negro vote today approved the Democratic party's civil rights plank but gave qualified endorsement to Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the party's vice-presidential nominee.

In a joint statement, the group also affirmed their support of Rep. William L. Dawson of Chicago, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

In the preamble, the Negro democrats made clear their interest in a victory for the party next November. Recognizing the divergent elements which comprise the Democratic party, the group nevertheless regarded it as the "party of liberalism," and the one more likely to help Negroes attain their aspirations of full citizenship.

The co-signers noted particularly the presence of Senator Sparkman on the ticket, and asserted that "there is little in his legislative record that would recommend him to Negro voters."

Conceding that the Alabaman acquired his start in an "artificial environment of bigotry, the only one open to him," the statement declared that today he must choose between "intellectual and moral honesty on the one hand, and duplicity and narrowness of vision on the other."

On the civil rights issue the joint declaration noted two "important differences" between the 1948 and 1952 civil rights planks of the Democratic party: first, that it is couched in language which places the principle ahead of the "label"; second, that it goes further by committing the party to war on the cloture rule in the Senate.

The co-signers placed additional responsibility on Governor Adlai Stevenson and Senator Sparkman to clarify their personal views on civil rights since it is they who will be faced with the job of actually finding solutions to the problems.

Finally, the declaration carried an expression of confidence in Congressman Dawson and deplored "those who make attacks upon him personally, whether on the basis of hearsay, envy or malice."

Among the co-signers of the statement are: Birmingham, Arthur D. Shores; Los Angeles, Loren Miller; Atlanta, A. T. Walden; Chicago, State Senator Corneal Davis and Kenneth E. Campbell; Boston, Silas (Shag) Taylor; Detroit, Richard T. Brown, Eugene Wilson, Edgar Currie and Lillian Hatcher; New York, Elijah L. Crump and James Williams; Durham, S. Stewart and D. B. Martin; Cleveland, Councilwoman Jean Capers, Councilman Charles Carr and Joseph Bowman; Canton (Ohio), Councilwoman Esther Archer; Harrisburg, Andrew M. Bradley; Charleston, W. Va., E. F. James.

grams to receive the stimulating talks on registration by outstanding citizens in the community.

The County Board of Supervisors was high in its praise of the program and officially passed a resolution commending the registration drive.

In a statement to the press entitled "Fortify Your Liberty," Adolphus B. Clay, director of the Civil Liberties Department of the Elks, pointed out why every citizen should register before September 11, and cast his ballot in the November election. Clay stressed the fact that only through the ballot can the goal of first-class citizenship be reached.

Anyone desiring information on the registration drive, or desiring to register, can call the Eagle office, ADams 4-0161.

mented: "I really felt sorry for him."

"It's an absurd story," he went on. "Mrs. Jackson was on the stand for two hours. She was absolutely certain about everything—that, is, everything connected with the house.

"But she just couldn't remember anything about the soldier. She couldn't say whether he had a dog-tag, a ring, a bracelet. Or whether he had any distinguishing marks on his body. The soldier was supposed to be naked, you know.

Kissed Soldier

"And she admitted that she kissed the soldier while he was attacking her.

"It just doesn't make sense. He's supposed to have had relations with her three times—at about 20 minute intervals.

"And he's supposed to have tied up the other four people—the husband, the husband's parents, and her 12-year-old daughter—with strips torn from a sheet.

Back and Forth

"He raped her in the living room, then in the bathroom, then back again on the couch in the living room. It seems the four who were bound were somehow behind the couch.

"And then the soldier is supposed to have forced the husband to drive him into Los Angeles.

"Mrs. Jackson," Martin went on, "said she waited 40 minutes after her husband and the soldier left before notifying police. She went upstairs, she said, took a shower, and then finally telephoned the authorities. It just doesn't make sense."

CID Investigates

"Afterwards the Criminal Investigation Division of the Army told me that on the basis of the test they were certain I had nothing to fear. They said I showed a reaction once or twice during the test—but none at all on questions touching upon the crimes.

"How could they identify me?" the youth asked. He was talking about Mrs. Virginia Jackson, alleged victim of the rape attack, and her husband, Harold Jackson.

"They had never seen me before. And I had never seen either of them."

No Line-up

"The police said I was identified from a line-up. That isn't true.

"First they took my picture and sent it through the mails to the Jacksons. They didn't send anyone else's picture with it. Just mine.

"Then they had me parade before them. There wasn't anyone else with me. I didn't know they were there, or what it was all about.

"The police called me in and told me to walk over to the desk. Then to go into the squad room, and put on some old khaki clothes.

"The Jacksons were looking at me. I was the only one there."

Martin was arrested while taking a trip to Laguna Beach Aug. 6, during a two-week furlough before being shipped overseas to Germany.

He was charged with the assault that had taken place July 20, and lodged in jail at Santa Ana, county seat of Orange county.

Promising Career

The young soldier, prior to his induction into the army, was a featured ballet dancer with the Lester Horton dance theater, 7566 Melrose avenue.

Born in Houston, Texas, Martin was brought here at the age of six, and attended the Trinity and John Adams schools here, and graduated from Jefferson High school in 1948.

He was a student at City College when he became interested in dancing, and was given a scholarship at the Horton school in '49.

SUCCEEDS SPAULDING—John H. Wheeler was named president of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank of Durham, N.C. last week, to succeed venerable Dr. C. C. Spaulding, who died Aug. 1 on his 78th birthday.

San Francisco Housing Units 'Lily White'

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Housing Authority in opening a new "lily-white" project next month is stubbornly refusing to follow the integrated policy so successfully adopted in Los Angeles.

The North Beach housing project, scheduled to open September 15, will exclude Negroes.

Defends Jim Crow

In defending the jim-crow setup, E. N. Ayer, chairman of the San Francisco Housing Authority, stated that his agency was following the long established "neighborhood pattern" policy.

He rejected protests on the grounds that "the thing you're expecting of us is just the thing people who would like to eliminate public housing would like to see done."

This statement was made during a meeting with the San Francisco Council for Civic Unity.

Arthur J. Cohn, Jr., president of the Council, had pointed out that "the only fair way is to take applications in the order in which they come."

"Not so," replied Ayer, and added that "civic unity" had been achieved on the basis of segregation in the housing projects.

LAUGH TROUBLES AWAY—Sammy Grison (right) showed Eagle photographer Irving Smith that he could laugh off six months in the Orthopaedic hospital. He is shown with another four-year-old, Melvin Belding, who can also tell you about troubles.

Tots Comfort One Another In Hospital

Sammy Grisom and Melvin Belding have a lot in common, they have discovered. Both were patients at Orthopaedic Hospital, in the same ward. Both are four years old; both have leg troubles.

And both had a big family waiting for them to come home from the hospital.

Sammy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Grisom, 5217 Staunton avenue, Los Angeles, while Melvin's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Belding, live at 12909 Greene avenue, Venice.

Sammy had been a patient for six months, and had some concentrated treatment for a knee condition, including traction, splints and two kinds of plaster casts, with pool treatments, medication and special physical therapy.

He is free from pain, swelilng, tenderness or muscle contraction now, and since his discharge on August 14 is convalescing at home, returning for regular weekly treatments and examinations in the hospital's clinic.

Melvin suffered a severe fracture of his foot when a road repair machine ran over it as he sat on the curbing in front of his home.

He was hospitalized almost two months, and made four trips to surgery during that time, but is now on the mend.

A portion of one toe had to be removed, but the compound fractures healed, and he is just about as good as new since he went home on August 22.

Both boys enjoyed life at the hospital, but they did get a little lonesome for their brothers and sisters and parents. They'll be seeing each other again as outpatients when they are brought in for their clinic treatments.

Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time testify to the present or to the coming generations, that we have forgotten, as a people, the cost of a free and undivided Republic.—John A. Logan.

Delay Wedding In Protest Over Racial Tags

A courageous Negro couple, altar bound, last week postponed their marriage in protest over racial inquiries on the marriage license application.

Miss Ruth Stokes, a nurse at General Hospital, who lives at 1953 E. 111th street, and William J. Roberts, city employe, refused to answer the question regarding race or color, and in return were refused a marriage license.

Challenge Refusal

Challenging the right of the bureau to deny the license, the couple immediately served notice on County Clerk Harold J. Ostly that they are filing a suit against him in the District Court of Appeals to force issuance of the license.

Defending the action, Roberts, who lives at 637½ E. 29th street, stated:

Unjust Treatment

"Miss Stokes and I feel that the moment any racial tag is attached to an individual, that individual, becomes subject to special treatment according to the group with which he is identified.

"Our social situation is such that the individual's opportunity for education, housing, employment, justice before the courts, use of health facilities, and treatment in places of public accommodation is largely determined by this group identification.

"That this is unjust is plain to be seen. Every time the state asks a question concerning race it is upholding the practice of group identification and the evils that accompany this practice.

"We are quite ordinary people resisting injustice in a manner which any ordinary person can and should employ. We would not want any undue publicity to lead anyone to believe otherwise."

Community Sing

A community sing will be held at Exposition Park Sunday. The Nancy June Edmonds variety show will be featured and Wayne Sherwood will lead the group singing.

followed up his action by refusing to stock Langendorf, Cal-Ray or Barbara Ann bakery goods in his store because of alleged employment discrimination by those companies.

Langendorf Queried

Meanwhile, Talley has again written to S. S. Langendorf, president of the Langendorf Company, in San Francisco, asking for information as to the firm's present hiring policies.

L. J. Davis, president of the Cal-Ray Co., 239 N. Howard street, Glendale, advised the Eagle that his company is not a subsidiary of Langendorf, but is privately owned.

He stated further that over 50 per cent of their employes are Orientals and Mexicans, but confirmed that there are no Negroes working for the Glendale plant. "We can't hire Negroes," said Davis, "because there are no Negroes living in Glendale." He added that were there Negroes available and competent, his company would hire them.

Two subsidiaries of Cal-Ray, in Arizona, Davis said, do hire some Negroes. There is a Negro potato peeler in the Frontier Foods plant in Phoenix, and a Negro potato peeler and Negro cook in the Crispie Potato Chip Co. in Tucson.

Editorial

What Is Middle Way?

General Eisenhower got a generous hand from his supporters last week by saying that he was going to choose the "middle way" and avoid the extremes of both left and right. Some things, he said, are "above politics" and he included the right of equality of treatment for every American "regardless of race, color or religion."

Those are mighty fine words but what we would like to know is how this right of equality fits into the general's "middle way" philosophy. What does he propose to do to implement those "guarantees of equality" One of the things those of us who are members of minority groups have learned is that it takes more than fine talk to assure us of equality of treatment.

We know, from experience, that we need positive action from government—local, state and federal—to wipe out old ways and old customs and old laws that discriminate against us.

We know, for example, that there is discrimination in employment and we know that governmental action is needed. We know, too, that the walls of segregation won't fall down just because General Eisenhower marches around and inveighs against inequality in Jericho-like blasts.

What we would like for the general to tell us—now that we have heard him say that he is against inequality—is how he proposes to help us achieve equality. He says he's against a federal FEPC—what will he do to meet the problem of the man who can't get a job because of his race or his color or his religion? What will he do about the South's Jim Crow system?—the prime barrier to the equality to which the general says we are entitled. The general has said on other occasions that he is all for states rights. Does that philosophy include the rights of the states to maintain separate schools and other separate institutions which deny Negroes equality. If it does not, how will the general help?

We hope that the general's middle way isn't just another way of saying that he's going to leave us in the middle but his lack of specific measures to meet the problems that haunt us leaves us with the feeling that he still hasn't anything to offer except pious hopes.

The Housing Compromise

Mayor Bowron's conference with federal housing officials resulted in an agreement to curtail some of the low rent housing construction originally proposed in the City Housing Authority's ten thousand unit program. Notable casualties were the thirteen-story apartments proposed for some of the developments and abandonment of the plan to build on vacant land in the Rose Hills area.

The mayor has said that the agreement marks the end of the controversy as far as he is concerned and that the program will get under way immediately. We hope so. The expensive efforts of selfish real estate and building interests to block the building of badly needed low cost housing have already cost Los Angeles too much both in dollars and cents and through depriving prospective tenants of the homes they need.

While we know and understand that compromises must be made under our democratic system we're disappointed to see the abandonment of the building program on the vacant land in the Rose Hills area. Our disappointment is two-fold: First, because we think that long range city planning for low rent housing should include use of vacant land. Secondly, we know that a substantial part of the opposition to use of vacant land in Rose Hills grew out of the knowledge that Negroes, and members of other minority groups, would occupy some of the units in the projected development. The bigots won a victory when that portion of the Rose Hills site was abandoned.

Government, whether local or federal, ought to avoid compromises which give aid and comfort to those whose opposition is pitched on racial grounds. Something of the same thing happened during World War II when the City Housing Authority backed down on a plan to build a housing development in Venice. The hue and cry was so great that the units planned for that area were added to the Jordan Downs project in South Los Angeles, thus implementing residential segregation and strengthening the hands of those who want to limit the right of American citizens to live where they please. That World War II success in defeating the Venice development encouraged the opposition to the present plans for the West Los Angeles development.

The Supreme Court has said in no uncertain terms that the right of home occupancy is a civil right protected by the constitutional guarantees. It should not be bartered away.

The World We Live In

The campaign against the continuance of United Nations education in our public schools is spearheaded by the bitter-end fanatics who regard all social reform as dangerous and who cover their opposition by wild and unsupported charges of communism. Unfortunately these people have been able to enlist a good many well intentioned citizens in a drive against educating our children to the realities of the world in which we live.

Ours is one world whether that truth suits us or not. The airplane, the radio, the television have brought Asia and Africa and Europe to our door steps. We simply have to find some way of world cooperation or we shall all perish in devastating war that won't spare any of us.

It is as unrealistic to toss education about the international situation out of our curriculum as it would be to do away with mathematics or spelling.

We hope that the Board of Education won't mistake the loud talk of a few isolationists for the voice of the people.

Yes On Proposition 13

We hope that California voters won't get so absorbed in the presidential race that they lose sight of the propositions that will appear on the November ballot. One of the most important of them is the proposal to end cross filing in our state. That is Proposition 13 and those who want to restore the two-party system should vote Yes on that measure.

Under our present cross filing system there is no such thing as party responsibility. In effect party labels mean nothing—and that redounds to the disadvantage of minority groups. Those of us who have been watching the jockeying of the Republicans and the Democrats for the Negro vote don't need to be told how important it is to hold political parties to strict accountability.

What's true on a national scale should be just as true on a state basis. But we won't achieve that end until we end cros filing. Vote Yes on Proposition 13.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

This is a column I have been advised not to write — on the ground that political liberals and labor leaders whom I count my friends will resent any criticism of the political strategy of Americans for Democratic Action and the CIO'S Committee to Abolish Discrimination. I am naive enough to believe that plain-speaking is always in order between friends, if it is honest; I am stubborn enough to insist that one public statement, if wrong, earns another in rebuttal.

There must be millions of American voters who felt last week that the published statements of ADA and CIO Committee were as wrong as they could be on an important, fundamental point of civil rights. Speaking out in favor of the Stevenson-Sparkman Presidential ticket, the ADA commended the Democratic platform's civil rights plank. The CIO Committee declared that the plank was "clear and impossible of misinterpretation."

Liberals?

The latter statement is obviously a pretty piece of sophistry. If there is anything clear about the Democratic civil rights plank, it is that the party does not mean to lose its Southern vote again. As for "misinterpretation," that plank was carefully framed so as to be capable of varying interpretations by different spokesmen as the occasion might require. While ADA was assuring us that Senator Sparkman had promised to support the entire platform, the good Senator was down in Virginia reassuring local white Democrats that there was nothing in the civil rights plank mentioning FEPC or compulsion. And of course, he was right. The plank is so "unclear" that both Northern "liberals" and Southern "reactionaries" have been going around since Chicago, claiming victory in the platform drafting. How much more "misinterpretation" can we ask for?

In a brightly-smiling attempt to make friends for the Democratic ticket, Americans for Democratic Action declares that while Sparkman's "adverse civil rights voting record" is deplorable, the hulking Alabaman is "a standard-bearer of the emerging liberal movement in the new South." This is purest bellywash, not fit to be served to intelligent voters. If a politician who has consistently opposed civil reforms aimed at insuring Negroes their constitutional rights can be described as a "standard-bearer of the liberal movement," then either Negroes don't want any part of that liberalism, or somebody doesn't quite know what liberalism really is.

Sparkman Best

ADA and the CIO Committee are too important to a really liberal future for America to be caught in this kind of shoddy double-talk. There is only one honest position that can be taken in support of the Sparkman candidacy or the Democratic platform by those who appeal for Negro votes. That is to admit that the Alabama Senator is not a good buy, while arguing that he is probably the best that a badly-split Democratic Party can make under the circumstances. That argument can make sense if offered with conviction. The Democrats can't win without the South; the best insurance against a new "secession" is a representative Southerner as Vice Presidential candidate; Senator Sparkman is probably among the best choices that could be made from that section.

That is an argument for political realists, and an increasing number of Negro voters are becoming realistic in their ballot selections. But the important question is not so much whether the argument stands up as it is whether liberal spokesmen and their organizations shall be completely honest on the race issue. There must be no attempts to trick the public with fancy interpretations of what was, after all, a hard-boiled business deal at Chicago. It's hard enough these days to keep the record clear, without liberal spokesmen contriving to mix things up still further.

Nobody can be sure at this point which way the Negro vote will swing in November. So far as basic civil rights issues are concerned, it makes little difference which way that will be, for neither party is being honest on the question. The very least we can do, at this point, is to be honest with ourselves.

Letters to the Editor

Republican and Democratic Platforms

The difference between the Democratic and Republican platforms regarding a Fair Employment Practices Law is perfectly plain. The Democrats came out flatly for an F.E.P. law. The language, to which the Georgia and Mississippi delegations made an ineffective effort to object, says: "We favor federal legislation to secure these rights for everyone. (1) The right to equal opportunity for employment."

The Republicans made no such commitment in their platform. This is natural enough, for the Republicans are in general the party which big business supports, and big business dislikes any kind of federal regulations.

In addition, the Democrats called for a curb on filibusters by saying: "In order that the will of the American people may be expressed upon all legislative proposals, we urge that action be taken at the beginning of the 83rd Congress to improve Congressional procedures so that majority rule prevails and decisions can be made after a reasonable debate without being blocked by a minority in either house.

The Republicans were silent regarding filibusters.

The differences regarding a federal F.E.P. law in the two platforms coincide with the differences in the views of the presidential nominees. Governor Stevenson for the Democrats urged a state F.E.P. law with enforcement powers in Illinois, and the law was not passed only because of the solid opposition of the Republicans who held a majority in the Illinois legislature. His stand on a federal F.E.P. law is equally clear. The New York Times, on July 24th, quotes his words as follows: "In Illinois I have tried earnestly to effect the adoption of an F.E.P. law, with powers of enforcement. I feel very strongly that this is the first responsibility of the states themselves. If the states are unwilling or unable, then there is no alternative to having the federal government do so. . . . I think the Democratic party cannot retreat from the platform plank adopted at the 1948 Convention." (The 1948 platform plank endorsed a federal F.E.P. law in much the same words as the 1952 platform.)

The Republican candidate, General Eisenhower, on the other hand, declared flatly against a federal F.E.P. law. Speaking at Abilene on June the 5th, in answer to a question regarding his stand on a federal F.E.P. law, he said: "When you get a compulsory action in certain specific phases of this thing, I really believe that we can do more by leadership, and by getting the states to do it, than by making it a compulsory federal law." Since the federal government should not have a compulsory law on the subject, in General Eisenhower's opinion, its leadership would certainly not be effective in getting the states to adopt a law with enforcement powers. And unless General Eisenhower is extremely dumb, he must know, as Governor Stevenson does, that there is practically no hope whatever of getting a good many states to take any action on this subject at all.

In addition, General Eisenhower testified back in April, 1948, before the Armed Services Committe of the United States Senate, to the effect that Negroes should not be fully integrated in the Army, but kept in separate platoons or companies. If he is elected president, he will be Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, and the definite progress toward integration in the Armed Forces already made, which is almost complete in the Navy and Air Force, though still lacking in the Army, will be in danger.

ALFRED BAKER LEWIS

To the Editor:

I agree with Mrs. Manning in her letter to the editors published in your August 14 issue. Not only should the names of "favorable" manufacturers be printed as a follow-up to Mr. Talley's campaign, but favorable manufacturers should share equally in the space given the "unfavorable."

Yesterday I purchased Langendorf bread before I realized I had done so because the brand had been planted in my subconcious mind by the publicity it had received, even though it was unfavorable publicity.

There must be others like me who, when shopping, momentarily forget what action involves a brand name—recalling only the brand name itself. President Roosevelt once remarked, when campaigning never mention your opponent's name. There might be someone who never heard of him.

To the Editor:

Why not put the Craig Oil Co. at Vernon and Main Sts. on your Boycott List?

They have been in a so-called Negro section for years, and they never hire Negroes in any capacity.

REGISTER NOW!

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

It is indeed gratifying to see the great community response to the current registration drive. Registration closes September 11, and all factions of the community have responded regardless of personal and political differences.

Such diverse political and personal antagonists as Ed Hawkins, Gilbert Lindsey, Ethel Bryant, Ed Hardwick, Rayfield Lundy, Louis Cole, Adolphus Clay Loren Miller and yours truly met in the common cause of trying to get a big registration for the coming election, and there was so much unity and sweetness and light it looked like a peak behind the pearly gates.

Truly Wonderful

E. J. Franklin, Luther Merriweather and other members of the CIO met and talked over the common problem of registration with their rivals in the AFL and not one dirty crack was made. The NAACP, Urban League, and Golden State Mutual Insurance Company were represented and not one dirty look was cast or one aside made during the recording of the registration pitches. PEACE, it's truly wonderful!

Full credit for the success of the program must go to the civic-minded disc jockeys who agreed to help in the community project. Bill Sampson, Charles Trammell, Joe Adams, Robin King Brun and Jerry Hemphill have received the transcriptions and are playing them on the air. Other disc jockeys have assured the group that they will cooperate.

Supervisor Herbert Legg was very cooperative and turned over the facilities of the county recording station to the group. It was a beautiful thing to watch. Completely unrehearsed, 15 prominent citizens made from 30 seconds to one-minute talks on registration, and everyone had a different idea and point. Be sure to listen to the stations listed elsewhere where the transcriptions will be played.

Legg Enthusiastic

Supervisor Legg was particularly enthusiastic. He stated that it was the first time in the history of the Board that a group of citizens came to them with such a high-minded idea.

Three members of the committee met with the Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning and after outlining the program, were commended by the entire Board for such a fine civic interest.

The Democrats in an organizational meeting pounced upon the idea and took it back with them to the low-registration areas in the hinterlands.

The Eagle can feel duly proud of the idea and its realization.

Councilman Kenneth Hahn will really have to be a magician to reconcile the diverse elements in his campaign for Supervisor. Gilbert Lindsey, Frank Clark, Almena Davis and Dora Moore can be catastrophic as well as catalytic agents. Toss the four of them into a room and something might happen worse than the recent earthquake. Kenny has done it before and maybe he can do it again. Just keep 'em apart, Kenny, my lad.

Roach Fighting

Speaking of the Supervisorial race, the incumbent, Leonard Roach, is really moving out. He has Tom Blodgett, who masterminded Doyle's successful campaign, and J. Robert Smith, Daily News columnist, in his camp. Roach says he has been the victim of the worst public relations department in political history. "I have a record I'll stack up against anyone in public office and I intend to get it before the people," Roach said.

In J. Robert Smith, Roach has a "real good pen." Smith, who rates with the best writers in the country, will devote his considerable talents to shedding light on the Supervisor's record.

Two new Democratic clubs have been formed in the community. Ethel Bryant and Herbert James head the Friendship Democratic club in the 62nd. Seems like when the news was broken at the County Central Committee meeting, the reception from some members was anything but friendly.

Ed Hardwick and Harold Markham have organized the Watts Area Democratic club. The response has been enthusiastic. The group meets every Friday night at 1802 E. 106th street.

Dear Mr. Green:

As we review the campaign involving our bond and tax ceiling proposals, which came to a successful conclusion on June 3, we realize that we of the schools are especially indebted to you for your support.

We are confident that your support of the proposals was a very real factor in influencing the decision of large numbers of people to vote in the affirmative. Many influences combined to produce the large majority vote. But we are sure that your influence was one of the most important. On behalf of the schools generally, on behalf of the Board of Education, and on behalf of the school staff, we thank you most heartily.

Yours sincerely,
Paul Burke
Pres., Board of Education

Fraternal Church Council Executives Announce Projects

The president of the National Fraternal Council of Churches, Bishop A. W. Womack of the 8th Episcopal District of the C.M.E. Church covering the State of Georgia, spent the weekend with the executive secretary, George W. Lucas of Dayton ,Ohio, following a two-day conference discussing program and projects of the council.

Among the items discussed were the following:

1. Enlarging the support of the member denominations and broadening the opportunity for the independent cult groups to be affiliated with the Council.

2. Setting in operation the 7 Commissions approved at the last Annual Meeting in Atlanta in April. One of these commissions, that on African Affairs is headed by Los Angeles' A.M.E. Bishop Frederick Jordan.

3. Opening up the matter of sending a representative to soldiers in Korea.

4. The dissemination of information regarding GI benefits in accordance with the new law voted by Congress for veterans of the Korean war period.

5. Discussion of plans for the staffing of the Washington Bureau early in 1953.

The president and executive secretary concluded that the Negro minority must increase its vigil if the gains made are to be held and if further advances are to be attained. The vacillation of both major political parties on the Civil Rights issue enforces tremendous responsibility upon all leaders and organizations concerned about the rights and progress of America's minorities.

The next executive committee meeting of the Council will be in mid-October to set up a fund raising campaign, to initiate surveys, to be announced later, and to so vitalize the council so as to render it a helpful influence toward the advancement of American democracy

A.M.E. Bishop Sherman Greene Emphasizes Role of Dixie Voters

Bishop Sherman L. Greene, presiding bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Georgia, and President of the Council of Bishops of the Denomination, in commenting upon the political affairs of the nation, during the opening session of the Georgia State Christian Leadership Congress and Rural Church Institute last week, declared among other things, that "The most hopeful omen for the emancipation of the Negro in matters economic, civic and political was the ever growing prospect of a virile two-party political system in the South."

"We must be prepared to vote as well as to pray, in order to help bring about a true Democracy," he continued, "and those candidates for public office with records of corruption and advocacy of white supremacy, should be our special targets.

He struck hard against the would-be strategists of both parties, who now seek to win the support of so-called Dixiecrats and warned that clear thinking voters would not be fooled by idle promises and what he termed "over-night turncoat liberals."

The Congress was called upon to urge its 38 presiding elders and more than 800 pastors to inaugurate a state-wide drive among the legal voters of the 1,700 members of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Georgia, to perform their full duty in November.

Bishop Greene was enthusiastically supported in his statement by Bishop I. H. Bonner of Selma, Alabama, Bishop Frederick D. Jordan of Los Angeles, Bishop E. C. Hatcher of Nashville and the several hundred ministers and laymen present at the Congress.

Webb; the auditor, Mrs. Eloise Francoise; the supervisor, Benjamin Inghram; the host president to the coming annual conference at Pasadena, John R. Wright.

Summarizing the achievements of the present administration during the last 5 years, President Coley W. Stafford thanked the member laymen for the diligent work which has brought this group increasing recognition from the connection on the Pacific Coast.

Boxing's Brightest Star Is Young Charlie Green

By Edw. "Abie" Robinson, Eagle Sports Editor

Charlie Green, 22-year-old Garfield High School graduate, may be California's brightest young boxing prospect. Green just won the state middleweight title from highly regarded Art Soto.

So easily was Green's victory over the 1-2 favorite, the fight experts are comparing him with remarkable similarity to the old fighting days of Joe Louis.

His style of crushing power and cold fury was displayed in stopping Soto in nine rounds Saturday night.

In the third round of the bout Green caught Soto with a vicious left hook that spun him into the ropes and with the same cat-like Louis movement, he was on top of his foe with a two-fisted attack that sent Soto to the canvas badly beaten.

Green needs more schooling in boxing but he's got power in both hands to guide him about the ring until he picks up on the boxing savvy.

In 30 bouts he scored 20 wins, drew 3 and lost 7.

Green is managed and trained by the Ullo brothers, Jerry and Frank. Jerry did his fighting around Colorado, and they are mighty proud of their young student. Jerry's wife accounted for the kelly green fighting robe and the shirts sported by the fighter and his manager and trainer, Tab Green as a comer.

Sports Roundup

SF's MATSON MAKES DEBUT

SAN FRANCISCO—The Chicago Cardinals' Ollie Matson, ex-USF All-American and international hero is launching his Pro-debut here Sunday, in his home town, performed somewhat of a mild sensation as he scored from the one and raced 50 yards with a pass interception, setting the stage for the Cards' other tally . . . But the SF 49ers' two southlanders, Jet Joe Perry and hustling Hugh McElhenny, both via Compton JC, were the stars and the big wheels that rolled over the Cards 38-14 . . . These two athletes will be on hand to help their mates entertain the L.A. Rams come the night of Sept. 3.

MAJOR LOOP ROW—

A three-way deal that has been brewing for two months among the Athletics, Browns and Indians, whereby Luke Easter and Larry Doby of the Indians would go to the Browns was all set this week but the Indians' headman Hank Greenberg balked on turning Doby over to the Browns. . . . Incidentally the Sporting News declares: "Larry Doby is one of the few Cleveland players of the present generation who has a chance to be listed among baseball's all-time stars in Cooperstown." . . . George Crowe, third leading Boston Brave batter, was sent down to the minors to his former mates, the Milwaukee Brewers, but he didn't receive any pay cut. . . . It's reported the move was made to aid the present league-leading minor club . . . It's predicted the New York Yankees may still bring up Vic Power, the sensational all-around star from the Kansas Blues before the season terminates . . . Dave Pope stellar Indianapolis outfielder is currently in a red hot race for American Association batting title . . . Pope, who had somewhat of a short-lived Major loop try with Cleveland states that he will stick next time . . .

HOSKIN NIGHT—

Extensive plans are being made by prominent Negro citizens and promising whites alike for the Dallas Eagles' "Dave Hoskin Night" . . . Hoskins and Jose Santiago were the first of the race to play in the Texas Loop . . . Hoskin is currently leading the loop in batting with a 337 . . .

CAL'S HENDERSON & WILLIAMS ACT—

The University of Cal will virtually call upon their Henderson and Williams act more than often come college grid time . . . Their Henderson and William act is composed of two suped-up ex-L.A. Poly and Jefferson High, respectively, halfbacks . . . Williams was a standout as a defensive back last campaign for the Bears, while Henderson turned in a emphatic successful season with the rambling, Cal Ramblers. . . . These athletes are expected to gain more prominence with the Cal eleven this year . . . Santa Clara is highly praising halfback Bobo Louis, veteran and erstwhile Santa Monica High terror . . . Wally Jackson, formerly of SFCC fame is expected, from reports, to be a fair replacement for ex-Oregon State star back Dave Mann, who is currently playing for pay for the Oaks . . . When the Oaks and Seals tangle there will be a house full of cops, because of the threatening letters Piper Davis and Rayfel Noble received after their last series with the Seals, announced Frank Lucey head of the general works detail of the PD . . . As of now this is 25 and 5 . . .

— After the Big One! —

GERALD LA BROI—Classy Gary, Indiana welterweight will seek his biggest win since turning professional. Broi faces Ramon Fuentes in the 12-round state title bout at the Olympic auditorium this Tuesday night. He made a big hit with the boxing fans in two thrilling bouts with Carlos Chavez winning one and held to a disputed draw in the other.

Brown Rated UCLA's Outstanding Athlete

George Brown was easily UCLA's outstanding athlete of the year, running up a sensational two-year string of 41 straight broad jump victories before placing third in the final American Olympic team tryouts. In the Olympic finals at Helsinki, Finland, Brown fouled three jumps in a row and so went unplaced.

Brown's failure to win the Olympic title was UCLA's biggest disappointment of the year. He was the pre-Olympic Games favorite to win his pet event largely because he was the world's only broad jumper to exceed 26 feet the past two seasons.

UCLA's greatest individual effort of this year or, perhaps, of any year, belongs to alumnus Cy Young, who starred on the Bruin track teams of 1949 and 1950. Big Cy became the first American ever to win the Olympic javelin title with a record-breaking throw of 242 feet, 0.79 inch. This is the first Olympic gold medal ever won by a Bruin athlete.

Other standout individual performances were by alumnus Herb Flam, semi-finalist in the Wimbledon world tennis championships for the second straight year, and Bob Perry, Bruin sophomore tennis whiz, who was a finalist in both NCAA singles and doubles events. Flam and Perry are both members of the 1952 American Davis Cup team.

Here's a complete won-loss-tied record for 16 UCLA athletic teams during 1951-52:

Dodgers Buy Cuban

The Brooklyn Dodgers in a move to strengthen their team in the current pennant drive, purchased Edmundo Amoros, 19-year-old Cuban from their St. Paul farm. Amoros will be used in the outfield shift with George Shuba and Duke Snider against righthanders. Carl Furillo, Andy Pafko and Dick Williams against southpaws.

Al Cruz TKOs Rios

Al Cruz, 122 pounds and two-time L. A. Golden Gloves titlist made short work of Hector Rios stopping him in the third round at the Olympic Auditorium last Tuesday night. This was Cruz's 17th victory in 18 bouts.

Gavilan vs. Graham

Billy Graham, powerfully built welterweight who easily outpointed Carmen Basilio last week, will meet Kid Gavilan for the title in Havana, Oct. 4.

Stockton Prep Ace Is Hottest Prospect

NEW YORK — William "Wil" Moton, California's Stockton High's enormously energetic hurler, pitched two sensational sessions here this week for the United States Prep All-Stars in the seven annual Hearst Sandlot Classic.

Moton is the first Negro performer to make the San Francisco Prep All-Star squad, in its seven-year history.

However, after his turn of duty a mate took over and his team dropped the decision 5-4. While Moton was in the game his mates made up a 0-2 deficit with four runs in the seventh. In two frames of hurling the big Moton faced six batters, fanning four. In addition to his stellar repertoire, he showed professional poise.

It's conceded here along press box row he would unquestionably have won the Lou Gehrig Memorial Trophy, which is given annually to the "Most Valuable Player," if the game had terminated in regulation time. In Northern California he is reputed to be one of the hottest pro prospects in recent years, because of his dynamic batting as well as his exploits on the mound.

ON THE TURF

DEL MAR—The next two big attractions for the Del Mar fans will be the Debutante Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at six furlongs to be run this Saturday. This event has been increased to $25,000 added and may gross as much as $40,000. Expected to go postward in this rich event is the Calumet Farm's Lap Full, who broke her maiden last Thursday beating some of the best two-year-olds on the grounds. The daughter of Bull Lea ran the five and one-half furlongs in 1:04 3 5 to gain a neck victory over Smart Barbara, who is expected to be a starter for her owner, E. B. Johnson.

RAMSEY

Some others who may participate in the Debutante include Bounding Wave, Pageantry, Vicky Blue, Yelepi, Sherry Belle, Falshy Marge, Faithfully, Snooks T, Royal Grace, Tittle Tattle and Dancing Honey.

On Monday (Labor Day) older horses will be featured in the Del Mar Handicap which has also been increased to $25,000 added. This race is at one mile and one-eighth, for 3-year-olds and upwards. This race is expected to bring out the leading older horses here, including perhaps, Calumet Farm's A Gleam, the champion filly of the season. Trainer Jimmy Jones has her on edge and ready for this attraction.

NEW AND BEAUTFUL CALIENTE: Before nearly 8000 lovers of the sport of kings, Ritzy, from the famous stable of the Calumet Farms and with jockey Henry Moreno in the saddle, the son of Pensive Proud One made a show of his field in the feature attraction last Sunday down Mexico way. Taking the lead at the break and just toying with his field, he ran the mile in 1:30 1 5 eased up.

Beautiful Clothes for Men, Women and Boys!

We don't often attempt to encourage any form of spirits that might take away from sports' golden rule: "Physical condition and clean living are the key to championship." However, we certainly want to go on record as saying Joe Louis Kentucky Straight Bourbon is worthy of your support, if you happen to be one of the million tasters.

Liberalized Thinking

We think the "Brown Bomber" more than earned our support by paving the way for Negro participation in athletics today.

Louis' performance and his contacts in boxing have gone far to liberalize the thinking of the white public and a better conception of the Negro in sports was replaced as a result of Louis' glory and international publicity, we find Negroes in baseball, pro-football, golf, tennis, and hockey to name a few sports.

Ford Smith is a member of the Texas Association baseball. Buddy Young is a pro-footballer down Dallas way, something that was unheard of in 1933 when Joe Louis was launching his boxing career in Boston National Amateur Boxing Championships.

Steve Locken who is the West Coast salesman for the Joe Louis Distilling Company, told me that the "Champ" gets 30 per cent and this gives Negroes a rare chance to move into lucrative whiskey business, not only as mere salesmen, but in all branches for which thousands of Negroes are adequately qualified.

However, we can only fill these jobs by making demands on stores, bars and clubs to stock it. It would do your heart and mine good if you and I get together and just for 90 days purchase nothing but Joe Louis Bourbon. That's not asking too much in view of the fact that Negroes consume 10 per cent of all the whiskies sold in America.

It's Our Job

Let's make Louis the bourbon kingpin and in doing so remember you are building jobs for your son or daughter.

More than 87,000 football fans got a good "look-see" at L. A. Rams' sensational Dick (Night Train) Lane. As for Lane's brilliant defensive work when the Rams defeated the Washington Redskins, 45 to 23, it was rated by the experts as the greatest bit of football seen in the history of the Coliseum. That is a signal honor for the rookie defensive halfback who is making his first bid for a regular berth.

Coach Joe Stydahar may shift Lane into Woodley Lewis' regular spot and use the fleet-footed Lewis on defense. Although the Rams as a team stack up as a team hard to beat, they will have plenty of trouble winning the championship this season. We look for Frankie Albert and his San Francisco 49ers to give the locals a right stiff fight for the top spot and especially with Jollin' Joe Perry set for his greatest season with the club.

Montreal Little Leaguers Win

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — Montreal's little league baseball team defeated Corning, 3 to 1 to win the Region 1 championship.

The Canadians came up with three runs in the sixth inning. Montreal thus won a berth in the little league world series held here Tuesday through Friday.

Louis Tabs Walcott

Joe Louis picks Joe Walcott to whip Rocky Marciano in their heavyweight title fight at Philadelphia next month.

10-Round Draw

PANAMA CITY — Percy Basset, 129, Philadelphia, and Federico Plummer, 132, Panama featherweight champion, fought 10 rounds to a draw.

Miss Consolidated Realty Board" Receives Crown on Brookside Park Stage in Pasadena

By MAYME G. LEWIS

Over 800 persons were in attendance Sunday when "Miss Consolidated Realty Board" was chosen on the beautiful ivy-covered stage at Brookside park in Pasadena. Sixteen firms of the realty board entered contestants in the gigantic bathing beauty review.

Each contestant wore a ribbon with the firm's name which she represented, a white one-piece bathing suit and high-heeled shoes. Lorenzo Spencer, chairman of the Board of Directors, took moving pictures of the beauty parade. Judging was based on a point system with 40-20-40 for beauty, personality and shape.

The judges were Jim Goodrich, Ebony and Jet; Miriam Christian, Eagle; Rena Hughes, Los Angeles Dispatch; Willa Booker, Tribune; Arthur Houston, Crescent Insurance. Dr. J.-D. Fowler acted as foreman of the judges.

After the judges selected the winner, Cluese Reid, chairman of the picnic committee, crowned lovely Norma Robinson Miss Consolidated Realty Board and 1st place winner.

Gold Trophy

She was presented a gold trophy and the firm who sponsored her, The Emily A. Johnson Realty Co., Inc., was also presented a trophy. The winner's measurements were: bust, 34; waist, 23; hips, 36; thigh, 20; ankle, 8; weight, 119; height 5' 4½".

Petite LaRita White was second place winner. She was entered by Foster and Jewell Price Realty Co.

Carolyn Matthews was given third place. Parks and Sidney Realty Co. entered her as their contestant.

Six Finalists

Out of the sixteen contestants six models were selected as finals: Norma Robinson, LaRita White, Carolyn Matthews, Mamie Graves (Associated Property Owners); Ruby Shipp (Whittenberg Realty); Theresa Harrison (Ernest E. DeGruy Realty).

Other contestants were: Gracie Aninag (Dickinson Realty); Barbara Chapman (Theodore Hughes Realty Co.); Barbara Brackeen (Smallwood Realty); Willie V. Each contestant was given a

MANAGERS AND CAPTAINS—Cheers broke out when scores were announced to the hundreds of guests who watched the Westside brokers battle the Eastside in one of the hardest games ever played in competition. The softball game, which is an annual part of the Consolidated Realty board picnic, started early Sunday morning showed professional traces of the sport as the Westsiders piled points much to the dismay of Eastsiders. Final score showed close tie with the West gathering seven points and East, six. John W. Bean managed Eastsiders, with Al Maddox the captain. Andre Vaughn, manager, and Foster Price, captain, brought Westsiders victory.

PRETTY POSES—Three of six finalists paused for a moment to booster up corsage before parading for final selections. Flashing smiles were Mamie Graves, Theresa Harrison and Carolyn Matthews.

FUTURE WINNER—Parading proudly around the grounds at Brookside was tiny Donna Marie Carson, who wore the ribbon of Miss Consolidated of a much later year. The tot presented Beverly Kirkwood, sponsored by her father's firm, the Carson Realty company, with a bouquet of roses.

BROKER AND CONTESTANT—While judges were busy counting points, Robert Newman, president of the Associated Property Owners association and members of Consolidated Realty's board of directors, presented his contestant with a huge bouquet of red roses.

ENJOYED PICNIC—Leading a throng of 500 guests in merry fun making was the Associated Property Owners association whose entire staff turned out in full force. Congratulating the firm's contestant for the strong bid she made for the Consolidated title are Dixie Lee, Robert Newman, Mamie Graves, contestant; Inez Caston, Evelyn S. Slaughter and Gwen Woodson.

RECEIVES TROPHY—A gold trophy designed especially for the winner of the contest was presented to Norma Robinson, shapely contestant, by Cluese Reid, Main Realty company executive and treasurer of Consolidated Realty board.

SECOND-UP—Jewell Price appears to be as happy as her realty company's contestant, LaRita Yvonne White, who won second place honors in beauty contest at the gigantic picnic held in Brookside Park.

A BIG HUG—Went to winner Norma Robinson from Emily Johnson and Andre Vaughan, who sponsored her in contest. The pert 5' 4½" beauty boasts a 23 inch waistline as one of her best assets.

GUESTS CHAT—In the midst of meeting old friends and making new ones, six out-of-town guests who were entertained by Mrs. Loren Miller at a cocktail party in her home Sunday, took a few minutes out to discuss what comes naturally to most women. Gaily chatting are Mmes. Herbert Duckett, formerly of St. Louis; Cecil Poole, San Francisco; W. S. Poole, Pittsburgh; Edwin Coates, New York; DeFrantz Williams, Chicago; Dr. Henrietta McMillan, Chicago and Mrs. Miller. The group was but a few of many who spent the twilight hours greeting old friends and making new acquaintances.

bathing suit and shoes by the firm they represented. The president of the Realty Board, W. J. Fairchild, presented each contestant with a memento from the Board. Miss Lena Torrence was presented a cash award for rehearsing the models for the review.

The program which was steered by members, Newman, Reid, Spencer, Wisner, Carson, Nelson, Vaughn and LeGruy was directed by the office manager of the realty board. The picnic was another public effort of the organization in bringing closer relation with the broker and the general public. Libby Clark, West Coast Society editor of Pittsburgh Courier served as mistress of ceremonies, announcing each contestant as they entered the stage.

Softball Game

Sterling Escrow perpetual trophy was awarded the Maddox Realty Co. as winner of the softball game played between the Eastside Board members—Maddox as captain and the Westside brokers, Price as captain. The score was 7 to 6.

Consolidated Realty Board served over 500 guests, free barbeque, potato salad, ice cream cake and punch. Members Carson, Spencer, Maddox, Reid, Smallwood, R. Lee, DeGruy and Fairchild were served the guests.

Following the dinner the Langston Law club played the brokers in a soft-ball game. The brokers won, 12 to 4.

Rev. Moten Becomes Ill

On the day of his departure to Los Angeles for a brief visit with his niece, Mrs. Violet Brown, Rev. F. F. Moten, Kansas City, Mo., became suddenly ill and was unable to begin the trip. He is confined to bed in his home at 2531 Michigan, Kansas City.

Rev. and Mrs. Moten, parents of internationally famous Etta Moten, concert star, were due here last Friday to visit friends

After a week's absence from newspaper life it feels kinda nice pushing the ole poizon pen again. Due to circumstances beyond our control our column didn't appear last week. Thanks to all of you good people that inquired as to what was going on. It's quite a satisfaction to know that some of you read and appreciate what we have to offer. And so, on we go . . .

Stopped by Brookside Park just in time to catch the "tail end" of the beauty contest held there this past Sunday. The Consolidated Realty Board picked Miss Elaine Robinson as gal most likely to get ahead in this world of well proportioned figures.

A certain frat man, from out of town, can't seem to keep his wife straight, or vice versa. The little Mrs. complains that he don't bring no money home on good Fishday.

Met a lovely dish by the name of Marlene Jackson who's visiting here from New Orleans. Simply luscious and lusciously simple.

A trio of Lestrita and Angelita Nicholas plus Mary Ann Baumann have just returned back to town after a months' stay down Mexico way.

September 13 marks the date when vivacious Sidney Da Costa leaves for Fisk U. . . . . Hear another L.A. socialite, Miss Joan Arnold will be leaving for Minors Teachers College in DC soon. The City of the Angels will also miss Jesse Harmon come Sept. 4 when he leaves for the old country, in this case it is South Bend, Ind.

The recent LA tremor sent a well known LA playboy running out into the streets and upon arriving there much to his surprise and embarrassment he realized that he was not at home but "she" only made it seem that way. "She," luckily enough, kept her wits about her and didn't run into the streets half garbed.

Someone, we know, had better wise up to the fact that a bad impression can be made on a gal's parents when she's kept out over night and then arrives home about nine a.m. whimpering.

Still laughing at a loud talking and slow thinking hardhead that got his mouth slapped within an inch of his left ear for filching some loot that didn't belong to him in a recent Domino session. If he makes the same mistake again it will be quite easy for him to whisper little nothings in his own ear.

Calvin Lawrence and Wardell Moss are cooling their heels in Uncle Sam's Army at Fort Ord. Folks say they are about two of the saddest looking goons in those parts.

The greater portion of LA's wild life is taking off for the Bay City for the three day weekend. See you there.

Things happened at the whirlagig given at Leon McCarty's Hut Sunday where the better of all evils were happening.

6Sherill Luke, of good times fame, left Tuesday night for Seattle to be best man in Conner Beaumann's wedding.

One of the better frats about town has within it what we call "Mustash Freaks," or in other words cats that must entertain sensations when they see their pledges without their more valuable assets (being there for more than one reason). Here's hoping a slip of the Gillette blue blade to them at shaving time, soon.

They tell usns that Angelita Nicholas, of playgirl fame, is starting to "Collich" and can no longer tolerate, boyfriend, Clyde Winston due to that fact. We figger it to be mucho henhouse. Walking my baby home . . .

Here for a few weeks is Arizonian Duquense Dickey, a useta be 88 pilot. He musta lost his license because of low flying anyways he and his gal are hoofing it these days. . . How're they going to persuade the streetcar conductor to park in lovers' lane?

Bev Winston's in Canada . . . Donna Ray Brown's in Frisco (Has a fifteen week dancing contract there). . . . Jim Turner in Utah . . . Clyde Smally's in Texas . . . Betty Norman and Loretta Lee, still in New York, will be back soon.

The jerkwater (Scotch and Soda) Flambasto tossed by the Crystalettes for the Blazons (both gal clubs) raised ideas to be discussed in coming lame weekends. The big goof of the eve had to do with the usual thing, wine, woman and song—that song will warp your mind.

Food . . . the greatest in belch bellying material was laid out on the table. Before you could say "Peter Piper picked a pack of powerful port," the hors d'oeuvres disappeared. We blame Ilene St. John Julian for the loss of the delicious Richard Gilliam, Lorenzo Wallace, Carter Smith, Clem Baumann, Doris and Dotty Leonard were among others to be present.

We barged in on a surprisingly nice one given by the Kappas for Ivy Leafs and AKA pledges. Things ran the usual course; dancing, chatting, drinking booze etc. until someone shouted "How's everybody feeling," and then it started. Things heated up faster than grandma's wood stove and "Satisfied" was the the dominant chant. After a few hundred verses, of homemade origin, things quieted down to some of the more beautiful fraternity and sorority hymns. Among these participating in the gay spirited eve were the forces of Deltas, AKA's, Scrollers, Ivies, Alphas and what ever else you might have.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

That most of our problems can be solved at the ballot box and on the economic front. I need not dwell on the political aspect—the history of the two national conventions just concluded last month are still vivid in our minds.

We saw and heard the issues with which we are most concerned discussed, not in the heretofore, last instance before adjournment, but take precedence over every other item on the agendas of both conventions —yes, there is power in the ballot—Have you registered? Let's turn our attention to the economic front. How are we doing economically? Bend an ear M'dear and prepare to take more bows, not yet John Henry, time will tell you when.

Be that as it may, as of now the annual income of the Negro in America is 15 billion dollars—to make it meaningful, that is one billion more than the personal income of Canadians. Does it become clear why the Negro market is rapidily becoming the most sought after in the country, the only amazing thing is that more industries have not awakened to the fact that intelligent approaches, based on real values in goods and services bring real profits, 15 billion dollars ain't hay, or is it?

The sun is still shining you know. It appears that in this area of economics, a little thought is necessary too. If most of our problems can be solved at the ballot box and at the point of purchase, then the two important duties in our daily affairs are reduced to two operations; voting wisely and purchasing wisely.

Water Exhibitions Set Social Trend

The Les Beau Dames' annual swim and dance party at the Torrence Mansion attracted about 500 guests who joined in the swimming and dancing which were featured in the presentation.

Highlighting the day's affair was a spectacular water pageant performed by Norman Ward, swimming instructor at 28th Street YMCA; Donald Julian and Donald Ursury, students at the "Y"; Lester Bailey, executive of NAACP and former swimming instructor in the Marine Corps; and Carol Ehorm, life guard at Hollywoodland Girls' Camp.

Donna Rae Brown, talented television star, offered an exciting interpretive dance called "Jungle Flower."

The star attraction of the outing was the parade of the bathing beauties who had been selected to represent fellow social clubs.

The line-up of the beauties were: Edith Miller, Tender Comrades; Barbara Fleming, Blazons; Evelyn Brooks, Les Charmants; Thelma Gillohm, Men of Destiny; Ramona Woods, Associated Clubs; Joan Edelen, Barons; Dewdrop, Les Petite Femmes; and Faylice Herbs, Mr. and Mrs. Club.

First-prize winner was Dewdrop, who was honored with the title of "Miss Splash of '52." She received a gold-inscribed loving cup. Second place went to Thelma Gillohm. She received a dozen American Beauty roses.

The judges included Carl White, recreation director; Herb Alberga, owner of Helen Jane Flower Shop; Dr. Voorhees; and Jim Goodrich, West Coast editor of Ebony Magazine.

Gardenia Girls

A birthday party surprised two Gardenia Girls recently following the regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Taylor, 10358 Grape street. Honorees were Mmes. Soffie Croffett and Mae Murray.

Harvest Frolic Held in Sept.

Third annual Harvest Frolic which yearly benefits the NAACP, will be given by the Special Activities Committee of the local branch Saturday, September 27, at 8 p.m.

An Amana deep freeze of choice meats will be given to the lucky ticket holder. Donation of 75 cents will admit guests.

Oakland Site of Kappa Confab

Delegates of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity from Arizona, California, Oregon, and Washington will convene in the Leamington hotel in Oakland August 29, 30, and 31 for the fifth annual council of The Western Province.

The national president, Frank M. Summers of East St. Louis, Ill. will meet with the delegates as they review their activities of the past year and make plans to assume positions of service and leadership in their respective communities.

A full program of business meetings, social activities, national radio program, church services, and sightseeing tours has been planned by the hosts, Berkeley Alumni and Gamma Alpha chapters.

Samuel Chenaults Plane from Seattle

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Chenault of Seattle planed down here for a fortnight's visit recently with friends and were honored dinner guests of the Musolit Club at the home of Mrs. Gladys Allen, 251 E. 31st street.

Mrs. Chenault was formerly a resident of the city, living on West 36th place.

At the dinner, the guests and club members were entertained by the dramatic readings of Mmes. Laura Randall, Lettia Hoard, Corinne Dye and Miss Pauline Butler and the piano offerings of Prof. R. C. Jackson.

The Musolits planned the affair as a return in honor for the Seattle couple with whom they visited in the northern gateway city last summer.

GLAMOROUS STAR—Exotic Jeni LeGon of stage and screen fame will be the featured star on the Los Angeles Bishop College Club benefit show at Ciro's Sunday afternoon, August 31. She is slated to dance some ballet numbers on the program, proceeds from which will go into the school's alumni scholastic fund. A fashion show and musical entertainment are other features planned for the presentation.

EXCITING DANCER—Talented Donna Rae Brown, who has been starred on television, performed a clever interpretative dance, called "Jungle Flower," on the program at the Les Beau Dames' annual swim and dance party at Torrance Mansion last Sunday. She is now dancing a 15 weeks' engagement at Champagne Supper Club in San Francisco.

Twilight Time for Blazons' Cocktails

Music, dancing and cocktails are in store for the many young Angelenos who are invited to attend the Blazons' "Twilight Cocktail" Sunday, August 31, at the Sigma Palace, 2151 S. Harvard boulevard, between the hours of 5 and 10 p.m.

Phy Taylor's combo will furnish the music for the occasion, which will bring to a close their third consecutive and successful year of organization.

Richard Gilliam, Pearlene Harrison and Juanita Heard head the refreshment committee, and Lorraine N. Howard, Dorothy Winn and Anne Harrison are in charge of the decorations.

Other members of the group include: Clara Ware, Barbara Inez Fleming, Ellen Bowman, Gurthiner Chapple, and Aline St. Julian.

Each member will wear an orchid to identify her as a Blazon and admission to the dance will MISS SPLASH—Curvaceous "Dewdrop," right, representing the Les Petite Femmes Club, was crowned victor in the bathing beauty contest held by th Ls Beau Dames as the feature attraction of their annual swim and dance party at Torrance Mansion last Sunday. Thelma Gillohm, left, representative of Men of Destiny Club, placed second. In center of two girls is the prsident of Les Beau Dames, Mabel Anderson. Approximately 500 guests attended the affair, joining in the swimming and dancing which were big events at the party.

AQUATIC BALLERINA — Shapely Carol Ehorm, lifeguard at Hollywoodland Girls' Camp, put on a water skit at the Les Beau Dames' annual swim and dance party that was new and refreshing. She did ballets in the water to the music of varied themes, including "Lazy Bones," "Canadian Capers" and "Africa."

Fashions and Talent Highlight Sequins' Children's Day Show

The Sequins Charity and Social Club held its Children's Day fashion show and talent revue in the Golden State building last Sunday afternoon. A good crowd attended.

Proceeds from the affair were donated to the Spastic Children's Foundation, Inc., 1307 W. 105th street. The foundation has been selected by the Sequins to be their year-round charity project.

The parents and children who appeared on the program worked diligently to make the show an entertaining one.

Members of the Sequins include: Eva Verdun, president; Harriet Plummer, vice president; Francis Greenwood, recording secretary; Gladys Jones, corresponding secretary; Connie Alexander, treasurer; Beverly McLemore, business manager; Grace Price, sergeant-at-arms; Doris Pettigrew, reporter; Vivian Garner, Doris Pettigrew, reporter; Vivian Garner, Doris Gray, Ina Mae Wilson, Magdelene Davis Rose Hankins and Eloise Andrews.

Yarbroughs Fete Visiting Relatives

J. E. Davis, supervisor in charge of miscellaneous sections at Main Post Office in Seattle, Wash. is vacationing with the Herman N. Yarbroughs of 8th ave. Davis is Yarbrough's brother. He will be in the city for the next 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howell Jr. with daughter Margarette, J. Lindsay and John Thomas Jr of Kansas City spent a few days in Los Angeles visiting relatives and friends.

BILL SMALLWOOD

Hullo with Joseph James in DeeCee Saturday after the performance of Porgy and Bess at the National Theater. His wife Alberta is in NY. Hullo too with pounds-heavier Joe Crawford of the same company.

The Leonard DePaurs (it was her birthday) came down from NY with from NY with singer Lola Hayes to catch the show. Mass hugging and squealing and inquiries of Calif. folk between acts and flanking the sidewalk after-show time.

Later for midnight martinis at Southwest Community House head Ethel James-Williams' lovely old home atop an Anacostia hill; William Warfield and his wife-to-be Leontyne Price, there.

Their wedding (Sunday) will be solemnized in NY at Mother Zion Church. They will honeymoon in Vienna where Porgy and Bess has its European opening.

Cleveland: Houseguesting with the Atty. Charlie Whites (Stella) always calls for keen regrets that such between-stops visits cannot go on and on.

The Whites are relaxed hosts; they've done their home over recently, too. Subdeb Daughter Lillian asked of acquaintances she acquired while in LA a few summers ago.

Bob Hemingway came in for a drink, that of course always calling for Bob's inimitable insistence that everyone come on over to his house then and there. He and his wife Van have a beautiful home in which they unerringly give parties that have no peer in all Cleveland.

He told us the Aaron Douglases and the Dr. Billy Goenses (they were in LA earlier) had just pushed on east after a gay visit in Omaha with Bob's cousin Carrie Buford.

No time to stay on to join the Whites and go to the Sunday party which sausage king Pete Crayton was giving for his new wife in their new home.

Incidentally, social Cleveland is in a bit of a muddle what with many having long known the first Mrs. Crayton who still lives in their home; in short what does a hostess do who is obligated to be her charming self regardless?

Asked after in DeeCee over the weekend: The Ralph Vaughns, Kate Garcia, Byron Webb, Dr. Bill Ozier, Juanita and Loren Miller.

Denver's Dr. and Mrs. Holmes were in Cleveland, their traveling companion Maurine Browning having dashed down to Wilberforce and Indianapolis. She will rejoin them before starting back to the coast.

George Garner en route to NY for the musicians' hoedown stopped in Cleveland to go down his telephone list—of course. Zelma Watson George back home after LA.

The eventual query in all towns of course being inevitable "Tell us about the earthquakes!"

Modestine Thornton visiting LA from DeeCee. In Omaha Bill Allen lamenting inability to stop by Dr. Carleton Goodlet's mom for coffee and gabfest.

I certainly would like to have seen Flo Rucker Wilson again after so long in that town. And as well to have hugged Bobbee Black Borders in Ft. Wayne after so long a time. She and her medico husband Ted are building a $40,000 home in Ft. Wayne's more exclusive section.

LA architect Roy Sealy is doing the plans as of the moment. It will be ranch style and the first, middle and very last word in appointments, you may safely betcha life.

Bobbee will visit LA next summer. They not long ago returned from an extensive Caribbean tour.

I'll return later to Balto. Edna McCormick's gay ole stomping grounds of earlier days. In fact we always duck in the York Hotel's bar and have a short snort to Edna.

Back to DeeCee too for always are there numerous folk to hug again. I haven't seen Marion Brown Jackson nor her husband Jules in an age, as example.

She visited LA recently, you recall, much to the delight of her family. Jessie Mae Brown Beavers is her sis. The Todd Duncans resting at Oak Bluffs, Mass. away from the August visitors to DeeCee.

They wisely furnish their housekeeper with plenty of notepads and sharpened pencils for messages and go blithely on off, dark glasses and all.

September calendar: Edythe K. Owens birthdays on the 23, Betty Jones on the 18. The Bob Allens have their first anniversary on the 15.

LA's Dr. John Williamson due in DeeCee for an important assembly of psychiatrists and psychologists. Seems to me I recall him saying his wife may accompany him.

Oberlin College: The quiet dignity of that campus is to me one of the top-drawer high points of all Ohio. Odd seeing but a few bikes around, it being after summer school time.

Oberlin has a colored faculty member too, did you know? Many Californians have known Oberlin's eminent halls, come to think of it.

Berkeley's Connie Beaty is one. (She was asked after in Cleveland). The Tucks, one of Oberlin's really first families, were at home. Age continues kind to both of them.

Saw Dr. and Mrs. George Visor Jr. in the Glacier Lodge in Bryce Park, Utah. They told us we just missed LA's Meredith Grayson at Zion Lodge.

I'll see his fiancee in Columbus, Ohio, in a few weeks. And be in Cleveland about then for their wedding. Jo Cooper, royally holding forth in her Hotel Theresa suite in NY.

Reunions with ex-Californians take place around the clock, needless to add. En route there and of La Cooper and N. Y. more anon. Much more.

Jeni LeGon to Star in Show

Famed dance tutor Jeni LeGon, star of stage and screen who is currently appearing in the Amos 'n' Andy television series, will present several ballet numbers on the Los Angeles Bishop College Club benefit show at Ciro's Sunday afternoon, August 31.

Miss LeGon was recently cast in the MGM movie, "See How They Run." In the film also are several youngsters who were trained in dancing and dramatics under Miss LeGon's tutelage.

The Bishop College Club benefit show is being presented to raise funds for the school's alumni scholastic fund. On the program will be a show of smart fashions and musical entertainment.

Ticket information for the Ciro's show may be obtained by calling Mrs. Flournoy, PA. 1326, or Mrs. Crawford, NE. 6-2237.

Crystalettes Host Friends

A large crowd attended the party the Crystalettes presented for the Blazons last Saturday at the spacious home of Mrs. Ruth Watson, 3745 Ruthelen street.

The members of the Crystalettes who helped plan for the gala affair include Claudia Brady, Dorothy Leonard, Marguerite Bell, Doris Leonard and Mary Lee Leonard.

A bright spot of the evening's festivities was the appearance of Barbara Miller, who only recently returned to the city from an extensive vacation. Others adding to the gayety were Evelyn Spikes, Margaret Bird, Cora Young, Delores Venable, Jewell Glasse, Lenois Thomas and Marie Page.

Popular music was played all evening while the guests were being served delicious salads, snacks and punch.

All-Negro 'Cabaret TV' Attracts National Sponsors

Talent like this is making "Cabaret TV," seen over Television Station WLTV, Atlanta, Georgia, Saturday nights not only an artistic but also a commercial success. Shown in action are several of the program's top favorites including Roy Mays and his All Stars, Zilla Mays and Billy Wright (right, center), who sing the romantic duets, and (lower right) Crooner Dozier Parker.

THE Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company has taken the lead in supporting what is believed to be the first all-Negro television show, "Cabaret TV," which is seen over Television Station WLTV, Atlanta, Ga., each Saturday night.

This all-Negro program which is viewed as a pacemaker in television circles, has scored a resounding success. So popular is the show that it already has won two national sponsors, the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company, and the equally famous Octagon Cooperaters, companies associated in a leading premium plan.

One quarter hour has been bought by Colgate for its Octagon Soap Products. A second quarter hour is being sponsored by members of the Octagon Premium Plan which promotes the redemption of premium coupons found on the packages of Octagon Soaps, Luzianne Coffee and Tea, Ballard's Flour and Mixes, Borden's Evaporated Milk and Raleigh Cigarettes.

Sponsorship of this programming innovation gives "Cabaret TV" national prestige and provides a successful commercial show case for local talent. This recognition of Negro showmanship on all levels of television programming—by leading companies — may stimulate increased participation in the new communications media.

Talent for the cabaret show, which is seen from 10:30 p.m. to 11:15 p.m., Saturdays, is drawn from the ranks of professional nightclub entertainers in the Atlanta area.

Dynamo and master of ceremonies is Ray MacIver. Famous Negro artists in show business, appearing in the vicinity, also make guest appearances.

TALENT SEARCH AT OASIS TUESDAY

People and Places

AL TRICE claimed he knew the finger was on him long ago, because he was getting too many offers from his liquor store. It is interesting to note that of all the lush stores from 12th and Central to 120th street only five are owned by Negroes. Try counting em' one day.

MY BUZZIN cousin in the eastern show business tells us that a certain member of the famed Four-Step-Brothers will shed his wife for a Paris model. That will be the wife's charges in the courts.

FIXED is what several judges and losers shouted at the recent Consolidated beauty contest in which Emily Johnson's and Andre Vaughn's Norma Elaine Robinson walked off with first place honors. Incidentally Norma was trained for this event by Lena Torrance, the exotic beauty. Although we thought Foster and Jewel Price's entry La Rita Yovnne White was a good second, her hair dresser did much to perfect a job on Rita's beautiful locks. It takes away from her natural beauty. Third place could have easily been two others.

SAMUEL DU BOSE, dapper Alpha man and a Junior High school vice principal, is burning up the telephone wires from Texas to L. A. He is rushing a very attractive Broadway Street florist. She is wild about him too!

PAUL WILLIAMS, Town Club's powerful member, is bein commissioned to design the Memorial of the Unknown Sailor at Pearl Harbor. He leaves for Honolulu soon.

IS IT TRUE that a certain Minnesota model fell so in love with St. Paul's Wedding Chapel that she plans to make a return visit to the coast. Just to be married in the Chapel.

LENORE LEWIS, who rates high in our books as nice people, but low in others, is lending her charms to the Red Hut Broiler as another good reason why the drive-in-service is attractive and good.

THAT westside social climber isn't making the first step with that school-teaching boy friend. She drags him around to every party and he out-eats, out-drinks them all. At the pay affairs and cocktail bars it is a little different. Jack Benny can get into his vault quicker than "Tom" can come up for the price of a drink.

HARRY BELAFONTE is killing his box-office appeal before "See How They Run," goes into production with his grammar-school antics. It seems like the California sunshine and liquor are getting the better of him. Can't seem to understand why Hollywood couldn't use some of Los Angeles' clean cut youngsters. They easily could make the likes of Belafonte look silly as an actor and a man.

SIDNEY WHITE, Turban Room ace mixmaster, may be taken out of circulation. She is a pretty on the westside.

CHUCK JACKSON, who has the ability to mix the city's best drinks, is looking around for a bar to work behind.

GEORGIA and ROSCOE PERRY are the kind of people that make life worth living. Catch em' at

MIRTHFUL . . . Dean Martin and Jovial Jerry Lewis will "fracture" Downtown Paramount Theatre audiences for one week, starting today, August 28th. Backed by an all star cast, plus the pretty "pipes" of Kitty Kallen, America's kings of "wow" are making their initial local "board bow."

'Fatha' Hines' Regular Troupe Will Add Winning Performers

The man who discovered Billy Eckstine, Sarah Vaughan, Herb Jeffries and Arthur Lee Simpkins is today once again on the prowl for new talent to enliven the ranks of a waning show business which so badly needs a shot in the arm. He is piano maestro Earl "Fatha" Hines, all-time jazz great currently playing Club Oasis on South Western avenue here with his brilliant six-piece combo.

Hines thinks that the talent he is looking for is in this community somewhere, so he plans to launch a search for it beginning Tuesday evening, September 2, at Club Oasis.

Hines' campaign to uncover new talent will be personally conducted by him in a series of three tryouts each week. Winners in any one week will compete for a finalist title on the Monday following their tryout appearances. With the title goes a week's work at Club Oasis and an excellent chance to land a steady job in the Hines show troupe.

Pros Only

Artists interested in entering the tryouts may apply now at Club Oasis. The contest is open to singers, dancers, comics and novelty act performers but only professionals are qualified (a theatrical union rule).

Contestants competing in the tryouts will be ably backed by the versatile Hines aggregation.

Earl on the keyboard is good for the nostalgic, trumpet virtuoso Jonah Jones for the transitionary stuff that pulsates. Sax star Aaron Sachs and drummer Osie Johnson furnish the robust tones and rhythms most generally allied with the idiom called swing. For the modernists, there are the subtle but rich talents of trombone stylist Benny Green and bass wizard Tommy Potter.

New Vocalist

Vocal assignments in the Hines band are mostly handled by that new female charmer, effervescent Etta Jones.

In addition to the Hines band, the Club Oasis show bill also highlights comic Scat Man Crothers and dancer Benny Ramsey. Dancing between shows is now a regular feature at the popular Westside nitery.

"Porgy and Bess" Leads To Wed Sunday

A POPULAR PAIR

The culmination of a stage romance will take place at 4 p.m. EST, when WILLIAM WARFIELD and LEONTYNE PRICE, who are interpreting the name roles in the successful touring revival of "Porgy and Bess," are married.

REV. POWELL TO OFFICIATE

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., at the Abyssian Baptist Church, 132 West 138th Street. Assisting will be the bridegroom's father, Rev. Robert E. Warfield, pastor of the Mount Vernon Baptist Church, Rochester, New York.

"SONGSTYLISTS"

A baritone, "Bill" Warfield scored a success in the latest screen version of "Show Boat." On Broadway he has been in "Regina," "Call Me Mister" and "Set My People Free." Hailed as a fine "find," Leontyne Price has appeared locally and in Paris in "Four Saints in Three Acts."

(Arriving in the California Eagle mail bag this week was an invitation from our good friend, WILLIAM WARFIELD, relative to his marriage Sunday, August 31st, "Labor Day Eve," to lovely LEONTYNE PRICE.)

Special Committee Studies Negro Employment in TV

To break employment barriers against Negroes in television, the Western directors of Television Authority, a union representing TV performers, appointed a special committee to study the problem and to set up quick action for eliminating it.

Acting chairman for the committee is Libby Burke. Committee members representing many races and nationalities include a number of well-known performers in the entertainment industry; Val Rosing, Vince Townsend, Roy Glen, Ernestine Wade, Amanda Randolph, Will Wright, Frances Williams, Ruby Peters, Joyce Hall and Buddy Collette.

The policy of the committee which was set by a similar committee in New York was used as the basis for a policy adopted at a joint meeting of television industry heads from NBC, ABC, CBS, and Dumont. Now the official position of the Television industry, that policy is:

"Negroes take part in every phase of life in our country today, as citizens, as workers, and as the consumers whose buying dollars help pay the costs of television entertainment

"It is our purpose to secure representation of Negroes on television programs, matching their role in everyday life, and providing opportunities for the employment of the many qualified artists among the membership of Television Authority.

"We believe that this is both honest and fair, as well as good business practice, and we are sure that the vast majority of the people in this country will welcome and applaud this policy.

"To this end, we call the attention of our writers, producers and directors, to the above statement, and request them to help carry out this purpose by the employment of Negro specialty acts, by the integration of Negro singers and dancers in chorus groups, by the creation of new program ideas designed to realize the purpose set forth

In carrying out this policy the Los Angeles committee is contacting local stations, writers, producers, directors, choreographers, packagers and advertising agencies in the hope that there soon may be better employment opportunities for the Negro performers on shows originating in California.

BAR BEAUTY . . . "Blue Chip Bourbon Whiskey," Renefield Importers, Ltd.'s latest best seller, distributed by Simon Levi Co., Ltd., is dispensed by Ernest "Dynamite Jackson" Bendy to the delight of "Merry" Terry Cato, wonderful waitress at DYNAMITE'S COCKTAIL LOUNGE, 4701 S. Central Ave. Leonard A. McClain, sales representative of Simon Levi Co., Ltd., reports that "Blue Chip Bourbon Whiskey" is a favorite among sportsmen who frequent our beloved DYNAMITE'S.

EDUCATION: take a look at the corner of Crenshaw at Jefferson which houses the drive-in. Lots of brown business and no brownskin service. Take a look at the drive-in at 35th and Western on the grounds of the Red Hut Broiler, their payroll certainly makes a lot of other-brownskins happy.

ST ANNE'S Foundation is doing a wonderful job for the unwed mothers. An equally nice thing happened when arrangements made by scribe Libby Clark for 30 of our so-called successful non mothers to a special meeting. Twenty of the mothers must have figured their Tuesday afternoon social came first and this important child welfare agency's work could wait because only ten showed. I can easily understand why some of our men are so backward in community betterment.

B. K. Edmunds Interred With Military Rites

Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday, August 27) at 11 a.m. for Blanchard K. Edmunds, local real estate dealer and veteran of World War I, of 2009 Buckingham road, at the Veterans Administration Cemetery Chapel, Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle. The Rev. Henry E. Cook officiated.

Edmunds, who died unexpectedly last Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Veterans Hospital after a brief illness, was an active participant for many years in the Los Angeles Democratic Party and the American Civil Liberties Organization. He was chairman of the trustee board at the Pilgrim Community Church, 4919 Wadsworth avenue, of which Rev. Cook is pastor.

He was also identified with civic and political life in Nevada, having been the organizer of the CIO in Las Vegas in 1942. He organized Democratic party clubs throughout the state for a period of years.

Son of prominent pioneer parents, the late Jefferson L. Edmunds, he came to Los Angeles with his parents at the age of three from Hollywood, Miss. At the turn of the century, his father become a trail blazer in Negro journalism through his newspaper, The Liberator, which was one of the earliest American Negro papers to be published in this city.

Eye Billy Eckstine For Opera Role

Crooner Billy Eckstine is being considered as the male lead for Billy Rose's film production of "Carmen Jones" it was announced this week.

The great stage hit is a modernized version of Bizet's opera "Carmen" transplanted to the Caribbean. On stage it brought fame to several ladies who sang the title role. However, Rose's interest in Eckstine indicates that the male lead will be highlighted in the flicker.

It is understood that if the diminutive showman is able to get Eckstine signed he will seek a top feminine name, possibly Lena Horne or Dorothy Dandridge, for the co-starring spot.

I Believe in Insurance...

I believe in insurance bec . . :

1. It represents an easy method of saving money. Once I have made the investment, I have no temptation to withdraw any part of it for other purposes.
2. This temptation would be present if I put the equivalent amount in savings banks or savings bonds.
3. Life insurance is a necessity no matter how little or how much the individual earns.

These are three excellent reasons for owning insurance.

In addition, many people find insurance a bulwark against the expense that may come from accident or injury, a way to provide for education of children, and for secure retirement.

Remember—more than half of all insurance payments go to living policy holders.

Wouldn't you like to find out what life insurance can do for you?

Johnson Re-Elected 'Grand' of Elkdom

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—In one of the most tumultuous sessions in its 53-year history, Elkdom last week re-elected Robert H. Johnson of Philadelphia Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks of the World.

It also turned thumbs down on the strenuous attempts of the Los Angeles delegation to bring the Grand Lodge to the West Coast metropolis in 1953, and decided instead to "take over" the gateway to the South, Atlanta, Ga.

Golden West 86 Exalted Ruler Marshall Denton, Jr., Los Angeles attorney, made the pitch to have his home town host the nation's biggest fraternal order next year. But the "Grand" gave the nod to Atlanta and the 1167 delegates were swayed by his prestige and oratory.

Addict is Murder Suspect

By EDDIE LEE KING

William Walden Gibbs, 24, 350s 5th avenue, reputedly rich young real estate man from Chicago, died Sunday afternoon at 711½ East 5th street from an overdose of narcotics.

Samuel Richard, 27, of the 5th street address, room 17, was arrested by Homicide Det. Sgts. W. C. Stevens and J. E. Olivas on suspicion of murder for administering the dope to Gibbs, pending a coroner's autopsy.

Enrolled In USC

Gibbs and his bride of 10 months, came to Los Angeles 10 days prior to his death. He planned to enter USC. In the meantime, he was working with Travis T. Lott, real estate broker, at 2635 S. Western avenue.

Lott stated that he has known the Gibbs family, one of the most successful in Chicago, for some time and has been a friend of theirs for a number of years.

21 Felony Arrests on Suspect

Det. Lieuts. R. T. Reid and L. L. Lane, who are handling the case, reported that Samuel Richard had a long record of crimes including 21 felony arrests for assault with a deadly weapon, robbery, burglary, dope peddling and dope using. He was released from prison on August 10, after

Ike Opposes FEPC; Stevenson Backs It

NEW YORK—Presidential stock of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, zoomed upward last week as he:

1. Voiced opposition to Senatorial filibusters and promised to "use whatever influence I may have" to curb unlimited debate.
2. Approved the Humphreys-Ives FEPC bill and said that the "Federal government has a direct responsibility to maintain progress by helping to secure equal rights for all people."
3. Promised to make a strong and direct statement in opposition to racial segregation in the District of Columbia.

Full text of Governor Stevenson's statements on civil rights will be found on Page 2.

Governor Stevenson's statements in opposition to the filibuster and in favor of an FEPC were made in a series of speeches to the American Legion and to Democratic and Liberal party conventions.

Powell Switches

The promise to speak out against segregation in the nation's capital was made to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell and other eastern Democratic leaders and caused Powell to issue a statement promising enthusiastic support of the Democratic nominee.

In his Liberal party speech, Governor Stevenson declared that the unanimity with which the civil rights plank was adopted by the Democratic National Convention was a result of progress that had been made in the last decade. He said that at this moment, as on many occasions during World War II, Negro Americans were working and fighting side by side with their white countrymen, and that there were few who had not been affected by this experience. He added that the Federal government had a direct responsibility to maintain this progress by helping to obtain equal rights for all our people.

"Every man has a right to be heard," he asserted, "but no man has the right to strangle democracy with a single set of vocal chords. But let no one make the mistake of believing that the liberal's tolerance for conflicting opinion makes him incapable of fighting for the things he believes in."

In a ringing speech delivered

NEW YORK—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhow, Republican presidential nominee, remains firm in his opposition to a Federal FEPC with enforcement powers.

In a 45-minute interview August 26 with Theodore Spaulding, member of the Board, and Roy Wilkins, administrator, of the NAACP, Gen. Eisenhower repeated his earlier statement that he "could not support" the enactment by Congress of what he called "compulsory" FEPC legislation.

Wilkins urged the Republican candidate to declare for such legislation, pointing out that any FEPC bill without enforcement powers was "merely good advice" without force and effect to eliminate discrimination in employment. He said a fair chance at employment and promotion on the job was the No. 1 concern of Negro Americans and pointed out that in the last Congress seven Republican senators had joined with 10 Democrats in sponsoring the Humphrey-Ives FEPC bill, S. 3368.

Study Proposed

General Eisenhower said he thought a commission to study employment patterns and get the facts, expose the conditions, and advise the states would be the thing to establish and that he favored such a move.

Eisenhower vigorously declared

Powell Changes Mind, Asks Votes For Stevenson

NEW YORK — Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York congressman who once said he expected Negroes to boycott the Democratic national ticket, said Friday after conferring with Governor Adlai Stevenson that "we are now ready to back him to the limit."

Powell, New York Democrat, and a dozen other Negro leaders from Atlantic seaboard areas, visited the Democratic presidential nominee Friday.

Powell said Stevenson promised to make "a strong pronouncement" on the question of segregation in Washington.

The congressman told correspondents after the conference:

"We are entirely satisfied on

Tense South Africa Fears Gen'l Strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—Fears of the outbreak of a general strike which might well lead to bloody civil war spread over South Africa this week as the non-white resistance campaign moved steadily ahead.

The tension spilled over national boundaries into United Nations circles, with India spearheading the drive for action by the UN.

The white supremacist government of Premier Daniel F. Malan, seemingly frenzied by its inability to halt the sweep of the resistance movement, is now resorting to physical punishment against violators of jim-crow laws. In a number of cases, it has ordered mideaval whip-lashings of passive resisters.

2,000 Arrests

But violations continue, increasing by the hundreds each week. In the two months since the campaign started June 26, 3,198 non-whites, mostly Negroes, have been arrested for breaking jim-crow laws.

Jails in some sections of the country are already jammed, but each day sees new groups of non-whites deliberately ignoring "white only" signs at railway stations and elsewhere.

Whites Split

The whites, meanwhile, are

Labor Day Brawls End In Killings

Two murders, one by shooting and another with a knife occurred at the same time during the wee hours of Labor Day to usher in the month of September.

Walter Lee, Jr., 27, 1302 West 40th place, was shot by a .25 automatic in the hands of Willie Humphrey, 25, 3816 Griffith avenue. Humphrey shot Lee through the door of the car in which the victim sat in front of the Griffith avenue address, around 3 p.m.

Pam J. Johnson, Jr., 32 Building 14, Apartment 190, Basilone Homes, Sun Valley, was stabbed to death by Carl L. Divens, 31, Building 37, Apt. 462, and left in the gutter to die near a cafe at 10215 Glenoaks boulevard in Sun Valley.

Jealousy Blamed

Lee left 3816 Griffith and went for a ride with Yvonne Walters, 663 E. 18th street, and while they were away Mrs. Walters called Almae Banks of the Griffith avenue address. Humphrey grabbed the telephone and threatened Mrs. Walters for having gone with Lee.

When the couple returned, Mrs.

One Sunday Left For Registration

The first "Registration Sunday" observed by the churches last Sunday was a huge success, with deputy registrars reporting an overflow of applicants at many churches. A follow-up drive is planned for this coming Sunday, September 7.

Meanwhile, radio appeals by the leading disc jockeys in the community were having a decided effect. One deputy registrar in the Watts area reported that people were in line last Saturday at her office waiting to register. She registered over 30 persons in less than one hour.

The NAACP pitched in to help the California Eagle registration campaign. Lester Bailey, executive secretary of the local branch, sent out telegrams to all churches urging them to support the campaign and provide facilities for their members to register.

Telephone Drive

The Special Activities Committee of the NAACP, headed by Lillian Montgomery, waged a telephone campaign, calling ministers in the community, and arranging for registrars to be present at church services.

The Republican County Central Committee for the 55th Assembly District joined the drive to register the voters in the Watts area. They are giving a dance and star-studded show September 11, the last day to register. The affair will be held in the Pastel Room of the Betty Martina Studio of Dance, 10202 Graham avenue. Free admission will be given all persons showing a registration receipt. Several deputies will be on hand to

Don Martin Trial for Rape Set for October

SANTA ANA—Don Martin, Army private who was picked up by police a few days before he was due to be shipped to Germany, pleaded not guilty in Superior Court here Friday to the four grave crimes with which he is charged, including rape and kidnap.

Trial of the former featured ballet dancer was set by Superior Judge Robert Gardner for Oct. 13 in Santa Ana.

Soldiers Subpoenaed

Three soldiers, poised at the embarkation center at Camp Kilmer, N. J., are being detained to serve as witnesses at the trial.

At the arraignment Friday, Defense Attorney Edward Mosk asked the court to issue an order aimed at subpoenaeing the three soldiers, all of whom were to have sailed Aug. 15 along with Martin for assignment overseas.

The district attorney pointed out that the court can't command the Army to do anything.

Police Surround Whole City Block To Catch Suspect

Police Sunday threw a cordon of 20 officers around an entire city block to trap a hit-and-run driver found cowering under a house.

Odell Bennett, 47, of 1402 E. 49th street, surrendered at gun point when he was located hiding under the home of Mrs. Rosetta Wilson, 138 W. 53rd street.

Bennett was booked on suspicion of hit-run felony. His car allegedly struck another at 54th and Main streets, injuring Miss Marion Caroon, 19, of 3051 Argus Way.

Jack LaRue Arrested on Dope Charge

Jack LaRue, well-known pianist who for years has delighted audiences at the Waikiki cocktail bar, was arrested Sunday afternoon on a charge of possession of narcotics.

Arresting officers claim LaRue scuffled with them when they started to examine a package of cigarettes they found in his pocket. Secreted in the pack, they assert, was a bindle of heroin.

Makes Bail

Police records show the name of the arrested man as Ramon LaRue Savage, but the piano virtuoso was popularly known as Jack LaRue.

He was released Tuesday afternoon on $1,000 bond, with a hearing set for September 10.

LaRue, who lives at 300 E 51st street, was stopped while he was driving his car in the 900 block on E. 43rd street. He is being defended by Atty. Theodore Schaffer.

He was asked to step out and was searched. As the officer began to investigate the package of cigarettes, police claim LaRue made a grab for the package, and a struggle ensued. The telltale package was knocked to the ground, but when police retrieved it, they state they found the heroin carefully secreted inside.

LaRue's explanation, according to the records, is that he was unaware that there was anything other than cigarettes in the package. He said he'd asked someone for a cigarette and the man who gave it to him told him to take the whole package, since he had another one.

LaRue, 42 years old, is well known in San Francisco, as well as in Los Angeles. In the northern city, his group was known as the New Orleans Swing Club.

Knott's Farm Doesn't Want Negroes, Mexicans, Jews

Knott's famed Berry Farm, mecca of many visitors and often selected by those who want to put on the swank for out-of-town guests, doesn't "cater to Jews, Mexicans and Negroes."

Author of that statement was Russell Knott, who described himself as "one of the sons who run this place." Knott's maintains what it calls a Ghost Town in conjunction with a heavily patronized dining room near Buena Park.

Repeated Statement

Knott's statements were made to Mrs. Florence Hoskins, of 1039 E. 50th street, and Mrs. Mamie Felix of 410 E. 30th street who went to the place to entertain Mrs. Caldonia Green of Portland, Ore.

She said that Knott reiterated the statement about Jews, Mexicans and Negroes at "least 20 times."

On arrival, Mrs. Hoskins said that the waitress in charge offered the party seats near the back wall and that when they asked for another table they were told that they "would either eat there or you won't get anything."

In an attempt to clear up the matter Mrs. Hoskins and Mrs. Felix sought out the manager and, finally had a conversation with Knott in the office.

"We kept you people out of here for 10 years but for the past three years you have just kept on pushing in where you aren't wanted," Knott exploded. "We have just fed enough of you to keep out of trouble. If you keep on coming our white trade won't patronize us and then you won't come either," he said in mounting anger.

He said that the actions of the waitress weren't her fault and that she had orders to seat Negroes in certain sections of the dining room.

When Mrs. Hoskins, well known real estate broker, remarked that she had heard that Knott's had changed its policy following a series of suits a few years ago, Knott entered a vigorous denial of any change of attitude and asked that the trio "go back and tell your friends we don't cater to Jews, Mexicans and Negroes."

Knott's parting shot was that he knew that "the law is on your side" but that continued patronage of Negroes wasn't desired. A few years ago the place was the target of a number of law suits, most of which were settled by Knott's through the payment of damages. Last Wednesday's incident was the first to occur for some time.

Baseball's Branch Rickey Greeted By Wild Cherring

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, hero of the multitudes for signing up Jackie Robinson in 1946, stirred the Elks convention here Monday when he received the Elks' third annual Lovejoy Gold Medal award.

Said Rickey, in calling for an act of Congress to wipe out segregation and discrimination:

"The American public is more concerned with the ease and power of the second baseman's swing at bat, the dexterity of his slide, the gracefulness of his fielding, and the great speed of his rhythmical legs . . . than it is with the pigmentation of his skin or the last syllable of his name."

Elks Pick Johnson

on down, and not excluding the daily press, opened its arms and hearts to the 40,000 or more visitors who converged upon the convention town from places as far away as Hawaii and Canada, on 37 special trains and 76 buses.

The convention this year was a far different affair from what it has been for years past when there were few who dared challenge the supremacy of the great J. Finley Wilson, whose famous name was synonymous with Elkdom throughout the breadth of the land.

Johnson, who succeeded to the post of Grand Exalted Ruler last February when Wilson died, had a stiff fight on his hands against the extremely popular Grand Organizer Herbert E. Jones of Washington, D. C.

Jones Withdrew

The mounting tumult came to a sudden halt, however, when Jones stepped to the rostrum and announced his support of Johnson.

There was a bid also on the part of Dr. Joseph Randall of Harrisburg, Pa., for the post of head of the powerful Civil Liberties department. But in a move to create unity, he, too, withdrew in favor of the incumbent, Hobson Reynolds of Philadelphia.

Jones, after the hubbub subsided, was re-appointed Grand Organizer.

Davis Re-elected

Henry W. Davis, of Los Angeles, was re-elected Grand Esquire. He was unopposed for the office. In expressing his appreciation for the honor, Davis stated that, as much as he enjoys the work, he will not be a candidate again. He is a firm believer, he added, in the policy of passing the honors around, since there are so many capable men in the order.

E. Preston Greene, also of Los Angeles, president of the Pacific States association, was re-elected secretary of the President's Council.

Slate Wins

The entire slate which ran in support of Johnson was elected.

Grand Daughter Ruler Nettie Carter Jackson was re-elected to head the Daughters' organization.

Declaring themselves firmly behind a compulsory FEPC, the Elks flung that highly controversial issue squarely into the laps of both presidential candidates. Neither General Eisenhower nor Governor Adlai Stevenson came to the convention, though both were invited.

Civil Rights Fight

A full-fledged fight for civil rights is to be launched by the Elks with the IBPOEW Civil Liberties Department operating on a full-time basis. Demanded in the resolutions were: Federal FEPC on a compulsory scale; anti-poll tax laws; establishment of a Federal Civil Rights Commission; and the complete end of segregation in the Armed Forces, and in Washington, D. C.

Californians

In addition to Green and Denton, other Californians taking part in the Grand Lodge were: A. J. Culverson, Santa Barbara, Grand Inspector; T. Morray, State Deputy; Grand Organizer of the West Douglass Simpson of San Francisco, who was reappointed to his post by Grand Exalted Ruler Robert N. Johnson.

George A. Jackson, Los Angeles, Past Grand Exalted Ruler; James B. Cookie, Los Angeles, Grand Director of Decorations; the Rev. J. W. Coleman, Pasadena, Assistant Grand Chaplain; W. A. Payne, El Centro, Seventh Region Education Director.

W. A. Carnegie, Los Angeles, Traveling Deputy; L. D. Johnson, Los Angeles, Past Grand Traveling Deputy; Toney Smith, San Diego, District Deputy; Wayne Brown, Los Angeles, Past Exalted Ruler; State Deputy Wendell Hill, Los Angeles.

Louis Verritt, San Francisco, Exalted Ruler Shasta Lodge; Tom Dent, San Francisco, District Deputy; E. H. Harrison, San Farncisco, Chief Antler; Mathew L. Lipscomb, Los Angeles, Chief Antler; Robert Doyle, Los Angeles, California Inspector; Edward Ewell, Los Angeles, Past Exalted Ruler; and R. J. Clarke, Los Angeles, Chaplain.

150,000 Viewed 'Greatest Show'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The "greatest show" staged annually by the Elks, this year was one of the most spectacular ever presented.

Some 40,000 men and women marched in the parade, which was viewed by more than 150,000 people along six and a half miles of road.

The colorful bands with their magnificent, precision-expert majorettes, motorcycle corps, marching clubs required four hours to pass a given point.

Police gave full cooperation, urged local motorists to leave their automblies home, cleared the streets and rerouted traffic.

It was a great day for the Elks and for the city.

Atlantic City in Warm Welcome To Elk Delegates

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Atlantic City opened its arms wide to the Elks who literally "took over" the convention town here last week.

City officials, the public and the police gave full cooperation and a rousing welcome to the delegates.

Mayor Joseph Altman placed his personal car at the disposal of the "Grand" for his entire stay here. The mayor also met Grand Exalted Ruler Robert H. Johnson at the city limits, escorted him into the city with a special honor escort, and presented him the "key" to the city.

CHILDREN THEIR FIRST RESPONSIBILITY . . . Grateful for Community Chest allocations amounting to $135,000 to help support their medical, dental, lunch and clothing programs for needy children, 10th District Parent-Teacher Association has promised 11,000 volunteers for service in the coming Red Feather appeal. Planning full volunteer enlistments locally are Mrs. Sidney Parker, 10th District PTA-Chest chairman, left to right, with Mrs. John R. Burke, 3745 Potomac Avenue, Exposition Council; Mrs. Orie Boone, 1387 E. 57th Street, Fremont Council, and Mrs. Paul Langille, 700 W. 111th Street, Southwest Council, all Council-Chest chairmen.

Nelson, Owner Of Dunbar, Dies

James C. Nelson, owner of the Dunbar Hotel, Central and 42nd street, died in his room at the hotel Wednesday afternoon, at the age of 70.

He had been ill with cancer of the throat for the past five years.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Time Short . . . Register Now

register persons who are eligible and have not registered.

September 11 is the last day for registration, and Sunday, September 7, will be the last "Registration Sunday" at local churches. From all indications, the observance will net many eligible persons who have not registered.

Supervisor Herbert C. Legg, chairman of the registration committee of the Board of Supervisors, announced this week that all deputy registrars may be reached at their home after 5 o'clock in the evening. Persons desiring to know the location of a registrar close to their homes can obtain the information by calling the office of the registrar of voters before 5 o'clock. The deputies will remain home for the convenience of persons desiring to register.

The location of deputies during the day can be obtained by calling the Eagle office, AD. 4-0161.

The Elks announced that a deputy registrar will be stationed in their building at Santa Barbara and Central to assist the public. The Masons will also have a deputy in their building at 50th and Central.

Atty. Rayfield Lundy informed the Eagle that his secretary is a deputy and will be available during office hours in his law office at 1566 E. 103rd street.

Ethel C. Bryant, field secretary for Congressman Sam Yorty and one of the leaders in the registration drive, said, "The response has really been terrific. I'm positive that more citizens in our community will vote in the coming presidential election than ever voted before. The registration drive has been a great help in awakening the electorate."

Here Are Stevenson Civil Rights Views

TO THE LEGION

"What can we say for the self-styled patriot who thinks that a Negro, a Jew, a Catholic, or a Japanese-American is less an American than he. That betrays . . . the belief in individual liberty and equality which has always been the heart and soul of the American idea."

TO NEW YORK DEMOCRATS

The phrase civil rights means a number of concrete things. It means the right to be treated equally before the law. It means the right to equal opportunity for education, employment and decent living conditions. It means that none of these rights shall be denied because of race or color or creed. The history of freedom in our country has been the history of knocking down the barriers to equal rights. One after another they have fallen, and great names in our history record their collapse: The Virginia Statute of Religious Freedom, the Bill of Rights, the Emancipation Proclamation, the Woman's Suffrage Amendment, down to the 1947 Report of the President's Commission on Civil Rights.

We can agree that the program is nation-wide; we can agree that good progress has been made; but I think we can also agree that unremitting effort is the cause of most of that progress, and that unremitting effort is the way to assure more progress in the future. Part of that effort must be legislative. The Democratic platform of 1952 states the goals of Federal legislation.

In the case of equal opportunity for employment, I believe that it is not alone the duty but the enlightened interest of each state to develop its own positive employment practices program—a program adapted to local conditions, emphasizing education and conciliation, and providing for judicial enforcement. That is the kind of law I proposed in Illinois.

But our platform also favors Federal legislation—particularly, I assume, when states fail to act and inequalities of treatment persist. The problem, of course, is what kind of legislation.

Personally, I have been very much impressed by a bill recently reported favorably by the Senate Labor Committee. Only three members opposed it, one of whom was Senator Richard Nixon. Both your New York Senators joined in sponsoring the bill.

It encourages the Federal commission to stay out of any state with an effective commission; by the same token, however, it encourages the states to act because, if they do not, the national Government has the power to do so. The bill requires the Federal commission to undertake a nonpartisan and nation-wide educational program, to proceed by persuasion as far as possible, and, in cases of complaints of violation, to proceed by very careful deliberation and full and fair hearings. Enforcement would be by order of a court, not an administrative body.

This principle of majority rule is important in a much broader area than that of civil rights—it is of vital importance, for example, in the field of foreign policy. One of the most famous of all filibusters occurred in 1917 in the debate over President Wilson's proposal to arm merchant ships for the protection of American lives and property against power-mad aggression. It is not inconceivable that a similar situation might occur today or tomorrow in the delicate state of our foreign relations. In these perilous times we cannot risk submerging our national purposes in a sea of interminable conversation.

The precise nature of the changes that should be made in the present rules of Congress is, of course, a problem for the Congress itself, for each House, under our Constitution, makes its own rules for doing business. As President I could not make the decisions, but I could and would use whatever influence I may have to encourage the Congress to shake off its shackles.

TO NEW YORK LIBERAL PARTY

For example, I yield to no man, if I may borrow that majestic parliamentary phrase, in my belief in the principle of free debate, inside or outside the halls of Congress. The sound of tireless voices is the price we pay for the right to hear the music of our own opinions. But there is also a moment at which democracy must prove its capacity to act. Every man has a right to be heard; but no man has the right to strangle democracy with a single set of vocal chords.

There is another text I wish to take from the Democratic platform. The near unanimity with which the civil rights plank was adopted at the Democratic Convention this year is in great part a result of the things that have happened to us as a nation in this last decade. At the moment, as on so many occasions during World War II, Negro Americans are fighting and working side by side with their white countrymen. I venture to say that there are few men of either race who are not effected by that experience. And one could point to many other examples of the remarkable progress of the past decade, and I mean in the South as well as the North.

at the Democratic State Convention in the Commodore Hotel, he declared in favor of Federal legislation that would enable the national Government to step in to end discrimination in employment in states that failed to take measures to prevent such discrimination.

Governor Stevenson said he had been favorably impressed by a bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and reported favorably by the Senate Labor Committee.

The Governor explained this bill encouraged the proposed Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission to stay out of any state with an effective commission. It encourages the states to act, he said, because, if they do not, the national Government would have the power to act. The bill, he said, also requires the Federal commission to undertake a nation-wide educational program, to proceed by persuasion so far as possible and to hold hearings on complaints of violation. Enforcement, he said, would be by order of a court.

Hits Filibuster

Governor Stevenson, in his speech at the Democratic Convention, also came out, in effect, for modification of the present Senate closure rule, which has prevented the passage of civil rights legislation. He said he believed firmly in the principle of majority rule, which should prevail after reasonable debate, but added that he would interpret the word "reasonable" liberally, because majorities "can be tyrannical too."

He said the principle of majority rule was important in a much broader area than civil rights, and recalled that one of the most famous filibusters occurred in 1917 in the debate over President Wilson's proposal to arm United States merchant ships to protect American lives and property against "power-mad aggression."

The Governor added that the precise nature of the changes in the rules was a problem for Congress itself, as each House made its own rules. He said that, as President, he could not make the decision, but would use whatever influence he might have "to encourage Congress to shake off its shackles."

Referring again to the question of civil rights, Governor Stevenson said the fight for equal rights must go on every day in our souls and consciences, in our schools, churches and homes.

He declared that, as Governor of Illinois, he had tried twice to get a law providing for a Fair Employment Practices Commission, but that the bill had been beaten because of the virtually solid opposition of Republicans in the Legislature.

himself in favor of ending segregation in the District of Columbia, saying that it should be wiped out in the capital of the nation. He said he was not clear on just how the Congressional committees on the District and the District Commissioners would work out the problem but reiterated that he wanted it done.

General Eisenhower said that if elected he will eliminate discrimination wherever it exists in Federal employment under his control.

The Republican candidate also told of his mixing of Negro troops with whites during the Battle of the Bulge in World War II.

The General also said he was standing by the Republican platform on abolishing the poll tax and lynching, but did not make clear what was meant by the word "action" in the platform, as against the word "legislation."

The Republican nominee himself brought up the question of the filibuster by stating that he was opposed to filibusters, but he could not promise to do anything about changing the Senate rules.

Sincere, Honest

After the interview, Wilkins said General Eisenhower had impressed him as being sincere and honest, but not willing to commit himself except in general terms.

"He seems to be sincerely opposed to racial discrimination and honest in his intention to do something about it, but he does not say how. Even in his positive declaration on segregation in the District of Columbia, he said little more than that he would want it abolished.

"His stand against FEPC is unfortunate because it reveals that in spite of the well-known discrimination against Negroes in employment, and in spite of the fact that only a few of the states have passed effective FEPC laws, General Eisenhower still believes that the farthest the Federal government should go is to survey the problem and advise the states. Such action will be little comfort to Negroes who are refused employment because of their race, and, when employed, are denied deserved promotions."

Launch Fight To End Frisco Housing Bias

SAN FRANCISCO—An all-out attack on this city's policy of confining Negroes to one of its six public housing developments was planned this week by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Immediate filing of a lawsuit was announced following an all-day conference Tuesday of members of the association's regional committee headed by Loren Miller. "Our view is that a Housing Authority has no more right to impose residential segregation than a city," he said in announcing the decision to file the suit.

The issue was brought to a head with the announcement last week that a new development, North Beach, will be closed to Negro occupancy. Terry Francois, San Francisco attorney, will be in charge of the suit and will be assisted by Miller and Nathaniel Colley, Sacramento lawyer.

San Francisco's Housing Authority follows what it calls "a community pattern" in assigning applicants to public housing developments and where a project is built in what it calls a "white neighborhood" it refuses admittance to Negroes.

The NAACP also considered plans to press its fight for full integration in the Oakland Fire Department. Franklin Williams, regional director, charged that the city had reneged on an earlier promise to abolish Jim Crow in the department and said that legal action will follow as soon as all appeals to administrative authorities are exhausted.

High Ranking WAC Here on Inspection

Lt. Col. Bernice G. Hughes, highest-ranking colored officer in the Womens' Army Corps, completed an inspection of Fort MacArthur's WAC detachment this week before leaving for Camp Cooke where she will continue her inspection of WAC units at Sixth Army installations. Colenel Hughes is representing Col. Mary A. Hallaren, director of WAC.

Purpose of the visit was to check WAC housing, clothing, administration, recreational facilities, utilization of women by occupational specialty, and the general welfare of the women stationed at the post. During the course of the inspection Colonel Hughes spoke personally to each enlisted woman at Fort MacArthur.

She emphasized the need for women in the armed forces and the Army's current campaign to increase WAC strength to 30,000 women. Approximately one-third of the total Wacs now in service are serving overseas, Colonel Hughes said.

Colonel Hughes stated, "Fort MacArthur marks a very pleasant beginning to my visit of Sixth Army installations. I was very impressed with the post and the present program of barracks renovation."

The WAC contingent at Fort MacArthur is relatively small, but approximately half of the number are Negroes, and the group is completely integrated.

A former teacher at Dunbar High School, Dayton, Ohio, Colonel Hughes entered the military service in 1942. Upon completion of basic training she was selected as an officer candidate, receiving an officer's commission in May, 1943.

She received a regular Army commission in May, 1948, in the grade of major, and was promoted to permanent lieutenant colonel on July 23, 1952.

Hold Rites For Pioneer L.A. Resident

Funeral services were held Tuesday for George A. Beavers Sr., at 1:30 p.m. in Peoples' Independent Church. Dr. Clayton D. Russell, minister, officiated. Interment was at Evergreen. Mr. Beavers died last Wednesday at Rancho Los Amigos after a 4-year illness. He was 85.

A native of Atlanta, Georgia, he came to Los Angeles in 1903 bringing his wife, the former Annie Andrews, and five children. He was one of the founders of Peoples' Independent Church, serving as a member of its Gospel Choir for many years, and as deacon until his death. His family has participated actively in the civic and business life of our community, notably a son George A. Beavers Jr., co-founder and now Chairman of the Board-Treasurer of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Comypany, and a daughter Mrs. Helen E. Batiste, the Company's Comptroller.

In 1915 the first Mrs. Beavers passed. Fifteen years later, June 25, 1930, he married Mrs. Anna Lee, who survives him. He retired from the Santa Fe Railroad in 1941.

He leaves his widow, two other children, Leroy Beavers, Sr., and Mrs. Elmyra Long; a brother, Henry Beavers in Altoona, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Essie Russell of Atlanta, Georgia. There are three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Roy Wilkins to Speak Here at Political Rally

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, whose personal interviews with both the Democratic and Republican candidates for president on the question of civil rights have gained nation-wide attention, will be principal speaker at an NAACP sponsored political action rally here Sunday, Oct. 19.

NAACP officials stated that the affair should help crystalize in the minds of voters here where the two major party candidates stand on the matter of civil rights, particularly Federal FEPC legislation.

The meeting will be of extreme concern to minorities in Southern California, of whom more than 350,000 are Negroes. California's importance as a pivotal state has helped spur the NAACP in its current all-out vote registration drive.

NAACP Branches at Santa Monica, Pasadena, and Long Beach will co-sponsor the meeting with the Los Angeles Chapter acting as host, according to Southern California Area Council proxy John H. Dial Jr., and Dr. K. I. Robinson, local NAACP president.

Richard stated that he met Gibbe casually and unintentionally about a week prior and invited him to his room on two different occasions.

Victim Came for Narcotics

Richard stated that Gibbs came to his room and said he was tired and wanted to rest. Richard left and when he returned about 5:30 p.m. he found Gibbs asleep and breathing heavily. Richard tried to awaken the victim by slapping him on the face, but to no avail, he said.

Put in Bathtub of Water

He called two men from the other part of the hotel, lifted Gibbs, took him to the bathroom and placed him in the tub filled with water.

The victim was breathing feebly when they took him back to the bed where he died. Richard called for an ambulance. Lemuel James, in room 20 of the 5th street address, called the police.

Samuel Richard admitted readily that he was a dope addict and said that Gibbs was a consistent user too. He also admitted that he had served time on three separate charges involving narcotics.

Richard was released from jail after two days by reason of lack of evidence to hold him pending an autopsy report from the coroner's office.

Witnesses were Charley Love, room 18, of the 5th street address and Frank Williams.

Unfair Charges Hit Bakeries

A full scale 'Don't Buy' campaign leveled against "employment discrimination" in the Langendorf, Barbara Ann and Cal Ray bakeries was launched this week by Consumers Mobilization.

The organization said there had been no response from S. S. Langendorf president of the Langendorf - Barbara Ann chain in answer to a letter sent to him on August 20, which told of the impending campaign but offered to consider any evidence favorable to the concerns.

Increasing numbers of merchants have offered their support to the campaign and Manuel Talley, chairman of the Consumers Mobilization promised that a list of cooperating merchants would be submitted next week.

Editorial

The Record Is Clear Now

Both Adlai Stevenson and General Eisenhower spoke out last week and dispelled any doubts as to their respective stands on FEPC and on the question of senatorial filibuster. Each was emphatic. Neither can be misunderstood.

General Eisenhower reiterated his former stand that he "could not support" congressional enactment of "compulsory" FEPC legislation. He suggested that a commission be established that would "study the facts" and "advise" the states.

As for the filibuster, the general said that he could "see" the problem, that he was opposed to filibusters but that he could not promise to do anything about a change in Senate rules which now permit unlimited talking.

Mr. Stevenson was equally forthright. "The Federal government," he said, "has a direct responsibility to maintain progress by helping secure equal rights for all our people. . . . The phase civil rights means . . . the right to equal opportunity for education, employment, and decent living conditions. . . . I have been impressed by the recent (FEPC) bill reported by Senator Humphreys. . . . We must continue to press forward along such lines as these."

On the question of filibuster, Mr. Stevenson said, "I believe in the principle . . . that majority rule shall prevail, after reasonable debate, in both houses of our Congress. . . . We cannot risk submerging our national purposes in a sea of interminable conversation. . . . As President . . . I could and would use whatever influence I may have to encourage Congress to shake off its shackles."

The real difference between the two men is aptly illustrated by their stands on these two issues—and it must never be forgotten that these are the two fundamental civil rights questions before us. Abolition of discrimination in employment is absolutely necessary to protect the right to a job; the Senate's filibuster rules must be changed so that Congress can vote on any civil rights matter.

General Eisenhower's approach is that of the man whose fear of change is so great that it negates any possibility of action. His intentions may be good, his motives may be noble, but he will not attack the evil he sees. Mr. Stevenson's attitude is that we must move ahead and, to quote him directly, "results will be more eloquent than oratory."

Nor is the General's attitude anything new with him. When he was testifying about segregation in the armed forces a few years ago, he voiced the opinion that segregation must come to an end sometime, but said that he was afraid that complete integration at the moment might work harm. The sum of it is that he is quite willing to tolerate, while he condemns, present injustices.

Mr. Stevenson as governor of Illinois showed himself a man of action. He moved against segregation in schools; he fought for an FEPC—only to be undone by Republican legislators; he rooted discrimination out of his state's employment service; he called out the National Guard to protect Negroes in Cicero and he actively integrated Negroes in his state's service.

In every one of these instances he was met with the same timorous arguments and appeals to custom that General Eisenhower finds so persuasive. He simply pushed ahead—his philosophy required that.

This is a crisis-time in civil rights in America. We must either push ahead with Governor Stevenson or bog down in the mire of indecision with General Eisenhower.

Haywood Patterson—Symbol

A semi-literate Georgia Negro died in prison last week.

Like most of us, he was a victim of his environment and of his own personal failures.

He was serving a prison term for stabbing another Negro as a result of one of those quarrels that are all too common in the Negro ghettoes of American cities.

Most men of his stripe don't get much publicity, in life or in death.

But this man's death was noted in every important newspaper in the world.

During his lifetime he had helped stir a controversy that profoundly affected the development of American law and had made its dent on international relations.

His name was Heywood Patterson. He was one of the Scottsboro Boys. And the Scottsboro Boys became symbols of how racial prejudice had perverted our legal system in the South.

Heywood Patterson was a victim of the depression who had the misfortune to be riding a freight train—as a hobo— back in 1931. He and eight other boys had a row with some white boys and girls—victims of the same depression. Two of the girls screamed rape. Later one of them recanted and said the charge was a lie. The other stuck to her story.

Almost overnight Heywood Patterson became famous. Men and women all over the world rallied to his aid and the aid of his companions. All kinds of people fished in the troubled waters of the Scottsboro case.

There were people who hated injustice, and people who saw in it an opportunity to hit at the Jim Crow system—the real culprit.

There were people who used the case to feather their own nests, and others who used it to advance political philosophies.

There were people who believed in the dignity of man—any man—and there were people who didn't care a hoot about what happened to Patterson, and his companions, as long as they could advance their own interests.

The cynical Reds used it to bolster their argument that Negroes couldn't expect justice in America, and the equally cynical white supremacy racketeers used it to whip up still more anti-Negro sentiment in the red clay hills and the backwoods of the South.

Although he was twice sentenced to death, Heywood Patterson escaped execution. But his life was twisted and warped and ruined. He was 39 when he died—in prison. He was only 18 on that fateful day when he was yanked from a freight train in Scottsboro, Ala., and charged with rape. Most of those intervening 21 years were spent in prison under shocking and brutal conditions.

Heywood Patterson is now dead. Nothing that can be said or done can restore his life or undo what happened to him. What we can do, and should do, is to continue the fight—of which the Scottsboro case was an important incident—to root out the discrimination imbedded in our law by the Jim Crow system.

Remember Community Chest

With all of the justifiable interest in the political campaign there is some danger that many of us may not remember just how important the forthcoming Community Chest campaign is and may neglect to do our part.

This year, as in previous years, the Chest's hope of success rests on its ability to get the proper contributions from the small givers—people like readers of the Eagle who can't afford to give much but who do their best.

Right now, the Chest needs volunteers who will do the important job of seeking out their friends and neighbors to make the contributions that are needed. It's very important that each of us play his part in the election and it's just as important that each of us play his part to make the Community Chest campaign the success it deserves to be.

Helping Both

A newspaper editor friend of mine met me last week at the luncheon tendered Adlai Stevenson in New York and joshed me on my presence. "Yesterday you were visiting Eisenhower; today you're lunching with Stevenson. Now and then a Republican tells me he'd had some help from you; next thing, a Democrat tells me the same thing. What are you doing, helping them both?"

I assured my friend that was exactly what I was doing, helping leaders in both parties—not helping them to garner votes, but helping them to get in contact with the Negro public. And helping them, as far as I am able, to understand why the race question is so vitally important in this campaign, and why decisive, intelligent positions must be assumed by candidates of both parties. My editor friend (who is a most enthusiastic Stevensonite) agreed with me that this was a proper non-partisan position for me to assume.

I must confess that up to now my attitude toward both candidates, in their position on racial issues, has been much like that of the old farmer who came downstairs one morning to find his wife (who was a great deal of a battle-axe herself) engaged in a furious fight with a bear. His first impulse was to run get a gun to help his spouse; his second was to watch for a bit longer what was a remarkably even battle. As he watched, his enthusiasm for the spectacle grew. Finally he gave a whoop, jumped up on the table to get a better look and yelled, "Go it wife, go it b'ar!"

Fairly Even

General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson are, in my opinion, fairly even in their basic convictions regarding a square deal and an equal opportunity for all, regardless of race. The Governor is much the more skilled and effective interpreter of his convictions; furthermore, he is far the bolder in his public expression of opinion. But neither the Democratic nor the Republican candidate has yet made an extended, precise and specific statement of what he intends to do, if elected, to put his convictions to work.

It isn't enough to be "ag'in sin," I've told both candidates. Each has also got to say what he is for, and how he proposes to go about defending what he is for, if he expects to get a respectful hearing from the racial minorities who are most interested in the civil rights question. One of the tragedies of the whole civil rights question in recent years is that patent-medicine proposals concocted by skillful politicians have become confused with basic moral issues, so that if an individual questions the former he is accused of violating the latter.

What's Your Offer

For this reason, most political figures in recent years have tended to do one of two things, obediently parrot what they think their audiences want to hear, or evade the whole question of civil rights. But this year neither candidate will be able to evade the question and neither has shown signs of adopting without question the whole "Truman package" (which was never delivered). Consequently, the Negro public, especially, is saying to General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson, "All right, what is it that you DO offer? And how do you propose to deliver it?"

If our public can keep the pressure on the candidates along this line, we shall have a chance for the first time of getting the civil rights subject placed so high on the agenda of party responsibility that no matter which party moves into the White House, it will still feel a responsibility for advance, rather than retrogression, in racial matters. This is why I am able to put my personal 15 cents into the national political picture without feeling for one moment that I am engaging in "partisan politics." This is why, looking at Adlai Stevenson and Dwight D. Eisenhower at this stage of the campaign, I can yell delightedly, "Go it wife, go it b'ar!"

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

Sorry for Ike

I felt a little sorry for General Eisenhower last week during our interview, not because I think this early in the campaign that he is going to lose, but because of the position in which he has been put by the very history and nature of the Republican party itself.

Eisenhower is the man for a battle and a fighter every inch of the way. Perhaps no man in our time in the fighting business enjoys such unanimous admiration for his combat qualities. But it should never have been in the cards for a man like Eisenhower to carry on a battle under the banner which now flies above him. That banner has come to mean so many things that Eisenhower, the man, cannot crusade for with the kind of zeal he is capable of bringing to a crusade.

On the civil rights question he seems terribly sincere as a person. He seems to believe earnestly in no discrimination. He says he wants equality of opportunity for all. He says he believes in these things and will work for them whether he is President or not.

But these general statements give the impression that the man himself is not talking all out. The statements are Republican party statements and he is saying them as convincingly as he can. One feels that he might, himself, say much more, and more forthrightly.

Old Guard Has Him

Ike is in the almost impossible position of having to pay attention to the Republican Old Guard who are as much the enemies of civil rights as the Dixiecrats. Then he must pay attention to the South because his party hopes that he will capture some electoral votes down there. For these two reasons he must speak softly on civil rights, saying general things, carefully avoiding offense to either the Old Guard or the South. Against this, he has also the tasks of attracting independent voters and attracting Negro voters. What a job to give even a magnificent fighter like Ike!

Truth to tell, this is no fighting job. It is a job for a skilled diplomat. Ike is something of a diplomat because of his powerful position in Europe, dealing with the nations of the world. But he is also an honest, straightforward American who believes in speaking honestly what he thinks. He can't be himself in this campaign; he has got to be four or five other men.

That is the reason I felt sorry for him. He does not impress me as being a fire-eating liberal on civil rights, but I got the feeling that he is far and away ahead of his party and his party platform on the subject, and that if they would let him go he would say some of the things in his heart and those things would get votes.

Fears Centralization

He said he had a deep conviction on centralized government in Washington and that a federal FEPC would add to that centralized build-up. He could not be for it. But he listened carefully to the explanation of why the Negro calls on Washington—because the states have failed to guarantee to him his civil rights. He was friendly and courteous, but not wholly at ease in discussing the question, which might have been an indication that he realized the position he occupied. Here he was saying he was against an FEPC with enforcement powers and a few blocks away was Sen. Irving Ives of New York campaigning on his strong belief in FEPC with enforcement powers! A Republican candidate for Senator and a Republican candidate for President not eye to eye on FEPC!

Ike is a good man—too good for the Republicans. I wish him luck and I think he will need it.

Letters to the Editor

HE LIKES IKE

The antics of the southern governors at the Democratic Convention we all saw as opposition to a strong civil rights platform. The South and Senator Sparkman won out. It was an acquiesence by the party to the strength of southern politicians. But I have lived in the South. I just returned from a trip to the south—Tennessee, my home. It is the same now it was 40 years ago when I left there. They still make you sit in the back of the bus.

The Sparkman compromise is a victory for the solid south. Having the Alabama senator elected vice-president is the same as acknowledging Talmadge of Georgia as your future president. They have the same backers.

The Civil Rights Platform of both parties were vague. Let's face it. They both promise much in these phrases:

THE DEMOCRATS: "commited to support and advance," "continue our efforts," "we are determined," "we favor federal legislation," "we will prove our good faith by," and the REPUBLICAN'S: "we condemn," "we deplore," "we believe," "we will prove our faith by."

But I would most certainly take my chances with the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket than with the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket. Disrepute—lack of reputation, and ill character is still there as we saw evidenced by the low character "Hummon" Talmadge of Georgia on television. It was the same "low character" that ordered me to sit in the back seat of the bus.

I will vote Republican in the forthcoming election. Not because Lincoln freed the slaves, but because I feel we will be farther from the slavery of Georgia, South Carolina, Mississipp, Alabama and Tennessee, my birth place.

"It's Up to You in '52"

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

See where the "great" Adam Clayton Powell has finally decided to come on in and play ball with the Democrats. After blasting off that Congressman Bill Dawson was an "Uncle Tom" and the Democratic civil rights plank was a "sell-out," Powell has suddenly had a change of heart and will support the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

The two Negroes in Congress are a study in contrasts. Powell, a tall, handsome man, is acutely aware of this, and uses his physical endowments to his best advantage. He also has a keen eye for publicity and knows just when to strike to get the headlines.

Pure Demagogue

To be real honest about it, Powell is a pure demagogue. Webster defines a demagogue as "a leader who uses the passions of prejudices of the populace for his own interests." That suits Powell to a "T."

Because of his headline-grabbing tactics, the handsome Congressman from New York has alienated his fellow Congressmen. He doesn't bother to work organizationally with them, so is completely ineffective in the nation's capital. He is a lone wolf in the Congress much on the order of Vito Marcantonio. Thus, except for the fact that he can use the Congress as a sounding board, Powell is useless other than his talented rabble-rousing abilities.

While Powell is not half of the things I would like in a Congressmen, he is effective from the standpoint that he gets wide publicity on important matters, and what he says is generally true. Thus he keeps the question of the fight for first-class citizenship in front of everyone and does much to keep the average Negro voter aroused.

Organizer

Dawson, on the other hand, is strictly an organizational man. He is not a flamboyant publicity seeker, but works behind closed doors within the organization. Dawson's long suit is his organizational ability. He has the 2nd Ward in Chicago organized down to the last man. He delivers the vote, and delivers money to the national organization. He fights for what he wants within the party, and takes the program as finally adopted, keeping his beefs within the organization.

Dawson is perhaps the most effective Negro that has ever been in the Congress. His organizational steadiness and his hard working effectiveness has earned him the respect of his colleagues in Congress. When Dawson is interested in some legislation, many of his Southern colleagues will "take a walk" rather than openly oppose him.

Pro Politician

Dawson is a politician's politician. He is a real pro who works hard at his job. As a result, he is one of the most powerful men in the Democratic party.

As an organization man, Dawson is bound to carry programs that he doesn't agree with. His technique is to try to change the program from within, rather than blasting from the outside.

Powell's techniques of headline-hunting have their place in American politics. Dawson's method is certainly more productive. In the general scheme of things, one Dawson is worth five Powells.

Dawson fought for what he wanted at the convention, and took what he got. What he got wasn't bad at all. Powell did nothing at the convention but attend sessions occasionally, then blasted off to the nation's press because he didn't like Sparkman and the civil rights plank.

Powell went to New York to hold a "protest" meeting. Three thousand showed up. Handsome Powell, who titillates the hearts of thousands of women when he speaks in New York, could get three thousand at a meeting if he discussed relativity.

Protest Flops

To all intents and purposes, the meeting was a flop, but was reported widely in the nation's Republican press. Powell, up for re-election, got the publicity he needed to assure his re-election.

Now he comes in the door full of love for Stevenson, and is willing to swallow Sparkman.

Any close observer of the political scene knew that Powell was making a grandstand play to the gallery. Now he's ready to "get religion" because Ike has repeatedly proved he has nothing to offer the minority vote.

Amen, brother Powell, glad you got religion.

St. Odilia Catholic Church Gathering Attracts Crowd

On last Sunday at Griffith Park a gigantic reunion was held of present and prior parishioners of St. Odilia's Catholic church, 53rd and Hooper avenue, one of the oldest interracial congregations in Los Angeles.

Traditional Outing

Highly significant is the fact that the dozens of relatives who comprise the vast Waller clan assemble once each year for a general get-together with the Knights of Peter Clarer, their large families and many close friends.

Headed by F. Philip Waller, Sr., oldest member of the Waller crowd, some 300 friends and relatives, with many youngsters, enjoyed a full day of playing games, hikes, swimming, tours of the world's largest park, horseback riding, wholesome picnic-styled lunches and delicious Carnation ice cream donated by the company, through the efficient efforts of salesman Leon Hardwick and Art Weisenburger, sales manager of Carnation Fresh Milk and Ice Cream division.

Carnation Company Tops

The Carnation Company, featuring the finest of products, proudly employs proficient personnel, regardless of race, creed or color, and it is through its highly charitable interest in community undertakings that this annual event is such a success.

We gain nothing by being with such as ourselves: we encourage mediocrity. I am always longing to be with men more excellent than myself.—Charles Lamb.

J. Robert Smith, my ex-boss on the once great newspaper that paid its rent at 1050 East 43rd Place, dropped in to reminisce about the progress we have made in sports. We told Smith, one of the greatest gains we're most proud of, was the cracking of the once lily-white National Professional Football League.

When Daniel F. Reeves, owner of the Cleveland Rams, moved his franchise to Los Angeles in 1946, it was the move that eventually ended the exclusion of Negroes from the play-for-pay sport which had operated in the east for a span of 13 years.

Chile Walsh was then the Rams General Manager and a pretty smart cookie in getting things done in a hurry and rather effectively. He made several visits to the coast lining up his friendso n the Board of Supervisors which controlled the operations of the Memorial Coliseum.

Meet With Rams

It was to be rented to the Rams for all of their home games. Herman Hill, Eddie Burbridge, Halley Harding, and yours truly carefully watched the developments. Supervisor Leonard Roach granted us permission to sit in on the meeting with the understanding we would protest the granting the National Leaguer the use of the Coliseum as they were in violation of a Coliseum which said, "no racial discrimination," that applied to all professional games. Roach insisted that the clause be carried out and our protests were heard.

Walsh quickly admitted that the Rams didn't include any Negro members on the squad but they were thinking about using them. Halley Harding, our spokesman, insisted to the commissioners that they refuse to honor any contract by the Rams until they make immediate plans to give Negroes the same chance to make the team as other rookies.

Looking at the Rams' roster today with such stellar stars as Woodly Lewis, Dan Towler, Harry Thompson, Bill Lane and Tank Younger; one couldn't believe this was the same outfit that played Kenny Washington and Woody Strode moreo n the bench than on the field in their first year.

Good Clause

We readily admitted to our exboss, that had it not been for Roach's fair and smartly placed no racial discrimination clause, the league could have easily carried on its jim-crow policy. We found that out when we attempted to bring the Los Angeles Dons, a member of the American Pro League into court. Our injunction wasn't worth the paper it was written on legally. We were forced to resort to a boycott before bringing the Dons around and only after two years was this accomplished.

We certainly don't want to add any more weight to Smith's work. However, we think our man Smitty will get the Supervisor to toss in a word about the PGA golf jim-crow situation; it is silly and stinks to high heaven. We certainly hope he takes it up after the election.

SPORTS

ON THE TURF

Del Mar "Where the Surf Meets the Turf," Del Mar "The Saratoga of the West," will ring down the curtains of the greatest season in its history this Saturday with the running of the Del Mar Futurity for two-year-olds at six furlongs. It will have a gross value of nearly $42,000, and the best 2-year-olds in the west will compete for this rich and closing event. Such speed burners as Kentom, Nashort, De Anza, Lothario and tional Valor, Reighmus Fizz, Cutothers are expected to go postwards. Del Mar's handle through the mutuels will surpass it's greatest season. And the attendance also will be the largest in history for the seaside course. This writer wishes to thank Sgt. "NEW AND BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE"—Sabuwill, the near-white son of Sabu-Gadybrook and a 3-year-old, fought his way to a nose decision over another good 3-year-old named Roux, to capture the feature attraction called "The Caratacus," a six-furlong dash. It was an event for 3-year-olds and upwards. But the younger horses made the older horses bite the dust before more than 11,000 lovers of the sport of kings. For the fifteen races the crowd kept the mutuel machines clicking to the tune of $404,270 total. This was the highest in Baja, California, history.

The largest single handle on one race was $34,555. That was in the sixth event and the race was won by Blue-Over, the public favorite. It was a big day for favorites and near-favorites, although the long-shot brigade held their celebration when Bill's Agent won the ninth race to pay a lush mutuel of $95.80.

CITY CHAMPIONS—South Park Playground won the L.A. Park and Recreation Department Wiskit-Tee-Ball. The team was undefeated during the season. Williams, Walter Walton, Kenneth Jones, Welton Jones, Melvin Earl, Roger Lockhart; back row: Kenneth Martin and Geo. Toston.

Fuentes TKO's La Broi in 6th

Ramon Fuentes, rough brawler that controlled the state's welterweight title; proved to be a hard customer for young Gerald La Broi.

Fuentes battered his foe to the canvas three times before referee Frankie Van halted the bout in the 6th round at the Olympic last Tuesday night.

La Broi was holding his own until he ran smack into one of Fuentes wicked uppercuts that floored him. He was never able to recover from the blow.

Bobby Jones Nods Servin

MAKE UP YOUR MIND

SAN FRANCISCO—In Rock Hill, South Carolina this week, good news virtually ran simultaneous with bad, when in less than 48-hrs. the Rock Hill baseball club hired and fired its first Negro.

David Bobley, 22-year-old outfielder via Lancaster was the victim of this in and out deal which occurred in the Tri-State class B circuit. . . . Earlier this week when the Rock Hill club voted to ignore a request made by loop prexy Bobby Hipps that would prohibit them from playing, they won acclaim around the nation among fair-minded people as southern trail-blazers, for this jester. . . . And after their over night reversal they'll literally win the title of "sport's schizophrenics of the year."

BAY AREA NOTES

El Cerrito High's flankman John Thomas 190-pounder and Benny Hammond, Richmond High's fullback are heralded in this locale as two of the finest prep grid prospects in the area. . . . Watch to see Thelton Henderson, the ex-all-city L. A. High back to see more than limited action for the Cal eleven. . . . In . . . As of now this 25 and 5-Henderson racked-up five scores on defense last year, all of which were of the sixty-yard variety. . . . San Francisco's mayor Elmer Robinson made a formal request that Ollie Matson, USF's All-American footballer and Olympic star be on hand when the bay area athletes are honored in his city on the 15th of the month. . . . Had it been election year for city officials, Matson supporters would have virtually made him the favorite "write in" candidate.

PCC RACE TOUGH

The race for the Pasadena trip and the roses from where I sit will be between UCLA and USC with the Bruins getting the nod. . . . If the Bruins, as I suspect, knock off the Trojans they should be in the big saucer come Jan. 1. . . . Larupin Larry Doby the Indian's sparkling outfielder and present American loop home run king should be a strong candidate for the Loop's "most valuable player" award. . . . Up in this area baseball filberts are rapidly giving up hope on the hot and cold Indians. . . . They are saying the door is open for the Injuns but they just want come in. . . . As of now this 25 and 5.

'SUGARFOOT' ANDERSON IS CANADA'S TOP GRID STAR

By EDW. "ABIE" ROBINSON

CALGARY, Alberta—There is a new king in this football crazed Canadian city! His majesty is Ez. "Sugarfoot" Anderson, a gangling, 6-foot right end on Calgary Stampeder grid team. Anderson is the same sepia star that caused a sensation in Los Angeles as a member of the L.A. Dons professional team in the old American League.

When the two leagues merged, Anderson drifted to Canada and later to Calgary to become one of their most outstanding players.

Sugarfoot is not only a great grid star, he is the top disc-jockey in the city and his program over station CXXL is the largest network in Calgary. Anderson is so well liked by the citizens that they want him to run for mayor of this city and they are most serious about it.

In football, his team rates high and is figured to win the league. The Stampeders made a clean sweep of pre-season exhibition games by turning back Montreal Alouettes 30-11. Chuck Anderson, another former L.A. player, is a member of the Alouettes. Johnny Bright and Anderson are teammates which gives them one of the strongest clubs in the loop.

James Scott, L.A.'s top whiskey salesman, just returned from a long visit with Anderson and rates their football far superior to the type played here. He witnessed the Stamps' 30-11 route of Montreal and thinks that the Stamps' backfield which includes Boly Kaluznic, Johnny Bright, Harry Hood, Peter Thodos and Dave West, are pretty fancy backs. While on the ends, Sugarfoot Anderson and Bob Shaw can always be counted on for brilliant defensive work.

ROYALS CINCH FLAG

MONTREAL — The Montreal Royals had the International League pennant clinched last week for the second straight year. Although the Royals still have 12 games to play, they nailed down the pennant with a double victory, 6 to 5 and 8 to 4 over Baltimore.

TED RHODES, 280 WINS U.G.A GOLF TOURNEY

PITTSBURGH—Defending Champion Ted Rhodes who makes his home in Los Angeles won the United Golf Association Open Championship last week at South Park.

Rhodes' last great showing was in the rich Tam O' Sham when he had all the Southside of Chicago buzzing about his brilliant first round, only to faulter in the late rounds to finish out of the money; however, the Californian went all the way this time finishing the 72-hole grind in 280, 8 under par.

In capturing the tourney's first prize money of $750, added a 69 and a 71 on the par 72 layout to his earlier rounds of 68 and 72.

Sport Magazin Highlights Irvi

One day last winter star outfielder Monte Irvin signed a piece of paper in the New York Giants' office which raised his salary from $12,000 to $25,000.

"This is the most money I've ever made," Irvin commented, "but it's been a long time coming. This should have happened to me ten years ago. I'm not half the ballplayer I was then."

This was a strange remark for Irvin to make, reports Sport Magazine in its current issue, especially after a man like White Sox manager Paul Richards had called Irvin "the greatest player in America." And Irvin had proved himself in the 1951 World Series when he made eleven hits, tied three batting records, stole home in his first game.

WISKIT TITLE TO SO. PARK

City Champions . . . SOUTH PARK PLAYGROUND won the Los Angeles Park and Recreation Department WISKIT-TEE-BALL Championship by going through the season without a loss. The team won the South league with wins over Denker, Normandie, and Green Meadows; and then defeated Baldwin Hills, West league champions and Poinsettia, North league champions to capture the city championship. WISKIT is a new league game that is played like baseball, all players throwing and catching with the WISKIT racket.

The game has caught on and is now being played in many parts of the country. South Park won the city championship last year to become the first park and recreation department team champions in the country. WISKIT-TEE-BALL is a new version of the team game, WISKIT. All batting is done off the batting tee; the pitcher is eliminated and all points are made by the team in the field. South Park has won another honor winning the first organized WISKIT-TEE-BALL championship play in the country.

CUPID AND THE BRIDE—The cupid figurine that perched above the head of lovely Norma Williams Harvey symbolizes strikingly the wedding ceremony that made her the bride of Frank Harvey Jr. last Wednesday evening at Westminster Presbyterian church. Shortly following the elaborate reception at her architect father's luxurious home on Victoria drive, the couple headed for a honeymoon in Mexico City. She is an art consultant. Harvey is a law student at University of Southern California.

BILL SMALLWOOD

Ex-Angeleno Alberta Mayo James sails via N.Y. next week for London. There she will set up a small flat, preparing for husband Joe's arrival later via Vienna with the Gershwin Co. They plan to be in London a year. She will of course explore the Continent thoroughly; also continuing her music studies. Since her marriage she has devoted her music to accompanying her baritone husband; now she is resuming her vocal studies. Ex-Angeleno Joe Crawford is also with the Gershwin crowd. He and Joe James were among the ushers at the William Warfield-Leontyne Price wedding in N.Y. last Sunday.

At the reception later (Hotel Theresa rooftop) hullo with Langston Hughes (pounds heavier) and query from him especially of Dorothy and Ivan Johnson and Juanita and Loren Miller. Randy Sawyer and Clarice Crawford asked of Elsie Foster and Adolph Angelus. Jo Webster Cooper had a tableful in tears describing the hilarious idea of ex-Angeleno Malcolm Wells showing up at the N.Y. airport in a white ambulance and a cocktail table inside ladened with drinks. But alas, she (and Albert McNeill) didn't arrive home 'til the next a.m. La Cooper and her six-foot son Richard return home to L.A. via TWA on the 15th.

Hullo over martini glass rims with ex-Angeleno Jules Smith and his charming sister Marian in their uptown apt. Jessie (Dayton, O.) Hathcock the latter's houseguest for a spell; she and Marian seriously think they may buy a place in L.A. after they become retired schoolmarms. Also at Marian's for canasta, Dr. and Mrs. Gillam of Dayton, O. Cincy's matchless Mayme Shaw was in N.Y. earlier. She's one mid-Westerner who is known from coast to coast. Perennially handsome Harold Jackman asked of Chappie Bryant's next visit East; Harold's houseguest John (St. Loo) Cousins mentioned running across Ed Boyd earlier while en route West.

Reunion later with Dr. Walter Bryant in his and Chappie's Riverside Drive apt. It was here I believe I learned Gladys [illegible] is visiting her ole home to[illegible] of L.A. at the moment. Her sister Louella is a social work student at LACC. Touched tall glasses with the Smith Starlings who were Angelenos for a brief spell several seasons back. They asked of Luther Hudson, Dell Porche, Nat Gregory, were surpised to learn Esterline Powell is in Alaska. Everywhere I go Mil Blount is asked after; her friends enjoy hearing of her new apt. and how happy she is with it. And life. Her sister lives in N.Y.

Jimmy Lucas will read here some of his friends in these parts are just learning of his March nuptials with Robert V. Edwards. I being more surprised at their surprise. Usually news travels fast and far between these coasts! Brow-raise: No one in N.Y. seems to be doing much to help choke off the momentum-gaining rumor anent things being far from well with Hazel Scott and her Adam! Ann Hunter who seemingly has about given up L.A. for the time being is apt. hunting in N.Y. "Don't get me wrong, I still love L.A.!" she reaffirms aloud. At the Warfield-Price reception Leonard DePaur says: "I always look forward each season to the coast, especially L.A. The people are all so wonderful to us!"

Amsterdam News editor G. James Fleming ticking off the names of West Coast friends to ask us about. His name is a famed one in Kappadom, you know. Gerri Major and Betty Granger both ask what's happening out California way. Nora Holt preferred Chi. to N.Y. during the musicians' get-together. Odd not seeing Bill Chase among Manhattan's newspaper-guys-and-dolls-at-work. Friends of Dr. Gertrude Curtis Thompson wish out loud she and her husband will come East from the coast for Yuletide in N.Y. Both have deep lasting roots in N.Y. I won't be surprised if eventually she won't spend three or four months of each 12 in N.Y. Friends of old simply refuse to acknowledge her permanent residence in L.A.

September calendar: Edythe K. Owens birthdays on the 28th, Betty Jones on the 18th.

A "Gingham-Jean Barbeque" will wind up the summer affairs of the Majestic Corsairs Social club which will be held September 6 at 1115 Gramercy drive from 3 p.m. until?

Since their organization in 1934 the club has been noted for its important part on the local scene. At present it is guided by Charles Henderson, president.

The club recently elected as its new officers: president, Edna Hinds; secretary, Delores Woods; vice-president, Danise Elam; treasurer, Josephine Clark; financial secretary, Norene Johnson; parliamentarian, Orena Jones; and chaplain, Helen Nicholson.

Dinner Honors Celebrant

Mrs. Allie Mae Blackwell, mother of Nita Blackwell, active on the social welfare front, was pleasantly surprised when friends of hers honored her birthday at the new Club LaValle, located in the Alpha House at 2116 S. Western last Sunday evening.

Mrs. Robert Kenny, wife of the well-known attorney, provided the inspiration with a brief discussion of the Baha'i Faith and a South-American tempo was set with the music of Rudolph Rivera.

A beautiful orchid corsage was presented the honoree through the courtesy of Cherie' Flower shop. The group took advantage of the family style dinners being served on Thursday and Sunday evenings at the Club LaValle by its charming hostess Charvety Jackson Wilkins.

Adoption Agency Serves Community

In the heart of our community is an adoption service which is working constantly, diligently to find homes for many babies. The Holy Family Adoption Service, located at 158 N. Occidental boulevard, is seeking good homes to place small children.

It is the agency's conviction that the baby without affection is a starved baby. Therefore, placing the child in the affectionate arms of adoptive parents must be accomplished at the earliest date.

The agency is non-profit, nonsectarian and interracial in its service. It needs volunteer services of all kinds. At the present time plans are being made to sponsor a festival for the purpose of raising funds to enable it to carry on its work. The festival will be held Sunday, October 5, at the Hollywood baseball park.

Right there are opportunities for women who have some free time to contribute secretarial, advisory or any other kind of similar skills which can help to make a success of the project which will aid Negro babies.

Securing foster homes is a difficult task because many couples do not know it is possible to adopt a child in a short period of time. A couple has only to meet the requirements for adoption.

It is the community's responsibility to care for the tiny tots who have no homes of their own. With so many childless couples it reflects badly on the local Negro populace.

Huge Turnout at Backyard Party

The Lone Wolf Social Club held a back yard party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Jackson recently and several members and their friends turned out for the enjoyable affair.

Among the many who did attend were the president's wife, Mrs. K. Reins, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hamelitte, H. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright, Mrs. M. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Al Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ateman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bugg, Mrs. L. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. B. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. L. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brooks, Mrs. G. B. Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

When getting a finger wave my hair seems to buckle on one side. Why is this? P.C.

You might be getting the waves set against the growth of the hair. By this I mean, hair grows clockwise and counter clockwise. Wet the hair with a heavier waving fluid.

My hair grows very thick in the back and is normally thick on the sides and top. This growth gives the appearanceo f having a long head. What can I do to change the appearance? J. G.

Have your hair tapered and thinned out from the thick portions only.

My sister had her hair dyed red. Two days later her scalp broke out with sores. Also her hair fell out. Was the dye too strong? D. R.

If you will note the label pasted on the side of a bottle of dye you will see a warning sign cautioning one to give a test before administering the dye.

'Twas about the only thing that saved the weekend from being a flop. I (McJacksonian), being deserted by my fellow Hound, noticed several jollyartists trying to wear out the Sigma House floor with their three-inch pegs and synthetic rubber heels but who can blame them when they were strutting (we use the term literally) to Phy Taylor's diminishing combo, featuring for the last time the mad bongo artistry of Thomas Greene, who left for the service (Ugh! how vulgar) Tuesday.

Lorraine Howard and Hubby Dubby (can't remember his name). Mary Lou Leanard, Barbara Street, three or four other Barbaras, Ellen Bauman and Lorenzo (lost forty pounds). Wallace helped keep things alive with their gay faces. Pointers Show How To Look Different

By MIRIAM CHRISTIAN

"Oh! What can I do to look different for school. Since I have been vacationing and just relaxing, I know that I couldn't look as good as I should like to look."

This is probably the moan and groan heard by many parents, relatives, and friends who know someone who will attend college, high school, or it may even hold true to some girls planning to take on a new position this fall.

A few pointers to look different in brief are:

Get a bar of heavenly-scented soap and scrub, rub and dub the body until cleanliness is felt clear to the end of the toes. Only when a feeling that tingling freshness is felt should the soaping process be discontinued. There is a good, bright start.

Improve the carriage. Lift head, shoulders and back. Just straighten up. Walk to music. Imagine how grand you look. Keep that picture in the back of your mind.

Select clothes that compliment the figure. A trim look is a safe look.

Encourage the skin to glow. Pat it, pinch it and mark it with creams. Mere massage is the grandest of stimulants.

Look at the hair and its old style. Very easily the faults can be detected. Do something about it. Color, cut or fashion it. Permit the hair style to change. Horse's tail, poodle cut, page boy. Anything to be different. That's one way to get ohs and ahs.

Find a new lipstick. A wild shade, soften all other cosmetics.

Discuss your vacation with others, regardless of how it was spent, at home or away. Encourage other people's interest. This can be done by widening your own.

Refusal to Serve Brings Suit to Cafe

Five members of the local community last week sued the Mr. Arky Barbeque, 835 Foothill boulevard, Fontana, for refusal to serve them.

The case was heard August 21 in San Bernardino, with the judge delaying a decision until he has received additional points of authority from the attorneys.

If found guilty, the owners of the cafe, Milton W. Blair and his wife, Mrs. Hazel N. Blair, are liable to damages of $100 for each plaintiff.

Plaintiffs in the suit are William H. James, a World War I veteran who is employed by the Union Pacific Railroad and who lives at 118 W. 45th street; his wife, Mrs. Geraldine James; and their three-year-old son, William H. James II; Lee Toran, also an employee of the Union Pacific, who lives at 116½ W. 45th street; and his wife, Mrs. Ethel Toran, who works for movie magnate Dore Schary.

The plaintiffs' case is being handled by Atty. Ralph Kaplan of Los Angeles.

The two couples and the child were motoring on Sunday, February 3, of this year. When they arrived in Fontana they decided to stop for food, and selected the Arky Barbeque. There they were refused service because they were Negroes, the plaintiffs claim.

On the stand, Mrs. Blair asserted that they served Negroes "provided there are accommodations." Her husband claimed that while there were empty seats when the two couples came to the restaufant, all of these seats were "reserved." He admitted he hadn't told the two couples about the reservations.

He also claimed in his defense that his cafe is in reality a club, and therefore not required to serve the public.

More About South Africa

bitterly split over the dictatorial powers claimed by the Malan government, and are in a head-on fight over the authority of the courts.

Though both major South African parties are strong advocates of the white man's rule, the issue over which they are clashing is the right of 50,000 Coloreds (or persons of mixed parentage) to vote.

Malan's government passed a law taking away their voting rights. The Supreme Court declared the law unconstitutional. Then Malan had Parliament, where he holds a slight majority, pass another law setting up what is termed the High Court of Parliament.

Fake Court Illegal

Last week this fake court, boycotted by the opposition parties, said the Supreme Court was wrong and the Coloreds could not vote in the future.

Two days later the Cape division of the South African Supreme Court, the regularly constituted court, ruled unanimously that Malan's court had no power whatsoever to pass on the constitutionality of any law, and that any decisons it might make were null and void.

India Intervenes

At New Delhi, India, the Foreign Ministry announced that India will raise the question of the passive resistance movement of non-whites in South Africa before the next session of the United Nations Assembly.

The official statement declared that the jim-crow (apartheid) policy of the Malan government and its use of violence against the disobedient volunteers was "bound to arouse racial bitterness and strife not only in Africa but in other parts of the world."

The opposition here is fiercely antagonistic to Malan's policies, largely because they fear his aggressive attacks against the non-whites will fan the seething, revolt to fever pitch.

They live in terror that if civil war breaks out the Negroes, Coloreds and Indians, who outnumber the whites four to one, will attack all whites, without exception.

So far, the resistance has been strictly non-violent, those arrested submitting without any attempt at retaliation to both jail sentences and floggings.

Leaders of the united movement have indicated that in the next phase the masses of the population will be called upon to launch a general strike, which they still hope to confine within the bounds of non-violent action.

whereupon Judge Gardner replied that he would not be able to sleep at night if he failed to take any steps which would insure that Martin receives a just trial. The necessary papers were ordered drawn up.

Martin, who lives at 1467½ E. 22nd street, is free on $5,000 bail. He was arrested in Laguna Beach Aug. 6, finger-printed and "mugged" and later released when he was able to obtain his Army furlough papers.

Three days later he was rearrested at his home, taken back to Laguna Beach and charged with the series of crimes—rape, kidnap, grand theft and armed robbery—which had occurred two weeks earlier.

At the time the crimes were committed, July 20, Martin claims he was some 400 miles distant at Ford Ord, Army records reportedly bear out his statement. The three soldiers who are being subpoenaed and others who will also be called are expected to substantiate Martin's alibi.

Martin, 21-year-old featured artist with the Lester Hotton Dance theater in Hollywood, has termed the charges against him "absurb." He was picked up while he and a friend were driving to Laguna at a time when police were looking for a "tan skinned Negro" of about his height and weight.

Friends and associates of the young soldier were stunned by his arrest, and have rallied to his support, raising money for his defense against the charges which, if proved, could send him to jail for 50 years.

Free For All

Johnson and Rebecca Jean Brown, his common-law wife, were at Kelly's Cafe where they got in an argument with Divens and Catherine Carruthers, 24, also of Basilone Homes.

Mrs. Carruthers went after Mrs. Brown with a knife and Mrs. Brown got her down and was beating her when Divens chased Johnson out of the saloon with a knife.

After a short struggle Mrs. Brown got up to call the police.

A friend drove her to Branford and Glenoaks where she said she saw Divens leaning over Johnson who was lying in the ditch at the side of the road stabbing and cutting his victim. Mrs. Carruthers and Divens were arrested on suspicion of murder.

the entire civil rights issue now.

"We feel the whole question has been spelled out. There can be no argument as far as the Negro voters are concerned—or for that matter any other minorities. We are ready to back him to the limit."

Powell said the group came to see Stevenson to have him "spell out" his position on the civil rights and allied issues.

He said following Stevenson's speeches here last week that they were thoroughly satisfied.

Powell's earlier statement that Negroes might boycott the Democratic national ticket was made in Chicago after the Democrats picked Senator John P. Sparkman of Alabama as their vice presidential candidate.

MADIE NORMAN gets a school-teaching part in "See How They Run," and a big feature story in one of our national weeklies.

NADINE COLE, the ex-King Cole Mrs., is certainly a striking picture these days and easily rates as one of our most immaculate young ladies.

THEY say Maurice Saunders is no longer tossing her famous steaks at San Francisco Supper Club. Genial Curtis Mosby and the lady just couldn't get together as he being the boss, she had to be the one to go. She Did!

A marriage rift is in the making for one of our top society figures. Friends of the couple are saying he's already served notice to wifie. He wants to wed another. The story behind this breakup will give you the inside view as to how phony our social set really is.

THE POPPY SET is using a coupla gas station rest rooms on W. Adams and Western for their bang station. A good-looking westside gal walked in to use the rest room the other day and found a needle and eye dropper. Some gal had been shooting the works.

DONNEGAN GAL, we wonder if this is the same Dorothy that got herself in a row with a "grey" cat in San Francisco night spot called Ciro a few seasons ago? Or the pianist that accused a newsman of shaking her down for a $125 suit when her gift was a lousy $5 bill. At any rate, the Dorothy that thrilled the Saturday night group out at Harry Gladstone's mad pad was the last word in keyboard serenaders. She ran through a dozen assortments of Gershwin tunes. Beautician Esthelle Sherwood hosted the way-out affair. Gladstone is one of the city's most outstanding interior decorators.

UNDERSTAND two well-known males will follow Ethel Sissle to New York late this fall and their mission will be to talk her back to the coast even if it takes marriage.

LES HITE, former big time band leader, is giving up his spacious Monrovia home and moving to a newly purchased westside apt. He is planning a South American cruise with wifie soon.

SUMMER WEIGHT will be the reason why a popular westside coed won't be returning to City College campus this fall. She picked the weight up during the summer. The nine months kind.

TONY HILL, the famous and fabulous ceramics designer, came up with perhaps the most unique wedding gift. He presented Norma Williams with a "fly swatter."

HERMAN HILL, former L.A. newsman, has landed a whopping deal with the GOP headquarters in San Francisco. He says he will pay a man transportation and start him off with an attractive salary plus commission if he is the right salesman.

HARRY DAVIS, the Klondike kid, is back! He's been digging for gold in the wilds of Alaska. Didn't get any gold nuggets, but his pretty wife was there to pick him up at the L.A. Airport in the family Cadillac last eve.

JOYCE BRYANT, the soft and mellow song stylist, is creating a rave in secluded upper New York spot, where the looted clan flock to get away from the city heat. They say she is the kind of heat a man can take a lot of and never complain.

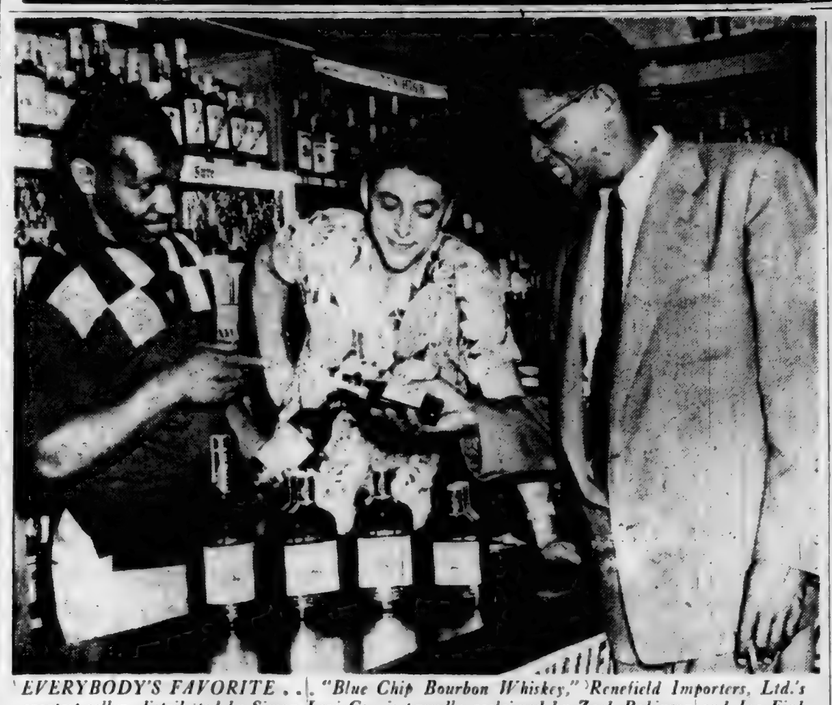
In his new position he succeeds Henri Rene, now promoted to national assistant manager of popular artists and repertoire.

"The West Coast is a rich source of blues and rhythm talent," stated Miller. "I intend to work closely with Joe Greene here in our continued effort to bring the kind of recorded music long enjoyed by the public."



Composer Joe Greene is blues and rhythm consultant for RCA-Victor's Western region.

Prevents Firing Of Schoolteacher

BREMERTON, Wash.—As a result of an off again, on again decision of the school board, Ester Wilfong, 22-year-old Negro, was confirmed last week as sixth grade teacher at Central Kitsap Junior High school in Silverdale.

Both decisions of the board were unanimous. On Tuesday board members voted to rescind Wilfong's contract because of the controversy over his appointment. Board Member Ole Svenson said harmony was needed because "there's our school bond issue to think of."

Next morning, following a meeting with the school principal and Washington's FEPC, the board unanimously changed its mind.

There are four Negro children in the school. About two-thirds of the school district's residents are workers at the U. S. Navy yard in near-by Bremerton.

Defense Dept. Probe Asked in Korea GI Case

The case of First Lieut. Ernest J. Collier, wounded Korean veteran now held in the Camp Cooke hospital prison ward following an altercation with a major, stemming from a race incident, was placed before the Secretary of Defense this week.

The local branch of the NAACP, after consultation with the national office, asked that an investigation be launched and corrective measures taken.

No formal charges have yet been lodged against the lieutenant, according to NAACP Attorney Thomas G. Nuesom, although it is nearly a month since the incident occurred.

Lt. Collier became involved in an incident with a major at the army hospital where the Negro G. I. was confined for surgery and treatments for wounds received in the Korean conflict.

Collier charges that Major C. R. Bruck, administrative officer of the day, became abusive and manhandled him causing great pain to his injured right arm. Collier was attempting to leave the hospital with his wife whom the major had ordered removed from the ward room.

Lt. Collier had brought his wife to his room after he was refused accommodations in the hotels and motels of nearby Santa Maria. When Collier attempted to leave the hospital with her, he was placed under arrest by Major Bruck.

Barstow Gives Home Seekers Run Around

Negroes seeking to apply for occupancy of rental housing units under construction in Barstow by San Bernardino County in that desert city are being given the run-around as to where and when to place applications, Lester Bailey, NAACP field secretary charged this week.

Negroes seeking to apply are told that they must go to San Bernardino, 75 miles distant, in order to apply, he said.

When the NAACP official accompanied several local people to the Barstow office last week, the applicants were told that they could apply after the first of the year, the date of completion of the housing units.

Later the same day, Bailey called at the county buliding at San Bernardino where he was told that applications "are now available" at the Barstow office.

In a strongly worded letter to the San Bernardino County Housing Authority the field secretary requested an immediate official clarification as to "how, when and where" Negro citizens can receive "applications and consideration" for occupancy of the rental units at Barstow.

Killer Found After 5-Year Man-Hunt

Faces Murder Charge

By EDDIE LEE KING

A five year hunt for a man charged with murder ended this week when James Eugene McDade, 47, was extradited from Dallas, Texas.

After the killing of a man who attempted to stop an angry quarrel between McDade and his common-law wife July 5, 1947, the wanted man disappeared.

Alerted F.B.I.

The district attorney, following inquiries as to the man's past, figured that he would probably turn up either in Detroit, Mich., or in Dallas, and so notified the police of these two cities as well as the F.B.I.

The F.B.I. had an open warrant out for him on the charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the crime.

It took five years for the authorities to catch up with him. Preliminary hearing on the murder charge is set for today, Thursday, at 10 a.m.

Freak Shot

McDade is charged with the killing of Albert Armstrong, 45, of 5328 Avalon blvd., who died after a freak shot landed in his stomach. Armstrong was dead upon arrival at the hospital.

According to police records, McDade, through a ruse, obtained entry to the room of Mrs.

Registration Drive Ends at Midnight

The most successful registration drive in the history of the community neared completion as the registrar prepared to close the registration books today (Thursday) at midnight. Thousands of citizens in the community responded to the appeals of civic leaders, organizations, disc jockeys, and the ministers in the community to register before the closing date of September 11.

Loren Miller, publisher of the Eagle, said: "I want to thank the hundreds of persons and organizations who joined the Eagle registration drive to put over a very successful campaign. All forces in the community joined hands and that is the key to the success of the drive to get as many voters eligible for the important coming election. The job now is to organize to get as many voters to the polls as is humanly possible on election day."

In a novel and unique approach, the community's disc jockeys were asked to appeal to their listeners to register before the deadline. Fifteen of the leading citizens in the community met at the broadcasting station of the County of Los Angeles at the invitation of Supervisor Herbert C. Legg and cut one-minute transcriptions urging citizens to register and vote.

Through the efforts of Congressman Sam Yorty's office, records were cut and delivered to the disc jockeys. Charles Trammell, Joe Adams, Arthur Adams, Jerry Hemphill and Bill Sampson cooperated 100 percent with the program. The pull of their popular programs was sharply demonstrated by the large lines that began to form at the various registration tables in the community.

The ministers held two "Registration Sundays" which were highly successful. Deputy registrars were stationed at the various churches, and the ministers urged those not eligible to vote in the coming election to register as they left the services.

Californians Favor FEPC, Poll Shows

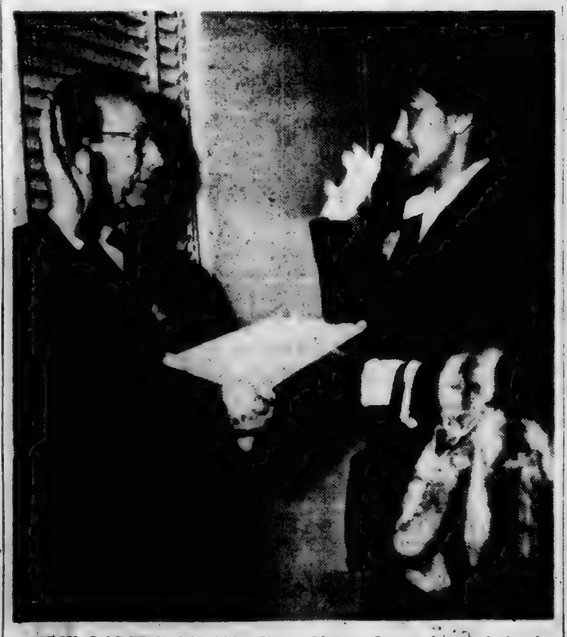
In a sharp reversal of their previous stand California voters this week came out in overwhelming support of Fair Employment Practices legislation.

According to a state-wide survey conducted by the California Poll interviewers, and printed Sept. 4 in the Los Angeles Times, 61 per cent of the people of this state advocate the passage of a law which would provide that "no one would be refused a job because of his race, color or religion."

Of these, 45 per cent favored a Federal law; 16 per cent a state law.

As could be expected, the Times spluttered and fumed and cried, in effect: "We was robbed."

In a brazen editorial the Times on Sept. 5 lashed out against the pollsters.



The pollsters, according to the editorial, should not have asked the question in the straightforward manner in which it was asked. Instead they should have asked something on the order of: "Have you stopped beating your wife?"

The Times said the question should have been worded: "Should the Federal (or State) government create a commission to compel employers to hire men, not on the basis of their fitness for the jobs that are open, but so that all races and religions may be represented in their working force?"

No phrasing of the question could be more deceitful. Advocates of FEPC have never called upon an employer to hire anybody unless he was fit for the job in question.

FEPC does not seek special treatment for Negroes. What it

Police Inactivity Blamed

By GRACE E. SIMONS

A new threatening note—the fifth in less than three months—was planted at the front door of the home of Angus Bates, 1749 W. 42nd street, Monday night.

The note warned that a new "strike" would be made against the persecuted family, one that will be a "little bit harder" than those that have preceded it.

The note, typewritten and bearing a cross at the top, was deposited on the front porch, enclosed in a carefully cleaned glass jar. It was there to greet Mr. and Mrs. Bates when they returned home at 10:30 p.m.

Shot Window

This latest act of intimidation followed by only a few weeks the deliberate firing of a shot into the front window of the residence.

It followed also a warning to Mrs. Bates by police "not to file a complaint" against the gunman, whose identity is known.

"The neighbors are hostile," Mrs. Bates told the Eagle. "One of them goes out of her way to avoid me. There is only one who is friendly and speaks to us. The woman across the street said 'good morning' to me once. Generally they ignore us."

NAACP Investigates

"Police have done nothing to protect the Bates family," stated Lester Bailey, NAACP field secretary, who investigated the incident Tuesday.

"I charge the police with complete incompetence and indifference to the rights of this family, with failing miserably to take any steps to prevent these people from losing their property and even their lives at the hands of vandals and arsonists.

"Even an amateur investiga-

Mother Works As Child, 2, Is Killed by Auto

Two-year-old Clifford Johnson was playing out in front of his home Monday afternoon, while his mother, Mrs. Ola Johnson, was at work.

All of a sudden he darted out into the street. He was too young to know the danger that lurked there, too young to think of looking before he ran.

Too late the driver of an automobile sighted the youngster directly in front of him. Quentin Dillard, 1251 E. 59th street, slammed on his brakes, but he wasn't able to stop quickly enough.

Little Clifford was dead when the ambulance arrived at Central and 29th street, where the accident occurred. The driver was not held.

The mother and father, Joseph E. Johnson, who live at 1002 E. Adams boulevard, have one other child, Joseph Stanley, 3. They have been here nine years, coming from Greenville, Tex. Clifford had been left in the care of a neighbor, Cora Mae Adams, while the mother was away.

Funeral services are being held Friday morning at 10 a.m. from the Avalon Funeral Home.

Federal Jury Indicts Trice in Sale of Heroin

The Federal Grand Jury last Wednesday indicted Alfred F. (Al) Trice, sportsman, liquor store operator and prohibition bootlegger, on four counts for the sale and possession of narcotics.

Arraignment was set for 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 15, before Federal Judge James Carter.

Trice was arrested Aug. 1 for reportedly selling heroin on two different occasions to a Federal undercover agent who looked and acted like a regular "hood."

The well-known Al, who runs a liquor store at 5109½ Central avenue, was freed on $3,000 bail the following Monday, and was notified this week of the Grand Jury action.

According to police records, Trice has 24 previous arrests chalked up against him. The first was in 1923, when he was picked up in Pasadena and charged with embezzlement.

During prohibition, he was arrested a number of times on various charges, including possession of alcoholic beverages and possession of a still to make moonshine.

Known to authorities under several aliases, his real name is given as Alfred Nelson Trice.

Psychologists Flay Bias in Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Lashing out at segregation in the nation's capital, the American Psychological Association's governing body here last Thursday unanimously voted against holding any further national meetings in Washington.

Among the places singled out for condemnation was the Y.M.C.A. for its refusal to permit its facilities to be used for an interracial meeting of graduate students.

Asked how many of the association's members were Negroes, Dr. J. McV. Hunt, president, replied: "It doesn't make any difference."

He went on to state: "We are all one color or another. Socially, we are not an organization of colors, but of people, and professionally we happen to be psychologists."

He continued that as researchers and as human beings, members of the organization recognized race prejudice as one of the "large factors" in emotional disturbances.

A restaurant and some hotels were accused along with the YMCA of discrimination, but their names were not listed.

The 10,000 member association held its 60th annual convention here last week.

Ethel January Sentenced to 1-14 Years in Jail

Mrs. Ethel January, who since she came to Los Angeles in 1949 won the warm esteem of many friends in both Negro and white communities, was sentenced on Wednesday morning to California Institution for Women for forgery.

Judge Philip H. Richards remanded her to the prison at Corona (formerly Tehachape) "for the term prescribed by law." The law sets the term at from one to 14 years, with parole possible after the first year.

Probation Denied

A probation plea was denied, following the recommendation of the probation investigation.

After an appeal by Mrs. January's attorney, Rayfield Lundy, the judge stated he could not give a lighter sentence under the circumstances, but considered the charges on their merit without linking them with prior arrests. Had he not done this, the minimum sentence would have been five years in prison.

Ask Leniency

Many letters recommending leniency and pointing to Mrs. January's excellent community record in the promotion of harmonious race relations were received by the court. Judge Richards, in commenting upon them, stated he believed those who wrote them were under a "misguided apprehension as to the defendant's criminal record."

Mrs. January was arrested July 19 and charged with the fraudulent use of charge account plates and refund slips at various of the May Co. stores. The exact sum of money she obtained in this manner is not known, but believed to run into thousands. She pleaded guilty, however, to only one count for merchandise valued at $11.05. It was on this count that she was sentenced.

Death Laid to Epileptic Fit

Early Saturday night police found the partially decomposed body of Thomas Brackeen, 45, in the house at the rear of 1125 E. 25th street.

Pending an autopsy, police listed the death as a possible homicide.

The coroner's report, however, showed that the dead man had probably suffered from an epileptic attack, from which he died. The body had apparently been in the house for several days before it was discovered.

Connor-Johnson will handle the funeral.

Supreme Court To Hear School Case in October

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In mid-October when the presidential campaign is at its height, the Supreme Court will hear arguments on race segregation in grade schools.

The court is not expected to render a decision before the elections, but the heated controversy over the race issue, state's rights and FEPC is bound to throw the nation's spotlight on the school case.

This is the first time that the High Court will consider the outlawing of segregation in grade schools.

The court is being asked to rule that segregation in schools is in and of itself discrimination. The issue posed before it goes far beyond the court's previous decisions.

The Supreme Court has already ruled with regard to colleges and universities, but it has not decided these cases on the issue of segregation, but on the matter of "equality" of facilities. In these rulings it has held that where educational opportunities are not substantially equal, Negroes must be admitted to white institutions.

Famed Boxer Held in Jail For Burgalry

The noted boxer, Leonard "Sheik" Thompson, kept in jail by a bail of $25,000 which he could not meet, pled guilty to robbery Monday in Department 44 of Superior Court before Judge William Neely.

"Sheik" was charged with burglary, robbery (three counts) and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

On June 25 he took, at gun point, personal property from Stephen Vee, 3626 Somerset drive, valued at $4848. June 28 he threatened Maurice J. Simon of 2620 Dalton avenue, muisician, with a knife. He robbed Simon of $15 and, on the same day, stole from Paul Pargo, boxer, of 4034 Woodlawn, at 2812 South Western avenue, a $40 ring. He shot Pargo with a .38 caliber revolver.

A check on Thompson's previous police record revealed that he served time in state prison in 1945 in California and in Oklahoma in 1944.

He was being represented by Public Defender R. W. Erskine when he pled guilty and received a five to 20 year term.

New Hate Warning

tor can determine that neighbors are responsible for these outrages. Yet after nearly three months, the burning of a cross, the firing of a shot into the living room, and four threatening letters—all of which were turned over to the authorities—the police have done absolutely nothing.

Vandals Emboldened

"It is clear that the perpetrators of these acts are emboldened by the failure of the police to do anything at all. They undoubtedly figure—and who can blame them?—that they have nothing to fear from that quarter.

"What are the authorities waiting for—a new Dunsmuir bombing?"

The typewritten note read:

"What about that 'for sale' sign? We won't wait forever to see that sign put up! The dragon is getting ready to strike once more. Each strike will be a little harder. Better consider our warning for your peace of mind, family, happiness."

The shooting incident occurred Aug. 6, Mrs. Angus said. She reported she was ironing when she happened to look across the street, where she saw the owner, a Mr. Jones, and his small son sitting on the steps of the house at 1748 W. 42nd street. A young man, "Bill," a friend of Jones' daughter, was standing, pointing the child's BB gun at the Bates home. A few moments later she heard the zing of a shot. The shot had punctured a hole in the front living-room window.

Mrs. Bates said she called University Station police and told them what had happened. They replied, she continued, that if she wanted to go down to the city attorney's office and file a complaint they would take her down there, but they "wouldn't advise it."

When she wanted to know why, she said the police told her that if she lost the case, she could be sued.

Went to Chief Parker

Mrs. Bates then went to see Chief of Police William H. Parker. But she didn't get to see the chief. Instead she was referred to the Internal Affairs office, where, she said, they took a statement, advised they would look into the matter—and then did nothing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates and their three-year-old daughter, Angela, moved into the 42nd street home April 1. On June 15, a cross was burned on the lawn and a threatening letter was received.

Two days later another letter, hand written, came in the mail. This one was addressed to "Negro Angus Bates," and warned "It's been plain for years and years white people don't want niggers for neighbors. And never will. It's impossible — the Negroes should stay in their Africa where they belong. . . . So keep out of white people's districts and there will be less trouble."

This was followed by a postcard and another note, prior to Monday night's incident.

Another house in the same block was recently put up for sale. Mrs. Angus reported that the neighbors have been putting pressure upon the seller "not to sell to Negroes."

does seek to do—and anyone who can read and write knows this—is to remove barriers set up solely because of race or religion, so that workers will be hired on the basis of ability instead of being passed over because of their skin color.

Of course, the Times knows this. But the truth doesn't fit in with their own bias and prejudice or with the bias and prejudice of the groups to whom they cater.

They falsify also when they refer to the FEPC laws which already exist in a number of states. Says the Times: "It is notorious that such laws (FEPC) are not being enforced; and if their literal enforcement were attempted there probably would be plenty of trouble."

We won't refer the Times to its own news columns for proof of the falsity of this statement, because it carefully excludes news of this type. We do, however, refer them to an article in the California Eagle of Sept. 4, regarding the successful application of the FEPC in Washington, which brought about the hiring of a Negro schoolteacher in Central Kitsap Junior High School in Silverdale, near Bremerton.

We could give them a lot of other references, too, about the successful operation of FEPC laws.

But the Times is not interested in verification on this question.

From their point of view, it is dangerous for legislators, especially in a national election year, to realize that 61 per cent of the people of California favor fair employment legislation.

Registration

publican and Democratic clubs, and unions from the CIO and AFL were active in the drive and contributed greatly to its success.

Wendell Green, editor of the Eagle, and Ethel Bryant, Congressman Yorty's field secretary, who headed the Eagle registration drive committee, were high in their praise of the organizations and individuals who worked so hard to make the campaign a success. Mrs. Bryant emphasized the fact that the same splendid cooperation can be used in a "get-the-vote-out" campaign.

"It is not just enough to register. Every registered voter should make it his sacred duty to go to the polls on election day and vote for the man of his choice."

Plans are being formulated to organize a "get-the-vote-out" campaign, using the same community forces that made the registration drive such an outstanding success. Announcement of the first meeting will appear soon in the Eagle.

Charge Thief With Killing Accomplice

Wallace Lee Smith, 22, 1645 E. 50th place, is being held for murder of his accomplice in a burglary attempt.

Johnnie Richard Smith, 23, 659 E. 41st street, and Wallace Smith (no relation) met Saturday evening in the vicinity of 55th and Compton avenue and after driving around and to the Lincoln Gardens in the Watts area they returned to 103rd street and Central avenue where Johnnie, whom Wallace knew only as Frank, started driving while Wallace walked home with a girl.

About 1 a.m. Sunday, Hosea Walker of 16044 S. Central avenue, heard the horn of his 1951 Ford sedan, parked in the back yard at that address. Upon looking out the rear window he saw the two Smiths tampering with his car and ran south down the alley to 107th street and entered Wallace's 1937 Chevrolet sedan.

About 30 minutes later the Smith pair came back and parked near Walker's car, leaving the doors open and lights burning. They began tampering with Walker's car doors and wheels.

One Shot, Two Holes

Walker fired a shot to warn them from a .22-caliber rifle in their general direction. Once again they retreated down the alley. Johnnie had two bullet holes in his chest and stomach.

Wallace returned about 10 minutes later and told Walker that he came for his car. Walker, with the rifle reloaded, told Wallace not to move himself or the car and held him at bay until the police arrived.

Johnnie Richard Smith was found dead on the lawn of 1217 E. 107th street. A pair of pliers and other home-made tools for burglary were found near the body.

A check through police records showed that Johnnie had seven felony and seven drunk arrests.

The coroner's inquest was held Wednesday.

Stepfather Is Charged With Statutory Rape

Willie Myers, 41, 3463 Third avenue, was jailed Sunday for statutory rape of his step-daughter while her mother, Eula, was at work.

Betty Jo Davis, 17, charged that she was asleep in bed and her step-father came in the room.

He sat on the bed and pushed her back on the bed, kissing her about the face and upper part of her body. She kept asking him to stop and he told her, "If you don't shut your — mouth I'll cut your throat," and started looking in the drawers for a knife.

She kept quiet and he started kissing and fondling her. After the rape, he said if she told anyone he would kill her. . . . "Although he didn't want to kill me because he liked me," she added.

She escaped by telling Myers that her family would expect her at church. The girl went to her aunt's house instead and cried out what had happened. Medical inspection at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital verified her statement of rape.

Myers stated, "I didn't do anything to her. I don't know how that stain got on the sheet. I was talking to Betty Jo this morning about her coming in at late hours. I don't think it was right. She was in her bedroom and I was at the dining room table drinking coffee. Her door was closed. Betty Jo hates me and I have left her mother twice because of her. I didn't do anything."

America is a land of plenty—plenty of fires, that is. More Americans own their own homes than any other people—and they burn them down faster than any dozen nations on the earth. Prevention is a personal responsibility. Why not accept it now?

Open House Will Launch New Golden State So. L.A. Offices

Amid the progressive stir of the fast-growing South Los Angeles community, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company will present to the public its new South Los Angeles district office at 11025-27 South Avalon boulevard Sunday, Sept. 14, between 1 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Special plans for the festivities have been completed under the direction of Southern Regional Supervisor Lonzie Jones and District Manager Johnnie L. Cochran. Led by President Norman O. Houston, executive officers from the company's home office, policyowners and staff members will take part in the open house activity. Refreshments will be served.

The South L. A. office of the firm was first opened on Monday, August 11, and features a spacious lobby for the reception of policyowners and a large working area for agency forces.

The clean, typically California design was developed by two of the firm's own young career men, Leonard Grimes, office services supervisor, and Martinez Hewlett, methods analyst. Designed for growth, a tree motif is carried throughout the office with lobby paneling done in etchwood of natural satin finish. A specially designed claims area is divided from the front office by fluted-structo-glass dividers. Planter boxes inside and outside the office give it a feeling of freedom. In the agents' working area, plenty of leg and working room has been allowed.

Conveniences particularly important to policyowners include the large uncongested parking area available at the South Avalon address and the fact that there is bus service to the door.

Astonishing growth of the population and development of business enterprises in the South L. A. community caused the insurer to seek larger quarters for its 35 field representatives and office force. The move to larger quarters by the district recalls that the area was first opened by the company as a debit 14 years ago with only one agent, serving the area. It was just seven years ago in 1945, however, that the first district office was opened in the territory.

Dr. Roy Kingsley, Korean Veteran, To Open Office

Dr. Roy E. Kingsley, M.D., recently returned from duty with the Medical Corps of the 2nd Division Infantry in Korea, announces the entering of medical practice at 54th and Broadway on September 15. His offices will be in the new Medical Center, and he will be associated with Dr. George McLeod and Dr. William Bailey.

Dr. Kingsley is a graduate of Fisk University and Meharry Medical College. His postgraduate training was in internal medicine at University of Southern California. Prior to entry into Armed Services in 1950, he was engaged in private practice in the Watts Area, and was a school physician for the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Dr. Kingsley is the son of Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Kingsley of this City, and serves as staff member of Temple Hospital and Mt. Sinai Clinic. He is a member of Los Angeles County Medical Society.

Smog Control

Continuing his intensive program to improve the health and safety of residents of this area, Councilman Kenneth Hahn has called upon the city government to reduce smog by controlling the hours of industrial incinerator burning in areas adjacent to residential districts.

Hahn introduced a resolution in the City Council which would eliminate all-day-long burning in industrial incinerators in these areas.

Probe Asked Of Florida Posse Death

NEW YORK—Governor Fuller Warren of Florida was asked to investigate the shooting and killing of James Sullivan by a deputized posse in a Florida swamp on August 23. The request came from the NAACP.

Referring to newspaper accounts in which Sullivan was described as a suspected rapist, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, indicated in a wire to Gov. Warren that the "only identification of Sullivan yet reported is that alleged rapist wore straw hat and Sullivan were a straw hat."

Marshall called the coroner's jury verdict of justifiable homicide "excessively speedy" and urged the Florida governor to have his office conduct an independent investigation to determine whether the killing was justified or whether Sullivan was a "murder victim under the guise of lawful police action."

In the meantime, the NAACP has initiated its own probe of the situation through Reverend V. E. Hilsman of Dothan, Ala., which is about 35 miles from Chipley, Fla., scene of the shooting. Thus far Rev. Hilsman has been able to ascertain that James Sullivan was an alias and that the dead man previously went by the name of James Couch, also an alias. Persons in the area told the NAACP investigator that the man had a "bad reputation" and that he was heard to say in Chipley that he "would not be taken alive."

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

No Fuss When Negroes Enter Cairo Schools

CAIRO, Ill.—The opening day of school in this Southern Illinois city saw 60 Negro pupils attending formerly all-white elementary, junior high and high schools last Tuesday without incident.

The scene was in vivid contrast to the violence and terror launched when Negro parents tried to enter their children in these schools last January.

Admission of the children to the schools nearest their homes without regard to race is the result of a concerted drive by the Cairo branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Last January, only 21 of 84 Negro pupils who sought transfers to "white" schools were granted transfers, and these only after cross burnings and bombings were used in an attempt to terrorize Negro citizens.

Local NAACP leaders active in the anti-segregation drive, and Field Secretaries June Shagaloff and Lester Bailey, were arrested and charged with "conspiring" to jeopardize the life and health of these Negro children by "forcing" the transfers.

The case against the NAACP officials was dropped, and, following suit brought by the association, state funds were withheld from Cairo schools so long as the segregation continued.

Killer Found

Nora Holland, of the same address, with whom he had been living but who had decided to leave him.

He gave 50c to the taxi driver she had called and tried to force entry into Mrs. Holland's room. When she refused to open the door, he kicked it in and began beating her.

The quarrel became furious, and Armstrong and his wife, Mrs. Laura M. Armstrong, who is Mrs. Holland's sister, came from a nearby room and attempted to intervene.

McDade then, according to the report, got his single barrel shotgun. When she saw what was happening, Mrs. Holland threw a flat-iron at her lover.

It was then that the fatal shot was fired. McDade apparently aimed it at Mrs. Holland and it ripped open her fore-arm. Part of the shot is reported to have hit Mrs. Armstrong and the rest is said to have landed in Armstrong's stomach.

The two women were treated at Georgia Street Receiving hospital and later transferred to General hospital.

Dixie Negroes Urged to Vote For Democrats

Atlanta, Ga. — Three Atlanta University and Moorehouse College teachers, after analyzing the political parties and candidates, have advised Southern Negro voters to cast their ballots for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket next November. They made a point-by-point comparison of the major parties.

Dr. L. D. Reddick and Prof. C. A. Bacote of Atlanta University and Dr. Robert H. Brisbane of Morehouse College, in a joint statement, say that the current presidential campaign will be closely contested in the South and that this is the time for the Southern Negro voter to make his vote count. "It is natural that in a part of the country where, very often, we have to wade through a mass of obstructions and booby traps in order to discharge our citizenship duties that Civil Rights should be the paramount issue," they declare.

In a two-page "open" letter that is being sent to all Democratic, Republican and independent political organizations of Negroes in the Deep South, the educators add up the pros and cons of "a difficult choice" between the Eisenhower-Nixon and the Stevenson-Sparkman tickets. It is estimated that there are approximately 1,000,000 registered Negro voters in the South and in a close contest this vote may prove decisive.

Balance Records

The Republicans were credited with including Negroes in their delegations from the Deep South to their National Convention and permitting Negroes to play a more prominent role in the Convention and party organizations. In contrast, say the professors, "Not a single Negro delegate was included in those delegations that were seated in the Democratic convention from the Deep South."

On the other hand, the three historians and political scientists say that the Democratic platform is "unquestionably stronger" than the Republican on Civil Rights; and that Stevenson, as Governor of Illinois, has a "much better" record for equal rights than has Eisenhower as a military leader. The Governor has consistently opposed racial segregation and discrimination whereas the General, a few years ago, favored segregation in the Armed Forces and today leans towards States Rights.

Both Senator Nixon and Senator Sparkman, the candidates for the vice-presidency, are declared to have "bad voting records" on Civil Rights legislation, but the Democratic nominee, Sparkman, is judged to have the better chance of becoming a "true liberal" if and when he is elected to office by the entire nation and not by a State where Dixiecrat elements are strong.

The professors applaud a third party for nominating a Negro woman, Mrs. Charlotta Bass, as its candidate for the vice-presidency, but believe that a vote for a third party this year is a vote "thrown away."

Urban League Hears Notables

Speaking before the National Urban League conference Sept. 4, Winthrop Rockfeller emphasized that psychological barriers are the chief obstacles in the Negro's path to equality of opportunity.

Rockefeller is chairman of the league's Commerce and Industry council.

Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., cautioned the conference that publications must, in the public interest, "maintain an objective position in printing news."

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, one of the most highly respected authorities on race tensions and their causes told the league that the two major political parties must be made to understand that gradualism is not acceptable to the mass of Negroes suffering under the yoke of a double standard for white and dark citizens. Dr. Tobias, who was a member of the U. S. delegation to the sixth United Nations General Assembly, recounted portions of his conversations with Russia's foreign minister, Vishinsky.

Controversy

Most telling of his revelations was the conversational exchange which included Dr. Tobias' observation to the Soviet "VIP" that "American Negroes are, however, free to protest bad laws" and that Russian citizens are denied such freedom.

Industrial leaders told the conference that the price of racial and religious prejudice is too much for this nation to bear.

The National Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security also had a message for the Urban League. Spokesman A. W. Motley, assistant director, told the delegates that "the workers themselves deserve the greatest credit" for the breakdown of longstanding prejudices. Organized fighters for equality may, he averred, persuade employers to use minority workers but, unless workers deliver—a little better than majority group employes—the employer will not be sold on hiring other nonwhite workers in quality jobs.

'Porgy' Scores Rare Triumph In Vienna Debut

VIENNA, Austria—"Porgy and Bess," saga of Catfish Alley played to European audiences by an all-Negro cast, scored a sensational triumph in its continental debut in Vienna Sunday night.

The cast, including William Warfield, Leontyre Price and Cab Calloway, was cheered to the rafters. The audience included President Theodor Koerner, Chancellor Leopold Figi and Foreign Minister Karl Grumer.

The European showing of the opera dealing with Negro life in Charleston, S. C. was sponsored by the State Department in an attempt to convince Europeans that Negroes do have opportunities for achievement in artistic circles.

Official sponsorship, however, has brought forth a lot of criticism, most of it discreet and not widely publicized.

There is the criticism of the diehards, who want to ignore the Negro role in American life.

There is, secondly, the accusation that the propaganda is a sham and that despite the fact that some Negroes do make the grade in the United States, the life of a Negro actor on stage, screen or radio is a tough, heartbreaking up-hill climb, a constant battle against prejudice and discrimination.

Then there are the objections of still a third group who say that because of the nature of its material the George Gershwin opera will do the United States more harm than good abroad. "Porgy and Bess" portrays Catfish Alley Negroes as poverty-stricken, tattered, superstitious people, some of whom are criminals.

In Europe, the argument runs, this portrayal will certainly confirm reports that not all Negroes in the United States are college graduates.

Despite the criticism, the opera is now on the boards. And if Vienna is any indication, European audiences will lap it up.

Eagle Gives School Info To Kids – Warns Drivers

With the annual back-to-school trek in high gear the California Highway Patrol, has announced that officers are ready to cite drivers who ignore the flashing red lights on school buses.

While the red lights are flashing, all vehicles meeting or overtaking a school bus from either direction on the same roadway must come to a full stop and remain standing until the lights go out.

"If motorists won't believe that their carelessness could kill or injure a child, they can believe that violation of this school bus law will definitely net them a ticket," he concluded.

Summer vacation is over for some 400,000 Los Angeles children Monday, September 15, with 475 city schools reopening after nearly three months of inactivity.

Teacher shortages continue to hound Assistant Superintendent William B. Brown and his personnel staff. Approximately 1600 new teachers are needed for the opening day of school for expansion, replacements for teachers retired or resigned, and the reduction of the norm in schools where classrooms are available.

Disaster Drills

"Disaster drills should be conducted with the same regularity that fire drills are conducted in the schools of California," said Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, state director of Civil Defense, during this week's (September 15) state-wide broadcast of the State Office of Civil Defense. "Everything possible should be done to eliminate fear and avoid panic."

Editorial

You Surprise Us, Mr. Nixon

Senator Richard Nixon, who seems to be enjoying his role as the running mate of General Eisenhower, was stumping in New England last week and seized the occasion to paint himself as quite a defender of civil rights.

Those of us out here in California who know the senator best have a right to exhibit a little surprise at his newly found concern over our rights and liberties.

He says that he is all-out to end segregation in the nation's capital but the record shows that he had hardly got to the House of Representatives before he teamed up with the Dixiecrats to restore to the House Rules Committee the power to say what legislation should reach the floor.

Now we knew and Mr. Nixon knew and the Dixiecrats knew that the real reason for restoring that power to the Rules Committee was to clothe it with the power to bottle up all civil rights legislation. And we know and he knows and the Dixiecrats know that no civil rights legislation, including legislation to end Jim Crow in the nation's capital, will ever reach the floor while the House Rules Committee retains that power. Having killed the victim he is now going around saying that he didn't know the gun was loaded. The victim is still dead.

The record is so eloquent of Senator Nixon's opposition to a federal FEPC that he sought to alibi for it by saying that the problem is one for the states. That sounds fair enough until we resort to the record on that score. That record will show that Mr. Nixon was a bitter end opponent of FEPC when it was on the state ballot in 1946. He spoke against it, and worked against it and fought against it. And he has never uttered a word in favor of any state action for fair employment in California.

The plain, simple truth is that Senator Nixon has a shabby record on civil rights. He has been the errand boy for the California State Chamber of Commerce, the real estate lobby and the Associated Farmers and he has kowtowed to their every whim and caprice on the subject of civil rights. And they're all bitter end, die hard opponents of FEPC.

We suggest that when the senator gets through beating his breast in New England about his love for civil rights he come on back home and explain to those of us who are his present constituents why his bad record is so far out of line with his fine words. Could it be he's just looking for votes?

Eisenhower on Civil Rights

Although Gen. Dwikht D. Eisenhower took his battle for the presidency to the South last week where the civil rights issue is the hottest, he devoted less time to that issue than to any other topic in the GOP platform.

While he was assuring his enthusiastic Southern audiences that he liked the sound of rebel yells and dwelling at length on his own Southern associations and backgrounds, he made only two oblique references to race.

He told a Tampa, Fla., audience that "unless we protect the rights of your neighbor, whatever the color of his skin, we are going to lose our own rights." He reminded a Little Rock, Ark., gathering that the statement about equality in the Declaration of Independence did not assert equality for persons of any particular race or color and said that equality must be made a fact.

In none of his speeches on the Southern tour did Eisenhower make any specific mention of FEPC, the poll tax, or the abolition of segregation in the District of Columbia.

Back at Chicago to address a group of Republican office seekers, General Eisenhower said that he "would search for merit wherever it is" and "would like very much to" find a Negro worthy of appointment to the cabinet.

His statement, made in response to an inquiry by Edgar Brown, Republican aspirant for Rep. William Dawson's congressional seat, was:

"With respect to the appointment of a Negro to any place, I would say this:

"I will search for merit wherever it is. I will search for qualifications needed to serve the United States well and if, in a particular field, you can find someone whose appointment would give reassurance to the great body of Negro men, I should like very much to do such a thing.

"Make no mistake; I said Negro men. I meant it in the generic sense; the Negro race."

Meanwhile the General continued to oppose federal action on fair employment practices legislation and to insist that it is a matter for the states. He told NAACP administrator Roy Wilkins last week that he did favor the appointment of a commission which would find the facts and recommend action to the states.

Eisenhower's running mate, campaigning in New England, accused his Democratic opponent, Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama, of playing a "curious civil rights tune on opposite sides of the Mason-Dixon line." He said that Gov. Adlai Stevenson was also guilty of a "cynical swindle" on civil rights.

As presiding officer of the Senate, in the event of his election, Nixon said he would encourage such broad civil rights measures as an anti-lynch law, repeal of the poll tax and an end to segregation in the District of Columbia. He told a press conference that he opposed, however, a Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission, since he deemed that field to be a matter for the individual states.

Nixon added that he also would fight for an end to filibustering by supporting an amendment to the closure rule limiting Senate debate by calling for a majority vote of 49 members, instead of two-thirds.

The Birds, The Bees and FEPC

The Los Angeles Times annihilated the case for an FEPC last week by the simple expedient of pretending that fair employment legislation requires employment of a percentage of persons of so-called minority groups and then asking the rhetorical question as to whether or not any employer should be required to hire his workers on such a basis. The answer was an obvious no.

Surely even the editorial writers at the Times must know that no FEPC anywhere ever required any employer to hire any member of any racial or religious group. What such legislation does do is to forbid the employer to draw racial or religious lines in employment.

It simply says to him that where a qualified applicant presents himself for a job the employer must not disqualify that person on the ground that he is a Negro or a Jew or a person of Mexican or Oriental descent.

The Times has taken last week's tack so often that we're almost persuaded that no amount of reading of FEPC legislation will ever convince it that it misinterprets such laws. We do hope that some day the writer of these editorials can find time to drop in at the Mirror—the Times' little sister right across the runway from its office—and get a briefing on the matter.

We don't know where the Mirror stands at the moment but we do remember that when an FEP ordinance was before the City Council the Mirror editorial writers understood what was involved and came out in support of the ordinance. We think it is about time that somebody told the Times' editorial staff about the birds and the bees and FEPC.

Battle Axe & Bread

I see where Archibald MacLeish, Harvard professor and former long-haired favorite of the Roosevelt war-time administration, is supposed to have contributed to preparing the speech that Adlai Stevenson delivered to the American Legion convention recently in New York City. Press reports state that after the Democratic candidate got through changing the prepared draft, not much of the MacLeish contribution remained.

That is easy to believe—not only that MacLeish was called upon for assistance, but also that whatever he offered was radically altered in the final draft. For the Madison Garden address of Governor Stevenson was remarkable for the forthrightness of its language, and I, for one, would find it hard to believe that anything so honestly forthright ever come from the pen of the distinguished Harvard professor and poet.

Over-rated

Archibald MacLeish is reputed to be quite a man at phrase-making, but the one experience along that line that I have ever had with him makes me suggest that the gentleman is very much over-rated. And I am sure that those New Yorkers who attended the 1941 dinner of the National Urban League heartily agree with me in this evaluation.

The clouds of war were drifting in rapidly from the East and the West. President Roosevelt had alerted the country to the presence of an extreme emergency. Defense production was called our "all-out effort to survive."

In spite of the fancy words of the Roosevelt Administration and the first of coming hundreds of billions of dollars to be spent on war-making, Negroes were excluded from job participation in the "defense effort" almost as rigidly as if there were some law against their helping to save their country. And their efforts to join various branches of the armed services were contemptuously rebuffed.

Communists were, of course, making hay with this kind of situation—making hay, that is, until their Mother Russia was attacked and they began to give all to save precious Papa Stalin.

Expected Aid

The National Urban League invited Archibald MacLeish to speak at our annual dinner for two reasons. He was widely esteemed as a "powerful liberal influence" in the Roosevelt Administration; he was then "fresh news" as a speaker, having been recently transferred from his post as librarian of Congress to a job directing this government's propaganda efforts. We felt that he could make some propaganda for us on this occasion by calling attention to the criminal folly of excluding Negroes from the defense program.

The MacLeish appearance was a dismally-wet flop. He came to the meeting with all kinds of elegant language and a softly purring voice. He talked about Beauty and Liberty and Freedom and God and Nation; he talked about everything except the subject he had been asked to discuss.

He steered away from the nasty topic of racial discrimination as if he were a small boy being hustled away from a small-pox-quarantined home. He left the dinner early and scurried back to Washington to make some more propaganda for the Administration.

Flunked Badly

The dinner audience sat flabbergasted after he finished. They couldn't believe that any speaker with the MacLeish responsibility and prestige could flunk so badly on such an occasion—but he had!

Fortunately for the meeting's success, Roy Wilkins, assistant executive of the NAACP, had been invited to be the other principal speaker. He performed magnificently, making the speech that MacLeish was afraid to make, and saying things that warned the American public and heartened the dinner meeting.

I have heard Roy Wilkins many times before and since that occasion, but never was I so impressed with his eloquence, wisdom and courage as when he stepped into the breach that Archibald MacLeish had deserted and made the denunciation of racial bigotry in a nation preparing against war.

You may get the idea that I like Roy Wilkins; I do. You may also get the idea that I don't get enthusiastic about Professor MacLeish; I don't.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

The treatment of Negroes in the Southern United States is far worse than that of non-whites in South Africa.

Who could make such a statement? Why, a politician, of course. He is Dr. Daniel F. Malan, Prime Minister of South Africa, and at the present time the world's leading preacher of white supremacy.

Talmadge a Child

When it comes to teaching white supremacy Herman Talmadge of Georgia is a child compared to Malan. For one thing, of course, Herman has countless examples right under his nose from morning until night providing that Negroes are NOT inherently inferior to whites. Malan does not have so many examples, but he has a few and he knows something of what is taking place in the rest of the world so he is waging a desperate fight to keep it from happening in South Africa.

It is too bad that our American Negroes do not know more about South Africa and the way it treats its natives. God knows the American southern states are not a Heaven for dark-skinned people, but they are so far ahead of South Africa that argument on the point is almost silly.

Can't Vote

Practically no natives vote in South Africa. The colored people there (the mulattoes) have had the vote up to this summer, but now it has been taken away. In contrast, in Dixie, more than a million Negroes will vote in the November election.

White southerners are still threatening, beating, tricking, and even shooting Negroes in some sections who try to register and vote, but year by year more and more are voting. Negroes have been elected to the legislature in Kentucky, a southern state, and in Missouri, a border state. They have run for office in a number of states including Virginia, North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee, and Texas; and they have been elected in several instances to city councils and school boards, and to justice of the peace posts.

There just isn't any comparison, politically, between the American South and South Africa on the Negro. South Africa stands today where the American South stood 70 years ago. We are that far ahead.

Reservations

In most of the South there is residential segregation, but there are numerous places where Negroes and whites live side by side. There are Galveston and San Antonio, Tex. Also Charleston and Sumter, S. C. Also Raleigh, N. C. and Muskogee, Okla. and Leesburg, Va., where Gen. George C. Marshall, one of America's most prominent men, lives across the street from Negro neighbors.

There is nothing like this in South Africa, nothing that even faintly resembles it. The natives are kept by strict laws and by brutal police patrols in reservations containing some of the world's worst slum housing. No native may move around without carrying and showing on demand five or six different kinds of passes.

Big Lie

As far as employment is concerned, South African natives are restricted by law, not by custom merely, to certain occupations. In our South Negroes by custom are barred from certain jobs, but they are hammering away and constantly improving their lot. Anyone who thinks they are not doing well needs only to visit the South and see their homes, their automobiles and their farms and businesses.

Prime Minister Malan is telling a big lie when he says his natives are treated better than Negroes in the American South. He is deceived by the complaints of American Negroes. We do complain and we do fight for better and better treatment, but our complaints are that we must have equality according to the American standard, not the standard of some other country. We don't love Mississippi, but no Negro who lives there would trade it for the life of a native in South Africa under Malan.

POETS CORNER

THE GREAT CREATION

By Joseph Alvin Johnson

God looked out in space to shout,
A command so loud and clear;
And the flame that appeared in his hand so dear
And created this huge old world,
He looked at his creation with great imagination,
And gave the world a man;
Adam was the man that God did plan,
To father the mighty man.

KILLING THE GOOSE!

ON THE BOOK SHELF

With the presidential election campaign starting up in high gear, all we are likely to hear throughout the autumn are political arguments. Your public library urges you not to forget to register and cast your vote in November. You will enjoy seeing an exhibit at Central Library on this important theme. But besides voting, it is essential to be informed on the issues of the campaign. The books that follow will help clarify your understanding of the political situation. We begin with the two candidates, not, however, in the order of either our own preferecne or the way we predict they will finish the race—to play it safe, we present two recent books on the presidential aspirants alphabetically by their titles.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON OF ILLINOIS, by Noel F. Busch.

As you prepare to vote in November, you may welcome an introduction to the Democratic nominee. This biography is designed to be just that. Half of the volume is devoted to a candid but friendly evaluation of the background of the Governor of Illinois, the other half to extensive quotations from his most significant messages. Here, based largely on his own words, is an illuminating picture of a presidential candidate, and of his character and convictions.

MAN FROM ABILENE, by Kevin McCann.

If you "like Ike," or even if you don't, you will enjoy this up-to-the-minute biography of the Republican candidate. Written by a former assistant, it emphasizes the turbulent years after 1940, the war era, his career at Columbia University, and his return to Europe to direct the activities of SHAPE. Based largely upon quotations from Eisenhower's own writings, this is a portrait of the man himself, of his principles and attitudes, his hopes and his ideas.

THE FUTURE OF AMERICAN POLITICS, by Samuel Lubell

Especially timely is this careful analysis of presidential voting of the past fifty years. The author's thesis that a new realignment of our political forces is underway and discussion of such topics as the "battle for the farm vote" makes fascinating reading as Eisenhower and Stevenson attempt to win over the farmers in such important states as Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Iowa.

CONGRESS AT WORK, By Stephen K. Bailey.

Our chief governing body, probably the most complex and certainly one of the most important legislative bodies in the world, is closely scrutinized in this study of American politics and government. Congressional functions are interestingly described, with particular attention given to such vital topics as patronage, lobbies, taxation and foreign affairs. Of special interest are detailed accounts of the election of a Senator and two Representatives and the story of just what Congressmen do "on the job." Names and situations are up-to-date and specific.

State AFL Backs FEPC, Attacks Bias

SANTA BARBARA—A flat and unequivocal declaration that the American Federation of Labor is opposed to "all forms of discrimination on the basis of race" by all types of organizations, including labor unions, was presented to the 50th annual convention of California AFL. Thomas Pitts, state president, called it the strongest position ever taken by a major body of the Federation.

The program, drawn by the state executive council, leads off with the flat declaration that the AFL "opposes all forms of discrimination on the basis of race, religion or nationality, whether it be in employment, military service, housing, schools, use of public facilities or in membership of all types of organizations, including labor unions."

To carry out the worker rights portion, the AFL "urges that fair employment practices commissions, with enforcement powers, be established by presidential executive order, by federal and state legislation, and by local ordinance."

These are both strong positions, probably more clearly defined than ever before. But an even stronger stand is taken on the general topic of civil rights in the defense effort against Communism.

Dr. Selby Mourned

Funeral services were held for Dr. John G. Selby, who died at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital early Thursday morning, Aug. 28, at the Roberts' Funeral Home, Monday, Sept. 8.

Dr. Selby was born in San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 13, 1884. He was graduated from the School of Medicine at Meharry in 1912. He practiced medicine in San Antonio until 1921, then opened offices in Santa Barbara, Calif. Later he came to Los Angeles where he practiced medicine for several years. At one time Dr. Selby was the owner of three drug stores here.

DR. JOHN G. SELBY

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sadie Selby; two stepdaughters, Paulette and Jeanne; two sisters, Mrs. Ethel S. Leonard and Mrs. Belle S. Leonard of San Antonio; three nieces, Mrs. Ethel Williams of Columbus, Miss., Mrs. Evelyn James and Mrs. Adelia Leonard Smith of Chicago; and a nephew, Lester S. Leonard of Los Angeles.

The body was shipped to San Antonio accompanied by the widow, daughter Paulette, and sister Mrs. Belle S. Leonard, who arrived in Los Angeles the Saturday preceding the funeral. Services were conducted in San Antonio Friday at St. Paul's Methodist church with interment at City Cemetery No. 1.

When James C. Nelson departed this vale of tears last week, a fine gentleman and a true sportsman passed from the scene. Nelson never was an athlete, the dapper little fellow weighing about 100 pounds dripping wet, but he was a keen student of sports and the kind of supporter who is necessary for a successful sports program.

Nelson was affectionately called "Champ" by his multitude of friends, and he proved himself a real champion during the five years of his illness. He was treated by a local doctor for a sore throat for six months, when he decided to see a specialist and discovered he had cancer of the throat.

JAMES C. NELSON

The last two years of his life he was constantly suffering from intense pain. Many times his friends thought he was down for the count, but he always rallied and would join the gang in the lobby of the Dunbar Hotel for a sports session.

Nelson was born in Brenham, Tex., April 28, 1882. He watched Jack Johnson grow up as a dock walloper in Galveston and saw many of his first fights. The genial owner of the Dunbar Hotel was a close follower of the boxing dodge and saw almost every championship fight since the turn of the century.

He was one of the first to tab Henry Armstrong as a winner, and saw the flaw in John Thomas' style when Thomas was to battle Enrique Bolonas. "Champ" took a drive up to John's training camp at Soper's ranch and told all the boys when he came back that John was a sucker for a right hand. Events proved him so very true.

Nelson worked at almost everything there was possible to do in his lifetime, and it was always a treat to sit around the Dunbar and listen to his experiences.

A dapper dresser of the old school, Nelson sported silk shirts and high collars with studs and cuff links on occasion. He liked to play billiards, and was a good player.

But the one thing Nelson loved to do above all was to argue and talk about sports. He kept all sorts of record books and clippings and was the judge in many a bet.

He knew baseball from A to Z and his predictions at the beginning of the season were uncannily accurate.

When he lost his voice due to an operation, this didn't stop him. He could write almost as fast as he could talk and never was out of a good sports discussion.

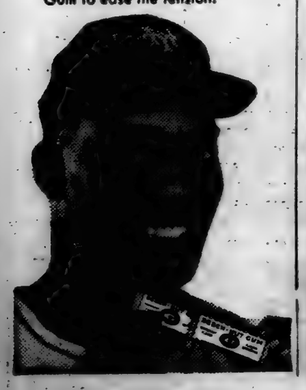
He made his money in Chicago and Detroit, pulled out of the messy business and bought the Dunbar Hotel in 1936. He made it a national institution.

The "Champ" is gone, but he was a champion to the end.

P.S.: When Nelson checked out, he canceled about $40,000 worth of debts. Almost everybody on the Coast had been befriended by him at one time or another. He was that kind of guy.

Dallas Texans Route 'Skins 27 to 14

SAN ANTONIO—Bullet Bob Celeri, Dallas Texans' quarterback, passed his team to a 27-14 victory over the Washington Redskins in a National Football League exhibition game.



Celeri's passes included a 19-yarder to Dan Edwards, 33 yarder to Don Wilkins and he ran the third over a 8 yard sprint.

George Taliaferro flipped an 8-yard pass to speedy Buddy Young for the final score. A crowd of more than 19,075 fans saw the game.

"Ease the tension with BEECH-NUT GUM!"

says MONTE IRVIN

"I've read that scientists at a leading university have proved that chewing Beech-Nut eases tension. Every ball player knows how true that is. Most fellows I know chew through nine innings! In fact, I've noticed that any kind of a job—including snagging long flies—calls for Beech-Nut Gum to ease the tension."

Texas Pitcher Nabs 20th Win

DALLAS—Smooth sailing Dave Hoskins, Dallas Sepia pitching sensation, notched his twentieth league win by shutting out Fort Worth, 3-0.

Hoskins not only holds the distinction of being the first Negro to play in the Texas loop. He also become the first 20-game winner.

The big right hander brought the attendance for 31 games in which he saw action to 173,972, an average of 5,612 per game.

His remarkable box office appeal is almost twice the average of 2,381 for the league. Hoskins is the prize package of the Cleveland Indians.

Chu Chu vs. Chavez

Veteran Carlos Chavez and Chu Chu Jimenez will face each other in the rubber match. Both boys boast wins over each other in two rip-snorting bouts. The boys will go postward at the Olympic this Tuesday night and even the ring post may go in this one. Come early and leave your hat at home.

Sepia Players Leave Japan Baseball Club

The first American Negro players ever to play professional baseball in Japan are coming home this month. They are infielder John Britton and Pitcher Jim Newberry, who joined the Pacific League last May. Newberry, a third baseman for the sixth place Braves, batted .320 for the season, while Newberry had a pitching record of ten victories and seven losses.

Young Olympic Titlist In Pro Ring Debut

Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old Brooklyn boxer who won the middleweight championship at the Olympic games at Helsinki, will make his professional debut Friday.

Patterson will face Eddie Godbold in the semi-final of the St. Nicholas Arena under the Harold Green, Sammy Giulani card.

SPORTS Eagle

DEFENSE DUTIES are assigned to Pasadena's brilliant ball-packing halfback, Addison Hawthorne who will be the first sepia player to wear a Trojan uniform in 22 years. The last was Brice Taylor rated as an all time Trojan great.

WESTSIDE MAY GET MODERN NEIGHBORHOOD BOXING GYM

By Edward "Abie" Robinson

Boxing may get its biggest shot in the arm on the Westside, the side of town that produced such stellar ring battlers as Jackie Wilson, Harold Dade, Henry Roberts and hosts of others.

Arnold Hoffman, boxing manager of the La Broi twins and Sammy Saunders, is thinking seriously about converting the back yard of his Jefferson and Arlington street business into a neighborhood gym.

The spacious back yard can easily be equipped to handle 25 to 50 boxers. The gym will strictly put emphasis on boxing and teaching of youngsters who would like to take up the trade.

Hoffman pointed out that boxing is down to a low ebb because no one is interested in developing the wealth of talent in Los Angeles. "There are easily three times as many kids interested in becoming boxers today than 10 years ago, but where can they go to learn?" said Hoffman.

The boxing fans are always looking for a Louis, Armstrong or Ray Robinson. A gym on the Westside could be the start of the boxing boom in Los Angeles.

Gil Turner Loses Bout

Gil Turner, the fifth ranking welterweight in the nation, suffered his second setback in 34 bouts. His first loss was an 11th round knockout at the hands of Kid Gavilan in a title setto.

Bobby Dykes, slender hard-hitting Texan, climbed off the floor in the fifth round to outpoint Turner in one of the best bouts of the year in Madison Square Gardens Friday.

The 23-year-old Dykes was trailing on the scorecards of the three officials going into the ninth round. He took over from the pace setter who became weary and won the last two heats by a wide margin. They are signed for a return bout within 40 days.

Walcott Tough In Drills, KOs Perry

Throwing a sharp left hook that did not travel more than six inches, Jersey JXoe Walcott knocked out Aaron Perry. It came in the third round of Walcott's sparring session in preparation for his title fight with Rocky Marciano at Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia, Sept. 23.

Walcott's sparmates include Oakland's Billy Smith, Billy Poza of Pitsburgh and Perry.

CYO Sounds Grid Call

Catholic Youth Organization parochial school football and volleyball leagues will begin play on Sept. 29, it was announced by Alec Shellogg, CYO athletic director.

Teams representing all Catholic grade schools are eligible to enter. Deadline for entry has been set for Sept. 22. The season will continue through Dec. 5. Play-offs will commence Dec. 9 and the annual awards rally will be held on Dec. 20.

Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion from Cincinnati, will meet Bernie Reynolds of Cliffside, N. J. in a 12-round bout in Cincinnati Oct. 8.

JEFF FOOTBALLERS IN FIRST DRILL MONDAY

Last years' city champions open their practice season next Monday, September 15, on Jeffersons' Fulton Field. About ninety candidates are expected to report to Coaches Mike Marienthal and Joe Barry. Most of last year's great team has graduated so there will be much work needed if Jeff is to have a chance to regain its Southern League crown and City laurels.

Every man on last year's first string is gone and with the ineligibility of Jesse Skaggs, Coach Marienthal has no real experienced hands returning. Mike Marienthal has said many times this summer that if the boys who do come out for the team have the desire and determination to do the job, Jefferson will have another team the school and community can be well proud of. Rebuilding a new team is an interesting experience and Jefferson is on the spot this year as all the other teams will be pointing to the Jeff clash.

Lettermen Return

Returning to the fold are two-year lettermen Willie McMahan, quarterback; Robert Chappell, guard; and one year lettermen, William Alston, end; Rudolph Lewis, end; Cornell Jackson, tackle; Willie Pennix, center; James Fennell, left halfback; and Harold Printers, fullback. Most of these boys are untried in competition but have much promise. In addition to the lettermen the following named boys are expected to show well: Lloyd Hooks, Vernon Potts, Victor Guidry, Willie Sanford, William Henry, Carl Thompson and Howard and Ernest Jones.

Sports Roundup

(California Eagle Exclusive)

CAL'S WILIAMS SHINES

BERKELEY.—If Slinging Sammy Williams, ex-L.A. Poly High all-city quarterback continues to sizzle and shine as he has during the first week drills it appears to me that it will be very unwise for Coach Papa Waldorf to let him limit his talents to only the defensive unit . . . From my observation, Sammy appeared to be the smoothest operator on the field, his emphatic ball handling and deceptiveness is sure to win him a lot of offensive time this year . . . I doubt very seriously if there is another northland sports scribe who will go along with me on the above statement, because most of them are booming Williams' top competitor Billy Mais as the best Qb prospect on the coast . . . By this I'm not trying to take anything away from Mais, by no means is he a slouch.

WILLIAMS THROWS STRIKES

Sammy as L.A. prep fans will remember, is long and lean and when he cocks back his arm to throw it's more than often a strike. It was this column conductor who made the prediction that UCLA's 52 blocking back would be Lewis "Hustler" Williams, erstwhile Jeff High lineman via ELAJC fullback fame. . . . At the present he's listed as the starter. . . . I might as well carry my prognosticating luck on a bit farther and say that Slinging Sammy should in the next two years develop into the greatest T-formation Qb on the coast since Oregon's Norman Van Brocklin, presently with the World Champion L.A. Rams, if he is given the chance. If the way Papa has been working him, more than occasionally, is any indication that he'll be given that chance, then the superlatives I've used without exaggeration should be given careful credence. . . .

THREE OTHER BEARS

Thelton Henderson, the speedy L.A. Jeff High all-city back in '50 should be a cinch to land on the Varsity squad, he's showing great promise in the ball carrying dept. and he's literally a demon on defense. Sammy Washington also a ex-Polyite isn't expected to make the big team this year but his chances for next year, after another campaign with the Cal Ramblers, should come to life . . . Don Wilson, Henderson's teammate at Jeff in '50 isn't officially enrolled, as of this writing, but he's out for the squad. He lettered at LACC last season. . . . Jerry Drew, highly publicized all-City back, co-player of the year at Jeff High last campaign is expected to check into camp this week with the other Frosh players.

BAY AREA NOTES

Herb Turner, Alameda High's sprint sensation in the state meet for the past two years, has abandoned the idea of turning to the grid sport in his last semester. . . . He's reported ticketed for one semester at West Constra Costa JC and then to a four year college. . . . Richmond High hopes to counter with Qb Renard Kepler and El Cerrito High hopes to do likewise with stellar end John Thomas and fullback R.B. King . . . UP AND DOWN THE COAST — Emery Barnes, 6ft-3in. 215 pounder '52 NCAA high jump king is expected to be a topflight defensive flankman for the Oregon Webfoots. . . . Emmett Williams veteran from last year's squad is listed as one of Oregon's top linebackers. . . . End, Howard McShants is reported back again to help the Washington State eleven try to get the trip to Pasadena.

MAJOR LOOP'S ROW

Four out of the past five years a Negro star has won the "Rookie of the year honors" in the National Loop—Robinson in '47, Newcombe in '49, Jethroe in '50, and Willie Mays in '51 . . . And now the experts are saying that the Dodger's fireman Joe Black has only Hoyt Wilhelm to beat to make it five out of six. . . . Incidentally the Sept. 3 edition of the Sporting News has a full page story on Black and a super article on Luke Easter. . . . Bucky Harris of the Nats declared the other day, commenting on Satch Paige, "I swear to God we'd win the pennant if we had him." The fabulous Dizzy Dean, and Professor Casey Stengel are two others who are praising SATCH as an all-time star. . . . That's Thirty!!

Fashions for Fall, Winter Will Be Sleek, Architecturally Precise

By Miriam Christian

The fashion news for fall and winter, 1952-53 will be made by sleek, smooth well-controlled contours, developed with architectural precision. The designer's pattern is, today, the blueprint of fashion.

The structure of the silhouette derives from three general forms: The slender proportions of the cylinder, the curved contours of the sphere and the concise outline of the triangle.

Fashion parlance uses more vivid terms for such technical forms. Thus, the cylinder is the wrapped coat, the sphere the pinched waist and rounded hips, the triangle the "tulip" or the full-length silhouette that broadens from slim shoulders.

Warm Tones

Colors swing to two extremes; at one end the warm and vibrant, at the other the neutral tones. Among the warm colors green is a new arrival. Red in its many shades has reached a high in popularity. Purple is coming to the fore.

Green is at its newest in a mellow shade that has an underlying golden tone. At times it shows the blackish undertones of the cypress.

Burgundy red is seen especially in velvets. The sharper shades of red streak through every style from street to evening costumes.

Purple with cold bluish shadows holds promise of recognition and, with the coronation looming, its future has a royal outlook. Blue in a subdued mood hits a minor key in the color scale.

Among the neutrals, the most far-reaching is camel. It has taken over the casual market and is seen as well in many a sophisticated style. Beige and gray repeat their previous successes, and there is much talk of brown in carnelian tones.

Deep Fabrics

Surface interest as found in fabrics is of paramount importance. The fabrics are fabulous. Woolens in deep tri-dimensional finish enhance coats and suits. Intricate in weave, they introduce a depth of tone caused by the mingling of yarns in two colors. Under the raised nubs or curls of bright red, blue or green may lie the shadow of black, thus emphasizing the bold relief of the pattern.

Short for Evening

For evening, the column-slim and the full-skirted gowns hold the center of the formal stage.

Most evening dresses are short. They may be sheath-slim or full-skirted, their length about twelve inches from the floor. A little more formal are the "waltz dresses," their swaying hems ankle level.

The little "mask" jacket, a tiny affair barely covering bosom and shoulders, which can be worn for many after-dark occasions, is a happy addition to the semi-formal costume.

Hats Dip Low

In millinery, the big fashion news of the moment is the hat that dips low at the back. Closely molded forms—the cloche, the helmet and the turban—repeat the molded look so evident in coat, suit and dress. Trim and sculptured heads will rise above the necklines hulking large with big collars or lying flat with the crispness of a cardigan line.

Clever manipulation gives the hats their shape and dash. While many fabrics are used for the new low-in-the-back forms, jersey is prevalent. The beaver felts contribute their share of surface interest.

Boxy Casuals

In casuals, camel is the outstanding color, the boxy topper, the sweater-type jacket and

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Hosts Its Grand Polemarch

Atty. Frank Summers of East St. Louis, Ill., and national president of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, his wife and son are spending a week in Los Angeles as the guests of the three chapters of Kappa Alpha Psi and friends of Los Angeles.

Attorney Summers was appointed a commissioner on the Court of Claims for the State of Illinois by Gov. Adlai Stevenson. He was the first member of his race to be appointed to this position in Illinois and was chosen from 30 candidates of other races.

Last Sunday evening the Kappas entertained and honored the visitors at a banquet given in the Kappa Kastle, clubhouse of the fraternity, situated on the corner of Hobart and W. 21st street.

Kappa wives, better known as the Silhouettes, prepared the dinner and entertained Mrs. Summers and other women guests with cards, television and light conversation while the national president took up official business with the local members of the fraternity. Earlier at the dinner, the Silhouettes presented charming Mrs. Summers with a lovely gift.

Since their arrival the visitors were shown high points of the city. On last Tuesday Attorney Summers and his family were taken to San Diego by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bradley, where they were entertained by the chapters there.

Attorney Summers addressed his fraternal brothers after the banquet. Just prior to their leaving for home Thursday afternoon, Summers was the guest of Leon W. Steward at Town Hall, Biltmore Hotel, where he heard and shook hands with his employer, the Democratic candidate, after Stevenson's address.

First of Picnic Series Will Assist Armstrong Foundation

The first of the annual series of picnics for the Henry Armstrong Youth Foundation will be held on Sunday, Sept. 21 at 3528 W. Adams Blvd. between the hours of 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The object of the Youth Foundation is to assist parents, communities and churches in their efforts to prevent juvenile delinquency through making available to the youth of our communities a program which embraces those types of activities in which all young people are interested, and at the same time to so organize these activities that the religious aspects of good living may be introduced into their thinking.

Permanent Home

The picnic is being given by the Youth Foundation to raise funds which will be used to purchase a permanent home. It is the Foundation's intention to secure as its home the building and grounds of the picnic site.

Assisting in the drive is the Better Foods Markets, who are contributing a large amount of food stuffs for lunches and soft drinks. Various disc jockeys and prominent figures of the entertainment world will be on hand with talent secured by them to appear at this special event.

Prizes have been donated by local merchants, and the admission price of one dollar will include chances on these prizes at the drawing which shall be held at the picnic site. These prizes are being displayed at the Better Food Markets this week.

Aids Dream

Ministers of many denominations have put their weight behind this movement to aid the long cherished dream of the Rev. Henry Armstrong, the little ex-world boxing champion who left his three simultaneous weight titles behind him to become a fighter for Christianity.

Henry Armstrong has visialized a series of branches of the Youth Foundation placed in suitable locations throughout the United States, and later to extend beyond its borders, to serve youth and help them with their many problems.

In this way Rev. Armstrong hopes to assist young people everywhere in their efforts to secure a full life based upon our democratic and religious principles. Any person wishing to give a donation to help bring this foundation its full realization may do so by sending his check, cash, or money order to the Henry Armstrong Youth Foundation, 4000 Woodlawn ave., Los Angeles 11, California. Phone ADams 3-2051.

Please do not give any donations to any one, unless shown a letter or card with the imprint of the organization seal.

Coed Preclass Cram Session

You'll be college bound in a matter of days. Do have a beautiful time. And for this cause, we offer a preclass cram session. It will not insure a Phi Beta Kappa key; but to our way of thinking, it's the bright girl who knows it's smart to be as pretty as she is profound. May a word to the wise be sufficient.

A brush in the hand is worth two in the bureau. A hairbrush wielded nightly means eye-catching gloss. A complexion brush used weekly helps keep blackheads and pimples at minimum. A hand brush used habitually averts grimy nails.

Chemistry I may not unearth any sure-fire love potions. But a small bottle of divine perfume can cast a spell. (Almost any man can be led by his nose.)

If the lad fits, adopt it. If not, leave it strictly alone. No need to resemble a sheep dog just because bangs are the current rage. Give campus fads a whirl in the privacy of your own boudoir. Let a frank mirror, calm judgment and an honest chum guide your decision.

Is your problem a weighty one? Even the shapeliest frosh has been known to wind up the year twenty pounds plumper! Be wary of between-meal soda-sunda-and-hot-dog orgies. Confine nibbling to the low-calorie vegetables and fruits—M.C.

Fashions For Fall Will Be Slim, Sleek

the Chesterfield, the outstanding styles.

The middy, with its easy waistline, takes an important place as does the "sweater look" emphasized by simulated or actual wool ribbing at neck and hipline.

The wide, open collar, knitted turtleneck bib and sweater gilet add interest to necklines.

Among fabrics, tweed holds the limelight for the coat-dress, wool jersey for the tucked or gathered one. Corduroys and velveteens are more versatile than ever. Separates abound for day and evening.

Much Costume Jewelry

Among the accessories, costume jewelry takes an important position. Attention focuses on the necklace which may be of the multiple-strand or bib type. Pearls or a combination of gold with colored beads are favored. Earrings are large; for evening, "chandeliers" are high style.

Handbags play a contrasting role. A smooth and polished leather should complement rough textured material. In reverse order the suit of smooth fabric can find its accessory note in a textured bag.

The season's concentration on fabric interest has brought forth a large variety of gloves in jersey, lightweight tweeds and knits, some plain, others patterned.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

The young couple from San Antonio (the Matthew Thomases) with whom I've been corresponding since the beginning of this column have now arrived in our lovely city. . . . They proved to be such charming people with two lovely (well-mannered) children. . . .

Through the competent brokerage of Travis Lott Realty, comfortable housing was awaiting them at 1738 W. 25th street. . . . Mr. Travis is on his way to getting a job—he is eligible for civil service transfer and the children are in time to enroll in school. . . .

Mrs. Thomas has been so grateful in her thanks . . . makes me feel I can be a real service in the community. Don't miss the next issue of the EAGLE or you may miss meeting this fine couple.

It is impossible to put into words the unusually exotic and intriguing fragrance of the colognes, sachets, deodorants, and perfumes exhibited at the GIFT HORN. . . . Betty Lee Edwards permitted me to sample all the fragrance and truly it was hard to choose. . . . I finally chose Black Magic (the $3.50 number in perfume—but worth every bit of it). The dark color makes it even more daring. . . .

I also wanted to take home at least two of those fine colognes . . . a choice again. Enticing and Bronze Lady in $1 (3 oz.). . . . Gotham and Sepia Lady in 1 oz. $2. . . . Inexpensive but not cheap. . . . Carver products. . . . Stop in and see for yourself. . . . The address is 3108 S. Western, two doors from the Medical bldg.

Parley-Vous francaise or Habla Usted espanol. . . . No savvy? Neither do I . . . but we can for a reasonable fee at Reginald Fisher's Studio, 2326 Wellington Road where languages are taught simply and can be learned easily.

Reginald Fisher, Ph.D., no less, applies that rule to all his instruction-music, Math, English or any academic subjects. Call PArkway 0128 and let him tell you how. . . .

MORE HAS BEEN ADDED to make the Sunday evenings at Club La Valle more interesting and enjoyable for its members. . . . Yes I said members only will be allowed into the special Club Room (after dinner hours,) from 10 p.m. UNTIL? . . .

IT'S located in the Alpha House, 2116 S. Western . . . food, refreshments, entertainment . . . Phone Charyty Jackson at the House RE. 9396 or home RE. 2-4721 for your membership and for dinner reservations any afternoon or evening. . . .

Jessie Mae Brown of the Sentinel, Miriam Christian of the Eagle and Laura Slayton, society leader, said the twin salads were DELICIOUS when they had lunch there on FRIDAY. . . . You should try the spot. Reminder: Let Miss Welcome serve you . . . call MA. 1129 and RE. 25798 or write 2245 W. 29th Street. [Adv.]

Pampering Your Eyes

You need good eyes that will see everything easily and accurately—catch an error, match a color, take a measurement; eyes that adapt to continuous use through all your waking hours — equal to the strain of close work and artificial lights—able to go on from work to a satisfactory evening.

Your eyes need all the pampering you can give them. Pampering and safeguarding. They're the only eyes you'll ever have. And in the "making friends and influencing" department they really count. A sparkle wins out over a frown any time.

You've heard the safety rules over and over again. But do you follow them? Remember to look up and away into the distance now and then, from reading to relaxing. Work in light that's well-diffused without glare or shadows. Never read microscopic type without a magnifying glass. Avoid strain in a dim or glaring light, or in a jiggling bus or train. Wear a visor, a brim or tinted glasses against bright sun. And keep to a minimum of eyestrain from night driving and TV viewing. Never let a well-meaning friend try to take a cinder from your eyes; any scratch can lead to infection. Better wash the eye clean with your own tears or with a mild solution of boric acid. If that fails, see an eye specialist.

You can relieve eyestrain at work by using eyedrops; by cupping your palms over both eyes and "seeing dark." When at home while you nap or bathe, wear eye pads, warm or cold. Warmth relieves tension; cold reduces swelling and inflammation. Day and night an eye cream smoothed gently into the skin will discourage fine lines.

For sparkle and strength, your eyes depend on a great number of health-making factors; on an every day quota of sleep and rest; on exercise and fresh air—a brisk half-hour walk every day, for example.

What you eat is reflected in the gleam of your eyes. You'll probably want to throw something if we remind you again that your meals should be well balanced with generous portions of greens and the dairy and whole-grain foods rich in vitamin A. But they should.

Above all, your eyes need periodic examinations by a specialist. These tests will prove whether your eyes are still efficient on their own, or if an added year or two has made a change in them that calls for correction. Optical records show that at thirty, forty-three per cent have faulty sight. At forty this figure has grown to forty-eight per cent. By fify it's sixty-one per cent—about six out of ten people! More than half of all office workers have some eye irregularity—V.P.

SISTERS FETE CONCERT STAR—Concert singer, Virginia Paris (shown extreme right, second row), was guest of honor at a buffet dinner party recently at 3019 S. Arlington avenue, co-hosted by three of her sisters, Mmes. Sally Bell, Boots Jones and Iola Selico. Among the fifty guests were (standing, back row), Ronald Russell, Dr. S. S. Heyliager, C. G. Carr, Gwendolyn Heyliager, Joseph Libscomb, Helen Rhambo, Albert McNeil, Jerry Cumber, Sr., Jerry Cumber, Jr. Second row: Lois M. Carr, Gertrude Finley, Paul and Stephen Finley, Mrs. Clarence S. Smith, Mrs. Winsor C. Jones, Mrs. Emma Campbell. Front row: Lillian Cumber, Sally Bell, Botts Jones and Iola Selico. Miss Paris leaves for Australia next week, where she will portray the role of "Bloody Mary" in one of the touring companies of "South Pacific."

'JAZZ' AT SHRINE FRIDAY NIGHT

HE HAS, everything, but character! He's got energy, ideas and initiative but can't be trusted. We are witnessing the downfall of a super salesman losing his word in the community not because he can't sell, but because he lacks loyalty and reliability.

STANFORD AVE., in the 12800 block through 13100, you will find some of your most solid citizens. The exterior of their homes as well as the interior denotes exceptional rare qualities of character of those who live there "Character," wrote Ralph Waldo Emerson, "is higher than Intellect." It is higher than many other things also, according to these wonderful people. THAT, Hillcrest landlord who is pawning himself off as a pretty clever businessman isn't fooling his tenants one bit by charging them $75 per month for a one bedroom affair. He is losing one of his best tenants because he charged him $2.00 for being three days late with his rent.

ANDREW DELANEY, with his familiar smile and easy manner caused this remak: "There goes a fellow that has a good word for everyone." Delaney toils daily at North America and singer Joyce Bryant is one of the sweetest things in his life. Other than his children.

ROSEMARY, pretty brownskin waitress and a bride of a half-year isn't the happy bride of yesterday. It seem that she isn't interested in her hubby's charms anymore. Could it be that he is punching somebody else's transfer? He operates one of the busses for the L.A. Transit Lines!

BOB HANNIBAL who teams with DUNBAR HUNT in tracking down Warrent Violators loves the Hot Rods. His 1933 job is slick as a pin and no doubt souped up to breeze at 100 mph.

HENRY FELTENBERG, just reopened the Club Savoy and is serving up the best suds in town. They are hoping to add spirits to the place in time. Helen Davis the famed interior decorator did the place over and her pretty brownskin daughter lends her charms to attract the Sunday night trade. Her terrific job could easily be what Henry needs behind the bar along with Bill Shores and John Taylor the male mixmasters.

DONNELL JOHNSON, known throughout the city as "The Fat Man" is very interested in saving you some loot. He is operating a first class washing machine service that will repair your damaged machine in expert manner. If you got one on the blink, give him a ring at Lafayette 7001. He'll do the job at a very low cost.

TOM BROWN dusted off the cob webs that had gathered in his whiskey cabinet and tossed a cocktail party Sunday eve. Some fifty peasants showed up and really had a nice time. We wonder if the guy was trying to prove a point to a very attractive lady by throwing the party. If so, she wasn't at the affair.

RED ON BLACK, seems to be the latest dye job being sported by a host of females with the hopes of improving their appearance. It's got them looking like something you wouldn't hang on your clothes line. Eugene Swayne our beauty hint columnist will gladly help advise you in selecting the right dye or fry.

NEEDS HELP, that swank club house that is situated at the foot of Mont Clair and W. Adams isn't getting the support it so badly needs. Rumors are that it will launch a membership drive at a 100 bucks a head which will entitle you to everything the club offers.

STUFFY BRYANT, is grabbing the show spot at Charley Foy Valley Supper Club. Last time Stuffy played the Valley club he was spotted at the closing and really knocked 'em out. This time his opening number and his hoofing got the show off to a fast start. Show goers are ravin' that Stuffy is the most sensational dancing star in 1952.

TOTAL LOSS, will be suffered by a Western Avenoo business office when they find out shortly their prize secretary will give up her job for another.

THE HAND, a South Los Angeles housewife was hauled into the courts by her hard working husband. He charges his wife forced him to wear gloves everytime he attempted to caress her. He works as an oil driller!

ELHIU McGEE, well-liked sportsman and cafe operator is beating the drums for Supervisor Roach's new man. J. Robert Smith. He says the community will yield great gains. He should know McGee is one of the few man we know that has a good word for everybody. He even had A. B. Clay, big time Central Avenoo barber listening as he roared about Smitty.

OSCAR MOORE, L.A.'s smooth operating Union Station Red Cap is pretty foxey with the golf club. He's been hitting at the prize money in four tourneys and is ripe for the jackpot.

THE TREND, of Negroes becoming better informed by reading the EAGLE was clearly evident in two South Los Angeles sections last week, when Abie Robinson talked with 25 citizens and 23 promised to start reading more. Funny thing reading can make the blind see, and we who can see the blind won't read!

BUNCHE GIRLS — are campus bound. The two daughters of illustrious Ralph the United Nations mediator. Charming Joan attends Vassar where she is a senior and sis Jane will enter Radcliffe, she is a junior.

CARNATION FRESH MILK'S, smooth talking Public Relation man Leon Hardwick is suspected of being much married. She is an attractive former Kansas City school teacher. Natch he's denying everything.

BIG JAY McNEELEY, goes into the Club Alabam this weekend. The big fellow with the good little blues band is coming off a successful tour of the California townships. He drew 1600 at Balboa last Saturday and crowded a likely number in such places as Glendale, Long Beach, San Pedro, and East Los Angeles.

NOLAN McCOY, the ever popular Red Cap had better stitch up those grey drapes before Joe (The Tailor) King, kidnaps him and makes him a new uniform.

THEATRE

THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE enters the blazing action of "The Ring," the King Bros.' sensation-packed drama, when Rita Moreno objects to the attentions shown Italo Rios by alluring Lillian Molieiri. The dynamic film opens soon at the RKO Hillstreet and Pantages Theaters and co-stars Rita Moreno, Italo Rios and Gerald Mohr. Kurt Newman directed. Teaming with "The Ring" will be "Cry, the Beloved Country," starring the late Canada Lee.

SMOOTH—Billy Eckstine, better known as Mr. "B", lends his precious "pipes" to Norman Granz' 'JAZZ AT THE PHILHARMONIC' Friday evening at the Shrine Auditorium and Saturday night in Long Beach, Calif.

Opera 'Aida' Opens Sunday In Windy City

The National Negro Opera Company Foundation, with Mary Cardwell Dawson, founder and producer, sponsored by the National Baptist Convention in honor of Dr. D. V. Jamison, president, presents Verdi's immortal opera, "Aida," with a cast of over 200 singers and actors in Chicago, at the Convention Hall 178th Armory, 3401 S. Wentworth avenue, Sunday evening, September 14, at 8:30 p.m.

In the cast are Geraldine Overstreet as Aida; Joseph Lipscomb as Radames; Lois Raye as Amneris; Robert McFerrin as Amonastro; Jackson Smith as Ramphis; Wilbur Davis as King; and Jeanette Groomes as High Priestess.

Silvio Insana of the Chicago Civic Opera is the conductor; Joseph Tesemer, stage director; and Omega King, assistant director.

Hines Talent Hunt Off Another Week

For a second week, the Earl "Fatha" Hines talent hunt at Club Oasis has been postponed because of a stiff union stipulation. AGVA (American Guild of Variety Artists) is putting the blocks on the project. The union wants the nitery to pay each artist who competes in the talent hunt $25 but the proposition has been flatly turned down.

The management at Club Oasis has attempted to negotiate with the union on two different occasions but to no avail. Now other methods for getting around the stipulation are being seriously considered. Something could develop within the coming week.

Meanwhile the Hines band is still holding forth on a stellar jazz program at the South Western night spot where dancing is now a popular and regular feature.

Betty Martina Dance Studio Begins Fall Registering Pupils

The Betty Martina Studio of Dance, 10302 Graham avenue, this week began registering pupils returning from vacation and new students in order to coincide the studio term with that of the public schools. Registrations will continue throughout next week, Miss Martina stated.

The Parents' Guild of the studio elected as its president Mrs. Naomi Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Millie Flynt; secretary, Mrs. Hortense Thompson; assistant secretary, Mrs. Maxine Gaines; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Gainey; and reporter, Mrs. Thelma Elliott.

Next meeting of the guild is September 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the school. A back-to-school party sponsored by the Southeast Parents' Guild was given for the children of the studio classes last Sunday afternoon at the home of Fred and Mrs. Hortense Thompson, 640 Hatchway street. The Thompson children, Diane and Brenda and Freddie and William acted as hosts to 34 of their subteen-age friends.

Tick Tockers Provoking Real Hobo Atmosphere

A real hobo jungle atmosphere was created by the Tick Tockers club for their end-o-summer activity "A Hobo Cookout." The typical box car menu was served in handouts. Games and dancing took up most of the guests' time.

Ellynore F. Adams reported the club's unusual party.
